

KISSING DANGERS WILL BE STUDIED BY POLICE BOARD

Osculation in All Its Phases
Will Be Considered by Commissioners at Special Meeting Next Wednesday

BE CAREFUL, SPOONERS, SAYS PARK PRESIDENT

J. O. Cochran Suggests That All Lovers Fortify Themselves With Witnesses Until "Sanity Has Returned to Our Midst."

Kissing in all its phases—plain ordinary kissing, kissing in the capitol
steps, kissing at Grant Park, kissing
by private citizens and kissing by police men who think they are paid to (according to recent developments)
arrest persons for kissing, will consume a large share of the attention of police commissioners at the special meeting of the board to be held next Wednesday night.

By the time the board has entered into all the specifications which are to be heard there will be precious little for the public to learn about a habit which, up to recent weeks, was not regarded as particularly heinous save by the few who taboo it on account of the germ theory, but which is liable, if not speedily checked to become a fruitful source of revenue to the city treasury.

At last night's meeting of the police board W. C. Williams, a well-dressed young man, appeared and made a statement of the details of his arrest
in company with a young lady and of a night the pair spent at the station house because they did not have sufficient collateral to put up. According to Williams, he had not even kissed the girl he was with, but he merely been guilty of sitting out in the capitol steps with a young lady discussing such trivial subjects as
come to the minds of man and maid
when the stars are out and the moon shines with a mellow light. That was his crime, he says, and it cost him
and the girl a night in the station house and $31.75 which, being now a part of the city's money will very properly help to pay the salaries of the men who made the punch.

Kissing the Sole Topic
It was this statement together with the charges against Captain J. W.
Norman which were postponed until next meeting, that caused the police board to set aside a special session at which kisses and kissing will be about the sole subject up for discussion.
Planiologists Williams and the young lady will be called before the board to explain why and under what circumstances they made the arrest.
States rights will have an inning
when the nightwatchman of the capitol
is called to disprove certain statements of the officers while it is not improbable (though not definitely settled) that Claude Smith city bacteriologist, and Dr. Roy Harris of the state board of health, will be called in to prove that kissing is contagious and should be avoided by all persons who would stay out of the station house or on the police force.

Just Sitting on the Steps
The statement of W. C. Williams who says he had not even kissed was
as follows:

One night last week I was sitting on the capitol steps with a young lady.
We were just sitting and talking and that was all. I did not even have my arm around her waist. Two men in citizens clothes came along and flashed their lights on us. They went on and we paid no attention to them. I shall they returned and asked me if I was lady named. She replied that it was none of their business. Some words followed. I did not think I was violating any law and I told the men so.
However, we were arrested and they seemed highly amused at my suggestion that they give me a copy of charges. We were taken to the station house and spent the night there.
In the morning it cost me $31.75 as I did not care to appear in court and subject the young lady to the humiliation that it would entail.

Poisoned Money, Says Mayor
Is that money in the city treasury?
asked Mayor Woodward. If it is I move it. It is returned to the young man.
We don't want that kind of money.
It is poisoned.

It was at this point that Commissioner Fain moved that Planiologists men, Clark and Welch, be called before the board at the next meeting and that Williams and the nightwatchman
of the capitol be asked to be present.
Chief Beavers took a hand at this juncture and asked permission to read
a statement from Clark and Welch
about the arrest of an entirely different couple on the capitol steps who were admittedly kissing but who were dismissed without fine by Judge Brovies. The reading of this report while interesting as a contribution to the general subject of kissing had no bearing on the case of Williams and his night in jail of his $31.75 spent for lodging for two. It was read merely to show that some people did kiss on the capitol steps, even if Williams had not, and that some kissing was not as discreet and decorous as could be expected.

Clark and Welch stated in their report that the young couple were in

HUGGING CHARGES PROBE POSTPONED

Captain Norman Will Be Furnished Name of Woman
He Is Accused of Having Caressed.

On the request of his attorney,
Lewis Thomas, the trial of the charges against Captain J. W. Norman, of the police force, preferred by Chief Beavers were postponed at the meeting of the police board last night until Wednesday night of next week. The charges against Captain Norman were neglect of duty and hugging and kissing a woman in Grant park while on duty.

There was a feeling of suppressed excitement around police headquarters
last night when the board met to hear the case against Captain Norman. There was an unusual crowd in attendance and the hall in front of the room in which the board meets was crowded with witnesses to appear for or against the accused officer. It was with some impatience that the reading of the minutes of the previous meeting were listened to and immediately following that routine the case of Captain Norman was called.

Many Witnesses Called
The secretary read the names of about thirty witnesses who filed into the room to be sworn in the case. After the charges against Captain Norman had been read specifying that he had been guilty of kissing a woman in the park on August 8 and on August 25
and otherwise charging neglect of duty he was asked what plea he had to make to the charges preferred.

To some of the charges I plead guilty and to others not guilty, he replied.
It was at this point that Mr. Thomas arose and said that he had been asked to appear for Captain Norman by Mrs.
Norman. He declared that the captain had been greatly worried since the publication of the charges involving
as it did his future as an officer and his good name after thirty two years of service for the city on the force. He declared that Captain Norman had not had sufficient time to prepare his case and in reference to the nature of the accusation itself he added:

Charges Are In Detail
The charges against Captain Norman are too indefinite to be answered at all. He is charged with having kissed a woman in the park on certain dates but he is not told the name of the woman he is said to have kissed.
Now I submit that Captain Norman is entitled to know who this woman was.
In justice to him we ought to be furnished with her name.
This precipitated a discussion as to whether or not the name of the woman ought to be furnished. Some of the commissioners were emphatic in the opinion that the name ought not to be given as it might get in the press and involve the good name of an innocent woman.

Commissioner McLachlan declared that it made no difference who the woman was just so long as Norman had kissed a woman that was all that was needed to prove the charges.
Major Woodward intimated very strongly that Chief Beavers himself
did not know the name of the woman in the case.

Did Not Know Name
The chief admitted that he did not know the name of the woman or that he could not swear to it but that he could get her name from the witnesses present. It was then decided that the chief should get the name and furnish it to the attorney for the defense
but that it should not be given out to the public at least not until the trial.
Mr. Thomas was then asked how much time he would need to prepare Captain Norman's case being reminded
by the chairman that he would remain suspended from duty until after the trial. He heard it was then decided on motion of Commissioner Ver-
no to try the charges at a special meeting Wednesday night September 11. Instead of letting them go over until the next regular meeting, it was in the end.

That there will be an earnest defense of Captain Norman made by his friends at the park is certain. Several of them were on hand last night
if the trial had taken place then.
Those who were eager to testify as to the young lady's good character, both as a woman and as an officer, were Superintendent of Parks Dan Carey, Foreman Nelson Crist, Florist Fritz Ritter
and a number of Grant park employees.

THE CONSTITUTION WILL GIVE AWAY ROAD MAP OF GEORGIA TODAY

The Constitution's road map of Georgia was seized by automobiles Monday.

Only a few are left and they will be given away today. Get yours early.

We want every auto owner to have one. We can't refuse chauffeurs, so two maps to a car, while showing the popularity of the map, accounts for a possible shortage.

The Constitution's map, prepared under the direction of Frank C. Beatty, president of the Savannah Automobile association, shows highways easy of passage by automobiles. Mr. Beatty has driven over these roads and knows every one indicated
on the map.

Details of every good highway south of Atlanta, Athens and Augusta and north of Albany, Darien and Savannah are shown on the map.

Get your Constitution road map today or your car may be without one.

Canadian Jailer Allows Thaw
an Outing, the First in Seven Years—Thaw's Aged Mother Goes to Assist Him.

Coaticook Quebec September 9.—A musical comedy company en route to Sherbrooke stopped at Coaticook for twenty minutes this afternoon and broke the monotony of the scene outside Harry K. Thaw's window. Ten girls most of them blondes, broke messages of good will to him, turkey trotted up and down the station platform for his edification and cheered shrilly when the train pulled out.
Thaw stood at the window the while laughing, clapping his hands and nodding approval.

Standing on a hill overlooking Coaticook this evening watching the setting sun Thaw enjoyed the first outing of his kind he has had in nearly seven years.

In the asylum at Matteawan from which he escaped Thaw had to take his air in a court yard but when he asked for an airing today his guards led him up the hill to the west of the village and for nearly half an hour
they stumbled through the tangled grass and weeds. Thaw's cheeks were glowing and he was laughing
when at dusk he ascended the stairs to the immigration prison over the railway station.

Reports reached Coaticook tonight
from Montreal that Thaw's lawyers might desire his presence there on Thursday four days before he is to be brought before the king's bench on the writ of habeas corpus. Thaw said he knew nothing of their plans and was waiting for the next move of the immigration officials. He added that he had received a telephone message from his mother Mrs. Mary Copley Thaw and his sister Mrs. George Lauder Carnegie now in Montreal.
They had told him he said that they purposed giving out a statement thereto.

Thaw's Mother On the Scene
Montreal September 9.—Harry Thaw's aged mother Mrs. Mary Copley Thaw reached Montreal today to aid her lawyers in preparing their line of attack on the plans of the immigration department to send Harry back to the United States. This afternoon she and her daughter Mrs. George Lauder Carnegie were to confer with the group of Thaw lawyers here and arrange final details of the legal fight.
Neither Thaw's relatives nor his lawyers would discuss these details
today.

RALPH PETERS SHAKEN IN RAILWAY COLLISION

Special Train Crashes Into a Local — Two Passengers
Seriously Injured

New York September 9.—President
Ralph Peters of the Long Island railroad was badly shaken up late today
in a collision between his special train and a local on the Long Island road at Bridge Hampton in which two passengers in the rear car of the local were seriously injured.

The local was at a standstill when the special crashed into it, the engine of President Peters' train ploughing half way through the wooden rear coach.

Mr. and Mrs. William Mann of Quebec the only passengers in the rear car were seriously injured but it was said they would recover.

Other Death Just an Accident.

And the other death—just an accident as was the act of a woman emotionally insane—no malice no resentment—just the result of an accidental
shot from a revolver fired by an out-
raged woman who had but one object,
a ruling passion to kill a man whom she believed had wronged her.
It will be a trial full of throbs and thrills for when Mrs. Godbee takes the stand she will bare her heart to the jury—all her married life with Judge Godbee, the happy moments and the unhappy ones will be revealed.
Life to Mrs. Godbee is still sweet, and she does not propose to give up without a bitter struggle. Sentiment around Millen is in her favor, and it will not be easy to select a jury to try her.

The state will attempt to show that Mrs. Godbee shot her former husband and his bride of a few months down in cold blood—that she was moved by jealousy and hate. R. Lee Moore is the prosecutor.
Mrs. Godbee's attorneys are G. C.

TARIFF REVISION WINS IN THE SENATE 44 TO 37; EXISTING RATES ARE REDUCED ABOUT 28 PER CENT

TWO INDICTMENTS FACE MRS. GODBEE

Interest Intense in Trial of Millen, Ga., Woman Which Starts Today — Big Surprises Are Expected

Millen Ga. September 9.—(Special.)
At 11 o'clock this morning the grand jury called for witnesses material in the investigation of the case of Mrs. Edna Perkins Godbee for the killing of her divorced husband Judge
Walter S. Godbee and his wife Mrs.
Florence Boyer Godbee. At 4 o'clock two indictments were made one for the killing of Judge Godbee and one for his wife.

The reports as to the character of the defense have been more confusing and some think a big surprise
will be sprung when the case comes to trial.

The trial of Mrs. Godbee is scheduled to begin in the Jenkins county superior court tomorrow.

May Offer Remarkable Plea.

Mrs. Godbee it is said will offer a remarkable plea. It will be that the slaying of Judge Godbee her former husband was thoroughly justifiable in the eyes of God and man and that the tragic death of his bride was merely an incident—almost an accident. Her defense will be that when she opened fire on Godbee—determined to end
his life—she did not intend to slay
his wife but fired with no thought or care of where the bullets struck so long as one of them went true.

Through letters Judge Godbee had written his former wife—the letters are in the hands of her attorneys—and a series of almost indisputable court records the defense claims to be able to establish conclusively a motive that made her deed justifiable. These letters are being guarded more carefully
than any other evidence in the case.
They are understood to show that Mrs. Godbee was deprived of her property through the trickery of her former husband.

Other Death Just an Accident.
And the other death—just an accident as was the act of a woman emotionally insane—no malice no resent-
ment—just the result of an accidental
shot from a revolver fired by an out-
raged woman who had but one object,

Fight for the People Won Declares Woodrow Wilson

Washington September 9.—President Wilson tonight issued the following statement:

A fight for the people and for free
business which has lasted a long generation through has at last been won, sandsomely and completely. A leadership and a steadfastness in counsel has been shown in both houses of which the democratic party has reason to be very proud. There has been no weakness or confusion or drawing back but a statesmanlike directness and command of circumstances. I am happy to have been connected with the government of the nation at a time when such things could happen
and to have worked in association with men who could do them.

Predicts Currency Reform.
There is every reason to believe that currency reform will be carried through with equal energy directness
and loyalty to the general interest.
When that is done this first session of the 63rd congress will have passed into history with an unrivaled distinction.

I want to express my especial admiration for the devoted intelligent and untiring work of Mr. Underwood and Mr. Simmons and the committee associated with them.

When the president was asked to comment on the votes of Senator La Follette and Senator Poindexter he expressed admiration for their conscientious independence and courage.
The president, while always confident that the democratic majority would be kept intact to insure the passage of the bill by a safe margin,
had been hoping for the votes of progressive republicans. He told some of his friends tonight that aid of this kind outside of the party ranks was one of the concrete evidences that the democratic party is progressive.

Happy Over Result.
Personally the president felt happy
over the result. He had returned from the golf links when Secretary Tumulty who had been an eager auditor 'in the senate gallery drove rapidly to the white house and beaming with smiles told the president of the vote.
Great was the president's first remark as he went to his study and telephoned Chairman Simmons his heartiest congratulations.

AIRSHIP AND CREW DROP INTO OCEAN

Berlin September 9.—Germany's ambition to maintain a squadron of airships as an adjunct to the navy met a rude check tonight in the destruction of the L1 in a hurricane in the North sea.

The loss of life is six—estimated at from thirteen to sixteen—among the dead being Captain Metzger commander of the marine airship division,
Captain Hanne, commander of the L1
and Baron Von Maltzan.
The airship was engaged in reconnaissance work in connection with the torpedo boat maneuvers. She was equipped for a thirty hours' cruise,
was on a full war footing, and observing the conditions of actual warfare. The airship kept at a height of between 4,200 and 5,000 feet. The cold atmosphere caused a heavy loss of gas
and as she was overloaded the airship
already had become unmanageable
when the storm struck suddenly from the north.

Fell Swiftly to Sea.
When the crew saw danger approaching a wireless message was sent asking for help and indicating the intention of landing on the water behind Helligoland. The torpedo boats rushed to the assistance of the airship, but observed the signal. Cast out entire water ballast. The airship however, failed to respond and fell swiftly to the sea.
Most of the officers remained in the cabin, not expecting a catastrophe,
and they were crushed by the weight of the craft and drowned. Others, in the gondolas, jumped into the water
and some of them were rescued.

$3,000 GIFT MADE TO PASTOR'S FUND

George M. Brown has recently made a gift of $3,000 to the Atlanta Baptist Veteran Ministers fund. The income of the gift is to be used for the payment of pensions to aged and retired Baptist preachers and their dependent families.

The organization has loaned the money out on good and interest-bearing securities and at the end of every six months will have a neat sum to distribute among the beneficiaries.
The trustees of the fund are W. W.
Gaines, president, Arthur Hale Gordon, vice president, C. Ward, secretary and treasurer, George M.
Brown, Walker Dunson, M. G. Campbell and Charles W. Dagiel.
The object of the Veteran Ministers Fund is to provide an income for those ministers who, after having spent long years in the cause of religion and humanity, in their old age and themselves and their families in need.

The rules of the organization provide that any minister or missionary who shall have reached the age of 60 years and who shall have been in such service for the period of 25 years, or years of such service having been spent within the Atlanta association,
shall be eligible to receive a pension
from this fund. A similar provision is made for the widow of such minister or missionary who may be dead
and after the death of such widow for the unmarried daughters until they shall have reached the age of 25 years.

It is also provided that any minister or missionary who shall have been in active service of any church or board in the Atlanta association for the period of five years and who removes without the association may have the benefit of the pension fund amount equal to 2 per cent of the amount of salary he receives each year that he remains in active service.

TWO DEMOCRATS FORSOOK PARTY: ON FINAL TEST

Louisiana Senators Voted Against the Measure on Ac-

Cast Votes for Measure.

VAIN STRUGGLE MADE BY THE REPUBLICANS TO FORCE AMENDMENTS

Democrats Presented a Solid Front and Only Allowed Such Amendments as They Thought Suitable—Final Vote on Measure 44
to 37—President Wilson Is Greatly Gratified at the End of the Long Struggle.

