FOR SEVEN HOURS BOARD BATTLES IN EFFORT TO ELECT

After Taking 305 Ballots and Remaining in Session Nearly All Night Police Board Is Deadlocked and No Chairman Is Elected.

VERNOY SWITCHES HIS SUPPORT TO THE MAYOR

On the Ground That the Board Was Not Legally Organized Fain Will Protest Business Transacted at Last Night's Meeting.

At 1:30 o'clock this morning, after being in session for seven hours, the board of police commissioners, having fought out a minor issue to the bitter end, was still locked in more or less deadly warfare over the chairmanship. An adjournment was taken till Tuesday week. At this meeting the session will be limited to two hours. The vote stood thus:

For Fain—Commissioners Fain, Baslin, Dixon, King, Johnson and Smith.
For Pace—Vernoy, Colcord, Clark and Mayor Woodward.

For Vernoy—Commissioners Garner and Pace.

Over 350 ballots had been taken. At the previous meeting there were 155 ballots taken. Commissioner Vernoy had surprised everyone at the beginning by switching over to the Woodward faction. Garner, Pace and Colcord were voting for Pace and Vernoy alternately. One vote was needed by either faction to decide the battle.

Ignored the Mayor.

The minor issue which precipitated one of the strongest factional fights in the history of the board began when Commissioner B. Lee Smith, of the Fain faction, moved to take up the election before turning to regular business. The lines of the ensuing fight over the chairmanship were drawn immediately. Mayor Woodward called for regular business.

The Fain faction sat back in its chairs, yawned, gazed at the ceiling, and pretended that Mayor Woodward went on with business just the same. The Fain faction put its wishes in motion form. Commissioner Dixon promptly went over to Mayor Woodward, and the motion failed. This did not disturb the Fain supporters. They still refused to vote, or to have anything to do with the business in hand. Mayor Woodward went steadily on. An effort was made by Commissioner Clark to secure from Commissioner King an expression regarding the procedure of a committee on which the latter had served. Commissioner King gave his questioner an "I-don't-know-you" stare, and continued to gaze into the atmosphere. Presently the mayor became exasperated.

"If you don't want to vote," he advised the hangers-on, "help yourself. If you're not going to fill your jobs down here, though, you'd better resign."

Mayor Could Resign.

Commissioner Johnson immediately responded that if there was any resigning to be done, the mayor could do it himself. The mayor frowned after Commissioner Smith returned from a trip to the telephone, with the information that City Attorney James L. Mayson had declared that any business of the board which the Fain faction might put through would be invalid. Mayor Woodward and Commissioner Vernoy came back with a 1910 ordinance making a quorum of four sufficient to legislate.

Commissioner Johnson said the ordinance was antique, bewildering and decrepit. Mayor Woodward said nothing, but closed the volume triumphantly, and rapped for order.

Policeman W. H. Bone, the aged patrolman who was arraigned before Recorder Brylies on March 11 for attempting to kiss a young school girl whom he was escorting from the girls' night school, was arraigned before the board of police commissioners last night.

Bone stated that he had merely sought to kiss the girl's mouth. He was given thirty days' suspension and a reprimand by Chief Beavers. The Woodward faction all voted against the proposed action. The Fain supporters, however, took no part in the action, as they considered the board meeting illegal.

Chief Beavers and Commissioner George E. Johnson appealed to the police board last night to appropriate money enough to employ a special squad of out-of-town detectives to reinforce the headquarters men during the shrine convention.

The matter was submitted to the finance committee of council. Chief Beavers stated that he intended the foregoing action of the board may count for naught at the progress of the meeting. City Attorney Mayson ruled that all business done by the board was illegal, as the board had not been properly organized.

MAYOR'S PROCLAMATION ORDERING A HOLIDAY

It has come to my attention that the mayors of the cities of New Orleans and Birmingham have issued "baseball" proclamations and have ordered city business suspended on the opening day. Therefore, it is my desire that Atlanta contribute to make our opening day a bigger event than either New Orleans or Birmingham, and I request that all business men, merchants and manufacturers join with the city of Atlanta in giving their employees an opportunity of seeing the Cracker-Volunteer game.

City hall will be closed by official proclamation after 2 o'clock Wednesday, and all employees of the municipality are urged to attend the game.

JAMES G. WOODWARD,
Mayor.

Mexico's Trouble-Maker and His Place of Refuge

President Huerta has moved from the national palace in Mexico City to the castle of Chapultepec, the historic fortress on the outskirts of the city, famous for its beauty and because it is almost impregnable. It is believed that General Huerta took this step to insure his personal safety in the event of an uprising in the capital. This fortress is the celebrated one captured by the American forces in the Mexican war, when General Winfield Scott led the attack on Santa Anna's men. It is now heavily fortified, and Huerta could probably withstand a long siege.

SERIOUS CHARGE MADE AGAINST DR. MILLER

It Is Charged That He Sold Licenses to Practice Medicine.

The state board of medical examiners met Tuesday afternoon at the capitol with all members present except Dr. Peterson, from Tifton, to receive the report of a special committee appointed to look into the affairs of the Southern College of Medicine and Surgery and the Georgia College of Eclectic Medicine and Surgery. The board voted unanimously not to recognize the former because it fell far below the standard fixed in the medical practice act passed last year. The eclectic college was placed on probation and if decided improvements are not shown by the opening of the next term it also will be barred.

Dr. W. D. Branch, of Basley, and Dr. H. E. Hall, of Avon, appeared before the board. Both are graduates of the Southern College of Medicine and Surgery and failed to pass the regular state board last year. Dr. Branch testified that he came to Atlanta last September and paid Dr. C. W. Miller, of Atlanta, secretary of the defunct eclectic examining board, $100 for a license and that no board examined him. It is expected that the state board of medical examiners will prosecute Dr. Miller.

Those present at the meeting were: Dr. J. W. Palmer, president of A.M.; Dr. C. T. Nolan, secretary of Marietta; Dr. F. D. Patterson, Cutbert; Dr. F. D. Ridley, Lagrange; Dr. O. E. Walker, Bowman; Dr. A. Fleming, Waycross; Dr. A. F. White, Flowilla; Dr. N. Peterson, of Tifton, was not present.

Blushing Bride Kidnaped By Her Indignant Mother

Miss Morrow, of Rome, Is Separated From "Shooting Gallery Willie" at Calhoun Station.

Calhoun, Ga., April 14.—(Special.)—An interesting matrimonial comedy in which a bride and groom, a mother-in-law and father-in-law were the chief actors, occurred here this afternoon at the Western and Atlantic depot, when the afternoon Chattanooga-Atlanta train arrived.

Miss Morrow, of Rome, and her lover, William White, of Kansas City, had eloped yesterday, the young lady leaving her home at Rome to join her fiancé here. This morning they were married at Dalton, and were coming back to Calhoun on the afternoon train.

When they arrived a large number of friends gathered round them and congratulated the nuptial means of an abundant shower of rice, but in the meantime the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Morrow, of Rome, had started in search and were awaiting their arrival.

The indignant father and mother broke through the ranks of enthusiastic friends, and took physical charge of their daughter. So excited was the mother-in-law when she caught sight of her runaway daughter that she jumped down the 4-foot descent from the platform, and, pushing aside the crowd, grabbed the nuptial happy bride. The girl struggled, and declared she was married, but the mother, in reply, began to administer some severe physical punishment, beginning with a straight left hook to the blushing cheek of her daughter.

The remonstrances of the bridegroom were unavailing, and the outraged father and mother hustled their daughter onto the train as it pulled out and left the young husband alone with his friends and the rice. A few hand-fuls of the latter were given him as his bride was carried almost hysterically away by her angry parents.

The young man seemed to be stunned by the sudden onslaught of his wife's relatives that he did not know what course to pursue. He is connected with the Littlejohn United Shows, which are in Calhoun this week, and he met Miss Morrow last week while the show was in Rome. He is about 20 years old, and is known in the show world as "Shooting Gallery Willie." His wife looks to be about 18, and is decidedly pretty.

GENERAL FIRE ALARM PREVENTED A LYNCHING

Sheriff's Wife Turned It In After the Mob Had Captured Her Husband.

Canon City, Colo., April 14.—Masked and armed a mob numbering about fifty, said to have been citizens of Florence, reached here in automobiles today, seized Sheriff Newcomb, and, with axes and ropes, marched on the county jail with the avowed intention of lynching Charles Ragland, a negro under arrest, charged with the murder of Joseph Petty, a Florence merchant.

While the mob was battering at the jail doors, Mrs. Newcomb, the sheriff's wife, turned in a general fire alarm, and telephoned to Warden Tynan, at the state prison. Members of the fire department and half a dozen prison guards, armed with shotguns, were soon on the scene.

Several shots were fired, but so far as is known no one was injured. After some display of resistance the members of the mob re-entered their automobiles and drove away.

Dictator Says Arrest of Marines Was No Insult to the United States, That to Salute "Old Glory" Would Admit Undue Influence of United States in Mexico and That Huerta Will Uphold Mexico's Honor at Any Cost.

Vera Cruz, April 14.—The Mexican foreign minister, Senor Portillo y Rojas, has transmitted to the American charge, Nelson O'Shaughnessy, a note dealing with the arrest of the assistant paymaster and a detachment of bluejackets from the United States gunboat Dolphin at Tampico and the demand of Admiral Mayo that the American flag be saluted.

In effect the note says that the Mexican government cannot see wherein, under international law, the federals have inflicted any insult on the American nation; that its ordering the army publicly to salute the American flag under the circumstances would be an admission that the United States is exercising undue influence over Mexico's free action, and that the president is disposed to uphold the honor and sovereignty of Mexico at any cost.

VILLA WON'T AID! DICTATOR HUERTA; HUERTA IS HATED

Juarez, Mexico, April 14.—Developments at Tampico excited far more interest here than reports of a new rebel victory at San Pedro. No official would lend his name to comment on the situation, but one man in a confidential constitutionalist position said:

"In case of a foreign invasion General Villa and General Carranza long ago agreed that they simply would content themselves with opposing any armed force which entered rebel territory."

It is known that Villa would find it almost impossible to co-operate with Huerta, who, it is related, at the battle of Bellano two years ago, compelled Villa, then serving under him, to get on his knees and apologize for some offense. Huerta threw Villa into prison in Mexico City, where Villa learned to read and write. Villa finally escaped and made his way north, where, on the assassination of Madero and the elevation of Huerta to the provisional presidency, he started a revolution and in due time joined other insurgents under Venustiano Carranza.

WILSON SENDING ATLANTIC FLEET TO MAKE HUERTA SALUTE THE FLAG

Forty-Six Ships of War of All Kinds, Carrying About 20,000 Men, Are Under Orders to Proceed to Tampico and Enforce Demands of the United States.

