Savings of School Girls Are Offered to Hunt for Murderer of Mary Phagan The Atlanta Constitution (1881-2001); May 25, 1913; PrOQuest Historical Newspapers Atlanta Constitution (1868-1945) pg. A5

Savings of School Girls Are Offered to Hunt for Murderer of Mary Phagan

Echoing over Georgia, the cry of "justice" has reached the town of Williamson, and stirred the hearts of two little school girls to resentment at the unaverged murder of Mary Phagan. Their names are Vivian Drewry and Frances Dingler, and together they have collected $3.25 from their savlings, which they have sent to The Constitution, asking that it be used to help find the murderer. The money will be placed by The Constitution where it will serve some useful purpose. In trading the audience in the pose in tracing the evidence in the case.

case.

The letter of the two little girls bears a pathetic note of human interest, as it reflects the intense desire of all Georgia to see justice done in

of all Georgia to see justice done in this famous murder mystery.

Their letter is as follows:

"To the Editor of The Constitution.

"Dear Mr. Editor: We are only two small little schools girls of Williamson, and just feeled like doing some good to help out in bring justice to the gillty party or parties who murded the dear little girl Mary Phagan. Enclose find small amount from us to help pay for the man on the case to find the pay for the man on the case to find the gillty party. Wishing you success and triumph, your little friends,

VIVIAN DREWRY, and

FRANCES DINGLER."

PRESBYTERIANS THANK ATLANTA POSTMASTER

Postmaster Hugh McKee is in receipt of the following letter from Jere A. Moore, secretary of the executive committee of the general assembly of Presbyterians recently held in this

"Hugh McKee, Postmaster, Atlanta, Ga.—Dear Sir: On behalf of our general assembles' executive committee, I extend to your our hearty appreciation of the efficient service rendered by the postoffice department in handling mail at the assemblies' churches. Would also call your attention to the fact that the assemblies, before adjourning, passed a resolution of thanks to the post office department for its kindness and service rendered. sinceely yours, "(Signed)

'JERE A. MOORE, Secretary."

Armor Plate Probe.

Washington, May 24.—Chairman Tiliman, of the senate naval affairs committee, expects to take up next week the proposal to begin an inquiry into the bids for armor plate for the dreadnought Pennsylvania and the general system of awarding contracts for armor plate. Senator contracts for armor plate. Senator Tillman favors a thorough investiga-tion of armor plate contracts. Sena-tor Ashurst has attacked the system of contracts as unfair to the government.