Washington, September 9.—The democratic tariff revision bill passed the senate at 5:43 o'clock this afternoon amid a burst of applause that swept down from crowded galleries
and found its echo on the crowded floor of the senate.

Its passage was attended with surprises in the final moments of the voting, when Senator La Follette, republican, cast his vote with the democrats, and was joined a few moments
later by Senator Poindexter, progressive.

The democrats had counted
throughout the long tariff fight upon losing the votes of Senators Ransdell and Thornton, of Louisiana, democrats, who voted against the bill today because it would put sugar on the free list.

Until the names of Senators La Follette and Poindexter were actually called, however, no one knew definitely the stand they would take, and their votes were greeted with enthusiastic applause.

The vote was 44 to 37 in favor of the bill after all amendments had been defeated.

WILSON GRATIFIED AT END OF STRUGGLE
President Wilson tonight expressed great gratification over the end of the long struggle in the senate. Senator Summons, chairman of the finance committee, who had piloted the bill through the finance committee, the democratic caucus and the senate, predicted that its passage would bring immediate stimulus to the commercial life of the country.

As it passed the senate the tariff bill represents an average reduction of more than 4 per cent from the rates of the original bill that passed
the house, and nearly 28 per cent
from the rates of the existing law.

In many important places the senate has changed the bill that passed
the house, and a conference committee of the two houses will begin work

Wednesday or Thursday to adjust these differences.

QUICK CONFERENCE
PREDICTED BY LEADERS.

Leaders of both houses predict that the conference will consume less than two weeks' time.

The senate endeavored today to hasten the bill on its progress to the white house by naming its members of the conference committee as soon as the bill passed.

Vice President Marshall appointed Senators Simmons, Stone, Williams and Johnson, democrats, and Senators Pearson, Lodge and La Follette, republicans, as the senate conferees.

Senator Stone withdrew from the committee and Senator Shively was appointed in his place. The house conferees, it was reported tonight, will be Representatives Underwood, Kitchin and Ramey, democrats, and Payne and Fordney, republicans. Each house will have an equal vote in the conference committee, even though each does not name the same number of conferees.

The Final Struggle.

The final struggle began at 4 o'clock when, under a previous agreement, arbitrary votes began on pending amendments. During the closing hours of debate Senator La Follette had become the center of interest, proposing final amendments on the cotton and agricultural schedules and discussing some features of the bill which he deemed favorable. It was nearly 6:30 o'clock when the vice president put the bill upon its passage. The roll call proceeded deliberately until the clerk called "La Follette."

The Wisconsin senator seated in the front row hesitated a moment. His head was bowed and resting on his hand. He leaned forward a trifle and vigorously answered aye.

Instantly the applause broke from the galleries and senators on the democratic side joined in enthusiastic handclapping, nearly every democrat on the floor participating in the brief but vigorous demonstration. When the name Senator Poindexter, the only progressive senator, was reached and he had contributed his vote for the bill the applause was renewed.

Tonight Senator La Follette had a few words to say of his vote after many democratic senators had surrounded his desk and shook his hand.

La Follette and Poindexter.

After the vote Senator La Follette said:

"I realize what I did was a political sacrifice but that within me compelled me to vote for the bill. The tariff act of 1897 was but little more than a democratic measure but it is a protective measure. Every change made by way of adjustment to a protective basis except such as free wool and free sugar which were determined upon outside. They treated the agricultural schedule I regret to say, on a free trade basis and I would have retained more duty on cutlery and some other articles in order to protect the American production. Give the democrats time and they will put everything on a free trade basis but they have not done it in this bill."

Senator Poindexter said of his vote:

"I voted for the tariff bill because it is as a whole a better bill than the Payne Aldrich law now in force. Furthermore, it contains an income tax which we have been trying to get for twenty years."

Some of its provisions are too high and some are too low—but its general average on manufactures is high enough. Its classification is far from scientific but not more so than the existing law."

Gallinger Congratulates Simmons.

When the vote had been announced Senator Gallinger of New Hampshire the leader of the minority was recognized and congratulated Senator Simmons for his courteous, kindly and considerate manner in the conduct of the debate. He said he knew of no tariff fight characterized by such good feeling throughout and attributed it to the personality of Senator Simmons.

The bill itself is bad," he said "but its management has been in every way creditable to the majority and entirely fair to the minority."

Senator Simmons expressed his appreciation. Tonight he said there was little for him to say that he had not said in debate. The bill he asserted would go to the country and speak for itself.

I am greatly gratified that the bill has passed and I think that it will not be long in conference. In my opinion there has been some stagnation of business in the country pending the action of the senate. Now I believe there will be an immediate stimulus to business and that in the end we will have better times in this country."

Just before the voting on amendments began Senator La Follette yielded a few minutes of his time to Senator Thornton, of Louisiana, who was about to desert his colleagues on the roll call.

Framed Tariff Revision Measure

OSCAR UNDERWOOD, OF ALABAMA.

Why Thornton Deserted.

"It is hard for me to vote against this bill," said the Louisiana senator. "I have made a party measure by the party with which I am allied. I have been here in office for six years and I have never seen anything wrong going on yet."

"When would I have been if I courted on the capitol steps had been an offense when I was wooing my first wife years ago? The greater part of our courtship was done upon the capitol steps. Nobody saw anything wrong in it then."

That young couples engaged to marry should kiss each other is natural and harmless. That they should be caught up and subjected to the indignity of arrest and commitment on the young girl's name that will probably last for years simply because the lovers were found spooning on the capitol grounds is an outrage.

Attaches Indignant.

The attaches of the office of keeper of public buildings are indignant at the reports that they were in any way responsible for the arrest and detention at the police station of young couples for spooning on the capitol steps.

John A. Goodson, the night watchman who according to the statement given out by the police, furnished the information leading to the arrest of the lovers, made an indignant denial that he had anything to do with it. Mr. Goodson declared that he had made no reports to the police.

Cochran Withdraws Invitation.

J. O. Cochran, president of the park board, who recently extended a cordial invitation to young couples to come to the park to spoon, has regretfully withdrawn his invitation. After the meeting of the board last night he said:

"During the present state of anarchy in which the city seems to have been suddenly plunged, I shall have to withdraw my invitation for couples to come to the park and spoon, or if they do come for that purpose I would suggest that during the spooning they fortify themselves with competent witnesses who can be called upon to swear just what happened. I do not fear that any regular policeman on duty at the parks would suspect a person to arrest for spooning, but there is no telling at what moment the members of the vice squad may take it into their heads to visit the parks and make wholesale arrests in order to get a point in favor of that be. For this reason, I withdraw the invitation until such time as sanity shall have returned to our midst."

AWARD COAL CONTRACT TO KNOXVILLE COMPANY

The water board yesterday afternoon awarded the contract to furnish coal for the two pumping stations of the waterworks department to the Tennessee and Southeastern Coal corporation, of Knoxville, Tenn. The contract calls for 18,000 tons of coal to be delivered between now and next August, at the rate of $2.50 per ton.

SHOWERS FOR TODAY
SAYS WEATHER MAN

Although he forecasted clear weather for Tuesday and missed it to the tune of several intermittent showers the weather man comes right back and says that today will be clear, although he expects the atmosphere to be rather humid.

Very light showers fell during Tuesday afternoon and later in the evening a cool breeze sprang up which played havoc with straw hats of summertime and up and down Peachtree. As the show crowds turned out half a dozen hats would be seen falling in the air or rolling down the street at a time.

Only one man failed to be embarrassed by the sudden breeze. He wore a Palm Beach suit and would have looked out the hottest of August days, but for the fact that his raincoat was topped by a fuzzy wuzzy green lid. Nobody laughed at him chasing his hat (for those kind don't blow off), but many smiles at the incongruity of the changing season were apparent.

submit the bill to a popular referendum next fall was defeated 63 to 16. An amendment by Senator Catron for 20 per cent duty on raw wool was defeated 42 to 35 and a general substitute wool bill offered by Senator Smoot was defeated without a roll call.

One Important Change

One important change made on the recommendation of the finance committee gives the secretary of the treasury power to censor all imported moving picture films. An amendment by Senator McCumber proposing higher duties on barley, oats, wheat and flaxseed was rejected 48 to 23 and one by Senator La Follette for a 5 per cent duty on wheat was defeated without a roll call.

Senator James acting for the finance committee secured the adoption of an amendment modifying the provision of the bill that authorizes the secretary of the treasury and collector of internal revenue to employ income tax officials without regard to the civil service laws. The new provision leaves it optional with the officials as to whether or not they will take employees from the list of civil service eligibles.

Additions to Free List.

Important additions to the free list included:

Antimony ore limestone rock asphalt asphaltum and bitumen fabrics of jute yarns wool blankets valued at less than 40 cents a pound textbooks, sugar machinery cast iron pipe surgical catgut, cement, cressote oil de-natured alcohol flax and hemp, furs and fur skins gunpowder pig iron shielgess, ferromanganese wrought iron, iron plates and blooms photographic moving picture films steel ingots blooms and slabs cattle and other live stock wheat, sawed cedar angora goat and alpaca wool and paper twine for binding wool.

LONGER VACATION GIVEN PHAGAN CASE WORKERS

For their work in the Phagan case ten days' vacation in addition to that to which they are ordinarily entitled were given to Chief of Detectives Newport A. Lanford and Detectives I. N. Starnes, Pat Campbell, S. L. Rosser and J. R. Black by the police board at its regular monthly meeting last night.

The action was taken following the reading of a letter from Solicitor General Hugh N. Dorsey to Chief Lanford highly complimenting the good work done by the detectives assigned to help him on the Phagan case. While the name of Detective Black was omitted from Solicitor Dorsey's letter, he was included in the recommendation of Chief Lanford to Chief Beavers, which in turn was submitted to the board and he got his vacation with the others.

On motion of Commissioner B. Lee Smith, Chief Lanford was also given an additional vacation with his subordinates.

J. H. KELLY, NEW HEAD OF PINKERTON BRANCH

Letters to Chief of Police Beavers from the heads of the Pinkerton detective agency in New York announcing the appointment of J. H. Kelly as superintendent of the local office of the company to succeed H. B. Pierce, were read to the police board last night. Mr. Kelly was present and was introduced to the board by the local police force, and in turn gave assurance that he would do all in his power to co-operate with them.

Mr. Kelly comes to the Atlanta office from the Philadelphia office of the Pinkertons, where he has been in the company's service a number of years.

LAWFUL TO KISS ON CAPITOL STEPS

Assistant Keeper Holcombe Says Ideal Place for Lovers, Where He Won Wife Years Ago.

That the capitol grounds and the steps of the building are lawful places for the courting of young couples was the declaration made by E. E. Holcombe, assistant keeper of public buildings, yesterday.

"The young people can spoon all they want to on these grounds," he said, "and there shall be no objection from me. I think it is an outrage that young couples should not have a quiet place to meet and make love to each other without laying themselves liable to arrest."

Ideal for Love-Making.

"Way, the capitol grounds are ideal for love-making, particularly when the evenings are pleasant in the spring and early fall. I for one would do what I could to encourage it rather than otherwise. There are many young people living in Atlanta who have no opportunity of seeing each other in a home. Many live in boarding houses where there is no privacy."

Of course if there was really any serious wrong-doing the case would be otherwise. But there is none I have been here in office for six years and I have never seen anything wrong going on yet."

"When would I have been if I courted on the capitol steps had been an offense when I was wooing my first wife years ago? The greater part of our courtship was done upon the capitol steps. Nobody saw anything wrong in it then."

SEEKING COMPANIONS
LITTLE BOY RUNS AWAY

The police have been asked to look for little Ralph Bilch, age 4 years, who disappeared from the home of his mother, Mrs. Kate Bilch, 132 Spruce street, last night about 10 o'clock.

Because he had been forbidden by his mother to go out into the street and play with other children, the little fellow quietly slipped away from the room in which he had been playing while his mother read, and has not been seen since that time. He was clad in blue rompers, tan half-stockings and sandals.

LIGE LANE'S SENTENCE COMMUTED BY SLATON

Negro Condemned to Die Spared on Plea of Clinch County Citizens.

Among the last things done by Governor Slaton just before he left his office Tuesday afternoon was to save the life of a negro named Lige Lane, who was sentenced to hang today in Clinch county for committing an assault on a white woman.

The governor acted on the recommendation of the prison commission, who asked that mercy be extended, and also on the petition of the trial judge and solicitor and the clerk of the court, who certified that they represented at least 80 per cent of the sentiment of the white people in the county in which the conviction had been obtained, in holding that it was unwarranted on account of the notorious bad character of the complainant.

As soon as the order granting the commutation of sentence was signed it was transmitted to the prison commission with instructions to notify the sheriff at once, so that the hanging might not take place. In connection with his granting the order of commutation the governor issued the following signed statement explanatory of his act:

Governor's Statement.

"By the Governor
This application for commutation from a death sentence to imprisonment for life of a negro convicted of assaulting a white woman is remarkable. The evidence, if credible, warrants the verdict."

"The woman was a depraved character, who, the evidence shows, by her improper relations, separated a negro from his wife. Her husband was that of unlawfully selling liquor."

"When the offense was committed, she did not know the name of her assailant, although she must have known Lige Lane, the defendant, who owed her a ray for some corn liquor. Her son, to whom she told the circumstances, asked the deputy sheriff to arrest another negro as the offender."

"When Lane was arrested on Monday morning after the previous Saturday night on which the offense was committed he was at work on the outskirts of Homerville, the scene of the crime."

"Ninety per cent of the white women and 90 per cent of the white men of Homerville, as certified to me officially by the clerk of the superior court, the judge and the solicitor general who tried the case and the woman for assaulting whom Lige Lane is under sentence of death, request me to commute the sentence. The prison commission unanimously recommends it."

"I cannot claim to esteem the virtue and the safety of the women of Clinch county more than those who have urged upon me the exercise of clemency. The negro is friendless and without money. It is not a case of power and influence."

"The recommendation of the prison commission is approved, and the sentence of Lige Lane is commuted to life imprisonment."
(Signed) JOHN M. SLATON, Governor.

Bob Dickson, an attorney from Homerville, made an argument to the governor to spare the life of the negro.

LIGHTNING HITS TWICE; ST. PAUL'S IS STRUCK

It has oft been said that lightning never strikes twice in the same place, but a frankish bolt proved this untrue yesterday afternoon, when the steeple of the St. Paul Methodist Episcopal church on Grant street was struck in the afternoon.

But very little damage was done. The same steeple in almost identical the same place was struck during an electrical storm last summer. More damage was done, however, by the first bolt than the last.

"LITTLE MISS FIX-IT" FAILS TO REACH CITY

The play which was due to open at the Atlanta last night failed to arrive, the management explaining that the show had to "jump" from Toronto to Atlanta and that in these days of noble skirts that proved too much for "Little Miss Fix-It."

As it was unable to reach Atlanta for the opening night through missing connections, the play will not be shown here today or tonight and the Atlanta will be dark until Friday night, when "The Merry Countess" will be the attraction. The latter show does not have to make such a long jump and Manager Homer George states that he has no fear of mixed schedules keeping it from being here on time.

CURRENCY REFORM LAUNCHED IN HOUSE

Administration Measure Is Reported by Chairman Glass — Panics Charged to Present Currency System.

Washington, September 9.—The administration currency reform bill, as approved by the democratic caucus, was reported to the house today from the committee on banking and currency by Chairman Glass. A voluminous report, including a lengthy technical discussion of theory of the bill, accompanied the measure, setting forth the views of the democrats on the committee. Representative Hayes of California, presented a report from the republicans, criticizing the measure and proposing various amendments.

The majority declared the bill "is intended to bring about necessary changes in the present banking and currency system of the United States, and to correct long-standing evils that have had a slow and deep-rooted growth. It aims at the rectification of the essential defects of the present system, although it does not seek to make all the innovations that might, from an ideal standpoint, be deemed desirable."

Central Bank Plans.
Reviewing the arguments against the so-called Aldrich plan outlined by the national monetary commission and against all central bank plans suggested, the report said:

"After looking over the whole ground and after examining the various suggestions for legislation, the committee on banking and currency is firmly of the opinion that any effective legislation on banking must include the following fundamental elements, which it considers indispensable in any measure likely to prove satisfactory to the country:
"The creation of a joint mechanism for the extension of credit to banks which possess sound assets and which desire to liquidate them for the purpose of meeting legitimate commercial, agricultural and industrial demands on the part of their clients.
"Ultimate retirement of the present bond secured currency, with suitable provision for the fulfillment of government obligations to bond holders, coupled with the creation of a satisfactory flexible currency to take its place.
"Provision for better extension of American banking facilities in foreign countries to the end that our trade abroad may be enlarged and that American business men in foreign countries may obtain the accommodations they require in the conduct of their operations.
"Beyond these cardinal and simple propositions the committee has not deemed it wise at this time to make any recommendations, save that in a few places it has suggested the amendment of existing provisions in the national bank act, with a view to strengthening that measure at points where experience has shown the necessity of alteration."