Washington, April 14.—President Wilson today ordered virtually the entire Atlantic fleet to Mexican waters to force a public salute to the Stars and Stripes from the Huerta government as an apology for the arrest of American marines at Tampico last Thursday.

No ultimatum has been issued, that

IN WEEK'S FIGHT FORCES OF HUERTA LOSE TO REBELS

Villa Reports Great Victory East of Torreon—Losses on Both Sides Very Heavy. Villa Wants Cartridges.

Juarez, April 14.—The rebel wounded during a six days' battle at San Pedro de los Colonias, east of Torreon, is placed at 5,000 in an official report of General Villa to General Carranza, in which the combined forces of the federals, said to have numbered 12,000 to 15,000, were defeated by 10,000 or 12,000 rebels.

The combined rebel force came upon the reunited federals, said in the last days of the battle to have numbered 15,000, at San Pedro de las Colonias, state of Coahuila, forty miles east of Torreon.

Many Prisoners Taken. The rebels claimed to have taken 700 prisoners. The federal army is said to have included the Torreon garrison, led out of that city in retreat by General Velasco, those of General Maas, General Hidalgo, General DeMourre and two others.

Maas, Hidalgo and DeMourre were on their way to Torreon with reinforcements, but Velasco retired before their arrival. Since then, until the federal concentration at San Pedro and environs the federals have been maneuvering in an endeavor to mobilize in force, while rebel detachments have scurried hither and thither between Viesca, Parras and San Pedro to prevent their concentration.

When the general engagement was brought on, it is reported that the battle line measured 20 miles in a semicircle about the city.

Villa Wants Cartridges. A telegram from General Villa asked for two million cartridges. There were no other details.

While the battle of Torreon was in progress there were persistent reports that federal reinforcements were drawing near. General Velasco feared they would be cut to pieces and withdrew in excellent order from the city, although his loss in killed and wounded was considerably less than that of the rebels. He headed east and south, and for a time the rebel pursuers over whom he had a start of ten or twelve hours were unable to locate him. He was first definitely observed at Viesca.

C. F. von HERRMANN,

is, no specified time has been set within which the Huerta government must comply, but the naval demonstration has been ordered as a concrete evidence of the fixed determination of the United States to back up Rear Admiral Mayo's demand for a salute. Up to tonight General Huerta had not made satisfactory response to that demand.

FUTURE EVENTS DEPEND ON HUERTA.

Future developments depend on Huerta himself, was the way a high administration official close to the president summarized the situation.

The decision to send the fleet was reached after the president and Secretary Bryan had conferred for an hour with John Lind, personal representative of the president in Mexico, and after a two-hour cabinet meeting, during which dispatches from Charge O'Shaughnessy revealed that the Huerta government disputed the right of American marines to be ashore at Tampico and contended that its recent public statement of apology was ample.

Immediately after the cabinet meeting adjourned Secretary Daniels issued his order to the Atlantic fleet, and wireless messages flashed up and down the Atlantic coast to put the fleet under steam for Tampico.

46 WARSHIPS SAIL WITH 21,000 MEN.

It will be the largest fighting force the American government has assembled for possible action since the Spanish American war. Forty six warships and 21,000 men will comprise the force off Tampico.

Everywhere, at the white house, the state department and the navy department, the hope was expressed that the dispatch of the fleet would not lead to serious consequences, and there was a confident prediction among administration officials that General Huerta would satisfy the American demand and close the incident.

Officials were careful to point out that negotiations with the Huerta government had not ended and that the way was still open to General Huerta to make amends.

Meanwhile the navy department sent complete instructions to Rear Admiral Badger, commander-in-chief of the Atlantic fleet, on board the battleship Arkansas at Hampton Roads. Rear Admiral Fiske, chief of the bureau of operations left here for the Roads to night to personally explain to Admiral Badger the diplomatic side of the situation and dispatches from Rear Admiral Mayo.

LIST OF THE FIGHTING VESSELS.

ORDERED TO MEXICAN WATERS. Indicating the exact ships which will accompany Admiral Badger, the navy department issued the following: Admiral Badger will take with him the battleships Arkansas, Louisiana, New Hampshire, Michigan, Vermont, New Jersey and South Carolina which last night has been intercepted on her way from Haiti to Hampton Roads.

The gunboat Tacoma, now at Boston, Mass., has been ordered also to Tampico by way of Newport, R. I., and will start today or tomorrow.

The gunboat Nashville, now at Monte Cristi, San Domingo, has been ordered to Guantanamo to coal and then to Tampico.

The Rhode Island, Nebraska, Virginia and Georgia are now docking, it has not been decided yet whether they will join Admiral Badger's force.

The transport Hancock will leave New Orleans for Tampico today with the first regiment of the expeditionary force of marines.

The foregoing ships are in addition to the Utah, Connecticut, Minnesota, Des Moines, Chester, Dolphin and San Francisco at Tampico and the Florida and Prairie at Vera Cruz.

The torpedo boat flotilla at Pensacola, Fla. has been ordered to stand by for orders.

While the navy moved on the Atlantic coast, Secretary Daniels last night was giving his attention to the situation in the Pacific. Most of the American war craft in the Pacific already are in Mexican waters.

NO MOVEMENT OF THE ARMY. "THOUGH THE NAVY WAS ACTIVE" while the navy was active, there was no army movement. Two explanations for this were advanced—the desire that the constitutionalists, in control of northern Mexico, should not misinterpret the action, and the fact that the United States already has a big fighting force within striking distance of Mexico. Twelve thousand troops are at Texas City, where four army transports are at anchor and thousands of cavalry and infantry are spread along the border where they can be moved quickly.

High administration officials do not expect critical developments, but they are prepared for any emergency. Secretary Bryan, who is ill, had intended to leave tonight for Miami, Fla. He cancelled his reservation and announced that he would stay in Washington indefinitely.

Senator Shively, acting chairman of the senate foreign relations committee, conferred with Mr. Bryan and called at the white house as well. He said that at the regular meeting of the committee tomorrow he would transmit all the information he had obtained today.

STATUS OF THE MEXICAN CASE AS SUMMED BY HIGH OFFICIALS. The status of the case, as summed up by cabinet officers and other officials, was described as follows: "Assistant Paymaster Charles C. Copp and a boat load of marines landed at Tampico last Thursday to obtain supplies. They were arrested but later discharged. In accordance with regulations in all navies of the world, Rear Admiral Mayo on consideration of an unwarranted arrest had been made, and that the uniform of the American navy was not to be worn on shore, while the American flag, while not taken ashore, was flying at the stern of the whole boat and all the marines were in uniform." Rear Admiral Mayo allowed the Huerta commander until 6 o'clock that evening to fire a salute, but later extended the time to allow the local commander an opportunity to communicate with his superior officers in Mexico City. The officer who arrested the marines was ordered punished. This did not satisfy the United States government and the salute was insisted on. General Huerta refused to comply, but an under-secretary in the Mexican foreign office did not insist on the salute. The American ship was fired to by the American ship and word was sent that nothing short of a public salute to the American flag would be satisfactory.

DRASTIC MOVE AGAINST HUERTA ADVISED BY ENVOY JOHN LIND

This was the situation laid before the cabinet today by the president. Some administration officials were inclined to wait for more facts and do nothing until an investigation had been completed. Others suggested that Huerta would evade the issue and delay and that prompt and vigorous action was necessary. John Lind it is understood in his conference with the president and Secretary Bryan, had counseled a forceful move against Huerta. Lind discussed the pros and cons and the possible consequences of drastic action and the plan of sending the fleet as a warning to Huerta of the lengths to which the Washington government was prepared to go to enforce its policy was unanimously adopted. There was no previous intimation that the cabinet would be called together today but this as well as other matters had been discussed on many an occasion in the past.

Cabinet officers and others were in a dissent that no change in the general policy toward Mexico was imminent and that so far as possible the factions would be left to fight their battles. Officials declared with emphasis that no other phases of the Mexican situation beyond the affront to the flag at Tampico are involved in the dispatch of the fleet. Lind's officials admitted the strategic value of having so big a fighting force in proximity to a country in which emergency operations would be ordered.

No direct statement of explanation of the developments of today was issued either by the white house or the state department, the announcements from the navy department of naval officers furnishing the key to the situation.

Action not words, was the way cabinet officers described the answer of the United States to the demand for a salute when the American government was asked to fire a salute when demanded by the American government.

Incidentally a copy of the naval orders issued by Secretary Daniels in understanding to have been shown to Charge O'Shaughnessy so that the Huerta government might be informed of the course which the United States had adopted and that there was no necessity of informing other foreign governments unless a state of blockade was declared.

CONGRESS PLEASED BY NEWS OF THE DISPATCH OF FLEET. News of the dispatch of the fleet to Mexican waters was received with general satisfaction in the house, Representative Murdock of Kansas, publicly proclaimed the news of the dispatch of the fleet as a mild demonstration of support for the public sentiment.

Tomorrow the situation will occupy the attention of the senate foreign relations committee. Members of the house foreign affairs committee today announced that they were in conference with Representative Flood, chairman of the committee, and his colleagues about preparation for any emergency that might arise beyond asserting that the situation seemed to be a serious one. Acting Chairman Shively of the senate foreign relations committee made no comment.

Senate and representatives expressed themselves as satisfied with the action of the administration in ordering more ships to Tampico, but declined to be quoted in view of the uncertainty as to what might eventuate.

The dispatch of the fleet created only mild excitement in the national capital generally. Newspapers ordered their representatives to Hampton Roads, and tonight the navy department had granted permission to twenty reporters and photographers to accompany the fleet on its cruise.

It was to be expected that the Atlantic fleet is assembled at Tampico though the ships are expected to be steaming away tomorrow. Rear Admiral Badger will rank both Rear Admiral Fletcher and Rear Admiral Mayo and will take complete charge of the situation.

While the ships are under way General Huerta will have a report in which to answer the American demands. The crisis in the situation is expected to come, if General Huerta declines to yield by the time the Atlantic fleet arrives.

Various succeeding steps were being discussed among naval officers to-day and those familiar with precedent said there was no exact parallel in international law.

BLE JACKET MAY BE LANDED AND PORT OF TAMPICO SEIZED. It was pointed out by some that the United States might land marines and seize Tampico, obtain possession of the port for the incident but this raised the question of whether or not an act of war would be involved. The Washington administration has pronounced itself on the subject of landing marines or marching armed forces into Mexico as such a move would be a violation of the neutrality laws. The nature of war unless permission is given by the government in control of the territory invaded. It is not considered that the government is recognized in Mexico, but a state of anarchy exists, the American government may establish its own precedent in the case. It is not considered that the government is recognized in Mexico, but a state of anarchy exists, the American government may establish its own precedent in the case. It is not considered that the government is recognized in Mexico, but a state of anarchy exists, the American government may establish its own precedent in the case.

