BURNS TO BE OUSTED BY THE POLICE CHIEFS The Atlanta Constitution (1881-2001); Jun 16, 1914; ProQuest Historical Newspapers Atlanta Constitution (1868 - 1945)

BURNS TO BE OUSTED By the police chiefs

Detective Will Not Be Tolerated Because of His Conduct in the Frank Case.

Grand Rapids, Mich., June 15.—(Special.)—Detective William J. Burns is in bad with the International Association of Police Chiefs and when the convention revises the list of honorary members tomorrow his name will be stricken from the list.

His recent activities in the Leo Frank case, in which he attempted to clear the Atlanta man of a charge of murder after he had been convicted of the crime and sentenced to die, roused the police chiefs all over the United States. Also because of his publicity tactics Burns has incurred the disfavor of the members of the association and the Frank case brought a climax.

At first it was the plan of some of the delegates to oust Burns through resolutions, but at a meeting of the executive committee of the association today it was decided to revise the list of honorary members of the association and when the list is presented to the convention for adoption Mr. Burns' name will be missing.

Those back of the move to oust Burns come from the east and south. The southern delegates are the most

Those back of the move to oust. Burns come from the east and south. The southern delegates are the most rabid against his name being longer connected with the affairs of the international organization.

WEST POINT AUTOISTS ARE HURLED INTO ROAD

West Point, Ga., June 15.—(Special.) A party of West Point people consisting of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Lanier, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Lanier and Rev. Graham Forrester were hurled into the road yesterday when their auto turned turtle on the slippery road near LaGrange. No one was hurt.

Terrorized by Robbers.

Charleston, W. va., June 15.—Hiding in abandoned coal mines by day and raiding by night, a band of robbers for two weeks has terrorized the Paint and Cabin Creek district. Their latest exploit was the theft of $8,000 worth of merchandles from the coal company store at Crown Hill. A box car, in which a railroad detective was believed to be hiding, was riddled with bullets from high power rifles.