WATERS AND TURMAN HAVE WARM CLASH AT MEETING OVER COUNTY BOARD WORK

Flagrant Misuse of Office and Domination of Commission by Triumvirate Charged by Waters in College Park Address.

TURMAN MAKES ANSWER FROM SEAT IN AUDIENCE

Discusses Donaldson Removal, Employment of Asphalt Expert, Alleged Junket by Board and Other Fulton County Work.

In a narrow, wooden building at College Park, Tull C. Waters and S. E. Turman, county commissioners, dragged into the open last night all the suppressed bitterness and antagonism which has been smoldering between the two factions of the county board for more than a year.

Mr. Waters charged board members with using their office to fulfill political promises; with bending to the influence of land gamblers, and with forming a private triumvirate which settled all important matters outside the committee. He intimated, at least by inference, that the attitude of the county commissioner on the asphalt deal was the result of favors rendered by the asphalt company.

Mr. Turman, who happened to be sitting in a corner, promptly got up and when he was given the privilege of the floor denied everything that his fellow commissioner had said. He went back into the history of the board for three years, and dug up one bone of contention after another. The Donaldson removal; the employment of an asphalt expert; the trip which various commissioners had taken to the College Park asphalt plant; the expense of an asphalt company; all these and sundry other things did Commissioner Turman set forth in answer.

Mr. Waters read the questions, and going to answer them began by saying that he realized that there was cause for dissatisfaction. "I have to bear the brunt of it because I'm the only candidate running for re-election. You think I haven't done the right thing. Well, I admit it. I haven't done the right thing. I couldn't. And I'm anxious to tell why." Mr. Waters glanced over in the corner where sat Mr. Turman. "There are some members of the board who don't know what they are doing or how to do it. I have to cover up and no one to shield."

Mr. Waters read the newspaper you saw about a year ago. That a combine had been formed in the board. You saw how the combine was made up of the public works committee. You saw that the precedent of making the vice chairman the next chairman of the committee had been broken. Until then it had been the practice to make one of the board members of all work that was to be done. I think this practice is being broken.

STARS AND STRIPES FOR HUERTA

A Hospital Too Small for a City

Grady hospital is, and long has been, too small for the city of Atlanta. Ten years ago Atlanta had outgrown the facilities the hospital offered. The hospital's share of the $3,000,000 bond issue cut down the deficiency. It did not touch many imperative needs. Today, so phenomenal has been the expansion of Atlanta, that they are almost tragically cramped at Grady.

Thirteen Fine Automobiles Given Away by Constitution In $25,000 Campaign Now On

An opportunity to secure a first-class motor car free is being presented by The Constitution to everyone in Georgia and contiguous territory. Thirteen automobiles are to be given away, together with nice high-grade self-player pianos, and many cash gifts, through the medium of a voting contest. The campaign will last just a short time, but to those who interest themselves in it the results may mean great profit. It costs nothing whatever to take part. Ambition, energy and common sense, if exercised, will bring results. There should be no delay in entering the campaign. An early start may mean success.

Send in your name today. Take a moment's time, clip out the nomination coupon found on the editorial page of this issue, fill it in and see that the contest department of The Constitution gets it immediately.

When Senate Votes Today Authority to Wilson to Suppress Huerta, Washington Will Flash Orders to the Fleet to Seize Tampico and Vera Cruz and Bottle Up Huerta in Mexico City—No War on Mexico, but War on Huerta Until He Apologizes for Insult to Stars and Stripes—Final Preparations Made to Strike the Dictator and Make Him Realize Power of United States.

Washington, April 20.—In forty-eight hours, possibly less, the United States government will have taken possession of the Mexican customs houses at Tampico and Vera Cruz.

Detailed plans for landing of marines at these two important coast towns were completed at a conference at the white house between President Wilson, Secretaries Bryan, Garrison and Daniels, Major General Wood, and Rear Admirals Fiske and Blue, and John Lind.

"No orders to the army and navy will be issued tonight," was the announcement made after the conference, action temporarily being deferred until congress acts on the joint resolution approving the president's purpose of using the armed forces of the United States to enforce its demands against General Huerta growing out of the arrest at Tampico of American bluejackets.