Officially do not believe other foreign governments will send ships to Mexico to bring in supplies and other necessities. The affair is regarded as one solely between the United States and the Huerta government, and not involving any other nations. The government is not serious eventually might cause European nations to seek further protection for their nationals. Diplomats here took an active interest in the developments and the news as it appeared during the day.

DEVELOPMENTS TAKE SITUATION UNFAVORABLE TO REAL HOSTILITIES. While the consensus of opinion of those best informed was that so serious a step as military intervention may not be required to force Huerta to yield to the demands of the United States, the developments carried the situation closer to real hostilities than it ever has been during the three years of turmoil in Mexico.

President Wilson and members of the cabinet went about their official duties as usual. The president was calm and serene. He took a long ride in the afternoon and remained in his study tonight inquired for further information was pressed at the white house but the president took the position that he would not be asked to announce or explain that the American flag had been affronted and that a demand for a salute in satisfaction had been made.

Though he hopes sincerely the gravity of the situation would be removed by satisfactory action on the part of the Huerta government, it is known that the president is not without apprehensions and possibilities, and is prepared to meet them with a firm hand.

Communication with Charge O'Shaughnessy was constant during the day and messages were given out. The American charges position in the Mexican capital in view of latest developments was considered by many here as delicate. The possibility that Huerta might consider the sending of the fleet as an unduly aggressive act and give O'Shaughnessy his passport was heard of in an interesting possibility.

The tension over the general situation was more keen than it has been since the outbreak of the revolution from the Mexican capital was awaited with intense anticipation. The rigorous control of the situation in the capital from Mexico City has virtually confined the information about affairs in the north to the state department, which is maintaining strict secrecy.

Charge O'Shaughnessy of which officials spoke was his report that the final shipment of arms and munitions to the American embassy had been received.

a station on the southernmost end of the three railways lines running between Torreon and Saltillo, and its vicinity.

Meanwhile a rebel column had occupied San Pedro near Saltillo, about 60 miles north of the southern line. The first detachment sent against the city by General Villa was repulsed after four days of desultory fighting, but when reinforcements arrived a short distance.

General Engagement. Villa left a garrison in the town, but it was possible to liberate the city by the aid of a new column of federal volunteers under Generals Benjamin Arguedas and Emilio Pizarro.

While these fights were taking place Velasco moved up to Parras and it is supposed to be the next step in the point to San Pedro where a general engagement is reported to have been fought last night.

Back of a line running approximately north and south through Parras and Saltillo is a strip of water, less desert which must be crossed before the fertile fields of Saltillo are reached. The rebels are reported to be headed for that city but it is thought they were deterred by the arrival of the federal forces.

What happened after the climax of the night is left to conjecture. It is assumed that the federal forces withdrew to one of their earlier positions and that the rebels were busy with their wounded and dead.

5,000 Wounded a Mistake. General Carranza forwarded the report that 5,000 federal soldiers were of the interior, who remained here after the provisional capital was moved to Saltillo. Carranza's reference to "five thousand wounded" was an exaggeration due to a telegraphic mistake and he wired for confirmation.

General Villa's report, dated yesterday, I have the honor to communicate to you that after six days of terrific fighting the city of San Pedro de las Colonias was today at 7 p. m. evacuated by the enemy which was reported to have been 5,000 men.

De Mourre Maas and others before the evacuation they set fire to the water tower of the city. Tomorrow will forward the details of the battle to you. My only regret is that 5,000 of my troops were killed. Tomorrow I hope that the great sacrifice of these men will be for the well of our country.

A telegram from General Benavides gives the number of federal soldiers wounded. It may be impossible to clear up the discrepancy tonight, but it is thought that the number of federal soldiers would lose half their force in wounded alone.

Federalists Lost 2,500 Men. Another telegram source unidentified, places the federal loss at 2,500 men. The rebels are reported to have taken other reports have it that property of the Maduro family in San Pedro was destroyed by the rebels. The property of other rebel sympathizers.

Another report had it that the federal forces were ordered to retreat towards Monterrey. To do this they will have to cross 50 miles of desert. It is reported that they are not equipped, it is said.

Reports from Vera Cruz that the rebels at Tampico had withdrawn to reorganize is confirmed in advices received here, although the reason given is that the rebels are ordered to remain out of the way pending settlement of the differences between the United States and Huerta over the arrest of the American bluejackets.

WORK IS RUSHED ON TRUST BILLS

Omnibus Measure Introduced in House—Labor and Farm Bodies Are Exempted From Ban of Law.

Washington, April 14.—President Wilson's reiterated desire for completion of the anti-trust legislation program of this session of congress spurred congress committees to action today.

The house judiciary subcommittee responded with the introduction of the omnibus bill including trust regulation measures and provisions to meet demands of labor for restriction of injunction powers and to insure jury trials in contempt cases.

Members of the senate subcommittee on interstate commerce conferred late in the day and agreed to submit to the full committee as soon as possible a tentative draft of a long-considered measure to supplement the Sherman law, which will differ in many respects from the house measure.

Labor and Farm Unions Exempt. In introducing the House bill Representative Clayton chairman of the judiciary committee announced that the full committee would meet Thursday to consider it and that the tentative draft could be reported in the near future.

Exemption of labor and agricultural organizations from the ban of the anti-trust laws is provided in the house measure. The exemption provision was declared satisfactory to the labor group in the house who have been urging the Bacon-Bartlett labor exemption bill and had considered calling a democratic caucus to force action.

Another feature of the bill eliminates attempts to make further definitions of interstate trade. The measure incorporates a plan already made public for regulating holding companies, for prohibiting interlocking directorates and for restricting the power of a competitor of either the purchaser or seller and mine owners and operators to control the production of their product to responsible world-purchasers or who lease or sell goods to the lessee or purchaser shall not use a competitor's product.

Provision for Railroads. It includes a provision to enable railroads to construct or acquire branch or short line railroads or to acquire the stock of branch or short line railroads by purchase or otherwise where there is no substantial competition between the two main companies and to permit railroads to take over their own lines.

Under the interlocking directorates section there is added a provision that after two years from the passage of the bill "no person shall be named as a director or officer or employee of more than one bank banking association or savings and loan association operating under the United States laws either of which has deposits and surplus and undivided profits aggregating more than $250,000."

The interstate trade commission bill will report to the house today from the interstate commerce committee.

The report says the commission has in no sense been empowered to make any monopoly or assume control of business or to deal with maintenance of fixed prices or to pass orders in any way restraining production or "make declaration as to the innocuousness of any particular corporation or product if it coupled with the right to revoke such order in the future."

The senate subcommittee in addition to reporting to the full committee a completed trust measure, will submit a bill to amend the Sherman law. The interstate trade commission bill is authorized to investigate interlocking directorates holding companies stock watering and other features of business evils to make recommendations at the next session of congress. In view of the president's attitude it is probable however that no effort will be made at this time to press this suggestion.

LOUISIANA SUGAR CASE BEFORE SUPREME COURT

Washington, April 14.—The right of the state of Louisiana to enforce the secretary of the treasury from continuing to allow Cuban sugar to enter the United States with a 20 per cent preferential duty, in addition to the general 25 per cent reduction in sugar rates under the Underwood tariff act, was presented today to the supreme court for decision.

Attorney General Pleasant of Louisiana, and former Senator Joseph W. Bailey, maintained the right of the state to bring injunction proceedings and argued that the granting of the preferential should be enjoined. Mr. Bailey contended that 100 years of acquiescence in the policy, the granting of preferential and reciprocity treaties were unconstitutional.

Attorney General Pleasant argued that the 20 per cent preferential promised under the reciprocity treaty with Cuba was to be figured on the Dingley rates and pointed to a proviso in the treaty. Solicitor General Davis said this proviso was repealed by the Underwood bill but Mr. Pleasant argued that a repeal would not be made without Cuba's consent.

UNDERWOOD SHAKES HANDS WITH HOBSON

Washington, April 14.—Representatives Underwood and Hobson, senatorial candidates in one of the hottest campaigns fought in Alabama, met and shook hands in the house today.

"How are you, Underwood?" said Mr. Hobson, and the majority leader returned his handclasp with a "Fine, Captain Hobson."

It was the first exchange between the two on the floor of the house for months.

MARTIAL LAW DECLARED TO STOP RACE GAMBLING

Drastic Measure Taken by Governor of Oklahoma Against Bookmakers.

Oklahoma City, Okla., April 14.—In orders declaring that "gamblers and law violators shall not longer flourish in this state," Governor Lee Crutcher tonight declared martial law and directed Frank M. Canton, adjutant general, to order out a sufficient force of state troops to enforce the state anti-gambling laws.

This action was taken when the adjutant general, who is in Tulsa reported to the governor that notwithstanding a restraining order issued last night by District Judge J. M. Fox, bookmakers were operating at the fair grounds track where the spring race meeting of the Tulsa Jockey club opened yesterday.

DARKENS GRAY HAIR, STOPS FALLING HAIR

Something New—Darkens Evenly—Makes You Look Young, Vigorous.

When your hair begins to turn gray, streaked, faded or brittle or if hair is all gray or white, try the following: On retiring apply Q-Ban, like a shampoo, to hair and scalp. The gray disappears and a few more applications of Q-Ban, the hair is beautifully darkened so evenly and naturally no one can tell it has been applied. Q-Ban is very popular because in addition to beautifully darkening the hair it produces that soft, dark luster and appearance of abundance to the hair which makes the hair so fascinating and attractive, besides prevents dandruff, itching scalp and fading hair, and promotes the growth of thin or brittle hair. Q-Ban is not sticky or messy—delightful to use. Cannot injure or stain the most delicate scalp or hair. If you care for dark, thick hair, free from grayness, make a personal trial of Q-Ban. It will please, delight and surprise you with beautiful dark hair and lots of it. A large 7-ounce bottle sold and guaranteed for only 50 cents by Edmundson's Drug Stores, 11 N. With a Big Barbecue
Health Officers End
Their Convention

Thousands of answers were received in the Constitution's Lily contest in last Sunday's paper.

The contest was an exhibition of artistic ability in placing together a picture of a rabbit and a lily, a section of which appeared in each advertisement on one page of the paper. The interest displayed was unprecedented. One young lady, Miss Mary, of 328 Ponce de Leon avenue, won the Lily and rabbit in the picture on a basis constructed a fairy reproduction of a wedding among the little people of the woodland. It was well worthy of the pair of orchestra seats presented to little Miss Lenney for a visit to Mr. Belasco's play "The Lily" at the Lyric theater. Miss Mary will be pleased to know that her wedding in the woodland has been given to house some little children whose playthings and toys are scarce because their parents have but little to spare for children's pleasures.