Panics Caused by Present System.
Crediting the present financial system with chief responsibility for the various panics of the past half century, the report set forth that, under the proposed law, the federal reserve banks to be created under the bill would have available at least $550,000,000 of reserves in cash.
"This," said the report, "would create a reserve fund of liquid funds far surpassing anything of similar kind ever available in this country heretofore. It would compare favorably with the resources possessed by government banking institutions abroad."
The committee reviewed the bill section by section, setting forth at great length the probable operation and results of the law.
In their minority report on the bill, the republicans of the committee pointed out what they held to be the weaknesses of the measure. They said they found the democrats of the committee "so bound by their caucus action that they could not consider amendments to the bill which, if adopted, would have eliminated its unworkable and questionable provisions."
They suggested that the provisions compelling the national banks to subscribe for the capital stock of the federal reserve banks be removed from the bill, and that the federal reserve system be made "of doubtful constitutionality, and wholly unnecessary and inexpedient." If the plan of the bill is a good one, they said, the banks would gladly participate; if not, should the banks be used to enter the system, "all business would be disastrously affected." The republicans declared that the provision making the new federal reserve notes "obligations of the United States" practically creates a central bank. They urged that the powers of the federal reserve board be too great, and that there is great danger as the bill is now drawn, that the banking business of the country may be used for partisan political advantage.
The progressive views on the currency question were set forth in a report on the Glass bill filed several days ago by Representative Lindbergh, of Minnesota, progressive member of the committee.

H. W. TIMOTHY WAIVES PRELIMINARY TRIAL

Hugh W. Timothy, son of a wealthy Chattanooga merchant, who was arrested Monday afternoon on a charge of using the mails to defraud, waived preliminary hearing before Commissioner Colquitt Carter Tuesday afternoon, and was held for the federal grand jury under $1,000 bond, which was promptly made for his appearance.
It is alleged that young Timothy defrauded a number of negroes of $5 each by advertisements inserted in the daily papers stating that he could fit them for positions as Pullman porters, and that he represented himself to be a Pullman official, by name, W. E. Polk.
Clifford Anderson has been retained by Timothy to conduct his defense. It is said that Timothy will have no difficulty in establishing an alibi, as it was Polk, according to the defense, who conducted the alleged fraudulent correspondence, school, and Timothy was merely an employee.

OFFICE OF SHERIFF PROVES VERY POPULAR

C. W. Mangum and Captain Mayo Are Only Candidates So Far Announced.

Two men have already announced that they will run for sheriff of Fulton county at the democratic primary next spring and rumors daily place others on the list of applicants for the job, which paid $6,000 yearly salary.

CAPTAIN WILLIAM MAYO

der the salary system and which is said to net even more than that under the fee system. The men who have already announced are C. W. Mangum, the incumbent, and Captain William Mayo, of the police department.
P. W. Derrick, sheriff of the court of appeals, is also named as a candidate, and it is stated that he will announce within a few days.
Deputies Plennie Miner, George Brodnax, Drew Liddell, Lon Burdette and John H. Owen, all of them widely known and popular members of Sheriff Mangum's present staff, have been named as possible candidates. Deputy Owen has stated positively that he would not run and the others, with the exception of Deputy Miner, have indicated that there is nothing to the rumor. Deputy Miner has so far made no announcement either way, and is apparently waiting to learn the exact attitude of Sheriff Mangum, whom it was once rumored would not be in the race next year. The sheriff, however, stated about a month ago that he would make the race for the second term.
It is stated that Police Commissioner George E. Johnson would be on Captain Mayo's ticket, but whether there is no indication of his ticket has been made. Sheriff Mangum will probably have practically the present deputies on his ticket.

LIGHTNING STRIKES METHODIST CHURCH TWICE IN 4 YEARS

With the staccato crash of a galling gun, a bolt of lightning ripped open the side of the St. Paul Methodist Episcopal church spire on Grant street late Tuesday afternoon, scattering bricks and debris over a wide area. No one was injured, as the spire was comparatively clear at the time.
Four years ago the same spire was struck shortly after workmen had left a scaffolding surrounding it where they had been at work.

W. H. STANTON, PIONEER CITIZEN, DIED TUESDAY

Wiley Harrison Stanton, aged 71, one of the oldest and most highly respected merchants of Atlanta, died Tuesday at noon at his residence, 630 Piedmont avenue.
Mr. Stanton resided in this section several years before the war. He served throughout the four years of the war in company A of the Nineteenth Georgia regiment. He was a member of Camp Walker, U. C. V., and a member of the Masons.
He is survived by his wife, four sons—Dana D. Stanton of Savannah, Edwin O. Stanton of Galveston, Carl H. Stanton of Dallas and Harry H. Stanton of Savannah—one daughter, Miss Carol L. Stanton, of Atlanta, and one brother, Marion D. Stanton, of Social Circle, Ga. The funeral services will be conducted from the Barclay & Brandon chapel Thursday morning at 10 o'clock. The interment will be in West View.

OSBORNE IS ARRESTED, CHARGED WITH BIGAMY

At the instance of his wife, a bedridden victim of paralysis, T. L. Osborne, aged 36, a solicitor for the Bankers' Insurance company, was taken into custody Monday afternoon by Police Officer O. R. Jones on suspicion and was on Tuesday charged with bigamy. He is in jail in default of bond in the sum of $2,000, fixed by Recorder Broyles Tuesday morning. Mrs. Mable M. Tidwell, 107 Avon street, was placed under $100 to appear against him Wednesday morning, at which time he will be given a hearing in the recorder's court.
Osborne's wife alleges that he is guilty of bigamy in that he married Mrs. Tidwell in Oakland City on August 29. Pending investigation of the case, Osborne was held by the police on a blanket charge of suspicion, and Tuesday morning decided that the circumstances warranted a charge of bigamy.
Mrs. Osborne told the police that her husband's love has waned since she sustained injuries in an elevator accident which resulted in partial paralysis. Osborne refused to make any statement in regard to the charges made against him except to deny them and say that he would have no difficulty in establishing his innocence.

OVERFLOW SCHOLARS KEEP TEACHERS BUSY

Many Class Rooms Are Overcrowded and No Relief Is in Sight for Some Time.

"The Atlanta public schools have opened brilliantly," succinctly remarked Professor William M. Slaton, in charge of the city's educational forces, late Tuesday.

"We look forward to a great season," he declared, "and, although it is too early as yet to make a prognosis, I believe this year's work will go down in Atlanta school history as the best the community has ever seen."
The rolls of the city schools, while yet far from complete, show a great gain in attendance over last year. Tuesday's increase over Monday, due to correct roll, was over 1,000, and a like figure is expected to result today in further corrections of the permanent rolls.
Interest among local educationalists is today centered in a meeting of principals with Professor Slaton, at 3 o'clock, when the serious problem of what to do with the overflow scholars in the various school buildings all over the city will be threshed out.

This vexing question stares the teachers in the face at each school term opening, but this year it has developed into a matter of serious concern in some schools of the city where the rooms are provided with only thirty-six desks, the teachers are crowded into chairs, double seats and stools over half a hundred scholars.
The board of education is handling the overflow matter in a rapid manner, but it will be some weeks yet before the question is again solved for another safe Saturday.
Superintendent Slaton declared Tuesday that it would be impossible for him to meet the public other than at his regular office hours, which are from 3 to 5 every afternoon in the school save Saturday.
In an effort to reach each child, parent or teacher, and give them attention, the superintendent has devised a card system which does away with much needless questioning and facilitates the handling of the crowds about his office. The method has proved a boon to the school building employees as well as the public.

CITY MAY PURCHASE OLD NEAL PROPERTY FOR USE AS SCHOOL

The first meeting of the board of education for the school term of 1913-14 was held late Tuesday in the offices of Superintendent Slaton at the Boys' high school.
Chairman W. R. Daley presided, and a representative number of the board was present during the enthusiastic meeting.
M. M. Anderson and W. H. Terrell presented an option on the old Neal property at Moreland, a one-acre, returnable March 1 next, placing the purchase price of the location and building at $9,800. The board passed upon the option favorably and will probably close the deal at the expiration of the option. The old Neal estate has been used as an overflow school building and the rent being paid now on the structure will be deducted from the purchase price if the transaction finally goes through.
Judge John S. Carter and W. E. Hancock, appearing for a few residents of DeKalb county, who assisted in building the old Highland Park school, declared that when the structure was put up for the county by private funds, children from DeKalb county were admitted without question and although the city has taken over the school, there should be no change made. The board agreed in the view and the children will remain in the school.
The Atlanta Park board was given permission to lay out a tennis court adjoining the Oakland City school.
The board also gave permission for the school authorities to rent a cottage in West View to take care of the overflow scholars in the fifth and sixth grades in that suburb.
Two additional teachers were provided by the board, one for the Technological high school and one for the Girls' high school. Superintendent Slaton was given authority to name the new teachers to be installed in the Moreland Avenue school, rapidly reaching a state of occupancy, until such a time as the board sees fit to confirm the appointments.

DICTAGRAPH BILLS ARE LEGAL SAYS MAYSON

City Attorney Mayson has ruled that the city may reimburse the police department in the money expended on the dictagraph recently used in the famous Phagan scandal and for the employment of stool pigeons in apprehending blind-tigers.
Mayor Woodward, when the matter was referred to him by Chief Beavers and Chief Lanford, refused to repay the amount. An appeal for ruling was made to the city attorney by the police department, and the result, Mr. Mayson ruled that the police were legally entitled to reimbursement.
The amount is something in the neighborhood of $80.

GRAND JURY INDICTS SMITH FOR MURDER

The first step in another murder case, with which Fulton's courts are already crowded, was added yesterday when the grand jury returned an indictment against a negro charged with the murder of David Wright.
Both of the principals to the affair were negroes. The killing occurred on August 20, Officer T. T. Allen and the following citizens were named as witnesses: G. McGee, R. S. G. McGee, M. Corrigan, M. Phillips, Willie Walker and King Evans, the latter two negroes.

The Soft Hat of Fashion

The soft hat is the first fashionable blossom of fall. It comes forth now in great color—blue, green, brown, bronze and many grays.

Velvet bands add an original richness, and bows are rather decorative, taking back, side or corner position.

The MUSE soft hat is one of grace and good quality. See the assortment shown in our hat department for the best hat fashions.

And Now Atlanta Shall See What Are the True and Authentic Millinery Fashions For Fall

The initial display of the true and authentic millinery fashions for fall today!

It marked a fine day for the women of Atlanta when Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose Co. so perfected its millinery organization that now it can make such an announcement as this. For here are hats that you would spend days in finding in Paris and others that Estelle Mershon has adapted from Paris originals and has modified better to suit Atlanta tastes. That they are beautiful, exquisitely beautiful, is a matter of course, but how are they beautiful and how do they differ from those that Paris sent us last fall?

You shall see! You shall see that the originality of knows no restriction except those that define grace, harmony—beauty. And yet throughout there seems to run a style-motif that will strike favor in Atlanta—shapes are small and medium, colors are rich, soft toned, materials are rich, plushes and velvets favored.

But, though we have had small and medium hats before, and soft-toned colors, plushes and velvets—never such hats, never so many novelties.

Daring Jeanne Lanvin sends a black velvet toque of the Hindustan type on which she has put a stiff black tuft of ostrich in front and a string of rhinestones beneath the chin. One of the Maison Lewis novelties is the use of patent leather, a rosewood hat with vulture quills has a brim faced with black patent leather. Marie Louise sends another exquisite shade of blue this year developed by her artist-husband.

band. The hat itself of this shade has been adapted by Estelle Mershon. It is a soft "tam" of duvetyn.

Reboux's narrow ribbons and small pointed wings (tete de Negre) cover the crown of a gold colored hat. But we are speaking of these details, glorious and wonderful in actuality, too much as a matter of fact.

See them today as they are, the lines, the grace (for more than ever hats are to be tilted and poised and set this year—the bandeau is used in many), the colors—the gold, the dark greens, the carbeau blue, the rose, the shades of purple, the pastel shades, these particularly as Madeline has used them in ostrich on a black velvet hat.

Today is the day. The hats are ready and you are invited to the ushering in of the authentic fall styles by Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose Co.

POLITICAL HYPOCRISY.
Alarmed by a tidal wave of protest from the southern farmers, the very men they professed to benefit, the senate sponsors of the prohibitive tax on cotton are having postponed the operation of the law for a year.
Unless this latest action is further modified, it is simply equivalent to postponing foolish legislation for a year.
This latest development is a tacit confession that the singling out of cotton for this discriminatory tax is nothing but political fakery and hypocrisy. If hedging is wrong at all it is as wrong in 1913 as it will be in 1914 and vice versa. There should be no compromising with evil.
The truth of the matter is that the attempt to place the cotton hedge tax upon a basis of morality has failed to the ground. For if hedging in cotton is immoral, then hedging in corn, in wheat and in securities is not a whit less immoral.
The movement, then, to placard the one
as immoral and to whitewash the others is so palpably hypocritical as to leave its defenders not one leg upon which to stand.
If any further action is taken it should be in one of two directions. Forget a y hedg-ing tax at all, or apply it equally to all trade operations in which hedging figures. Any other course will carry condemnation on its face, and the congressmen who are willing to make cotton "the goat" and carefully exclude corn and wheat and stocks will have some interesting explanations to make later.

GET YOUR BUCKETS READY!
The fall and winter are going to bring a cloud-burst of prosperity to Atlanta and to Georgia.
Get ready your buckets—every one available. It will be lack of preparation on your own part if you don't gather up your share when the storm breaks.
The statement is not the idle ditty of The Constitution. It is the logic of the situation, and it is backed up by the judgment of the most conservative bankers
and business men in Georgia and Atlanta.
Cotton—that's all!
This year the cotton belt west of the farther Alabama line will bring forth a crop fifteen to twenty per cent below normal. The belt to the east will bring forth a normal crop. The significance is that the western slump insures high prices,
increased demand and decreased supply doing the rest. From this peculiar condition the normal eastern zone will reap the benefit. Atlanta is the commercial capital of that zone. Get ready your buckets!
A symposium from the leading bankers and business men of Georgia, published in The Constitution, verified this prosperity forecast. A symposium of the three-tested bankers of Atlanta, published yesterday, gives it sledge hammer vindication. A post-card census of the cotton receipts in Georgia towns, running two to one in most instances above last year, is further corroboration.
What, in turn, is the meaning of this condition? That, with a bad market hedged and a good market assured by the western shortage, Georgia will of all states in the south profit more from her cotton. Why?
Because, in the first place, Georgia has a normal crop which the spinners will eagerly take at top prices. In the second, the crop has been raised at less expense than any crop in years. There is smaller indebtedness to be deducted from the profits.
As the commercial center of Georgia,
and the logical commercial center of the normal crop zone, Atlanta will profit in greater degree than any city in the southern states.
It is going to rain prosperity in Atlanta.
Get your buckets ready
And—
Get them ready NOW!

PROGRESSING BACKWARD.
The chief significance in the by-election in the third Maine congressional district is that the bull moose "progressives" are progressing, crablike, backward. That fact affects democracy no less than the nation,
and a further minor significance is seen in the fact that the traitor "progressives" are returning to the fold of the standpat republican wing.
Here are the figures in the recent election to fill the unexpired congressional term in the third Maine district. Peters, republican, 15,106, Pattangall, democrat, 14,533, and Lawrence, progressive, 6,487.
In the latest presidential election the figures in the same district were Wilson, 14,692, Roosevelt, 13,236 and Taft 7,169.
It is seen, then, that in less than a year
the democratic vote is virtually unchanged,
the standpat republican vote is two and a half times as large, and the "progressive"
vote is cut by less than half to a showing
even smaller than that made by the forlorn Taft against Roosevelt and Wilson.
If one insists upon reading significance
into the result, it will be found in the radical slump of the bull moose vote, the return to standpat republicanism and the reminder, to the democracy, that unless it walks a chalk line the two opposition parties can easily combine to smother it in an election. Might as well face the truth now as later.
The tariff is the problem play of congress.

Mr. Bryan deliver a lecture before the

COTTON INFORMATION.
Declaring that "every business man and every farmer in Georgia will be directly benefited," W. H. Kiser, of the M. C. Kiser company of Atlanta, commends the state wide cotton movement bulletins published by The Constitution.
Information is one of the most invaluable assets of the commercial world. It is specifically so with cotton during the growing and harvesting seasons. What is the situation regarding information upon cotton, so far as the Georgia farmer, banker and merchant are concerned? At present they are almost wholly at the mercy of the experts
of the cotton exchanges, the infrequent government reports from ginners or of professional trading houses, which can afford to and do spend hundreds of thousands of dollars to obtain data regarding the growth
and condition and movement of the crop.
But the farmers and the merchants do not reap the benefit. For these private sources can either color the information to suit
their purposes or withhold it altogether, if it does not chime with their plans.
Every southern state maintains an agricultural department, and we violate no confidence and cast no reflection by the statement that Georgia's department has gained wider fame as a joke and a fake than as a bona fide source of information. Admittedly,
it has for several years past been the storm
center of state politics, and of the cheap variety, at that. About agriculture and agricultural methods its ignorance has been impressively profound.
The people had hoped and still hope that with the new administration there will be a wholesome and wholesale change. As Mr.
Kiser says, Dan Hughes, assistant commissioner, is ideally equipped by training and experience to compile and publish just such knowledge as is conveyed by weekly statements of the cotton movement. The labor and expense attached to the gathering of such information will be negligible.