The resolution passed the house tonight by a vote of 337 to 37, after a spirited debate. For several hours it was considered by the senate foreign relations committee, but the senate will not act until Tuesday at noon.

OBJECTIONS IN SENATE TO SINGLING HUERTA

But Agreement Is Finally Reached and Resolution Will Be Adopted Today. Only 37 Votes Cast in the House Against Resolution.

Washington, April 20.—After a spirited debate of more than two hours the house tonight passed the administration resolution approving President Wilson's purpose to use the armed forces of the nation to obtain from General Huerta the fullest recognition of the honor and dignity of the United States.

WILSON GETS TIRED AND GOES TO BED.

The house adjourned until 10 o'clock tomorrow and President Wilson, worn out, retired after hearing that the house had adopted the resolution. Persons who were in touch with the president said the steps which would be taken by the United States "short of war" were of a nature which would not require formal notification to the powers in the same sense that a declaration of blockade or other preliminaries to war. Foreign governments will be kept informed of developments, however.

RESOLUTION PASSED BY HOUSE.

The joint resolution passed by the house, and which was before the senate at a late hour tonight, read as follows: "A joint resolution justifying the employment of the armed forces of the United States in enforcing certain demands against Victoriano Huerta. Resolved, by the senate and house, in representative congress assembled, that the president of the United States is authorized in the employment of the armed forces of the United States to enforce the demands upon Victoriano Huerta."

formal conferences of democrats and republicans and opposition to the phraseology of the resolution was apparent. Many senators, among them a few democrats, objected to singling out General Huerta as an individual, and wanted to amend the resolution to direct it against the de facto government in Mexico City. Others wanted to make the resolution broad enough to cover Mexico generally.

OBJECTIONS MADE TO SINGLING HUERTA.
Members of the house went to bed instead of waiting for the senate to reconvene. Crowds thronged the senate galleries and corridors.

WILSON ACTS THE STATESMAN.

Whether or not the next few hours brings hostilities in Mexico the United States has completed a clean record in its dealings with that unhappy country.

Such is the substance of President Wilson's special message to congress yesterday, in which he outlined the situation and asked for authority to take emergency measures.

The president has been at diligent pains to show that we are in no circumstances opposed to or at war with the Mexican people; that the great masses of that nation have only our sympathy and our wishes for an ultimate peaceful solution of their internal differences.

Mr. Wilson has acted with a restraint and forbearance that, in combination with the firmness now displayed, mark him as a true statesman. The executive rashly disposed would have grasped the chance to plunge the country at once into war with a weaker power.

Considering that a war president and a war party generally are popular at the ballot box, Wilson might, with tangible justification on his side, have accepted the gage that Huerta, time and again, has thrown down.

But it happens that Wilson has a conscience. He sees that the usurper in Mexico City is not a representative of the Mexican people, but only of his own selfish, bloody and inordinate ambitions. He tells Mexico, he tells the United States and the world, that we have no quarrel with Mexico, but solely with Huerta.

In that one stroke Wilson serves notice on all Latin-America, including Mexico, that our course is not aimed at territorial aggrandizement or at officious intermeddling, but solely with a view to protect our own interests, and to safeguard the dignity of this country.

A WRONG CATTLE POLICY.

A dispatch to The Constitution from Statesboro reports the constantly increasing price of beef and pork products, and gives as one reason the continued exportation of cattle from the county. The story runs that it is a common sight to see large herds being driven to the railroad for distant destinations, and that buyers from all parts of the country have been scouring that district of Georgia.

The development is not a new one. The Constitution has many times within the past few years reported that counties here and there in Georgia were being practically denuded of cattle to meet the need of outside states.

With the gradual breaking up and disappearance of the large cattle ranges of the west, the remainder of the nation has increasingly been levied upon to supply the demands of the packing houses. The result, in many cases, has been that the choicest cattle have been bought up in various sections of Georgia, as in other southern states, leaving only the animals that are undesirable from the market standpoint.

The lack of foresight of this policy is shown in the rapid rise of prices for beef and pork not only in Statesboro, but equally in all parts of the state.