The first prize a box of six seats at a production of "The Lily" at the Lyric was awarded to Mrs. S. M. Bernolak, 43 North Dargan place. Mrs. Bernolak, and C. F. McDaniell, 220 Courtland street, entered pictures that were so good that a special jury of disinterested ladies had to be selected by the contest editor to make the award. He would not take the responsibility of selecting the prize winners after viewing the thousands of entries and narrowing the first prize winner down to two candidates. Then another special jury of disinterested ladies had to be selected to pick the twenty-five who should enjoy the twenty-five pairs of seats in the orchestra. Many more answers than there were prizes were worthy of reward, and The Constitution wishes to thank every contestant who entered.

National Drainage Congress.
On account of the above occasion the Southern Railway announces greatly reduced round trip fares to Savannah, Ga. tickets to be on sale April 20th and 21st and final return limit April 30th, 1914.—(adv.)

Both Sides Object TO CHANGES IN RATES

Vigorous Protest Over Revised Express Rates Heard by Railroad Commission.

Vigorous opposition was presented against the proposed ratification of intrastate express rates at a hearing before the railroad commissioners in the capitol yesterday.

A group of produce dealers and shippers from various sections of the state appeared to address the commission, together with express officials. The hearing occupied the entire day, was adjourned late in the afternoon, and will be resumed this morning.

For the past two years the commission has been engaged in an extensive investigation and study of express classification, rates and traffic, and has proposed a revision in contemplation of harmonizing and adopting new classifications and rates to traffic conditions as they exist today.

Under the method proposed by the commission, the express companies compose the transportation rate rules and rates are to be fixed for each individual express concern, regardless of the number of roads necessary for shipment to be transported over in order to reach destination.

Witnesses were examined during the hearing, who told of express conditions and regulations and revenue. A strong speech in behalf of the express companies was made by J. H. McHattan, representing the Southern Express company who debated the logic of the proposed ratifications.

Express company officials who argued that the proposed ratifications were too steep and that their enforcement would deprive express concerns affected by such intrastate revisions of revenue that was necessary to existence.

On the other hand however produce dealers and shippers of the state—who were liberally represented at the hearing—debated that the proposed ratifications would severely affect the inauguration would deprive growers and shippers—as well as dealers of all classes—of the meager profit derived from intrastate traffic.

In this connection J. H. McHattan, a state demonstrator, declared that the ratifications would severely affect the farming industry of the state and that the small-scale farmer would be seriously impaired in trucking his wares.

Mr. McHattan stated that truck farming in Georgia was progressing rapidly, and that it was becoming so prosperous in all sections that the state would be prepared to compete with the markets of other big farm states.

Any man who applies business ability, intellect and science to his work could produce a prosperous trade. We are trying to aid the industry, and in the past several months have been provided of hundreds who contemplate taking up truck farming.

James Harrison Fined $100 For Stealing Flowers Off Oakland Cemetery Graves

Harrison denied the charges stating that he was decorating the grave of a man named Harrison who died in 1872. He declared that the dead man was a friend of his wife's mother, and that frequently he decorated the grave in honor of his mother-in-law's old friend.

INDEPENDENT CRACKER MEN WIN IN HIGH COURT

Brooks Morgan, president of the American Association of Cracker Bakers, an organization composed of independent cracker factories located in nearly every state of the union and Canada has just received advice from the general counsel of the association to the effect that the United States court of appeals has today decided one of the longest court cases in the most famous patent cases in America, against the National Biscuit company, and in favor of the independent cracker factories.

This case which has been fought for ten years through number of United States courts has received much notoriety by reason of the fact that some of the most learned judges in the United States have decided in favor of the plaintiffs, the independents among them being Mr. Justice Van Devanter, now of the supreme court of the United States. Mr. Justice Kohlsaat of the tenth circuit court of appeals, the seventeenth district and Judge Thayer, of the eighth district.

This case has been bitterly contested for several years on one side by the National Biscuit company, and on the other by the independent cracker factories, but it is not thought that it will be carried to the United States supreme court owing to the fact that such learned judges as Anderson, MacIs and Baker passed on this last case.

The question involved was "Whereas or not any manufacturer except the National Biscuit company has the right to distribute and sell crackers in the parchment-lined and inter-folded cartons as are now generally used all over the world."

A winning of the case by the National Biscuit company would give it a practical monopoly of the inner seal package for crackers.

THE CONSTITUTION is on sale in New York City by J. P. M. The day after issue it can be had at Rotunda Newsstands, Broadway and Forty-second street (Times building corner), Thirty-eighth street and Broadway and Twenty-ninth street and Broadway.

THE COUNTY COMMISSIONERS.

The county commissioners and county officials of Georgia, about 250 in number, meet in Atlanta today for their first annual convention, stretching over two days.

A large part of the program will be addressed to the paramount subject of road building and road improvement. General issues of county administration will also come in for discussion by experts and men of broad experience.

Georgia holds few bodies of officials whose influence may be more potent for progress than its county commissioners.

As a rule, the class of men holding these offices is of the highest and most alert civic type.

All of them have at heart the best interests of their community. The only points of difference are as to the means to the common end.

The good roads propaganda of the past few years has wrought wonders in bringing the county commissioners together.

Here was an issue upon which all might unite, without divergence save that growing from friendly rivalry.

From this central point of interest in highways, a multitude of other mutual interests, all bearing on good and progressive government, have developed.

The Constitution has known the prosperity and prestige of more than one county in Georgia to pivot on the type of men elected as county commissioners. If they were wide awake, with their heads in the twentieth century, they have inaugurated such liberal policies as have been reflected in increased tax valuations, good roads and bridges, appropriate public buildings, a militant spirit for law and order.

Fortunately, this class of commissioners predominate in Georgia. Their ranks are being increased each year. The convention opening today and lasting through tomorrow should be productive of substantial good, and a forerunner of greater benefits yet to come through co-operation.

MRS. ISABELLA G. RYAN.

The death of Mrs. Isabella G. Ryan, widow of John Ryan, pioneer Atlantan, removes a woman of wonderfully beautiful personality, and one who interestingly linked the Atlanta of today with the Atlanta of yesterday.

Mrs. Ryan's life in Atlanta was identified with the ante-bellum, the post-bellum and the restoration epochs of the city's history, in a degree approached by the lives of but few who have figured in Atlanta's annals.

Mrs. Ryan came to Atlanta as a bride before the civil war. As a bride she went to the home in which, recently, she died. When John Ryan took his young wife to the handsome home on Whitehall street they were then located on the outskirts of Atlanta.

When Isabella Ryan died the other day in the same home, the city had expanded and spread until the home once in the suburbs is now near the center of the city's activities. Here, in one woman's life, is comprised the magical history of a metropolis.

The creed of this noble woman was one of charity that was not restricted by boundaries of church or race, but that was measured by the demands of human need. A rare and beautiful spirit, her friendship was a benediction to all with whom she came in contact.

W. T. GENTRY'S BIRTHDAY.

W. T. Gentry, of Atlanta, yesterday celebrated his sixtieth birthday. He kept "open house" to his friends in his beautiful new home, "Virginia Manor," and was presented a magnificent silver service by his associates in the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph company, of which he is the head.

Mr. Gentry is a business builder of the best type. Twenty-five years ago he came to Atlanta from Virginia as manager of the Atlanta telephone exchange. In those days, Gentry was virtually the whole telephone system of Atlanta. At that time the Bell boasted only a few miles of wire, locally, and a few hundred phones, and with a nominal staff of which Gentry was the head.

The aptitude and creative ability the man has displayed in this quarter century are best illustrated by his steady promotions to be head of the Southern Bell and the Cumberland systems, which supply phone service to the vast territory south of the Ohio river and eastward from the Mississippi river to the Atlantic ocean. The larger features of this phenomenal development are traceable to his executive ability and specialized knowledge of the business. A smaller man or one less daring would have held back the evolution of the service in this section.

If Mr. Gentry is Paramount as a builder, he is no less winning on the social and personal sides. His temperament is one of magnetism and individual charm, drawing all manner of people to him. His outlook has been broad, enlisting his sympathies and energies for each phase of civic advancement and the public welfare. Among his most attractive characteristics is the faculty for making happiness contagious among his friends and all with whom he comes in contact.

The birth anniversary of such a man is more than a personal event. The Constitution felicitates him upon the celebration of yesterday, extending the hope that many more similar celebrations are yet to come, each marking a broadening of his fine citizenship and practical usefulness.

YOUR DOCTOR SPEAKS.

The doctors of Atlanta and Fulton county have spoken unanimously in demand for a Greater Grady hospital.

That big fact is embodied in the indorsement of the Fulton County Medical society of which the representative physicians of Atlanta and Fulton county comprise the membership.

No one knows better than the doctor the life and death need of efficient hospital facilities.

He goes into the intimacies of every home. He knows the secrets of the hovel and the mansion.

When doctors agree, the laymen well may take notice. Doctors have agreed on the necessity of a Greater Grady.

They know what cramped facilities have cost in the past in the way of a fat death rate.

They know that poverty of facilities among negroes as well as whites encourages the germ that knows no color line.

When the doctors unite the men and women dependent upon them to safeguard life cannot afford to be negligent.

In effect, the family doctor of every family in Atlanta has underwritten the need of Greater Grady.

Will you follow the advice of your doctor?

POLITICS AND BUSINESS.

The following editorial extract from The Kansas City Times has a pertinent bearing on the campaign for Greater Grady, for cleaner and healthier Atlanta, and for better government everywhere.

"I don't pay much attention to politics myself," a foreman in a large shop is quoted as saying. "But we have two boys, and my wife is mighty interested in having the city cleaned up on their account. On her account I'm going to vote the non-partisan ticket."

Politics is only self-interest applied and made personal.

The man who can't be interested in politics for his own sake can be for the sake of his wife and his children.

The Atlantan indifferent to Greater Grady, to healthier Atlanta, for his own sake, can be waked up by the appeal for his wife and his family.

After a little schooling in these principles which teach that, after all, politics is or should be only a medium for transacting efficiently everybody's business, which is the public business, we shall have better government, better health, less boss-rule and less grafting in this country.

SOCIETY AND THE GUNMEN.

The New York World justly protests against the effort of some of the more emotional "uplifters" to lay upon the shoulders of society all the blame for the four New York gunmen and others of their ilk.

It is fashionable nowadays in this era that seeks to "reform" everything, to do it overnight and to accomplish it by a mechanical formula rather than flesh-and-blood methods—to hold "society" responsible for about every individual sin in the calendar.

Society has a whole lot to answer for, legitimately, without being overtaxed for offenses that should not be laid wholly at its door. Abandoning or slighting the "old-time religion," we also are in danger of forgetting one of its first principles, and that is "personal accountability."