In inaugurating such a feat... it will not be necessary to fine tooth-comb the state.
Covering the important cotton markets with sufficient exactness to disclose the trend
will be sufficient for all practical purposes.
Later, other phases of crop reporting may legitimately be considered.
The Constitution heartily commends the suggestion to the department. As Mr.
Kiser states, it is in the interest alike of the business men and farmers of Georgia.

THE FINE OLD LAND.
I.
Ain't it the fine old land for you?
Corn by the bushel an' the gallon too!
Here's a health to the crop that make Life worth living for the old land's sake!
Cotton to clothe you corn to feed,
And the fine old land is the friend, indeed!

Ain't it the fine old land? You know
It's the faith of the toiler makes it so
The Toil that scatters the seed, and reaps
The harvest's gold while the dreamer sleeps
Daily bread for a world in need,
The fine old land is the friend, indeed!

Effect of the Dry Spell.
Read this from the Pleasant Valley correspondent of The Kansas City Star and thank your stars for the cool paradise of Georgia.
"Our present dry spell is becoming quite serious. H. Lantry says his well has warp'd so he can hardly get a bucket down
it and his boarders are getting so crooked
several have tried to leave without paying their board bills."
III.
Hardest Luck Ever.
"We are not complaining because we were knocked down with a gold nugget,"
says a Georgia editor, "but what hurts us
is that before we recovered consciousness
a long-delinquent subscriber came along grabbed the nugget and got away with it!"
IV.
And Palled Through.
Ben neath misfortunes frown
We've dwelt in towns where all was "wet,"
So let the rain rain down!
Not for a variable sky
We'll miss to dine or sup
We've dwelt in towns where all was "dry,"
So let the world burn up!

Looking Forward.
"When ice is short in the summers of this world," says a Billville philosopher, "it is impossible for some of us to comfort ourselves with the thought that the supply will be equal to the demand in the world to come."
V.
No Speed Limit.
Tall de Worl' ter wait fer you,
An' what's de word you git?
"My task is took ter roll away
An' I ain't got tired yet!"
VI.
"Ain't no place er res' fer me
Inside er bolis an' bars
Rise up dar an' go wid me
Fer a ride aroun' de stars!"
VII.
When the Thirsty Lay Out.
"Six thirsty old men," says The Whit-seet Courier, "volunteered to work the road that leads to the moonshine 'still,' only to discover when they got to the end, that the revenue men had seized the 'still' and placed the proprietor in jail!"
VIII.
"In Kingdom Come."
Arrived in the land of the real jingle our friend Folker McKinsey, sings
Take thy stand by the old land
And let the major bring the band,
The flag a-flying overhead
As on to hills of morn we tread
Take thy stand by vale or hill,
A tree to grub a field to till,
A song to make, a tune to play,
A spindle singin' all the day
Before you in the mills that hum
With better times in kingdom come!"
IX.
Contrary Still.
"They've all been in congress long enough
to know better," says one of the wise ones,
"but like the rest of 'em, the world's just went out like they know how!"

No Doubt He Was Excessed.
Says The Paducah Kentuckian
"The Doc Hill preacher did not have time to get up his sermon for last Sunday, as he was busy all day Saturday guarding his watermelon patch from the Sunday school
punks."

Strange Old-Time German Dishes.
Old-time Germans ate some strange dishes. Thus, for instance, the courtier chancellor of Charles V. "It will tell me," declared Don Anthony, of Guevara. "I saw
such kinds of meat eaten as a roasted horse,
a cat in jelly, little lizards in hot broth,
frogs fried and divers sorts of meat, which I never knew what they were till they were eaten. And, for God's sake, what is he that shall read my writing and let what is commonly eaten at feasts that it will not in a man's break his heart."

PRESS HUMORISTS' OF THE PAST
By Sam W. Small.
The "Press Humorists" had their annual round-up out at Peoria week before last,
under the hospitable of George Fitch, the gentle of "Old Swagart."
No doubt it was a gathering of right
merry spirits and it would have been a liberal education in the science of keeping sweet to have been with the bunch on that occasion.
To one of the "old crowd," however, the roll call of those present conveyed some sadness. There were so many of the names once familiar as "press humorists," that were notable only by the absence of their owners. The New York
could have been rightly reported "Dead on the field of honor" or,
rather, humor.
It was away back in 1878, to my recollection,
that the press humorists had their first general assembly, so to speak, in this country. The moving spirit of the clan was H. Clay Lukens, of The New York Daily News, who conceived the idea of getting together the boys who were then conspici-ous in putting spice into the columns of the daily and weekly press of the nation.
His effort was not wholly successful, but he got quite a fine crowd of them together
in New York.
Bret Harte was abroad as a consul, Mark
Twain was lecturing somewhere out west,
Josh Billings and Petroleum V. Nasby did not answer, but of those who did respond
The New York Graphic, which is the only illustrated daily in the world, made up a double page of portraits that fairly represented the most popular press humorists
of the era—the fellows who were continuously on the job and whose work was currently quoted by the newspapers from ocean
to ocean.
Now, I do not wish to incur a charge of egotism, but I must set down the fact that in that array your humble servant
was accorded the center of the stage, his portrait being the central one, underwritten.
SAM W. SMALL, "OLD ST"
Of The Atlanta Constitution.
Flanking, overreaching and underreaching
it were the portraits of as talented a lot of press jokers as this country ever had in one and the same era. Let's see how many of them are now dead.
Of course, you recall Bob Burdette. He was then the high-light humorist of The Burlington Hawkeye and his fame endures,
even though he turned lecturer then preacher and is now retired, rich and happy in California.
Then there was Charles E. Lewis, "M.
Quack" of The Detroit Free Press, who has succumbed to posterity and subdued himself to syndicate stock humor. Yet his "Limelight Club" and "Brother Gardner" can never be wholly forgotten.
There was J. C. Goldsmith, "P. I." of The New York Herald, who made that paper
quotable as never before since his time.
Lukens, of The New York Daily News, and George L. Catlin, of The New York Commercial, who died abroad as a consul of the United States.
The Boston humorist was George F. Babbitt of The Transcript. Next to him came J. M. Bailey, The Danbury News man whose quaint local stories were popular everywhere.
Following was Norris of The Yonkers Statesman, a most delicious purveyor of the Norristown (Pa.) Gazette man, whose name escapes me, but whose wit was current in all the newspapers.
"Mac" Adair represented Philadelphia and whatever humor he had claim while Cincinnati furnished A. M. Griswold the great "Fat Contributor."
Nat Burbank, of The New Orleans Picayune
was as notable as any in the line-up and it was splendidly tagged by Aleck
E. Sweet, of The San Antonio Express, and afterwards "Texas Stiffings." Those fifteen men supplied about all the humorous "newspaper stuff" of the decade
between 1878 and 1888, with the addition of newcomers, such as James Whitcomb
Riley, Bill Nye, Joel Chandler Harris, Irwin
Russell, "R. B. Knicker" and "Spoon-dick" Now, I believe, Bob Burdette, and Quack" Lewis and myself are the only survivors of the fifteen, while Jim Riley is the only one of the others above-named who lingers on the stage.
It may not be amiss to say that it was
with my "Old St" diagnosis that The Constitution broke into the big league of American newspapers and became perhaps the most widely quoted of them all—those articles being freely reproduced in English and Australian papers. The "Uncle Remus" work by Joel Harris carried the paper's fame to yet higher levels as a purveyor of negro lore and real literature, while the editorial paragraphs contributed by Harris and myself were quoted more generally than those of any other writers, with the one exception of the incomparable paragraphs
by the lamented Mark Twain, of The Washington Post, a decade ago.
But humor is ephemeral, mostly, and while humorists are "born" they also fade,
and droop, and finally die.

Frauds on Bank of England.
(From The Pall Mall Gazette.)
Although a liberal employer, the Bank of England has not always been fortunate in its officials. Little more than twenty years ago the chief cashier was summarily dismissed. In 1883 several employees were implicated in a scheme for circulating notes forged on genuine paper stolen from the mills at Laverstock. It is still more serious fraud was perpetrated in 1893 by Robert Aslett, one of the cashiers, who managed to extract Exchequer bills to the value of nearly £200,000. He escaped with a term of imprisonment.
The Hermit of London.
There was a hermit in the center of London only a few years ago, according to The London Chronicle. His hermitage consisted of a cellar—the sole vestige of a house in Clare market pulled down and forgotten by its owners. He lived there for a long time, supported by scraps of food from the tradesmen of the neighborhood, and might have lived there longer still if a journalist had not "discovered" him. He was interviewed and photographed to death, for the workhouse authorities, nearly next door, who had hitherto turned a blind eye toward him,
were compelled to oust him from his hermitage and make him clean and respectable
—a process to which he succumbed.

"Polly" Water.
(From The Rochester Union and Advertiser.)
"I never drink high balls,
I never drink beer,
And brandy," says Today,
"Not twice in a year
Of wine I have never Downed more'n I oughter,
I stick to the fizz
Of that clear 'Polly' water."
"I pass up the cocktail,
And whisky I shun,
I refuse to take stuff
That will give me a bun
I never touch red wines,
I've never tried port,
But oh, how I go to
That clear 'Polly' water."

The World's Mysteries
WHO BLEW UP THE MAINE?
Our nation instituted a court of inquiry
to fix the blame. The finding of this court was reached after twenty-three days of continuous deliberation, and it was noted, "The state of discipline on board and the conditions of her magazines, boilers, coal bunkers and submerged compartments were reviewed with the conclusion that no indication existed in any quarter of any cause for an international explosion."
The conclusion of the court was that the loss of the Maine was not in any respect due to fault or neglect on the part of any of the officers or members of her crew; that the ship was destroyed by the explosion of a mine, which caused the partial explosion of two or more of her forward magazines and that no evidence has been obtainable fixing the responsibility for the destruction of the vessel upon any person or persons.
The Spanish government also organized a court of inquiry, and the result of their investigation was that the catastrophe was due to internal causes. It was decided before the Spanish court by experts that on the explosion of a submarine torpedo or mine there would be a great disturbance of the water, causing a shock that would be felt by vessels nearby and that the fish in the harbor would be killed. Officers of the Alfonso XIII, which lay nearby, said there was no disturbance of the water, and it was learned that there was no shock to other vessels. Several witnesses who visited the spot soon after the explosion, decided that,
although the harbor abounded in small fish,
they saw no dead ones.
Many theories for the explosion have been advanced. For instance, it is said that a fanatic Cuban, certain Cubans, anger to enlist American aid against the Spaniards, planned the outrage to arouse public rage
in the United States. That the Maine accidentally entered a harbor mine. That the battleship's ammunition was exploded by spontaneous combustion. These are a few of the numerous suggestions that have been made, that have never been proved and can never be proved.

INDUSTRIAL EXPERT INDORSSES CONSTITUTION'S FORECAST
"The Constitution's detailed report of crop
and business conditions in Georgia as published Sunday was both accurate and inspiring," said W. C. Woodall, of The Industrial Index, who is in the city from Columbus. He has just made a trip through middle and south Georgia and reports a spirit of confidence and optimism all along the line.
"The Constitution performed a distinct public service in the careful compiling and publication of these business reports," continued Mr. Woodall, "and the best thing is that they reflect accurately the conditions
existing in the several sections of the state.
The fall season upon which we are entering will be, without doubt, one of the most successful in the history of Georgia. The cotton yield for the state as a whole will be excellent, the staple will grade unusually high, judging by that which has already been marketed, and the price is good and is going to be better unless all indications fail. The corn crop is the best by far in the state's history."
Georgia Feeling Good.
"Georgia is feeling good, and the steady upward trend of the cotton market, due to conditions which The Constitution has accurately described, increases the feeling of confidence. As a matter of fact the people of the state as a whole are in a really jubilant mood, and with the price of cotton going up almost daily, they can see nothing but good times ahead. South Georgia fields are rich with cotton, and the crop is looking looking and is coming along nicely, and the crop as gathered is being marketed steadily and at satisfactory prices. Practically all the cotton money received so far by the bulk of the farmers is being used to pay off in-

BUSINESS MAN PRAISES COTTON MOVEMENT REPORT
Editor Constitution: Permit me to congratulate The Constitution upon the periodical publication of the movement of the cotton crop in Georgia.
I venture the assertion that every business man and every farmer in Georgia is deeply interested and directly benefited by the valuable information contained in these reports.
To my knowledge this is the first time
that such a report has ever been attempted in Georgia, and I am at a loss to know why this work has not been undertaken long before this by our state agricultural department, and this department could render no more valuable service to the farmers and business interests of Georgia, than by preparing a weekly tabulation of the cotton movement of the state.
It is an exceedingly simple matter and
the information contained in such weekly

The Wind-Choir.
I.
Hear the music of the wind-choir,
Singing among the rhythmic trees'
Paeans and psalms and symphonies
Lifting aloft on lute and lyre
II.
Cadenced in plaintive minor trills,
Throughout the night, thro'out the day,
Thrilling and soaring far away,
Echoing over the distant hills'
III.
Shrieking, as lost souls might in pain,
Sounding so far, and then so near'
Through dim aisles and solitudes drear,
Comes and goes the murmured refrain.
IV.
And whisperings like voices fled,
Perchance as the far angels sing,
Sweet lullabies of song-on-Wind
In requiem to Life's dear Dead
V.
Spirits of the wind, sing to me,
For I love your tender tones,
The melody of troubled winds
And oh! Such eerie witchery'
VI.
Of unheard songs that never tire
Oh, Wizard Wind among the trees,
Give me immortal symphonies
Down from your far celestial choir'

The Terror of a Name.
Sir Francis Drake's name still inspires terror in Central and South America. Traveling in Mexico in 1904, Edward Smith records that he "heard a woman calming a tempestuous child by saying 'Ah! viene

that of the Black Sea, is still called 'The Black

An Embarrassing Moment.
(From The Philadelphia Inquirer.)
Mr. Milne, who was somewhat deaf, dined one evening with a friend. When the guests were seated, the host bowed his head and began speaking in a subdued tone, "What's that?" demanded Milne who sat next to him.
The host smiled and began in a louder voice,
"Speak a little louder—I don't catch what you say." Milne persisted. A low ripple of laughter went round the table. The host, his face crimson with embarrassment, raised his voice still higher. Milne did his best to hear, but failed. "What are you saying?" he demanded frantically. "Hang it,
man!" shouted the host angrily, "I'm saying grace!"
THE BULL'S EYE.
By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS
It is a pleasure to watch a man who works directly, calmly, understandingly—
who does exactly what he has planned to do.
It is a pleasure because such a man is at once a picture of Success in the making.
Also, he is a man gathering up Power.
In Working—get to the Point.
And when you talk, first formulate the one central, important vital idea that you want to express. Without waste of words, get to the point quickly. There are more Talkers than Listeners in the world. There would be more Listeners if the Talkers talked briefly and interestingly and hit right for the center of things.
In Talking—get to the Point.
You can't hit the Bull's Eye unless you Aim for it. Think straight. Push aside needless and hindering details. Choose your words to fit your thought.
In Thinking—get to the Point.

TEACHERS TO BE PAID TWENTY PER CENT MORE

Warrants Drawn Tuesday and Money May Be Mailed Out Today—Second Dividend.

Warrants for another 20 per cent dividend to the teachers were drawn yesterday and the checks will probably be turned over to State School Commissioner, Mr. L. Brittain to be mailed out to the counties today.

The warrants were for $387,792.38 on the school funds of the counties and $58,300 for the cities, making a total of $446,092.38. This money is part of the fund recently coming into the state treasury from the corporation taxes.

There will probably be other smaller warrants issued within a few days for money to be paid to the various state institutions. The governor is waiting for the balance of the corporation taxes to come in so that he may know how much the treasury can spare.

Comptroller General Wright said yesterday that all of the larger corporations in the state had paid their taxes. There were quite a number of small concerns, however, which were still in default. To collect some of them it may be necessary to have the tax issued.

This second payment makes a dividend of 40 per cent which the schools have received this year which was considerably better than it seemed possible a few months ago to pay by the middle of September. There will probably be another small dividend before the year is out, making 50 per cent of the fund that will be paid during the year for which it was appropriated.

MORE BOOKS NEEDED FOR POOR CHILDREN, SAYS JOSEPH LOGAN

By nightfall over 250 little kiddies whose mamas and papas have been unable to give them school books will be provided with the necessary texts and paper which will enable them to march proudly up to the teacher Thursday morning and take their places as accredited members of their school classes.

