The detectives further declare that one of the clubs which was closed dur-ing the afternoon is involved as the source from which these men got their

New Suits of Imported Woolens

No Two Alike

'Tis only now and then that men may so fortunately buy such suits as these from readyto-wear stocks.

They arrived here yesterday; they were specially made for this house, of imported Scotch tweeds, cheviots and worsted cheviots.

Every pattern is exclusive one of a kind — and made up of the rich colorings found only in imported woolens.

Models are ultra English, with modish finishings. Coats have fine mohair linings, sleeve linings of pongee.

Every suit is perfect in model and material, and is marked with a fine distinction which separates them from the crowd.

Such Suits as these should have a special Christmas interest.

As was predicted, a request was made by the defense for an extension of time. Attorney Arnold, upon filling the brief and records with the clerk, stated to the court that, on account of the great length of the trial and of the heavy bulk of record, it would be necessary to allow more time.

The request was granted, and each speaker was granted two hours. This will run the hearing no longer than adjournment time at 1 o'clock that adjournment time at 1 o'clock this being presided over by Justice Evans.

There is always room at the top for something better. The remarkable success of SOVEREIGN Cigarettes in the South proves this. "Quality Tells."

The old Southern brands were good cigarettes-they had to be to win the favor of Southern smokers.

But new and better ways of doing things can be discovered in cigarette manufacture as well as in other industries.

Improved methods of aging and blending the highest-grade Old Belt, Virginia - North Carolina tobacco give SOVEREIGN a smoothness and mellowness of flavor not possible under old methods.

The imported French paper - produced by a new process—burns evenly with the tobacco — doesn't smoulder and "go out." This insures greater enjoyment.

SOVEREIGN sales have already reached nearly 100,000,000 a month — and are growing faster each new month - because Southern smokers recognize the better quality in SOVEREIGN.

THE REPUBLICAN SITUATION The special is sion of the republican na tional executive committee in Washington today carries the ultimate possibility of rad ically changing the course of political events in the United States. The committee will addiess itself to the beginning of the task of rehabilitating the republican parts. If the plans dis u sed today proceed to cheir log ical conclusion we may ultimately see formidable where there is now an impotent opposition to the democratic party an after ation of pointical mividing lines throughout the country and even the disappearance of the solid democratic south

President Wilson himself reminded his party just after the presidential election that the democracy was still a minority party. He showed that its victory was largely attributable to republican division Had the republicans been united it is pos sible they would have elected their presi dential numince held the senate and rad ically cut down if not obliterated the demo cratic majority in the house

It appears now that the thoughtful ele ricits in both the standpat and so called p ogressive or bull moose republican con imgents thoroughly recognize this situation seeing that until the two rival camps can be brought together on some common ground the future of opposition to the demo cratic party is hopeless. Old antagonisms and present schisms will perpetuate them selves and the effective politics of the coun try will remain indefinitely in a state of stagnant demoralization. It is simply a case of political arithmetic

The one function the committee meeting today can discharge will be to call an ad intermy national convention a practice with out precedent in the party's history but from the republican point of view the one tile holding prospect of resuscitating the organization. The idea is that an ad interim con ation can settle the basis of represen tation is luture conventions wipe out the rotten borough system of representation by pegro officeholders from states which will remain honelessly democratic as long as the present system is in use outline a tenta tive program and allow a full two years in which the machine can settle down to its new greater and for issues to be threshed. out to a harmonious conclusion. To wait until the regular quadrennial convention would be tatal for the reason that the feuds nov rending the part would rule then and the puty again go into an election hope lessly divided against a united democracy

Mindful of the intricacies of the task the national computee designated a special committee of its law r members to investi gate the statu and report. It had been the hope of tains memb rs of the committee that the national computtee could steelf change the liss o representation of the national convention thus settling the whole matter without further ado since it is gen erally admitted that the pivot upon which all rehabilitation mit turn is the adjust ment of the representation basis. Under the method that has obtained since the civil war the states have had representation in republican conventions according to population and not votes actually cast. That method has operated time and again to make negro delegates from tock ribbed southern democratic states the balance of power in nomi nating a republican candidate. The anomaly was presented of states that never cast an electoral vote for a republican president dic tating who should run on the republican plat form. It is small wonder that the traditional republican states should have been in long protest against a custom that almost nullified their political power. And there is little cause to doubt that had not this sys tem prevailed in the last republican con tention the greatest obstacle to republican success would have been eliminated Had Roosevelt himself not been nominated a compromise candidate would probably have een chosen But the federal officeholders from the south, under the lash of political obligation, were strong enough to turn the tide against the bona fide republican states -and the split resulted

The special committee from the national committee holds the committee is powerless to change the basis of representation with out authority of a national convention—that since the committee is itself a creature of a convention chosen under the unwritten law of many decades it must go back to its original source-a convention of the whole party-for authority to alter that law The complication to this plan is that it is equiv alent to asking negro delegates from the south virtually to disfranchise themselves Then it is borne in mind that at the repub lican convention six years ago the repre sentation basis missed change by only a few votes that the southern delegates voted for the maintenance of the present system and that the change almost unanimously was deteated chiefly by the votes of northern states with large negro voting population the task is seen to be not so insuperable The sentiment today for the change is overwhelming, as compared with the sentiment then, and if the proposed special convention is called for next year it may order a change in the basis of repre sentation at the next presidential conven-