The four men executed at Sing Sing the other day came of hard-working, God-fearing, law-abiding parents. In their earlier years each enjoyed the benefit of whatever good influence accrues from organized religion. Yet they went crooked, with the result so tragically written.

The student who reasons carefully and does not leap to spectacular conclusions may find three explanations for the vicious careers of these four boys:
Atavistic criminal tendencies, reaching back to remote and forgotten ancestors.
A fall down in parental discipline, despite the personal virtue of the parents.
Plan old "original depravity," as actively on the job as it was in Eden.
Society, it is true, furnished the scene

Wilson's "Watchful Waiting"
In Mexico Shown to Be Constructive Policy.

Editor Constitution: I am just in receipt of a letter from Rev. B. H. Mobley, a southern Methodist preacher, formerly a member of the north Georgia conference, and now stationed at Nogales, Ariz., which contains very interesting information bearing on the Mexican situation, and I thought I might like to give it to your readers, as it is thoroughly reliable, and from a Georgian. I know you are in full sympathy with President Wilson's Mexican policy, and thought this might be worth while to you. He writes as follows:

A Letter From Mexico.
"Nogales is located on the Mexican border, about half of the city being in Mexico. Our church and parsonage is within a stone's throw of the international line. One of the important battles of the Mexican war in Mexico was fought here, when the constitutionists captured the town of Nogales, Mexico, from the federalists, and drove them out. The war at present is not in this part of the country, it having passed to the southeast, several hundred miles from this place.

Uncle Sam has about five hundred soldiers stationed here now, and that makes us feel good. The United States (Nogales, Ariz.) is full of overflowing with Mexican refugees, made up largely of Huerta's sympathizers and those who have fled from the will of the constitutionalist faction, which now holds all of northwestern Mexico. These refugees are holding classes, property holding classes. Indeed their most serious offense consists in the fact that they own property. It has become necessary to drive them out and confiscate their property.

The half-breed peon and the Indian, those who have been captured and held in abject servitude, now seem to hold the whip-hand, and when one considers how little the property-holding classes have done to help these, and how much they have done to crush them, one's sympathy is almost entirely with the peon and Indian. It is not surprising to believe they are capable of self-government, and it seems almost inevitable that some day outside power will have to step in and take charge, and, of course, the United States is the only power to do this.

I think the wisdom of President Wilson's policy of watchful waiting consists in the fact that by so doing, the time is coming when intervention will be welcomed, and the earlier stage would be resented by all factions alike."

"Watchful Waiting."
This presents a view of the "watchful waiting" policy of the president that I have not seen discussed in the papers, and I thought it might help thinking Americans to have this view presented to them. The gist of it may be summarized as follows: Intervention is that it ought not to be undertaken by the United States unless absolutely unavoidable—and especially if it is going to mean a combination against the United States by the peon and Indian now in Mexico, which would result in one of the most costly wars, both in men and in money, that this country has ever had to engage in.

I am glad with you and all sane thinking Americans that we have an American senator who has backbone, but who also has common sense, and knows how to use both for the highest and best interests of the whole American people.

Mercer Writes on Value to the State of Its City Terminals.

Editor Constitution: I have read with interest the timely suggestion of Hon. W. J. Harris in yesterday's Constitution that "the next lease of the Western and Atlantic railroad be restricted to the business terminals of the city."

The plan would solve the plaza problem and is the only practical solution of that very important matter.

I have had made a plat of the state's land between Forsyth street and Central avenue, several months ago, and have taken a glance at the recorded deeds in the executive office at the capitol, with a view to taking the matter up with the legislature, the city council and the plaza committee.

I have watched with interest the work of the plaza committee and, while I am in hearty sympathy with the project, I have some doubts as to the willingness of the city to vote the $2,000,000 bonds for a beauty spot when the matter might be settled in a practical and businesslike way without the expenditure of large amounts of public money.

The existing property owners would, to a large extent, be beneficiaries and could afford to be taxed for the street improvements. The lessees of the ground now used for switching freight cars mainly could build a modern station west of Forsyth street and pay to the state considerable rental for the privilege of building modern and substantial office buildings or hotels on the ground along the four blocks of that section and the other fellow is asking for bonds for the connection with the Georgia railroad at Central avenue.

The city's share of the expense would be reduced to a minimum and the state's property greatly enhanced and its revenue largely increased and the heart of the greatest city in the south immensely improved.

To my mind this is the only practical way of promptly removing the present undesirable conditions in the city's business center. ATLANTA, GA., April 14, 1914.

and the temptations for the enactment of the sordid drama.

But the opportunity, the scene and the temptations were present also in Eden itself, and if we are to believe the Scriptures there was no considerable amount of "society" in or around the world's first garden when the parents of us all fell.

If we are ever to get anywhere in the cure of sin and crime we must not relieve the individual conscience and the personal factor from their share in the equation. Society may be purged through and through. Yet, so long as we neglect supervision of the personal element, we shall not rid the race of devilry.

The hunger-strike English militants are prepared to meet any high cost of living and see the finish of food trusts.

Just from Georgia
Little Springtime Lady.

Like a dream of beauty,
blossoming all the land.
Far removed from sorrow,
never knowing sighs,
Little Springtime Lady,
with the lilies in her hand.
Sweetest dreams of heaven and the morning in her eyes!

Sounds of music ringing
In the bloom and glow;
The mockingbird is singing
Because he loves her so!

Little Springtime Lady, lend our lives to love;
In the paths so peaceful teach our souls to pray;
Till the angels listen in high halcyon above;
Make life's winters blossom like gardens of the May!

Love to you was given
That the world may know
No one can be like her heart
Because we love you so!

Words by the Wayside.
Don't be always growling about the devil being to pay, settle with him and be done with it.

We speak of "Gray Old Wisdom," yet it doesn't remain with any of us long enough to get gray.

We lose a world of opportunities waiting by the roadside for our dreams to come true. When Tribulation camps in the front yard it is too late for him for trespass.

When the Long Lane turns some of us are too old to enjoy the scenery.

Distracting Noises

Now, Then!
The Kincaid Dispatch considers this a fairly good example of a well-worded advertisement.

"Personal—If this should meet the eye of J. Harris, he will send present address to old home, he will hear something to his advantage. His wife is dead."

A Jig Take on the Way.
Trouble comes to see us.
But never for a while, never he'll stay.
If we only whistle,
A jig tune on the way,
And make him think we're headed
For the country of hooray!

Then it is he leaves us—
Never has a chance,
He sees that Joy is with us,
With mirth in every glance.
And Joy's the very fellow
Can make old Truett dance!

The Deacon's Philosophy.
These words of wisdom from Bert Walker's Wise Deacon.

"The Lord gets most of his advice from the fellows who are trying to get to heaven on a half-fare ticket."

"Some men are always getting a job on a jury, while others are always selected as pallbearers."

"Brother Sly, of our flock, is one of those fellows who thinks it all wrong to get his mail on Sunday and all right to skin a neighbor in a trade on Monday."

"I have always admired a certain minister for one thing. He will tackle any subject and preach a sermon about it whether he knows anything about it or not."

"If you are going to bet, be smart about it. Wait until you have an immortal cinch and the other fellow is asleep. Place—If suppose my town is like yours. Go down street any day and you will find two men pouring oil on the track for some unfortunate devil to one who is spreading sand."

The Lesson of Today.
In his rhymes of the times Folger McKinsey sings.

"Not what grandfather used to know,
Not how the old towns used to grow,
Not how they fought and foamed and mixed
In business and in politics,
In enterprise and industry,
In creeds to set the spirit free,
In cant and cry of power and place—
Today's our power; light up your face!"

Life Was His Busy Day.
This is the epitaph on the tombstone of one Dr. Rees Bronaut.

"He christened 1,496 children, he buried 1,752 persons, he preached 400 sermons, he spoke 271 times on total abstinence, he paid hundreds of pounds of chapel debts by lectures."

Life was that doctor's busy day, but here is another notable epitaph: It is of an humble Georgia minister.

"A life of Truth—of solid worth,
To good deeds ever given,
He left his little land on earth
For real estate in heaven."

A Sable Philosopher.
Looks like de whole business of some men is ter hunt mo' trouble than dex kin haul away in a two-hoss wagon. We wants ever'body to be whole; but some wold rather have a busnel of Misery than a pint of Happiness.

Not All.
"Thinkin' on the life-way,
You're still the upper crust;
But though you bear your daily load,
Or race like lightning on the road,
You don't raise all the dust!"

A Rustic Campaign.
George Bailey says, "We hope the ladies will understand that, whatever we may say in criticism of the way they dress, we are not fool enough to believe that our views will ever cause them to garment themselves differently."

DAILY GRIST From the STATES POLITICAL GRIND

J. RANDOLPH ANDERSON FORMALLY ANNOUNCES HIS GOVERNORSHIP CANDIDACY.
Hon. J. Randolph Anderson, president of the state senate, today formally announces his candidacy for governor, subject to the primary of August 18. Mr. Anderson's announcement, brief and to the point, and dated Savannah, is as follows:
"Begin leave to announce myself as a candidate for the governorship, subject to the regulations of the next general primary. In asking to be entrusted with what I consider to be the highest honor in the gift of our people, I am glad to feel that my candidacy involves no factional issues and should arouse no factional spirit. The spirit of factionalism has happily about died away in Georgia, and in the state, as in the nation, we democrats are lined up with practically unbroken ranks in support of the great measures our party is taking for the common good. I am able therefore to come before you simply as a Georgian and a democrat who aspires to devote his best energies for the welfare and upbuilding of his native state."

"Our material growth during the past three decades has been so rapid and so great that in some respects we have outgrown the provisions made by our laws, and in consequence the state and its institutions are in some directions being hampered and held back. Georgia's great need today is that her people should have a period of political calm, in which they may have the time and opportunity to concentrate their attention and efforts upon a thorough overhauling and readjustment of her business methods and system. We need to apply ourselves in order to prepare for the larger growth of the state that is pressing upon us."

"Let us therefore devote ourselves for a while to measures for bringing the growth of the state and into the homes and lives of her individual citizens. I will endeavor to invite your attention to these matters more in detail during a campaign, but I have long service in the house and senate, since 1905, has made me familiar with the affairs and needs of the state and has qualified me to be of service to you as governor."

"Circumstances have arisen under which, by operation of law, the duty may be devolved upon me of serving as acting governor for some part of the current term. This would require me to leave my home and my profession and all business connections. Such a contingency naturally prompts me to seek election for the next regular term and gives me, I trust, some personal claim to ask for the selection of at least one year to remain in office long enough to be given a fair trial, both as to my desire and as to my ability to serve you well."