The gracious work has been carried out through the untiring efforts of Joseph Logan, general secretary of the Atlanta Associated Charities, whose many little charges have benefited by his aid and successful effort.

When school opened Monday Mr. Logan faced the problem of providing school books for poor little tots—over 250 in number. He made an appeal through those channels best known to him and the necessary work before nightfall Monday night he had acquired half a dray load of the necessary texts.

Tuesday following his call for assistance, the office of the Associated Charities became a veritable "book stall."

Mr. Logan's book files are still lacking in many of the lower grade textbooks. If families have Atlanta school books that their children have outgrown, a good use can be accomplished by sending them to Mr. Logan or telephoning his office.

FINGER BOWLS PASS AT ATLANTA HOTELS; PIEDMONT LEADS WAY

A bas la finger bowl! Nothing doing at the Piedmont any more in "the water and lemon peel after dinner" unless one particularly asks for it.

According to announcement printed on the menu cards at the Peachtree hotel, a palpitating public "lamps" that hereafter the "cuddled purson" who serves you will not end his ministrations with the cute little finger bowl as of yore.

The menu pronouncement reads: "Hotels from New York to California have joined in the movement to abolish the old and insular custom (and in some cases tip-extractors) of serving finger bowls. Hereafter finger bowls will only be served on request."

AGED WOMAN DESTITUTE IS IN NEED OF HELP

The beginning of a career at 60 is the problem that confronts homeless Mrs. Catherine Lutz, a gray and withered woman, who has come to Atlanta to begin any kind of business that might net a livelihood.

Her home is in Iowa City, Iowa. Recently her husband died, leaving her without a known relative. Her children died years ago. Her way to Atlanta from Iowa was made selling books. Arrived in Atlanta, she was taken ill.

She was given a temporary home at the residence of Mrs. T. B. Westbrook, 187 Ivy street. An appeal has been sent by Mrs. Westbrook to charitable persons who would donate to the aged woman until she is able to begin work.

How to Absorb an Unlovely Complexion

(Phyllis Moore in Town Talk)

The face which is admired for its beauty must have a satin smooth skin pink and white and youthful looking. The only thing I know of that can make such a complexion out of an aged faded or discolored one—I mean a natural not a painted complexion—is ordinary mercurized wax. This remarkable substance literally absorbs the unsightly cuticle a little each day the clear healthy pinkish skin beneath gradually peeping out until within a week of so it is wholly in evidence. Of course such blemishes as freckles, small patches, liver spots, blotches, and pimples are discarded with a diamond, a ruby, and an emerald. A heavy gold bracelet, a locket set with a turquoise and a Smith & Wesson pistol. The pair are held under $2,000 bonds each.

Another valuable natural treatment is a wash lotion to remove wrinkles which can be easily prepared. Dissolve 1 oz. powdered salicylic acid in 1/2 pt. witch hazel. Bathe the face in this and you'll find it works like magic. (adv.)

LIFE OF PREACHER WAS GIVEN IN VAIN; RESCUED MAN DIES

Calhoun, Ga., September 9.—(Special)—R. L. Worley, a farmer living three miles from Calhoun, died today as a result of the injuries he received Saturday when he fell down a 60 foot well, which he was cleaning out. The fall was due to unconsciousness produced by gas suffocation. Death resulted from a severe fracture of the skull.

This is the second victim claimed by the well dam for the Rev. W. A. Hall, a Baptist minister who resided near Worley, lost his life through suffocation when he descended into the well in a brave effort to rescue Worley.

Great crowds attended the funeral of Rev. Hall which was conducted by Rev. M. L. Keith of Calhoun.

Both men were about 40 years of age and were married.

UNITED STATES WARNS DOMINICAN REBELS

Washington, September 9.—James M. Sullivan, the new American minister to Santo Domingo, and Charles W. Hathaway, consul at Puerto Plata, left Washington late today for Puerto Plata to tell the Dominican revolutionists there in emphatic terms that the United States has no sympathy with their effort to overthrow President Bordas.

They received final instructions at the state department just before their departure.

The minister and consul will go to Key West, whence they will embark directly for Puerto Plata. Mr. Sullivan at once will take steps to protect the customs houses in the revolutionary section which like all those in the republic are operated under American supervision. The revolutionists were said to be at Puerto Plata late today and should it be necessary there will be no hesitancy in the landing of marines to guard the customs houses and American interests. If hostilities still are in progress an effort probably will be made to persuade the revolutionists to do their fighting outside the city limits.

The arrival of the Des Moines at Puerto Plata was reported to the navy department tonight in a relayed wire to the effect that the Des Moines drew T. Long. The department did not make public the details of the message.

GOVERNMENT PROBING THAT LOAN OF $44,500,000

Washington, September 9.—Secretary McAdoo in a statement tonight denied reports that the National City bank of New York had been indicted by the treasury department in violation of charges violating its charter in financing a $44,500,000 loan to Chicago traction interests. He said the government's investigation had not yet been concluded.

The statement was given out at the department.

In referring to the statements repeatedly published in the past ten days to the effect that the investigation now being conducted by Bank Examiner Stark in connection with charges filed with the treasury department by J. B. Hogarth of Chicago against the National City bank, Secretary McAdoo said that the investigation had not been completed and the defendants' indictment had not been reported. He said that these reports were incorrect and wholly unauthorized. The investigation said he has not been finished. The matter has not reported. He said that the bank was not reported. He said that the bank was not reported. He said that the bank was not reported.

GEORGIAN IS CONVICTED OF "WHITE SLAVERY"

Montgomery, Ala., September 9.—Lamar O. Kellar, a prominent young man of Savannah, Ga., today was convicted for violating the Mann white slave law on two of the minor counts of the indictment. At 8 o'clock tonight Judge Sheppard fixed the punishment at thirty days in the Montgomery jail and a fine of three hundred dollars.

Kellar and R. R. Zipperer both of Savannah brought Annie May Lee and Frankie Coward to this city and registered as married couples. Zipperer while out on bond was accidentally killed in Savannah recently while cranking an automobile.

SAVANNAH HOTEL BEST IN THE SOUTH

So Say the Traveling Men—Low Summer Rate On Now.

The citizens of Savannah decided that their hotel accommodations were not adequate to the city's growth and progress so they just subscribed a million dollars and erected one—the Hotel Savannah.

In comparison with other southern hotels it doesn't take second place either. Its furnishings are unusually attractive and its conveniences are right up to the minute. It is on a par with many of New York's best hostleries.

It is located on the site of the old Screven House, right in the heart of the city, which makes it particularly convenient for traveling men. They are patronizing it, too. Aside from its attractiveness and conveniences and splendid cuisine it has an atmosphere of absolute comfort that makes it mighty inviting. That's why it appeals especially to the traveling public—their every comfort is assured.

Hotel Savannah is proving very popular and as its rates are less than other hotels of the same class, its patronage will certainly continue to grow.

The Newcomb Hotel company (owned by J. A. and S. J. Newcomb) has the management in charge thereby insuring a maintenance of its high standard. (adv.)

ROME CITY OFFICIALS ATTACKED IN COUNCIL

Sensational Allegations of Extravagance and Favoritism Made in Resolutions

Rome, Ga., September 9.—(Special)—Sensational allegations of extravagance in the purchasing of supplies for the city of Rome in all of the departments were made at a meeting of the city council behind closed doors last night. As a result of the resolutions passed requiring that in future heads of the different departments must make requisition, to be approved by the chairman of the council committee before the order will be honored by any business man or the bill paid by the city treasurer.

The resolution first contained only the name of the superintendent of public works T. H. Roos but revelations of the buying practices in other departments alleged favoritism to certain merchants. High prices complained of by the city council led to the extension of the rule to cover all departments.

Officers affected by the order are disgruntled today and refuse to discuss it further than to say that it was unnecessary and is an unjust reflection upon them.

ROME OFFICERS ARREST PRETTY ALABAMA GIRL

Rome, Ga., September 9.—(Special)—Cora Jenkins, a pretty Alabama girl aged 17 years is being held by officers here at the request of her father, a resident of Jacksonville, Ala. She was arrested by the city police company with Mrs. Mary Smith aged 23 who was also taken into custody.

Jenkins asserts his intention of prosecuting the elder woman for kidnapping and declares that she had no good purpose in view when she induced his daughter to leave home.

ADMITS L. HAWKINS WAS NOT HER HUSBAND

Rome, Ga., September 9.—(Special)—Miss Lizzie Hawkins of Lindale who claimed that Luther Hawkins the youth shot by Bailiff Willis in Columbus for a 5 cent debt last week was her husband has admitted her mistake.

She wrote to the Columbus officers for a full description of the dead man and upon receiving it declared he was not her missing husband who had deserted her after four days of marriage in March of 1912. My husband has a cork leg and this man had two good ones, she says in explanation.

ONCE FEARLESS OFFICER NOW WANTED AT ROME

Rome, Ga., September 9.—(Special)—Baffled or dithering are busy making levies today upon the city of Rome. The ordinance provides that "all employees of the city in whatever department must pay their honest debts. The penalty for failure to do so is dismissal upon presentation of proof to the city council that payment has been demanded and refused."

The ordinance provides that "all employees of the city in whatever department must pay their honest debts. The penalty for failure to do so is dismissal upon presentation of proof to the city council that payment has been demanded and refused."

AMERICUS CELEBRATES "ALFALFA DAY"

Americus, Ga., September 9.—(Special)—Monday will mark the beginning on an era of development in this portion of Georgia.

A campaign of education for the growing of alfalfa and other food products. Hundreds of people in Sumter and adjoining counties will gather. A representative of the department of agriculture in Washington will give instruction in the growth and harvesting of alfalfa. Among the speakers from a distance invited are Richard H. Edwards of Baltimore and Charles J. Hadon, of Atlanta.

CONTEMPT OF PUBLIC JUROR'S PUNISHMENT

San Francisco, Cal., September 9.—Maury I. Diggs and a Drew Caminetti convicted under the Mann white slave act will not be sentenced to prison until they appear before Judge William G. Van Fleet if the request of Special Assistant Attorney General Theodore Roche is granted. Roche announced today he would ask for continuances until Monday on the ground that the Harris Diggs case of subornation of perjury comes up this week and that he wishes to have all the cases completed before any sentence is pronounced.

The government prosecutor will not ask that a charge be pressed against Juror Heister for contempt for saying, since the trial that he did not consider Caminetti guilty and merely voted so as to save attorney fees for the defendants' parents. The prosecutor says public contempt will be Heister's punishment and that a jury cannot impeach its own verdict.

EXPLORERS OF ARCTIC MURDERED BY ESKIMOS

Etawa, September 9.—The disappearance of George Street, of Ottawa, and H. V. Radford, an American, northern explorers, may be explained by a story which reached here today from Chesterfield Inlet, on Hudson Bay. This report, brought by mail steamer and the Hudson Bay route, and two months on the way, tells of the murder of Street and Radford by Eskimos two years ago.

The two men left Chesterfield Inlet with a party of Eskimos, and joined another party of inland Eskimos at Bathurst Inlet on the Arctic ocean. Shortly afterwards an altercation occurred between Radford and one of the tribe, and the Eskimo drove his spear through the white man's chest. This report, brought by mail steamer and the Hudson Bay route, and two months on the way, tells of the murder of Street and Radford by Eskimos two years ago.

The story was kept secret by Eskimos for several months but finally reached the ears of the mounted police at Chesterfield two months ago and a small detail has been sent to investigate.

BARNETT AND FAMILY PERISHED IN STORM

Elizabeth City, N. C., September 9.—News has just been received here that a boat in which Will Barnett and family of Buxton were making the trip home from Hyde county just ahead of the storm of last week has been found floating in Pamlico sound bottom side up and empty. Nothing has been seen or heard of the party which consisted of Barnett's wife and the parents of Mrs. Barnett, and it is certain that all have perished. Relatives since the storm have made search for the four missing people but all they could learn was that they had left on the return trip and the finding of the boat as described above.

$45,000 DAMAGE SUITS AGAINST COAST LINE

Waycross, Ga., September 9.—(Special)—By the filing of a $10,000 damage suit against the Atlantic Coast Line the damage suits pending against the railroad at the present term of city court has reached the sum of $45,000. One of the suits filed is for $25,000 and two for $25,000 each.

The latest is by W. Hooks who wants damages because he claims that the right kind of operation was not performed on him when he was given medical attention at the Coast Line's hospital in Waycross. He suffered internal complications and died. He alleges that the physicians of the hospital operated on the opposite side.

UNIQUE SUIT FILED IN WAYCROSS COURT

Waycross, Ga., September 9.—(Special)—Railroads get sued for many things, but it is seldom a road is made defendant to such a suit as has been filed in city court here by J. J. Rodgers trustee in bankruptcy for the estate of Phil Morris of Douglas, a trunk in which it is alleged is valuable merchandise worth $300 is held by the Coast Line baggage agent here and the trustee claims he should have it. The railroad according to the suit, has refused to deliver the trunk to Rodgers.

The suit has been brought in an effort to force the railroad to deliver the trunk to Rodgers.

The case will probably get a hearing next week.

Norcross Schools Open

Norcross, Ga., September 9.—(Special)—The Norcross public school has opened its doors for the scholastic year 1913-1914 with the largest registration in its history. More room will be necessary. The faculty is the same as last year, and is a strong one.

Large School Attendance.

Thomasville, Ga., September 9.—(Special)—Thomasville public school will open for the fall term on Monday the 15th and all indications point to the largest attendance in the history of the schools. Superintendent Duncan and the same corps of teachers from last year will be in charge. The fee system of renting books to the pupils will be tried for the first time.

OLIVER AGAIN FIGHTS TO ESCAPE PRISON

Notorious Climax, Ga., Bank Wrecker and Bigamist Completes Georgia Term.

Albany, Ga., September 9.—(Special)—A. D. Oliver, alias L. G. Harding, the notorious Climax, Ga., bank wrecker and bigamist, who was released from the Lee county chancery shortly after midnight last night, after serving a three-year sentence for bigamy, was immediately placed under arrest by officers from Mississippi, but today Oliver has put up a stubborn fight in the courts to prevent the authorities from carrying him out of Georgia.

The Mississippi officers are from Morgan county. When they arrested Oliver they held regulation papers which Governor Slaton had already approved. Deputy United States Marshal Tarver, of this state, also wanted Oliver for the federal authorities at Birmingham and finally the Mississippi officers surrendered their prisoner to Tarver, announcing that they would go into the courts with their case believing their claim on Oliver as an escaped convict would be recognized.

This afternoon when Oliver was arraigned before United States Commissioner Cruger Westbrook for commitment the commissioner announced that on advice from the Alabama federal authorities, Oliver would be returned to custody of the Mississippi officers.

Immediately Oliver's attorneys here, J. W. Walters and H. A. Peacock, instituted habeas corpus proceedings in the city court of Albany for the purpose of holding their client. They claim that not only are the regulation papers illegal but that Oliver is the victim of a case of mistaken identity. Judge Clayton Jones, of the city court of Albany will hear the case at noon tomorrow.

Should Oliver be taken into Mississippi he will immediately go back to the state penitentiary, and also face a charge of breaking out of prison.

23 SEISMIC SHOCKS PUT COLLIER ON RUN

New Orleans, September 9.—Twenty three earthquake shocks within 48 hours at Guatemala City has disrupted the American diplomatic service to the extent that A. N. Collier, the newly appointed secretary of the legation, has given up his post. Mr. Collier today is on his way to Washington, having arrived in New Orleans after remaining only a short time in Guatemala. He said that being a secretary in a Central American legation was hardly worth the nerve-racking experience he and Mrs. Collier had on the night of August 30 and during August 31 when the city felt the effects of twenty-three distinct earthquakes.

WHIFFS
A Worthy Cause.
THE MOVEMENT to buy Charley Frank, manager of the New Orleans Pelicans, a silver loving cup as a token of the appreciation of the Atlanta fans for their winning the last game of the season, and thus permitting the Crackers to win the pennant, is a worthy cause, and it is to be hoped that the subscription list will be a large one. The Constitution's sporting editor will receive all donations.

Pleased Them.
"PEAS of Nashville," says The Nashville Banner, "are jubilant over the fact that the Crackers won All honor to Bill Smith and his club of champions, the pennant winners of the Southern league." We thank you for dem kind words.

A Sure Spot.
"NASHVILLE did more than any other club to make Atlanta a pennant winner," says The Nashville Tennessean American. "Not that it was intentional. It was a sure spot. President Hirsch being able to hold Harry Welchance, the league's leading pitcher, the fact that the Crackers would have finished somewhere around the bottom. And also, the Vols might not have finished seventh." Bill Smith certainly slipped over the Vols, and they have not forgotten it, judging from the above.

Evans Trophy.
"HONEY BOY" Evans, the minstrel star, hung up a trophy at the opening of the Southern league season for the player that led his team in the batting. The trophy is similar to the ones that Mr. Evans has presented to Tyrus Raymond Cobb for five consecutive seasons. Mr. Evans will probably present the trophy to Welchance some time this winter.