From the points of view of sectional and party advantage the south has all to gain by the failing through of the plan for read justing the republican basis of representa tion. The democratic party and the south s dominant position in it stands to profit by a continuance of the existing republican convention system

But from the broader point o view of patriotism and effectual statesmanship The onstitution speaking frankly would like to see the charge materialize. It is certain

3 The Constitution has often insisted and for manifest reasons there can never be in the south an opposition party worth the name so long as conditions continue their present course within the republican party The Constitution holds now-as it has al vavs held was thus state of one pure don mance of sectional politics it you will is not good for either section. In the long run it is the nation that loses. Any state would he better off as a doubtful state than as being certainly democratic or republican The very doubt creates a healthy compe tition

These are the tremendous possibilities involved in today's deliberations of the republican national executive committee. The result may mean the birth of a new party and more serious opposition to the democ racy than is possible under existing con e tions

FOR OGLETHORPE

The campaign for the retounding of Oglethorpe university in Atlanta nears suc cessful conclusion

The people of Atlanta have thus far re sponded with characteristic spontaneity

Only a little more than $50,000 remains o be raised to complete the $250 000 needed from Atlanta to match another $250 000 from the south at large

The promoters of the movement have set the sum of half a million dollars as the point from which work on the university shail actually scart. That amount insured thes are sure of such further contributions as will make of Oglethorpe the greatest university in the south and one of the greatest in the

Every southern state many of the small est towns in Georgia bave given liberally on the belief that Atlanta would subscribe a quarter of a million for the privilege and profit of providing a site for Oglethorpe

Atlanta has never yet failed to pick up challenge of this nature. Already the work is nearly accomplished

The movement is broadly non-denomina tional. It is for the prestige and uplift of the whole south no less than of Atlanta

Now let every man and woman give according to their ability whether one dollar or one hundred dollars

Each dollar contributed means bringing nearer the $250 000 given by the south and now waiting upon Atlanta's action

Lach dollar contributed means one step more toward the establishment here of an educational plant ranking among the best in the country

Let's wind up this remarkable campaign this week!

The call is a challenge to Atlanta's civic oude and to her ability to realize a magnificent public investment innouncement is now made that the country may expect the senate to reach a vote on currency legislation next Saturday Let us all hope fervently that the prophecy s well founded

Currency reform has been intermittentis under discussion in committee or in house or senate since last August. The delay has been almost without justification. It is a tribute to the underlying prosperity of the country and the common sense of its busi ness interests that they have been able with such comparative serenity to weather the uncertainty But the advancement of prosperity and rosperity itself have long enough been put to the test. We near a new business year It should be as free of outside encumbrances as possible

It is the duty of the senate rising in patriotism and not partisanship, to come to a vote at once Then, let the bill go back to the house and take the conference route with a minimum of delay

WATCHING THE CORNERS.

I was reading in the magazine last evening that the best way to save money is by watching the corners taking advantage of every opportunity to buy things cheap explained Airs Jamesworthy and the article impressed me as having good sense So when Mr Sardine the grocer told me this morning that I could get potatoes five cents a bushel cheaper by ordering them in ten bushel lots I bought ten bushels

Nuch his recently been written about vapoleon and the Leipzig celebrations have directed still more attention to that military career which never fails to interest. It is not often however that one comes across the lines said to have been inscribed on the great Coisicans tomb in the island of his capt ut a writer in the Finglish Review gives them. I was born in Vaccio but destiny which bidains by its profound decree the lot of man impelled me to France and upon the thousand shores that I traversed I held the balance of the vorid Now while my proud name still survives second in comprision to perhaps none other. I my self am dead and am but laid beneath a cold stone on an almost unknown shore. The same writer quoting from a letter sent from St. Helmia at the time of Vapoleon's death describes the funeral and adds. The body was on a kind of car and the coffin covered with a cloak which he wore at Marengo and a cushlon with his sword.

Why did the Earl of Cumberland, George Chifford neglect his private duties to his home estates and spend his fortune in fitting out ships to seek gold and jewels. Or was it to damage the trade of a country he hated? Different estimates will be formed of the honesty and nobility of the motives by which he was prompted.

Clifford was born in August 1508. He was the fourteenth Baron Clifford of West moreland. His family history had been distinguished for the fair Rosamond of Henry. Its reign was a Clifford and in the wars of York and Lancaster the Cliffords took a prominent part on the Lancastrian side. In the early years of Chiffords if began his romance. When he was 28 years of age he was appointed one of the peers by whom Mary Queen of Scots was tried at Fotheringay Castle.

Was it policy or love of adventure or just desire for gain? The earl soon began to form schemes for sending ships to plundar the Spannards. I've fitted out at his own cost the Bed Dragen and the barque Clifford Raleigh sent a pinnace to join them and they sailed in 1886. On their way to Sierra.

The grandfather of Monsieur Poincare, president of the French republic was an entiusiastic followe of the chase. When the king of Spain was the guest of the presiden some days ago a hunt at Rambouillet was offered him. The president does not hunt so he invited the former presidents Loubet and Falheres to accompany the rojal guest. Some time ago he said to some guests. I will deliver to you the poultry at Marth while I go to visit the poultry at Marth while I go to visit the poultry (a citchen show) at Paris. Thanks to the foresight of a grandfather he sowner of a property which made him eligible to a certain office. I should be an ingrate he said if I said anythin, against the chase. Without it I should not have been general councilor and consequently. I should not have been president of the republic. But the truth is I do not like hunting because my grandfather hunted too much and for that, my father smoked too much. If do not smoke at all.