"Some inquiry has been made as to how far the prohibition question may be involved in my candidacy. I wish to state that it is not involved at all. Prohibition should no longer be considered a political issue in Georgia. It has become a matter of conscience, law, and I think most of the prohibition leaders now agree that the law is sufficient and that continued political agitation of the subject is no longer needed, and would be unwise. No substantial demand exists anywhere in Georgia for its repeal, and it should be regarded as an issue that is now settled and behind us."

"We have had a surfeit of political strife, let us now, for a while, devote ourselves to measures. If I am elected, it will be my duty to regard and treat the prohibition law as one of the settled, established laws of the state, and in this, as in all other matters, I will endeavor to discharge my duty faithfully, fearlessly, and fully."

FRIENDS OF W. H. BURWELL HOLD A MASS MEETING IN SPARTA.
Friends of Hon. W. H. Burwell, speaker of the house of representatives and prospective candidate for governor, held an enthusiastic mass meeting in his home town, Sparta, Monday night and adopted ringing resolutions urging him to remain in office long enough to be given a fair trial, both as to my desire and as to my ability to serve you well.

HON. JOHN BOIFEUILLET SPENDS THE DAY AMONG FRIENDS HERE.
Hon. John Boiffeullet, of Macon, came down from Washington Tuesday and was given a warm reception by his friends in the lobby of the Kimball house and elsewhere. He looked like legislative days to see him hobnobbing with friends in his old familiar haunts. Mr. Boiffeullet stated that his visit had one particular significance, but persistent rumor has it that he is looking over the field with a view to entering the congressional race from his district.

HON. CLIFFORD WALKER TO SPEAK FOR THE PROGRESSIVE CLUB.
Hon. Clifford Walker was in the city Tuesday on his way to Savannah, where he will be one of the prominent speakers at the annual banquet to be given by the Crackers Progressive club. This club is unique among organizations of the state, being the largest political and social club in Georgia. Mr. Walker is making an active race for attorney general and reports his campaign progressing in a highly satisfactory manner.

R. O. COCHRAN ENTHUSIASTIC; SAYS HE WILL CARRY FULTON.
Campaign headquarters of Ralph O. Cochran, candidate for the United States senate to succeed Senator Hoke Smith, on Tuesday gave out the result of a straw ballot of Atlanta.
There were four polling places, and a total vote of 219 was cast, of which Mr. Cochran got a total of 74 ballots.
"I am sure of carrying Fulton county," Mr. Cochran said Tuesday.

DR. L. G. HARDMAN ENCOURAGED AT OUTLOOK FOR SUCCESS.
Dr. L. G. Hardman, of Commerce, the first openly announced candidate for governor, passed through Atlanta early Tuesday morning en route to Griffin. He expressed himself as well satisfied with the prospects there. He said he would make a systematic campaign of the whole state.

HON. THOMAS S. FELDER SPENDS LAST DAY AS ATTORNEY GENERAL.
Today is the last day in office of Attorney General Thomas S. Felder. During the day Hon. Warren Grice, of Hawkinsville, the appointee, will take charge of the office. Mr. Felder will leave for Macon tonight and will immediately launch his senatorial campaign.

SUPPORTER DOES FARMER'S WORK WHILE THIS CANDIDATE IS TALKING.
Brethren, Ga., April 14.—(Special).—A R. Dodson, editor of the Buchanan Tribune, candidate for the legislature from Harrison county, has adopted a unique plan of campaigning.
It being a real busy season with all farmers opening their farm work, the average voter does not relish being bothered by candidates. Dodson has, to a great extent, overcome this by carrying with him an ardent supporter who cheerfully plows, ditches or hauls wood for the farmer while the candidate gets in his work of electioneering. So a Dodson does not land the voter he leaves him in a good humor with the request to "call again."

STRENUOUS POLITICAL CAMPAIGN BEING WAGED IN WILKES COUNTY.
Washington, Ga., April 14.—(Special).—At a meeting of the Wilkes county democratic executive committee, held in Washington Saturday, it was decided to hold the county primary on April 29 for the selection of county officials for the ensuing terms.
The past week witnessed no new entrants in the political handicap, but the time has been marked by the most strenuous brand of campaigning that local politics has known since the days of populism. As Wilkes is one of those counties of Georgia which has one man to head her roads and revenue systems, the contest is being waged with a vigor which is attracting the most intense interest. The aspirants are John W. Callaway, who has filled the office for the past six years, F. B. Sims, a former commissioner of Wilkes, and three other men composing the board of commissioners, T. F. Downer and B. F. Clatt.

Another race which is being stubbornly contested is that of tax collector. The recent death of M. P. H. left the office vacant. There are seven candidates who are anxious to serve Wilkes county in this capacity. They are T. J. Grande, F. F. McMeekin, Luther Lattner, S. A. Woodfin, Comer Barnett, W. R. Bradley and Press Hardin.

JULIAN McCURRY "MAY BE IN IT BEFORE THE THING IS OVER."
Athens, Ga., April 14.—(Special).—Hon. Julian B. McCurry, of Hartwell, member several years from Hart in the legislature, senator from his state district, and prominent in politics for a number of years, was in Athens today attending federal court. He was asked concerning his possible entry in the race for governor and admitted that "the might get into the running before the thing is over."

Dr. H. Goss, of this city, is being urged to enter the race for the legislature from Clarke county.

COUNTY EXECUTIVE COMMITTEES SUPREME IN LOCAL PRIMARIES.
Wavercross, Ga., April 14.—(Special).—According to advice from W. J. Harris, chairman of the state democratic committee, county executive committees in Georgia are supreme in questions involving the candidacy of state house officers in county primaries. Chairman Harris was requested for a statement on this subject after the Ware county committee passed a resolution requiring candidates for the state legislature to submit their candidacy to the voters in the county primary. Mr. Harris states in reply to the query from Wavercross, that the matter had been presented from Augusta and the committee declined to take any action, leaving the matter entirely to the county committee. It is claimed that such action is in violation of a state law and for this reason much interest has been taken in it in this county.

FAILURE TO REGISTER DISFRANCHISES OVER SIX HUNDRED HART CO. VOTERS.
Hartwell, Ga., April 14.—(Special).—Hart county's registration is the smallest that it has been in many years. Around eighteen hundred will be eligible to participate in the primary. It is estimated that about six hundred have been out off by early registration.
Hon. A. A. McCurry will again be a candidate for the house.

THAW WINS SUIT FOR HABEAS CORPUS

U. S. Judge Aldrich Decides in Favor of White's Slayer. Thaw Will Not Be Discharged at Present.

Concord, N. H., April 14.—Harry Kendall Thaw's petition for a writ of habeas corpus was granted by Judge Edgar Aldrich, of the United States district court, today.

The court said, however, that no order would be issued for the prisoner's discharge from custody until arrangements had been completed to take the case to the United States supreme court on appeal.

Thaw's petition for admission to bail, the court left undetermined, taking the ground that it would be more appropriate for this to be passed upon by the supreme court.

The result of the decision is that Thaw's guardianship and condition will be unchanged for the present, but that his petition for a writ of habeas corpus will go to the highest court in the land with a decision of the lower court in his favor.

Phase of Case Discussed. The decision filed with the clerk of the court here discusses exhaustively the various phases of the case presented in the United States court. It concludes that Thaw's flight from Mattawan probably would "involve forced or fictional reasoning to make a flight of the character of the one in question the kind of one opposed to the constitution as a basis for extradition."

It has been understood from the beginning," says the court, "that whichever way this case was decided by me it would be taken to the supreme court. Therefore, no order will be made either sustaining the writ or discharging the petitioner until the appeal has been taken, an opportunity to perfect its appeal."

When the slayer of Stanford White entered this country in September after his deportation from Canada, he was arrested by the state authorities. To prevent his return to New York, his attorneys petitioned for a writ of habeas corpus, this proceeding automatically placing the case in federal jurisdiction and acting as a stay to the extradition which was granted by Governor Feltner.

Later the fugitive applied for admission to bail on the ground that conspiracy to escape from the insane asylum at Mattawan, no ground of offense on which extradition proceedings were based, was available. Counsel filed at Mattawan, the alleged motion for bail, alleging that the mental condition was such as to make his freedom a menace to the public.

Reciting the facts as to the petition for bail and the appointment and refusal of the commission upon his mental condition, the court said: "There is no doubt of the right of the court to grant bail, but he is disposed to leave the motion for bail undetermined without prejudice."

Danger to Community. The court, in the report of the commission, supplemented by his own observation at the several hearings, stated that any such release of Thaw would be a danger to the community through his flight to some remote spot, and that his being deported would be a danger to the community.

"This case," the court finds to be that of a person sought to be extradited under the constitution because he has fled from guardianship custody based upon the verdict of a jury that he was insane.

New York's right of custody, if the right exists, is not to be exercised solely upon the idea of insanity, and from the very nature of the crime, in describing the supposed crime, the demanding state itself, upon the face of the papers, necessarily throws the burden of criminal responsibility into the field of uncertainty, and thus it at once presents a question not to be decided by the court in this manner.

"Think the reasonable interpretation of the entire proceeding including the statement of counsel, we expect to try him and punish him for his crime; and when he has taken his punishment for his crime we expect to put him where he belongs and where he will not be a menace to the public." It is at least that the sole purpose is not to punish for the supposed crime of conspiracy to escape from guardianship custody.

Albany, N. Y., April 14.—When informed of the decision in the Thaw case, Attorney General Gregory said the case would be taken at once to the United States supreme court, upon the ground that it had no power to grant a writ of habeas corpus to Thaw.

Long War From Freedom. Washington, April 14.—Only by extraordinary steps can the Thaw case be considered by the supreme court before next October, as the court plans to suspend hearing all cases on Friday, April 24, and to resume its sittings until October, unless some extraordinary occasion should demand it. That probably would mean that Thaw must remain in custody until at least October. Those best posted on the court's procedure predict that Christmas before the case is finally passed upon.

Veteran observers of supreme court procedure who followed the Thaw case today thought the Porter Charlton case was the only one approaching a parallel, but even so they did not contend the cases were alike. In the Charlton case, however, the supreme court held there was no right to inquire into the sanity of the prisoner in an extradition proceeding. It was pointed out, however, that the Thaw case took on some different aspects.

No Resolutions Were Adopted To Oust Club-Church Members

Contrary to publication in Atlanta papers, the Methodist ministers, at their meeting Monday, did not adopt the resolutions previously adopted by the Evangelical Ministers' conference and the Baptist Ministers' association in reference to church members belonging to locker clubs.