Leave for Home.
THE CRACKERS play a benefit game today, Thursday, Friday and Saturday. They leave for Knoxville immediately after the close of this series. The players will leave for the homes. The fans are for presenting it regardless of the outcome, and we hope that this bunch will persuade the others to see it. They fought gamely in the face of injury after injury that all but put them out of the race.

Battling Honors.
UNOFFICIALLY Harry Welchance is the battling champion of the Southern league, and official history will probably show him the same. Which brings on the main point: Had Welchance played for his team, he would not have taken the final game of the season to settle the question. He would have been sent up to the bat with instructions to hit it out every time regardless of the circumstances.

Loss Great Center.
KETCHAM, Yale's great center, captain of the football team, and an unanimous choice as all-American center, is going to play end this season, according to advices from New Haven. The move is made because of Ketcham's great speed, coupled with his weight and wonderful strength. The loss of the team's star end, Bomeriser, was another contributing cause.

May Come Back.
CARL THOMPSON is threatening to quit baseball. But Manager Billy Smith believes he can persuade him to change his mind. Thompson roots for the New York Yankees, but Billy entertains hopes of getting him back next spring.

Stop Catching.
HARRY CHAPMAN, the Crackers' brilliant young receiver, wants to try for some other position. Chapman is the best receiver in the Southern league, and he believes he can do better elsewhere. The strain is not as great as it is behind the plate. "If I'm not back of the plate, giving Atlanta and Bill Smith the best I've got next season," he says.

Hard Tasks.
SOUTHERN football coaches have hard tasks confronting them this fall. Every team, including even the Vanderbilt champions, will be struck hard by the loss of most of their veterans, and will be forced to build up anew. This should result in a most excellent season in the S. I. A. A.

Were Interested.
WASHINGTON fans, scribes and players were as much interested, apparently, in the Crackers' winning the pennant as those in Atlanta. The final games of the season were carried in detail under big headlines. Atlanta makes Washington's "farm" probably is the real answer.

Campton 5, A. & M. 2.

PENNANT WINNERS' BENEFIT TODAY

Pennant Winners Will Be Seen in Action for Last Time at Benefit Today

The Atlanta Crackers, pennant winners of the Southern league, will be seen in action for the last time this season at Ponce de Leon park when they will stage a benefit game, and Field day.

To you fans who have not subscribed to the fund to be presented to the Crackers as a token of your appreciation of their efforts in bringing the pennant to Atlanta after an absence of four years, here's your opportunity.

Every player has a bunch of tickets, and they can also be found at Tumlin Bros. stores. The price is 25 cents. If you cannot go to the game, and you will get an afternoon of swell fun if you do, purchase a ticket. Surely a thousand of you fans can pay out 25 cents to such a great cause.

It's a long, hard winter. The players furnished you with splendid amusement all summer, and they brought to Atlanta what every set of fans wants—a pennant.

Every fan is willing to pay the small sum of 25 cents in appreciation of their accomplishments.

The time to go is now. If you cannot go to the game, buy a ticket any way to help out an excellent cause. No more deserving bunch of ball players ever lived than this crowd. Give them a send-off this afternoon, and you will make everyone of them regret to see this winter, "Atlanta is the best town that I ever played in."

There will not be enough players to make out two teams, so Manager Smith is going to take part, playing center field for Waller Smith's club. Lou Castro and George Winters, members of former Atlanta pennant winners, will also be in the game.

The game will be played into this ball game than was presented all season, and due to the rivalry between the two captains, Smith and Eiland, there is going to be some excellent ball playing, too.

The contest will start promptly at 3 o'clock, with the Field day events following.

Here is the line-up of the two teams: Bissland, ss.; W. Smith, ss.; Holland, 3b.; Manush, 3b.; Agier, 1b.; Castro, 2b.; Welchance, cf.; Holliday, 1b.; Chapman, 1b.; Long, 1b.; Dent, 1b.; Winters, rf.; Langer, 2b.; Dunn, c.; Voss, rf.

BILL SMITH MAY RUN FOR COUNCIL

Friends Have Urged Him to Make Race From Sixth Ward—Manager Has Registered Here.

Bill Smith, the most popular man in Atlanta today, may enter politics. Friends are urging on him to enter the race for council from the sixth ward. The manager admits that he has never been in politics in his life, but his sixth ward friends were so insistent that he has taken the matter under advisement.

Billy registered yesterday and is now a full-fledged citizen of Atlanta. He is eligible to vote in all elections during the ensuing year.

HARDAGE IN CHARGE OF MERCER ELEVEN

Macon, Ga., September 9.—(Special.)—Lewie Hardage, formerly half back at Vassar, and now a member of the Mercer football squad, Hardage succeeds Stroud, who goes to Louisiana State after being injured. Hardage, a sophomore, held their first 1913 practice this afternoon. Sams and Levia are the only veterans here, but several husky recruits have come within the last few days to work. All veterans are expected by the last of the week.

QUERIES ANSWERED

Under this head, the sporting editor will endeavor to answer all questions pertaining to all branches of sports.

Dick Jemison, Sporting Editor The Constitution: What is Welchance's batting average? What is A. F. Welchance's .340. Robertson .337.

A FAN'S POINT.

The following letter, received yesterday morning from a fan, is worthy of reproduction:

Dick Jemison, Sporting Editor The Constitution: If the batting averages shown by you for the year 1913 are correct, must be embarrassing to D. Robertson to wear the medal given him by Mr. Randolph Rose as the champion batter of the Southern league. According to Mr. Rose's terms, Robertson was clearly entitled to the medal, but he is entitled to no medal as Southern league champion, as he is not such a more so than Tommy Long, who was leading the league in June. If Mr. Robertson is made of the right stuff he will ship his little medal back to Mr. Rose with the request that he confer same upon the champion.

A. GROUCH.

PURSE FOR BIRDS TO CLOSE TODAY

The purse for the New Orleans play, created by Atlanta, will close this afternoon. Tonight a check will be mailed Manager Frank to distribute among his players. This token of appreciation is given over Sunday's victory, which gave Atlanta the pennant.

The Constitution's sporting editor has $24.10 of this fund. There is more of it at Tumlin's, and Manager Billy Smith of the Crackers, has some more. It will all be lumped, and a nice purse total to be raised from these three sources. All the gifts will be from fans, these three persons receiving the money.

PAUL SENTELL WILL MANAGE GALVESTON

Mobile, Ala., September 9.—Paul Sentell, utility man of the Mobile Southern league team, during his brief stay in Atlanta, secured an unconditional release in order that he may accept the position of manager of the Galveston club, in the Texas league. Sentell came to Mobile last season from Chattanooga, and made a splendid showing. It was believed previous to the Galveston signing that he would be drafted into the majors next year.

Scouters Win Two

Washington, September 9.—With second place in the American league race at stake, Washington and Cleveland today began one of the most important series of the season with a double-header at Washington, which will be played on Monday and Tuesday. The games were won mainly through the slight pitching of Boehling and Eiland. Boehling allowed but four hits, and Johnson had been hit safely only twice, when he retired after the eighth in favor of Ayers, a recruit from Richmond. Va. Washington scored twenty-seven hits in the two games, for a total of 38 bases. Moeller made a home run, a triple and two singles in eight times.

Bodie's hitting was the key to the victory, which gave the White Sox a home run, and his single in the fourth tallied J. Collins, who had made Eiland's error with two bases in every inning, but only one of them reached third.

Where Crackers Will Go After Knoxville Series

The Crackers leave here Thursday morning at 7 o'clock for Knoxville, where they play a three-game exhibition series with the Appalachian league team of that city, which will conclude Saturday.

Thirteen players will make the trip, the other three having already left for their homes and to join the big league clubs.

Where the players will go, where they will spend the winter and go next spring, will probably be of interest to local fandom.

JOE CONZELMANN left Sunday night for Cincinnati, where he joined the Pittsburgh Pirates, to whom he belongs. At the conclusion of the National league season he will go to his home in Bristol, Conn.

AL NIXON left Sunday afternoon for his home in Atlantic City, N. J. He'll be back next spring.

HOUGHTON (SLIM) LOVE left Sunday afternoon for Washington, who claimed him as one of the two players under an agreement with the Crackers. Love will return to his home in Love, Miss., after the American league season closes.

MANAGER BILL SMITH will attend the big league draft season in Cincinnati next week, will then visit his former home in Springfield, Ohio at the end of the world's series and then return to Atlanta to get ready for next season.

CAPTAIN WALLOP SMITH will winter at St. Louis, the home of Mrs. Smith, and upon his arrival there Sunday will see his son and heir for the first time. Wallop reports to Washington at Charlottesville next spring.

JOE AGLER will join the Jersey City International league team, and will spend the winter at his home in Beach City, Ohio. Joe will not be back next season.

RIVINGTON BISLAND will go to New York, his home, for the winter. He'll be back next spring unless someone drafts him.

HARRY HOLLAND will return to Atlanta, where he will spend the winter. He will report to Washington next spring.

ELLIOTT DENT will spend the winter in Atlanta, which is his home, though he has been living in Washington for the past few years. Dent will be with us next spring, unless the draft takes him away.

CARL THOMPSON will go to his home in Spring City, Tenn., and will return to Frank Chance, of the New York Americans, next spring, if he does not decide to give up baseball as a profession.

JOE DUNN will spend the winter in his home in Springfield, Ohio, which is also Bill Smith's home, and will be back next spring.

HARRY WELCHANCE has a position in Ohio for the next month, which he will fill. Then he will go to his home in Greenville, Pa., for the winter.

GIL PRICE will go on a hunting and fishing trip for several weeks through the woods of Michigan. He will winter in Canton, Ohio.

TOMMY LONG will return to Bloeden Springs, Ala., his home, and the quiet life of a farmer during the snowy season.

JOHN VOSS will go direct to his home in Tennille, Ga.

FRANK MANUSH will spend the winter in Tusculum, Ala., after visiting friends in the east. He may play ball in the winter league at New Orleans.

HARRY CHAPMAN will go to Cincinnati on business that will keep him there until Christmas. Then he will go to his home in Thomas, Okla., until reporting time arrives next spring.

As will be seen, there are eight of the Crackers who are southern boys, which stamps the statement of Roy Eiland of the Birmingham club that southerners cannot make good in this league as an absurdity.

Motorcycle Races Go Over; Will Be Run Off Tonight

The program of motorcycle races for the Atlanta motordrome last night were postponed until tonight, a heavy shower in the afternoon making the track too slippery for safety.

The program as announced for last night, with the Graves-Richards match race as the feature, will be run tonight.

Here is the program:

Southern Championships.

(Heads 2 miles, tails 2 miles, 25 points for first, 15 for second and 10 for third.)

First Heat—Lockner, Lewis, Glenn and Renel.

Second Heat—Special match race (2 miles).

Third Heat—Sweepstakes (5 miles).

Fourth Heat—Sweepstakes (7 miles).

LANGFORD GETS $1,000 FOR STOPPING JOHNSON

New York, September 9.—Sam Langford, the negro heavyweight boxer of Boston, earned $1,000, his guarantee, in thirty seconds tonight by stopping John Lester Johnson, who is said to be the heavyweight champion of South Africa, in the moment Langford stripped for the bout, which was scheduled to go ten rounds, Johnson showed fright, and when the men were called into the ring, the South African clanked away from his opponent. Langford landed a blow to the stomach and in the clinch sent half a dozen jabs to the back, the last of which sent Johnson down for a count of eight.

As Johnson struggled to his feet, Langford rushed and Johnson fell without receiving a blow. On again falling his feet Johnson was rushed into his corner, where Langford landed a blow to his left kidney and the South African went to the floor and was counted out. Johnson, as he started to leave the ring, appeared paralyzed or frightened, and both, and leaned heavily on the ropes.

Langford's weight was announced as 185 and he appeared to be in fine condition. Johnson weighed in at 175. This was Langford's first appearance in a New York ring in three years.

"MIKE" FINN SIGNS TO MANAGE MEMPHIS

Memphis, Tenn., September 9.—President Frank E. Coleman of the Memphis Southern league club, announced tonight that "Mike" Finn, whose contract as manager of the Mobile team expired with the ending of the 1912 playing season, had been signed as manager of the Memphis team of next year.

Finn was in Memphis tonight en route to Little Rock, Ark., where he will spend the winter. His contract with the local club is for one year.

$200,000 LOSS BY FIRE AT A SUMMER RESORT

Salisbury Beach, Mass., September 9.—This summer resort was swept by fire late tonight and this evening, a church, six hotels and 150 cottages being destroyed.

Two hundred thousand dollars worth of property was wiped out within an acre three-quarters of a mile long and 200 yards wide.

The Cashing hotel and annex, the Atlantic house, Castle Mona, Hotel Leighton, the Newark hotel, Hotel Comet, the Essex block, a business building, the postoffice building and several beach attractions were destroyed.

Many guests in the hotels lost all their belongings.

In the cottage colony near the scene of the blaze the cottagers abandoned everything before the rush of flames, which made short work of the flimsy structures. Apparatus and firemen from Haverhill, Amesbury, Newbury Port and Portsmouth helped in the battle with the fire.

Several cottages were dynamited and others were torn down before the flames were checked. The fire did not reach to the more exclusive section of the resort.

Sale of Adams Void

Cincinnati, Ohio, September 9.—The National Baseball Commission handed down a ruling today in which it declared the sale of Player Adams by the Savannah South Atlantic league to the Philadelphia Americans to be null and void. A national baseball agreement prohibits the sale of a player within twenty days of the close of a league season, and the above sale was made August 25, just fifteen days prior to the close of the South Atlantic season.

RAIN INTERFERES WITH TENNIS MEET

By Hal Reynolds.

Rain butted in and took a hand in the Cotton States' tourney at East Lake yesterday, as a result of which only a few of the scheduled matches were pulled off.

In the men's singles but two matches were played, while the doubles were started, but one match was completed, the match being completed and quite a number of defaults, much to the regret of those in charge of the tournament.

In the singles Ed Cartmel defeated Louis Douglas and McMillan in straight sets, 6-0, 6-2. Hall appeared to be a little over-anxious during the first part of the match, making many out-of-court shots, and also having difficulty in placing his shots. However, he came back much better in the second set, annexing two games from his opponent.

The Ramspeck-Smith match, which went to the former by scores of 6-2, 6-2, was a close one, but the closer the score would indicate. A great number of the games went into deuce and were only won by Ramspeck's fine work at driving and placing. Smith played a net game when possible, his smashes netting him a good many points.

In the doubles Mansfield and Smith won out over their young opponents, Tupper and McMillan in easy style, 6-2, 6-1, neither exerting himself very much. Tupper and McMillan, considering their ages, put up a nice game against the veterans, making some nice shots and plays on hard-hit balls. One of the three games, which the youngsters won, by the way, was a love one.

The matches which were scheduled for yesterday afternoon and not played will take place this afternoon promptly at 2:30 o'clock.

Yesterday's results follow:

MEN'S SINGLES.

Second Round.

E. W. Carter, Jr., defeated E. J. Hall, 6-0, 6-2.

First Round.

Ramspeck defeated E. W. Smith, 6-2, 6-2.

MEN'S DOUBLES.

First Round.

Hallman and Hall defeated Starr and Clintz, 6-1, 6-2.

Black and Owens defeated Nat Thornton and Partner by default.

Scott and Ramspeck defeated Parrish and Partner by default.

Grant and Carter defeated Hall and Partner by default.

Second Round.

Smith defeated Tupper and McMillan, 6-2, 6-1.

REFUSE TO REINSTATE DISCHARGED POLICEMEN

The petition of two former patrolmen, Alfred J. Bender and J. C. Askew, who were dismissed from the police force some weeks ago, to be reinstated was declined by the police board at its monthly meeting last night.

Attorney J. E. Smith appeared for Mr. Askew as well as his family physician, Dr. Newman, but they failed to convince the police board that the men should be taken back. Both men were discharged on a charge of being under the influence of drink while on duty.

SANTAL MIDY

RELIEVED IN 24 HOURS

JIM CONLEY INDICTED BY JURY ON TUESDAY

Negro Is Charged With Aiding in Concealing Body of Little Mary Phagan.

While attorneys for Leo M. Frank, sentenced to hang on October 10 for the murder of Mary Phagan, are working to secure a new trial for him, the Fulton grand jury met on Tuesday and indicted on two counts Jim Conley, negro sweeper of the National Fencil factory, an admitted accessory after the fact of the murder. One count is a felony and charges that the negro aided in concealing the body and another is a misdemeanor or charging that he concealed from officers of the law his knowledge of the crime.

On the felony the maximum sentence is three years in the penitentiary, and on the misdemeanor count the maximum is one year. Bond in the felony case was fixed at $4,000, and in the other at $1,000, so that if Conley could raise a $5,000 bond he would be given his release pending trial. It has been stated that Conley would plead guilty and take his punishment, trusting that on account of his plea and turning state's witness that he would not get the maximum.

It is probable that the trial will be held some time during the present month. The negro practically pleaded guilty to the charges found against him by the grand jury when he went on the stand during the trial of Frank and told of having aided the latter in concealing the body and of trying for a while to protect Frank from the law.

Masonic Convention.

Thomasville, Ga., September 9.—(Special.)—A delegation of Masons from the Thomasville lodge will go over to Boston tomorrow to attend the convention of Thomas county Masons which will be in session there. The meeting is expected to be a particularly interesting one.

R. E. MANER INDICTED FOR INTENT TO KILL

He Shot Officer C. F. Preston as Latter Peeped Through Blinds.

R. E. Maner, who on September 1 shot Officer C. F. Preston as the latter was looking into a room where it had been reported that Maner and a young woman whom he was visiting at Kennedy and Lattimer streets, were guilty of immoral conduct, was indicted yesterday by the grand jury for assault with intent to murder. At the time of the shooting Maner entered a strong denial of any misconduct with the young woman, whom it was claimed was of good character, and against whom nothing was made public. Maner declared that he shot when he saw a man peeping through the window, as he had previously heard noises around the house and feared someone was trying to break in to rob.

Officer Preston, who was accompanied by Officer C. O. Cochran, received a slight flesh wound in the thigh and was not seriously injured. After the indictment Maner was ordered held under a $1,000 bond.

The witnesses named on the indictment are Charles Westwood, Miss Olin Brown, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Pace, Mrs. I. M. Durham and J. T. Cook.

DORSEY TO RUN AGAIN FOR ATHENS MAYORALTY

Athens, Ga., September 9.—(Special.)—Municipal Officer Felix is expected Wednesday morning when Hon. W. E. Dorsey, twice mayor of Athens, and heretofore believed to have been cut of politics entirely, will announce his friends have been urging him insistently and he will be an avowed candidate.

Mr. H. J. Rowe, mayor for two terms, could not make the race again for business reasons. Though a long list of names was presented to him petitioning him to offer for a third term, it is not likely that Mr. Dorsey will have opposition.

COBB IS ACQUITTED ON KILLING CHARGE

Waycross, Ga., September 9.—(Special.)—Following a lengthy hearing, C. W. Cobb, charged with killing J. M. Crawford at Moniac in Charlton county and who was himself seriously injured in the free-for-all fight, was today advised of his acquittal and unless the grand jury decides to investigate and indict him Cobb is clear of the charge. George and Parley Crawford, brothers of the deceased, charged with assault with intent to murder, were also turned loose because Cobb was unable to swear they were the men who attacked him on August 4, the time Crawford was killed.

Cobb has not yet recovered from the knife wounds, fourteen in number, inflicted at Moniac.

SYMPATHY IS SHOWN FOR OLLIE TAYLOR

Ollie Taylor, the youth who gained a notoriety almost national through exaggerated reports of his "imprisonment" for the theft of a bottle of "pop," jumped into the limelight again Tuesday when a lengthy petition from Boise City, Idaho, was received at the executive office urging that a pardon for the boy be granted by Governor Slaton. The petition was promptly considered to the waste basket by Secretary Perry, as the boy was released from the reform school more than two months ago, his sentence being an indeterminate one, and it is stated that all the agitation over his "eleven-year term" is wholly unwarranted.

Atlanta Chamber Activities "BOOST CITY," MOTTO OF DEPARTMENTS

The chamber of commerce is active at work preparing for the coming corn show. H. G. Easton, chairman of the corn show committee, with the aid of W. H. Leahy, acting secretary of the chamber in Mr. Cooper's absence, are making ready to handle an exhibit which promises to be twice the size of last year's.

They are also making plans to entertain the boys upon their arrival here. As in former shows, it is thought that they will be cared for in the homes of Atlanta's prominent citizens.

Plans for Macon Meeting.

W. H. Leahy, who is in charge of the trans-Atlantic of the Atlanta chamber members, who will make the trip to Macon September 16 in the interest of the state chamber of commerce, is exceedingly anxious that all desiring to make the trip will immediately notify him, in order that the proper number of coaches may be provided.

Cooper Expected in October.

Walter G. Cooper, who has been the efficient secretary of the Atlanta chamber for the past ten or twelve years, and who is at present in Europe for his health, is expected back by October 1. In his letters Mr. Cooper says that he is feeling vastly better than when he left, and is having a very pleasant trip abroad.

That the police system of handling crowds at congested corners, and that the traffic squad should be strengthened and made thoroughly acquainted with Atlanta's streets, and Atlanta's street car system, is a suggestion given out by Fred Houser, head of the convention bureau.

"Our present system is inadequate," said Mr. Houser yesterday. "On a recent tour of the big cities of the country I noticed how much better the crowds were handled. Atlanta can equal these cities upon the expenditure of a $10 bill, or less."

"Take this money and buy whistles for our traffic officers. Instead of moving the crowds by a wiggle of the thumb, let them blow a whistle and see the result. One blast means for the traffic to go north and south. Two, east and west. At present, a wiggle of the thumb and a murmured word which cannot be heard three feet away fails to handle the situation."

"Besides being of inestimable value to our own citizens, it will be a money saver in moving the traffic of the city. It will also save accidents, thereby reducing damage suits.

"Then when our great conventions come, as the Shriners, with their thirty thousand cohorts, those men from the big cities will know by experience that one whistle means this way, two that way. They will not have to devote time to learning the thumb code, as now used."

"Then let these traffic men know the streets like a book. At present when you ask one how to reach a given place, he fumbles about in his pockets, gets out a directory, fumbles some more and finally announces, 'Take such and such a car. I guess that will get you there.'

"And if we want to make the matter real metropolitan, use only mounted men when the conventions are here."

"It seems to me it is not too early to start this improvement. Big conventions are held here all the time and we certainly need a better system than the one used at present."

SELLERS TO CONTINUE AS MERCER PRESIDENT

Will Serve Until Meeting of the Baptist Convention and Probably Longer.

Macon, Ga., September 9.—(Special.)—Professor J. F. Sellers has been made chairman of the faculty of Mercer university and will continue as acting president of that institution. A telegram to this effect was received today from Judge J. G. McCall, chairman of the board of trustees of Mercer.

It is presumed that Professor Sellers will at least serve until the time of the Baptist convention to be held this fall at Gainesville. He has done good work since being placed in charge of the university and is probably the most universally loved man who has ever been connected with the institution. It is stated that even though Professor Sellers should be elected to the presidency he will decline to accept, preferring to devote his life to scientific research as professor of chemistry.

BODY SCATTERED OVER MILES OF TRACK

Americus, Ga., September 9.—(Special.)—When an east bound Seaboard freight train arrived here this morning the dismembered hand and arm of a negro were found beneath a car, the bloody hand clutching a steel rod. Investigation revealed the fact that the negro had been murdered near Plains and the corpse placed upon the rods of a box car. Dismembered portions of the body was scattered along the track for ten miles.

Two negroes were jailed tonight, charged with the homicide.

QUICK JUSTICE METED TO THIS NEGRO SLAYER

Within three hours after the first witness had been sworn today Judge L. S. Roan, holding court in Decatur, sentenced George Oliver, a negro, to be hanged on October 24. Oliver was convicted of slaying Oscar Glenn, another negro, on July 8 last.

Witnesses declared that Oliver shot and killed Glenn after he had warned that he was pursuing an innocent bystander in a fight between Oliver's half-witted brother and an unknown black.

L. J. Steel, attorney for the condemned man, did not deny in his address to the jury that his client had committed murder, but made a plea for life imprisonment. The jury returned their verdict without a recommendation for the court's mercy.

LOUD GAS EXPLOSION IN OFFICE OF BRYAN

Washington, September 9.—A workman engaged in putting up electric globes to replace old gas fixtures in Secretary Bryan's office at the state department today stuck a lighted taper into a hole in the ceiling. A loud explosion followed and the handsomely frescoed plaster came tumbling down on the man's head. The electrician and his companions, the only persons in the room, escaped injury. The incident created considerable excitement about the department.

SMITH TO STUMP TO DEFEAT BELL

Provided the Opposition Unites Upon Col. J. O. Adams as the Man.

Gainesville, Ga., September 9.—(Special.)—It is currently reported here that Senator Smith has assured the opposition to Congressman Tom Bell that if they will concentrate upon Colonel J. O. Adams he will take the stump for Adams against Bell.

The opposition to Congressman Bell is now at work through the district trying to line up for Adams, assurance being extended throughout the district that Senator Smith will take the stump for Adams if he is chosen to represent the anti-Bell movement.

Interesting developments are expected during the next few weeks. Congressman Bell has sent word that the time has passed for any man living outside the district to dictate to the people of the district who they shall name as their congressman.

It is said if Senator Smith takes the stump for Adams against Bell he will be met face to face by Bell and his famous brass band.

An effort was made to concentrate on either Holder, Dr. Watkins or Charters, but no assurance of cooperation could be received from Washington except on Adams.

LOSS AT HOT SPRINGS FIXED AT $2,250,000

Hot Springs, Ark., September 9.—According to a statement made public here today by J. S. Speed, of Little Rock, manager of the Arkansas Actuarial bureau, the property loss in the recent great fire was $2,250,000, with the insurance loss placed at $1,500,000. A total of thirty-two and one-half blocks were burned, including 118 buildings. Of these 83 were brick, 12 brick veneered and 423 frame.

The report also places the blame for the rapid spread of the flames at poor construction, inefficient water system, poor fire fighting equipment as compared with standard recommendations, and treacherous winds.

At a meeting last night it was decided that preparations for the state fair to be held in October would proceed, regardless of the fire.

Tests from Fort Logan H. Root at Little Rock have been received for the use of those made homeless. Money and provisions in sufficient quantities are coming in and the work of cleaning up the devastated district is progressing. Rebuilding on a large scale will be started at once.

LIVESTOCK ASSOCIATION MEETS AT HARTWELL

Hartwell, Ga., September 9.—(Special.)—The Georgia Dairy and Livestock association held its semi-annual institutional convention today at Hartwell, with Captain C. W. Parkey of Elberton, presiding, and a great number of interested Hart country farmers were present to hear the convention program.

Agricultural Commissioner James D. Price was the main speaker. A dairyman himself, for years head of this organization, and now pressing a campaign for pure milk in Atlanta and over the state, he urged on the dairymen themselves the wisdom of joining the crusade.

Professor M. P. Jarnagin, of the state college; Editor Hunnicutt, of Atlanta, and State Veterinarian Pette Bahnen, addressed the meeting.

The next session at which there is likely to be a lively contest over the presidency will be held in Athens in January next.

General Dodge Is Cured.

Rochester, Minn., September 9.—General Grenville P. Dodge, 82, of Council Bluffs, Iowa, who recently underwent a serious operation at a hospital here today was pronounced cured and left tonight in a private car for his home. General Dodge is one of the few surviving major generals of the civil war.

TWO LADIES WOUNDED BY 10-YEAR-OLD NEGRO

As Result of Dare Little Pickaninny Painfully Wounds Occupants of Buggy.

Millen, Ga., September 9.—(Special.)—Mrs. W. L. Wimberly and Miss Allie Butler were painfully shot while returning from a visit to the Littlefield place a mile from Millen this afternoon. When they passed the house of a negro named Charles Browne two of his boys, aged 12 and 10, were playing with a shotgun on the piazza. One dared the other to shoot at the ladies passing in the buggy. The little negro immediately turned the gun on the buggy and fired. Mrs. Wimberly received a 14 shot in her shoulder and neck, while Miss Butler's wounds are much more painful. She was shot in the neck, shoulder, arm and side and the shot had penetrated too deep in the flesh to extract.

The little negroes were arrested and are in Jenkins county jail. No serious results are expected from the wounds.

PROSPERITY REIGN FELT BY LAGRANGE CHAMBER

LaGrange, Ga., September 9.—(Special.)—The directors of the LaGrange Chamber of Commerce had their first semi-monthly meeting last night and the most intense enthusiasm prevailed.

The good outlook for crops and crop prices, the tremendous activity in all lines of business in the town, and the splendid publicity which LaGrange is now receiving, made all present on fire with a spirit of progress and development.

Plans were discussed for the developments of the town which are of large scope and mean the expenditure of much money.

SHORTAGE OF $120,000 CHARGED TO BANKER

Fort Worth, Texas, September 9.—Michael L. Woods, vice president of the State National bank of this city, in whose accounts a shortage of $120,000 is alleged to have been found, returned to Fort Worth today from California and surrendered. He waived preliminary hearing on charges of having embezzled $15,000 of the bank's funds and was released on $5,500 bond to await trial in the United States district court.

Woods announced that he would probably issue a statement tomorrow. The alleged shortage was reported to Acting Comptroller of the Currency Kane last week.

Schlitz in Brown Bottles is pure and wholesome

No disagreeable odor or taste that scientists find in beer in light bottles.

"It is interesting to note the observation that beer in colorless bottles exposed to diffused light will undergo a change, precipitating a heavy sediment and taking on a disagreeable odor and taste."

Extract from Die Theorie und Praxis der Malzherstellung und Bierfabrikation, Published by Director Julius E. Thausing, Leipzig, 1893, Fourth Edition, page 920.

This opinion was rendered impartially and in the interest of science.

The slightest taint of impurity ruins the healthfulness of beer.

REUNION IS PLANNED FOR SOLONS OF 1888-9

Hon. T. E. Massengale, Ex-Member of Senate, Communicating With Survivors.

Norwood, Ga., September 9.—(Special.)—Hon. T. E. Massengale, a member of the Georgia senate of 1888-9, is arranging for a reunion of the surviving members of that body. Quite a number of the members are dead, among them being E. G. DuBignon, who was the president.

HON. T. E. MASSENGALE, Who proposes reunion of the legislature of 1888-9.

Mr. Massengale is communicating with each of the surviving members, and is calling for a reunion to take place in Atlanta some time this fall.

This senate held its first session in the old capitol building on Marietta street, and was the first senate to meet when the state occupied the new capitol, the second session of the legislature meeting in the new capitol building.

About one-half of the members who composed the senate of 1888-9 are dead. When that senate met in Atlanta the city had a population of but little more than 50,000 people. The Klindahl and Markham houses were the only two prominent hotels in the city. Electric street car lines were just then being established in Atlanta. This was twenty-five years ago, so this will be the silver anniversary of that senate, and Mr. Massengale says it will be a memorable event.

PLEA FOR IMPROVEMENT OF TOBIMBEE RIVER

Washington, September 9.—An urgent plea for the improvement of the navigation of the Tombigbee river in Alabama and Mississippi, as far northward as Columbus, was made today to the United States engineer board in this city by the congressional delegations from the two states interested.

Senator Bantchead, Senator-elect Clayton, Representatives Mayo and Chandler and three or four individuals representing large commercial interests in the Gulf states presented arguments to show that the volume of business which might be expected to result from the desired improvements would fully warrant the national government in undertaking to improve the river by a system of locks and dams corresponding to those now being installed on the Hatter Warrier river.

The engineer board, headed by General Black, showed interest in the case and promised to give the matter consideration in framing their project.

STATE HEALTH BOARDS ATTACKED BY ALSBERG

Dr. Wiley's Successor Says Rural Communities Are Not Protected From Disease.

Colorado Springs, Colo., September 9. City dwellers alone are protected by the federal pure food law, according to Dr. Carl L. Alsberg, chief chemist of the department of agriculture, who told delegates to the annual convention of the American Health association today that the health interests of rural communities were being sacrificed to the great centers through the inaction of state health authorities. He reminded them that federal control was limited to interstate commerce, and had no authority to undertake inspection of food within the borders of any state.

"The probability, therefore," said Dr. Alsberg, "is that there are upward of 70,000,000 people who have no efficient and systematic protection from the major causes of the spread of typhoid, tuberculosis, deadly intestinal diseases of infants, scarlet fever, septic sore throat, trichinosis and other ailments, resulting from the circulation of disease-producing organisms."

Solution of the Problem.

The solution of the problem, the speaker urged, was to be found in a more rigid and energetic enforcement of state health laws.

"A factory may be run under the most insanitary conditions," he continued, "milk may be done by a man recovering from scarlet fever, or milk may be produced on a farm where a member of the family is suffering from typhoid, and the federal authorities have no power to act. Even if these products are shipped across a state line and samples are taken, there is no method for analyzing a product which can supply evidence that the food is produced in insanitary ways or within contaminating reach of epidemic or endemic diseases. State authorities, however, can take these factories, need not wait for shipments to cross state lines and, therefore, provide only that their laws are effective within the state at their disposal adequate, can prevent the sale of these deadly unlabeled foods."

The products Dr. Alsberg considered most dangerous and, therefore, which should be most carefully watched, did not enter largely into interstate trade. They included milk and other dairy products, water, fish and shell-fish, candy and, in fact, all food that is eaten raw or is shipped exposed to the air."

To Protect Rural Communities.