The resolutions were offered, but were withdrawn when a substitute "reaffirming allegiance to the laws of the church on temperance," had been adopted without a dissenting vote. In order to correct the erroneous impression, the Methodist ministers met again Tuesday at the call of Dr. W. F. Lookey, chairman, and adopted the following report of the meeting, as presented by Rev. R. F. Eakes, associate editor of The Wesleyan Christian Advocate:

Whereas, the daily papers of the city have either misstated or misrepresented the action of the Methodist preachers' meeting of this city held last Monday morning and published, under misleading headlines, statements of the facts in the case by saying that "The Methodist Ministers' Conference of Atlanta, Georgia, has adopted resolutions to 'eliminate all from congregations of churches unless they resign,' and 'Quit Church of Locker Club.' Therefore, be it

Resolved, that we enter our protest against such statements as being contrary to facts and herewith proceed to set forth our own position and well-expressed views of the Methodist Episcopal church, south of the river, on this subject.

We desire most respectfully to submit the following statement as a basis for the following discussion and the resolutions adopted.

This proceeding, either anticipating that this question would come up at this time, or that the church members of locker clubs, which amendment was accepted by the movers of the resolution, which R. F. Eakes, W. H. Hendrix, J. S. Jenkins, G. M. Eaker, W. L. G. Johnson, J. C. Carter, and C. C. Frasier, and C. C. Carter, advocated the original resolutions were withdrawn and the substitute was adopted without a dissenting vote.

The next time the county police find anyone pawing a diamond, and the pawer can prove he didn't steal it, but picked it up—well, the chances are that the finder will be permitted to go on and negotiate the loan.

One week ago, Barry Hutchins, a negro, found a $100 diamond on the Speedway. A county officer arrested him while he was attempting to pawn it. The diamond was taken under custody by Chief Mathieson. Hutchins, after he had proved he hadn't stolen the stone, was released. He was told that, if no owner materialized by Saturday, he could have the diamond.

"No decision," said Chief Mathieson, and the diamond went back in the safe. At noon, though, Mr. Cothron stole a hundred hopeful coupon buyers. The writ of recovery from Deputy Clerk Girardeau, of the municipal court, put up a fifty-dollar ransom. The marshal, and walked away with the stone. If Mr. Cothron wants it now, he will have to recover it by legal means.

The same Barry Hutchins, who up to date has not returned, is now in jail. From his cell, he might in jail, he was asked, "How about it, chief?"

"I've heard so much about that diamond that I won't ever be able to enjoy a triangular field."

Following his lecture and theme, "What is Progress," he explained how, with progress naturally came the need for change. He also pointed out the need in social conditions and institutions, and that adjustment sometimes slow must come to meet the call of civilization. He brought out the fact that in the processes of adjustment, patience had to be exercised.

The third lecture this afternoon will be on the "Social Ideal in Civilization."

Dr. Edward Howard Griggs delivered the second of his series of lectures yesterday, in Browning hall, of the Girls' High school, at 11 o'clock. He spoke with great interest and enthusiasm, repeating the ovation accorded Dr. Griggs in his first lecture delivered Monday afternoon. His subject yesterday was the problem of social reform, and he handled it with mastery, thought and suggestion, always leading to the more optimistic viewpoint.

Dr. Griggs Discusses Problems of Reform

OUT OF FRYING PAN AND INTO THE FIRE

Five minutes after William Blossfeld, of 27 Savannah street, had given bond of $100.75 Monday night for his appearance in police court Tuesday to answer a charge of forgery, a warrant for his arrest and detention came in from the city municipal court. Blossfeld had not left the police station, and he had the misfortune of being re-arrested and spending the night in police station for a charge for which he had just given bond.

At the preliminary trial before Judge Broyles Tuesday afternoon, Blossfeld waived trial, and will be tried for the charge before the municipal court.

MANY ARE FLEECE BY FAKE FURNITURE CO.

When the Coupon Purchasers Called Nobody Was Home at Home Furniture Company.

There was nobody home at the Home Furniture company—no one whatever. This was thoroughly agreed upon by about twenty melancholy investors who brought their troubles Tuesday to the municipal court.

The twenty represented only a fraction of the number who have suffered through the furniture company's state of non-residentiality. The total estimate of victims is somewhere between three and four hundred.

The Home Furniture company opened up about two months ago, at 183 Marietta street. It was something entirely new in the line of installment houses. Instead of paying $5 down and getting your furniture on the spot, you paid 50 cents down, and got a little book full of coupons. Then you paid 25 or 50 cents a week until the little book was half your own, whereupon the company sent you the furniture of your desire, and permitted you to pay the remainder of the installments on the usual plan.

Many Books Sold. The advantages of the arrangement were so obvious that many of the coupon books were sold—so many that if they had all been cashed at once, it is extremely doubtful that the furniture company could have produced the desired articles on fact to a careful observer, it might have appeared that the company's stock in trade consisted chiefly of coupon books. But there were no careful observers, for did not the company have a plate-glass show window on Marietta street, and did not the coupon books specifically assert that when half the money was paid the furniture would be delivered?

The first disillusionment came when the coupon books, being half full, were presented and the furniture ordered. In every case, the representative of the company was deeply shocked and astounded. The purchaser must have misunderstood. The furniture would be delivered when the books were full, not when they were half full. Or, perhaps it had been that agent, Jones, who was a second-rate that Jones. The company had been compelled to dismiss him. It had been discovered that he was misrepresenting the plan of purchase to customers. Ah, so it had been Jones! Well, the company was sorry—extremely sorry—but it could do nothing. The purchaser of the little book could make the remainder of the payments if he wished. If he didn't—well, what could the company do?

Confronted by this, the purchaser of coupons had no option. He either had to make the remainder of the payments or lose the money already invested. He made them.

Then came disillusionment No. 2. It seems that all the coupon books were nicely calculated to expire on the same day, Saturday, April 11. On that day, then, there appeared before the establishment of the Home Furniture company, on Marietta street, about four hundred hopeful coupon buyers. The hopeful coupon buyers waited until noon for the store to open. They waited until long after noon. But it was no use. There was nobody home. Nobody has been home yet. The agents of the Home Furniture company, apparently, have vanished. The store is still there, and the dining room table, with the neatly arranged chairs, is still in the window. But that is all.

Warrants against whatever property may be on the place have been issued by the municipal court. One of them is a distress warrant, too, for the furniture company forgot, among other things, to pay its taxes. The other warrants were issued on the complaint of the various members of the disappointed four hundred who appeared and requested them.

Hosts of Friends Gather On the Sixtieth Anniversary Of W. T. Gentry's Birthday

Handsome silver service presented to Colonel W. T. Gentry on his sixtieth anniversary by employees of the Bell Telephone system.

Music in joyous strain, a wilderness of flowers and the sweetest hospitality was the atmosphere which characterized the brilliant reception last evening at Virginia Manor, the hospitable home of Mr and Mrs W. T. Gentry. The occasion marked the sixtieth birthday anniversary of the genial host, and the first occasion when their friends in number, several hundred, were bidden to their new home.

The popularity of Mr and Mrs Gentry was expressed not only in the joy of their friends at being with them, but in the dozens of baskets of beautiful flowers sent by loving friends, and the cut flowers of all kind, which filled every available space in the spacious house. A happy incident of the occasion was the presentation to Mr and Mrs Gentry of a superb silver service and a handsome hall clock in mahogany, both gifts from the departments in Atlanta of the Southern Bell Telephone company.

The Gentry home is one of the handsomest of the many now making the suburbs of Atlanta noted in the section. It is spacious in proportion, elegant in architectural structure, and in every sense the house suggesting a real home, and one of hospitality and happiness. The rooms are large and so arranged that the entire floor may be converted into one apartment, and large assemblages of people entertained. Broad verandas are on the sides of the house and a sun parlor is one of the picturesque apartments of the constructive scheme.

Last night, the usual house plants on all sides and palms designed as a background with the vari-colored flowers on all sides, produced a scene most dazzling in beauty and decorative scheme. The red rambler rose was the touch of color in one room, in another was a wilderness of summer roses in red and pink, and the wonderful yellow roses being featured this season. Branches of dogwood blossoms fairly embowered the sun parlor, where two charming young women, Miss Lida Nash and Miss Emma Kate Amorous served punch.

An elegant supper was served during the evening buffet fashion, and an orchestra of music presented a program of varied airs.

Mrs. Gentry wore a white satin gown veiled in black chiffon and trimmed in lace, rich in an embroidery in three-stones. She wore a corsage of orchids. Miss Nina Gentry, the young hostess of the evening was becomingly gowned in cerise colored chiffon over flesh-colored satin her flowers being lilies and violets.

Though natives of Virginia, Mr and Mrs Gentry in the home of their adoption are universally popular and beloved. Mr Gentry is recognized as one of the leading citizens of the state. He is vice president of the Capital City club and identified with all Atlanta's institutions standing for civic and social progress.

PURCHASE OF PARK IS APPROVED BY MAYOR

Mayor James G. Woodward yesterday approved the resolution providing $10,000 for the purchase of 10 acres of land in Moseley park for park purposes. The mayor's announcement followed a conference with Alderman Jesse Armistead, author of the resolution. The mayor explained that after reading the resolution he became convinced that the city is in no way obligated to purchase the remainder of the tract and for that reason it met with his approval.

The mayor was skeptical as to the legality of the transaction for the reason that it was suggested that some citizen should give an opinion on the remainder of the Moseley estate for the city. Mayor Woodward took the position that any resolution binding the city to do a certain thing would be illegal and declared that if such be the case he would veto the scheme.

It is understood that an option will be secured by some private citizen and the city will not be connected in the proposition.

This Skin Peeler All the Rage in Society

There is a growing tendency among women of culture and fashion to pay more attention to hygienic means of preserving their charms. The advent of mercerized wax, doubtless has been largely responsible for this. This remarkable substance produces complexion so natural in appearance, so magnetically beautiful, artificial complexions are no longer desired. Instead of "doctoring" an offensive skin, the skin is peeled off. The wax peels the skin so gradually, in such fine particles, no discomfort is experienced. The fresher, younger skin beneath is wholly in evidence within a week or two, is lily white, satiny soft and smooth. It is not a patched-over complexion but a brand new one. That's why mercerized wax has become such a rage among society folk. The wax is put on nights like cold cream and washed off mornings. All druggists have it, one ounce will do.

Another hygienic treatment now much in favor is one to remove wrinkles, made by dissolving 1 oz powdered salolite in 3 1/2 pint water. Used as a wash lotion it "acts like magic" (adv.)

are two things that must enter into the optical business. Combining these two with high-grade workmanship, careful attention, honest dealings, and the grinding of the greater portion of prescriptions written for glasses by our better oculists, has fully demonstrated the fact that there is something indescribable about the way in which we conduct our business that few opticians have been able to understand. We know when glasses are suited to your eyes, and if you need the service of an oculist we will so advise, but positively will not accept your money without satisfaction from us. Just ask anybody if this is true.