With the declaration that the pure food law was "largely an economic measure," in that it compelled principally accurate branding of goods entering into interstate commerce, Dr. Alsberg said the department of agriculture was considering an extension of its powers in order to protect further the rural communities.

"The department feels it should give more attention to the protection of these communities," he said. "This means that the work hitherto largely confined to detection of the presence of preservatives in labeled foods, which do not carry organic diseases, and the prosecutions for misbranding which might work a monetary fraud on the consumer, should be widely and rapidly extended to the control of interstate commerce in the dangerous unlabeled foods which can transmit and which do transmit serious diseases. Plans for extending this work to interstate shipments of milk all over the country have already been made. It is the plan of the department to do more than extend merely police control over interstate shipments."

Need of Cabinet Officer Strengthened.

A need of a cabinet officer to preside over the health of the nation was emphasized tonight in the address of Rudolph Herring, president of the association. Referring to the expansion in other departments of the federal government, he said:

"It seems clearly in the line of natural development that the administration of the public health affairs of the country should be delegated to an independent department, presided over by a cabinet officer."

"Cuba is the only country in our association," he said, "that has a national department of public health and a minister of public health with a seat in the cabinet. But it does not seem difficult to foresee it can only be a question of time when we shall have a national department of a similar character. No service can have more justification for its existence than such a one, which establishes means for improving the physical and mental health of the people."

In a paper read before the pure food symposium this afternoon Dr. H. S. Barnard, of the Indiana state board of health, urged the enactment of a law by every state in the union, compelling laborers in canning factories and food manufacturers to have certificates of health.

Dr. Barnard declared that "satisfactory meat inspection never will be attained unless the state assumes responsibility for stamping out bovine tuberculosis and hog cholera."

Left $35,000 to Tulane.

New York, September 9.—Watson D. Woodward, wealthy dentist, who died here recently, left an endowment for the dental school of Tulane university at New Orleans that eventually will reach $35,000. In addition, Dr. Woodward gave Tulane, immediately available, a fund for the establishment of nine prizes of $50 each, and for the aid of poor students in the dental course.

Ambassador Gerard Sails.

New York, September 9.—James W. Gerard sailed today to take up his duties as United States ambassador to Germany.

Asked if he thought he could live on his $17,000 salary, Ambassador Gerard, whose wife's father was Marcus Daly, the copper king, replied: "That is something I should worry about later on."

DENY TIME EXTENSION TO APARTMENT HOUSES

Asked Smoke Board to Give Them One Year More Time.

Fifteen or twenty owners of apartment houses appeared before the smoke board yesterday afternoon and asked for an extension of the time for one year before they would be compelled to comply with the city ordinance looking to the elimination of the smoke nuisance. After hearing from them at length, the board declined to accede to their request.

The apartment house owners made the point that it was unfair to them to be subjected to rules which did not apply to residences, as their buildings were only collective residences. They also complained from the smoke made by owners of residence houses which often proved very annoying to their tenants.

Complaint was also made that the public schools did not comply with the law in regard to smoke, and, as it will probably be impossible for them to secure the funds necessary to install smoke extinguishers, they will be unable to comply with the law.

CONGRESS DECADENT. SO CUMMINS ASSERTS

Washington, September 9.—Senator Cummins declared during the tariff debate today that congress had lost its place in the affections of the American people, who had substituted in its place "a single will"—that of President Wilson. He assailed the democrats for the secret caucus and insisted they had ignored party principles.

To prove his assertion, he said he would read from the works of "the man who has more influence in the congress of the United States than any man ever before had."

"I refer to Woodrow Wilson," he added.

Senator Cummins quoted from President Wilson's book, "The New Freedom," and from the chapter headed "Let There Be Light." Its text, he said, was that the "popular will" should be substituted for the rule of guardians.

"That must have been written before he was appointed guardian for the American congress," Cummins said.

Senator Cummins insisted the democrats had not followed the principles laid down by the president in his book. He declared that through the president's domination, congress that body was rapidly drifting into a "subservient attitude."

BARLOW COMING HERE TO FIGHT FOR CHILD

Millionaire Promoter Determined to Take Daughter From Divorced Wife.

Determined to regain possession of his child, J. E. Barlow, millionaire promoter, will stop over in Atlanta Wednesday on his way from Cuba to New York and again take up the fight for the custody of his 8-year-old daughter, Madeline, who is living with her mother, Barlow's divorced wife, at 219 West Peachtree street.

The pretty child has been the cause of a number of sensational incidents, not the least exciting of which was the alleged attempt of her mother to spirit her away from a hotel in Lumpkin, Ga., and which an early train out of town, which attempt is said to have been frustrated through the efforts of Barlow's agents. The fight has been waged since 1911, in which year Barlow obtained a divorce from his wife, with varying results, and the present litigation, it is thought, will bring the affair to a climax.

The story of Barlow's life reads very much like a novel of a soldier of fortune in the world of finance. In his youth he had few educational advantages, and has simply fought his way up by sheer grit and will to the top rung of the ladder. At the close of the Spanish-American war, Barlow, with keen insight, sensed the inflation of values which would result, and started his all on large tracts of land in Cuba. His career since that time has been spectacular in the extreme, and it appears that every enterprise on which he has entered has been successful. Just now he is promoting a railroad in Cuba, and is the financing of the deal among capitalists of that city. His former wife, Mrs. Edith P. Barlow, has become a professional masseuse in Atlanta since the separation.

SECRETARY LANE FAINTS REVIEWING A PARADE

Oakland, Cal., September 9.—Secretary of the Interior Franklin K. Lane fell in a faint here today while reviewing the admission day parade of the Native Sons' organization. He was removed to his brother's home in Berkeley, where it was reported that his condition was not serious.

Mrs. Lane said her husband had been suffering from overwork and a weak heart for several months.

Later all plans for Secretary Lane's departure were abandoned when a diagnosis of his case by a physician called in consultation disclosed a slight attack of angina pectoris. Secretary Lane was ordered to bed, and will be kept absolutely quiet for several days.

The physicians say that, while his case is not serious, absolutely rest is necessary.

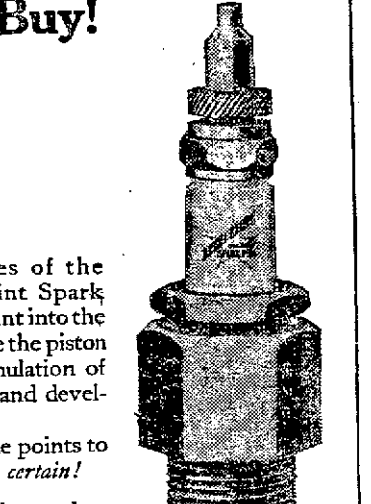

BRYAN AND HIS WIFE SUE CHIEF OF POLICE

Jacksonville, Fla., September 9.—The secretary of state and Mrs. Bryan today filed suit against Chief of Police N. C. Roach for $100 damages for the detention of a $500 diamond ring identified as the property of Mrs. Bryan and held by the local police. The suit is set for October 6. The ring was either lost or stolen about a year ago and recovered by the police from a negro in a local hotel.

The meeting was called by the mayor and resolutions were adopted denouncing the bishop's criticisms.

SEARCHING FOR HEAD OF DISMEMBERED GIRL

Until Head Is Found Identification Is Likely to Be Impossible.

New York, September 9.—Inquiry into the murder mystery, uncovered by the finding last week of parts of the dismembered body of an unidentified girl along the New Jersey shore of the Hudson river centered today in the upper west side of this city, where the pillow slip wrapped about one part of the body was purchased. From a druggist near the furniture establishment where the pillow slip was bought it was learned that a man, in his shirt sleeves and apparently greatly excited, had purchased two sheets of paper similar to that with which parts of the torso were covered.

Looking for Missing Girl.

This caused the detective bureau to work on the theory that the murder was committed in that locality and a thorough search is being made for further clues. Detectives also are investigating the recent disappearance of many girls.

Peter H. Sternemann, millinery salesman and eccentric letter writer, who has sent many rambling missives to the authorities, has disappeared as mysteriously as he was reported to have been found today by city detectives. A city detective who was sent to apprehend Sternemann, at Jamaica, Long Island, as a material witness, was told by the latter's landlady that early today three men who described themselves as detectives awoke Sternemann and took him away. The New Jersey police know nothing about the affair.

Sternemann, in his letters, declared that his daughter, Ella, had disappeared. Acquaintances of the man, however, say Ella Sternemann has been missing five years and that another daughter was now a patient in a sanitarium.

The two rooms in which Sternemann lived were topsy turvy with endless samples of millinery feathers by sell which he eked out a living. There were fourteen Bibles also in one of the rooms.

Pillow Traced to Woman.

The police also searched today for the woman who bought the pillow with the famous red and blue ticking and the hand-made store of George Sachs in which a portion of the slain girl's body was found. A middle-aged woman, stout and poorly dressed, bought it last April.

The hunt narrowed today to a search for this woman. Who she is and where she lives were questions a swarm of detectives set themselves to answer. The pillow was traced directly to her house, the manufacturers had made only a dozen of its kind, had sold that dozen to Sachs, and Sachs had sold only two. One of these was accounted for; the other went to the woman sought by detectives tonight.

The police had yielded tonight no further members of the victim's body and identification was still guess work. Until the head is found or the woman who bought the pillow, identification probably will be impossible.

Vaudeville Actress Found.

Syracuse, N. Y., September 9.—Jeanette Norman, a vaudeville actress, mentioned as among those "missing" in the effort to identify the dismembered body found in the Hudson river, was found tonight with a vaudeville company at the state fair.

PRECAUTION URGED IN SELECTION OF MILK

Following the note of warning sounded in The Constitution of Monday in which the condition of Fulton county dairies was brought to the attention of Atlantans in a startling light, the Visnaska, chairman of the milk committee of the chamber of commerce, urges that mothers of little children take extra precautions at this season of the year in the selection of cows' milk for infant feeding purposes.

The work going on in the bacteriological laboratories of the state department of agriculture, where milk analysis is being pursued relentlessly, has done much towards allaying milk conditions locally, but much yet is to be done.

The course of public lectures of Dr. Kenneth Atkins, the state's milk expert, which open in October, will do much towards enlightening the people on the proper attention and care of milk and data is being compiled by Dr. Atkins at the present time for use at that time.

Dr. Atkins has declared, as stated in The Constitution, that he will not yet make public his findings on the milk problem, nor would he do so until he opens his lecture course.

WELL DRESSED MAN ROBS LITTLE NEWSBOY

Tiny Tommy Mann, aged thirteen, living in East Point, was hustling his "wuxtry" late last night when a well-dressed man approached him near the Terminal station with the tempting offer of 25 cents if the lad would help carry two suit cases.

Little Tommy, keen to earn the coin and "stuck" on four of his papers, followed the stranger to the rear of the Terminal station where it was very dark and no place at all for anyone to look for grips or baggage.

Without warning the man threw the newsie to the ground and rapidly went through the lad's pockets. He took the contents, proceeds of the kid's entire day's work, and fled.

Just as he released the little fellow the child roared laughingly said: "Kidnappers, I need this a whole lot more than you do."

Tommy told his tale to the Terminal police officer.

ENVOY LIND CALLED TO MEXIC CAPITAL

Negotiations Between U. S. and Mexico Likely to Be Resuméd—Huerta Preparing Sensational Message.

Mexico City, September 9.—The probability that negotiations between the United States and Mexico would be resumed at an early date was the opinion expressed today at the American embassy, although American officials are not officially advised of a new proposal of Washington's determination to make a further effort at adjustment.

Lind Is Called Back.

It is significant, however, that he has advised President Wilson's representative, Mr. Lind, who is now at Vera Cruz, to return as far as Orizaba, about one-third the distance to the capital, Mr. Lind seemingly not wishing to come to the capital until the preliminaries had reached a stage at which he felt assured his services would be utilized. Whether Mr. Lind will act on this recommendation is not at present known.

The Mexican minister of foreign affairs, Senor Gamboa, still denies knowledge of the reported official character of Senor De Zamacona's visit to Washington, but he admitted ignorance of the government's intention to make further overtures, although he expressed the belief that such action on the part of the United States was not unlikely, as Mexico was willing to consider any proposition which might be forthcoming.

Huerta Preparing Message.

General Huerta and his ministers are engaged in daily conferences over the character of the message which the provisional president is to deliver at the opening of congress September 16. The message will deal extensively with the relations between Mexico and the United States. Senor Gamboa has suspended his customary daily receptions to the public, for the purpose of giving his full attention to the preparation of the message.

Rebel activity is reported in consular dispatches at several points. Six hundred rebels, with machine guns, have been sighted northwest of the city of San Luis Potosi. The rebels are reported to have three small detachments of federal.

The railroads to the north, east and west of San Luis Potosi are out of commission. A strong rebel movement is reported in the state of Sinaloa.

Huerta's Envoy Due in Washington.

Washington, September 9.—Administration officials here said tonight that the latest communications between General Huerta and John Wood, probably concerned the visit to Washington of Senor Zamacona, who is due here tomorrow. It was suggested that the American representative was preparing to ask the officials of the Huerta government about the object of Senor Zamacona's visit, with a view to making it known that he would be received unofficially.

Washington officials are also the purpose of renewing negotiations with the United States looking to the restoration of peace in Mexico along the lines indicated in the notes presented by Mr. Lind. The coming of Senor Zamacona is awaited with great interest in official circles, although up to this time there has been no notice, even of a semi-official character, that he is charged with any mission from the government in Mexico City.

Cut Off Plain Clothes Men Suggests Mayor Woodward

"If you are going to cut off anything from the expenses of the police department, cut off the plainclothes force," declared Mayor Woodward at the meeting of the police board last night when the attention of the board was called to the failure of the council to supply about $2,000 of the necessary funds to defray the expenses of the department. Turning to Commissioner Colcord he continued: "They are not doing anything, anyhow."

The meeting was speeded with sarcastic remarks from the mayor whenever the work of the police department was questioned. When Commissioner Johnson made a motion to have a revision of the rules, Mayor Woodward declared:

"You need not any more rules to make the police obey the law. You have too many already. What you do need is to give your police force a little instruction in the code."

The failure of the council to furnish the $2,000 needed to keep up the police payroll was found to be due to an oversight, which Councilman Colcord promised to have corrected at the October meeting of council.

ATLANTA IS URGED FOR HEADQUARTERS

Washington, September 9.—(Special.)—Members of the Georgia delegation are making determined efforts to have the interstate commerce commission recognize Atlanta in locating division headquarters for the physical valuation of railways.

Senator Bacon, at the request of Wilmer L. Moore, president of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, presented to the commission today the claims of Atlanta for such headquarters. He stressed the city's geographical location, within easy reach of all the territory between Washington, New Orleans and Chicago, and its great importance as the chief railroad center of the southeast.

"I do not see how the commission can fail to recognize Atlanta's claims in this connection," said Senator Bacon. "For the convenience of the work, no better or more centrally located place could be found. It is within a night's ride of almost every part of the territory in the proposed division, and only twenty-four hours distant from either Tampa or Chicago. I shall urge Atlanta for division headquarters."

IN THE THEATERS

"Call of the Heart."
(At the Lyric.)
Once in a while there comes to Atlanta a great play, one that is worth sitting down quietly and enjoying, a play that touches the heart and stimulates the imagination, and calls forth the best there is in a man's nature. Such a play is "The Call of the Heart," which is being presented this week at the Lyric by a company of unusual merit and in a manner which must call forth the most extravagant praise.

The evening who enter a new world while, presented by a company of really clever people, should witness this week's attraction at the Lyric.

"My Dixie Girl."
(At the Bijou.)
Jewell Kelley stars this week the best play of his engagement so far at the Bijou, in the four-act comedy drama, "My Dixie Girl." Jewell Kelley, Edie Bille, Edie Bille, Edie Bille, Edie Bille, and Miss Rose Morris all have excellent parts. There are lots of sensations and dramatic climaxes. The crowd effort is unusually good and the performance from start to finish is interesting and pleasing. There will be matinee daily at 2:30 and night performances at 8:30.

Keith Vaudeville.
(At the Forsyth.)
A greater vaudeville bill has never been presented in Atlanta—than the vaudeville bill of the Forsyth this week. There never was, and never will be a more entertaining, complete, and dramatic vaudeville bill. The crowd effort is unusually good and the performance from start to finish is interesting and pleasing. There will be matinee daily at 2:30 and night performances at 8:30.

Moving Pictures.
(At the Grand.)
They are crowding the Grand these days. One always says, "they" when talking about the people. "They" are growing more and more interested in Klammer and "they" are also delighted with the first-class standard moving pictures that are offered every day. Klammer and standard pictures are exhibited daily from 2:30 until 10:30 at night. Counting near Monday the exhibitions will get going at noon each day, simply because of the demand for getting the Grand habit. These people have found more comfort and convenience, just as great pleasure and interest, in the moving pictures in Atlanta to see the natural color pictures, Klammer, one of the wonders of the century.