MERCHANTS WILL CLOSE UP TODAY

Disappointed at Postponement, They Are Going to Let Their Clerks Off to Swell Attendance Today.

Realizing that to have the fans attend the game under the conditions as existed would be a hardship, the baseball association, after a conference with Managers Smith and Schwartz, decided that it was best to postpone the opening.

The other cities, Birmingham, Chattanooga and Montgomery, decided to try it, despite the fact that they received as heavy a rainfall Monday night as Atlanta did.

Weatherman von Herrmann was as much chagrined over the condition the grounds were left in after Monday night's deluge, but he sticks to his original prophecy, and as the day wore along he was proven correct in his assertion that it would be fair and warm.

"I did not look for Monday night's rain. It came up suddenly from the east gulf coast, and you see that as a result of it, but you see that my prediction for Tuesday afternoon was correct.

"But for the condition of the field itself, I would have made good my prediction that it would be a fair and warm day for the game. But I'm going to square myself with Atlanta fans by giving them an even better day Wednesday, with a warm sun throughout the country.

"Birmingham, Chattanooga and Montgomery, the other cities scheduled to open Tuesday, got as much rain Monday night as Atlanta; in fact, the precipitation was general throughout the country.

NEGRO JACK JOHNSON GRANTED NEW TRIAL

U. S. Court of Appeals Reverses Decision in the Mann Act Case.

Chicago, April 14.—Jack Johnson, the negro pugilist, was granted a new trial today by the United States appellate court on one count of the indictment charging violation of the Mann act, which he had been convicted of last year.

Johnson's attorneys were jubilant, asserting it ended the possibility of his serving a prison term. A fine, they said, was the only punishment that could be imposed on him. The district attorney's office asserted that the decision made little change in the situation.

Chicago, April 14.—(Special.)—The University of Georgia and Vanderbilt university will meet in a two-game series here, starting tomorrow afternoon on Sanford field.

These games, the first of Vanderbilt's trip through this section of the country, will have an important bearing on the ultimate ranking of the college teams in the south this season.

Hitchcock or Fox will twirl the first game, with Corley working in the last one.

Play Jackets Here. The Vanderbilt nine will furnish the next opportunity for the Tech Yellow jackets, when they visit Grant field Friday and Saturday for a series of two games.

Representing the largest banks of the city and, through their officers and board of directors, the Clearing House association is of strong significance.

Unanimous indorsement of the Grady hospital bond issue was voted yesterday by the Atlanta Clearing House association at a regular meeting.

At Regular Meeting, With R. J. Lowry Presiding, Grady Hospital Bond Issue Is Given Strong Boost.

Every member of the association present, spoke strongly in behalf of the carrying out of Colonel Lowry's suggestion in his recent letter to the press indorsing the Greater Grady movement, that council be requested to name a committee of five prominent citizens to get with that body and with the hospital trustees in discussing the expenditures of the bond funds.

It is expected that the trustees of Grady hospital will make formal request upon council to pass a resolution endorsing the suggestion at its next meeting, authorizing the mayor to appoint such a committee of citizens to study a preliminary report in the matter of expending the bond money.

Members of council have recently spoken favorably of the matter and expressed the view that this would be a wise method of dealing with it.

To Enlist the Schools. Plans are being made to enlist the interest of the board of education and the teachers of Atlanta's schools, but also the school children in the "clearing house" campaign. A committee will be named at once by the executive committee to take the matter up with the teachers and the board of education.

ANOTHER SKIRMISH IN CRAWFORD CASE BEGINS BEFORE BELL

Another skirmish in the long legal campaign to prevent Mrs. Mary Belle Crawford from inheriting the $250,000 estate of her late husband, Joshua B. Crawford, began Tuesday before Judge Bell, in the superior court.

The fight centers about the allegation of the plaintiffs that Mrs. Crawford's marriage was invalid. It is maintained that she was not properly divorced from her two former husbands and, further, that as the time of her wedding to Mr. Crawford, he was unlegally incapable.

The hearing will probably last several days. If Judge Bell refuses to set aside the auditor's report the heirs intend to carry the case to the supreme court.

John Holder Enters Race for Congress. Gainesville, Ga., April 14.—(Special.)—John W. Holder, of Jefferson, who spent several hours in Gainesville today, gave out the statement that he will certainly be a candidate for congress from the ninth district.

There have been many rumors regarding the possibility of Mr. Holder's entering the race for congressional honors, but this is the first authoritative statement received from him personally.

Mr. Holder said, further, that his formal announcement and platform would be sent out to the newspapers next week.

With the announcement of Mr. Holder, the "bloody old ninth" may expect a "sand-raising time" before August. It will be remembered that Sen. Thomas Bell, the incumbent, was defeated by Hon. William Charters, third candidate in the last election, came near meeting defeat by Holder.

SEVEN PERSONS KILLED AND 16 OTHERS INJURED

Boston, April 14.—Seven persons were killed, sixteen seriously injured and seventy-five individuals were endangered in an early morning fire that wrecked the main, a five-story brick building at the corner of Commonwealth and Long avenues, in the Allston district.

Nearly all of the suites were small apartments, in which the occupants were sleeping. The flames raced through each story. Men, women and children were standing on window ledges shrieking for help when the firemen arrived.

It was not until hours after the blaze had been extinguished that the casualty list could be made up. The dead:

MRS. C. L. SHACKFORD. MRS. H. E. BEMIS. MRS. F. C. BEHARRILL, sister of Mrs. Bemis. MRS. RAYMOND POWER, MRS. POWER AND THEIR INFANT SON. MRS. MARY CONNORS, Mrs. Power's maid.

Mrs. Shackford and Mrs. Bemis met death by jumping. The bodies of the other five were found on the fire escape. The bodies of the other five were found on the fire escape.

Several persons jumped from upper floors into the life nets.

NEW TRIAL REFUSED TO BART CANTRELL. The supreme court refused a new trial Tuesday to Bart Cantrell, of Hill County, who was convicted of murder on May 29, 1913, of Arthur Hawkins. This means that Jim Cantrell, brother of Bart, who was the state's attorney, was found guilty of being an accessory before the fact, and sentenced to a term of years in the state penitentiary.

FREE CANAL TOLLS BARRED BY TREATY

Henry White Tells Senate Committee What Was in Minds of Negotiators of Hay-Pauncefote Convention.

Washington, April 14.—Henry White, formerly ambassador to France, and Secretary to the American embassy at Great Britain at the time the Hay-Pauncefote treaty was negotiated, told the senate inter-oceanic canals committee today that it never was his understanding nor that of any of the negotiators for Great Britain that the United States ever contemplated exempting American coastwise shipping from Panama canal tolls.

"During all those negotiations I heard no suggestion that our coastwise ships might be exempted from tolls," said Mr. White. "It was my understanding that the words 'ships of all nations' used by Lord Salisbury in our first conversation and called by me to Secretary Hay included ships of the United States domestic or foreign."

Mr. White agreed to seek the permission of the department of state to lay before the committee messages exchanged between the department and himself at the time of the negotiations and also the instructions sent to the negotiators in all parts of the treaty which he acted upon opening the negotiations. These, he said, never had been published.

Another witness who advocated repeal of toll exemption for American ships was Professor Emory H. Johnson, of the University of Pennsylvania, employed by former President Taft to frame a toll schedule for vessels passing through the canal.

While the hearing was in progress the senate adopted a resolution calling for a committee of inquiry to investigate the matter, if not incompatible with the public interest, to submit all correspondence connected with the negotiation of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty with Great Britain, the subsequent Hay-Pauncefote treaty and the amendments thereto known as the Hay-Bunau-Varilla treaty.

Little discussion of the tolls issue developed outside the senate. Public attention was attracted by the fact that white house men, more than 500 telegrams received within twenty-four hours from democrats in all parts of the country expressing approval of the president's repeal policy. These messages, Secretary Tamm asserted, were unolicited.

Professor Johnson took the position before the senate committee that foreign trade would suffer discrimination by American goods being shipped free of tolls to Pacific coast ports from the Atlantic seaboard and then trans-shipped to the Orient.

WATER RATES AND RAIL RATES

Professor Johnson said he had changed his mind somewhat about water rates affecting railroad rates. He explained this was due to the investigation of water rates.

The witness declared that he considered it had policy to charge no tolls to the Mississippi valley. Professor Johnson said, left only the remaining third to be disputed for help through the canal. He thought it probable the railroads would rather let this go than have the water carriers.

As to international economic relations, Professor Johnson said from every aspect examination marked a determination against foreign carriers.

Water Rates and Rail Rates. Professor Johnson said he had changed his mind somewhat about water rates affecting railroad rates. He explained this was due to the investigation of water rates.

Charge of Assault Jails Ex-Cop Again. Savannah, Ga., April 14.—(Special.)—Within less than eight hours after his trial and acquittal in the superior court for the killing of "Laughing" Charles Harbour, restaurant keeper, Walter E. Brooks, ex-cop, was charged with assaulting W. E. Ballard, aged 60 years, in his place of business, at 6:30 o'clock this morning.

The funeral and burial services of the aged woman were delayed, in the expectation of the prisoner's ability to attend. The request was denied yesterday, however, and the burial will be held today.

HAVOC IS WROUGHT BY A SHRAPNEL SHELL. Philadelphia, April 14.—One working man was probably fatally injured, five others were badly hurt, and a few hundred women workers were thrown into a panic today by the bursting of a shell in the shrapnel department of the United States arsenal here.

HOTELS AND RESORTS HOTEL POWHATAN WASHINGTON D.C. HOTEL OF AMERICAN IDEALS

ATLANTA'S STRIDES FROM DAY TO DAY

Atlanta really circles were stirred yesterday by the announcement that E. M. Grant had sold to Walter Ballard the property at 72 North Broad street, at a price of $4,000 per front foot—a total of $85,000.

This is believed to be a record price. The place was formerly occupied by the Weatherholt Piano company, but has been vacant for considerable while. It fronts 25 feet and runs 92 feet deep. It was purchased from the L. F. Grant estate, and is transmitted by Andrew Calhoun, of Turman, Black & Calhoun.

The old Plaza hotel, situated at the junction of Peachtree and West Peachtree streets, is being renovated for the coming of the Shrimers. It is being renovated throughout, and a new front is being added. It will put up an attractive appearance when work is discontinued with the completion.

The John D. Babbage apartments, in course of construction on Lafayette drive, Ansley Park, are rapidly nearing completion. The building will be one of the most modern and up-to-date apartment structures in the residential section. It will be three stories high, and elaborately appointed both in interior and exterior.

Fathers have been recorded transferring a plot on South Forsyth street at Bothwell, which is a large business building will soon be erected. The transfer was made from Mrs. Mary E. Williams to Edward L. Myer, at a consideration of $15,000 cash.

The building details will be announced later.