For the temporary profit from cattle, farmers have sacrificed a larger profit in the future and have taken steps that are sure to undermine the possibilities for re-establishing one of the most remunerative industries open to Georgia or any of the southern states.

The bankers and merchants of Georgia can help remedy this condition by two methods:

- (1) By making easier credit conditions for the farmer, so that he will not have to "single-shot" on cotton and sell his beef as soon as it is salable;
(2) By co-operating to the end of establishing packing houses and a propaganda for breeding cattle of the beef grade.

The profit in nourishing both beef and pork industries is shown by the experience of Brooks and other counties in Georgia. They are exporting the finished product at a much greater profit than lies in the crude product.

NAILING THE REPUDIATORS.

The advocates of the Panama free tolls graft under the guise of "patriotism" have been smoked out into the open.

Two of their favorite contentions have been:

- (1) That "all nations" in the Hay-Pauncefote treaty did not include the United States.
(2) That free tolls to an over-protected coastwise monopoly was not a "subsidy," but a "patriotic exemption."

In a recent hearing before the senate committee on inter-oceanic canals both of these specious quibbles are knocked into a cocked hat.

Joseph H. Choate, ambassador to Great Britain when the Hay-Pauncefote treaty was negotiated, smashes the first card.

Former President Taft takes care of the second.

Mr. Choate is an authority on international law of world-wide distinction.

In correspondence submitted to the committee he declares that over and over again during the negotiations and correspondence over the treaty the keynote of perfect equality as between all the vessels of the United States and Great Britain, and the rest of the world, was reiterated.

He declares the signatories to the treaty never took any other view of the matter.

Former President Taft says he knew he was creating a "subsidy" when he signed the Panama canal tolls act; that he was convinced the point would have to be arbitrated. This, coming from the former head of a party the traditional doctrine of which is subsidies, ought to be conclusive.

Delegates to the Baltimore convention have overwhelmingly declared they did not approve the free tolls plank in the platform, and did approve the plank that ratified the party's immemorial stand against any form of subsidy.

An American international authority who helped negotiate the Hay-Pauncefote treaty declares none of the signatories to that treaty thought anything else than that no form whatever of discrimination was to be practiced.

The president who signed the act perpetrating the discrimination says he realized he was creating a "subsidy" that would inevitably be made the subject of a demand for arbitration.

If the would-be repudiators still yelp "patriotism" and "justification" in view of these disclosures their respect for American intelligence has reached the vanishing point.

A PLAY-GOING CITY.

The casting up of accounts by Atlanta's theatrical managers at the close of the conventional season discloses interesting facts. Every theater in town has broken attendance records, despite the depression we have been told existed in other parts of the country, and that is sure always to make its first effect felt on amusement enterprises. The "Atlanta's" receipts have gone to phenomenal proportions, with two big attractions yet to come. The policy of Klaw & Erlanger in playing half-week and week stands here, when the feature justified such an arrangement, has more than vindicated itself. The "Porsyth," which will probably remain open for the summer, will probably set new figures in the south for patronage of vaudeville. The lesser houses have, striking an average, held their own. All have flourished despite the inroads made by the "movies," and the "movies" themselves have drawn remarkably.

Atlanta is an amusement-loving city, a theater-going city and a city that knows what it wants for its money and that has become habituated to getting it. That is the leading moral of the season-end summary. The Constitution has previously pointed out the evolution in the theatrical business, by which it has become straitened with amusements for every taste and purse; by which the theatrical sheep have become segregated from the theatrical goats; and by which people no longer feel called upon to pay a top price for a bottom show.

Another important deduction is that Atlanta is a prosperous city. No other sort could afford to support the legion of amusements that have been presented this winter, not forgetting that the season is yet to be climaxed by grand opera.

Villa is also hard to beat when it comes to explaining his explanations.

The chautauqua circuit season will help Mr. Bryan to pay his ice bill.

The governor of Missouri plays baseball. Even a governor can't be blamed for enjoying life.

They'd better be learning her story.
It's one they should never forget;
When it comes to the stars of "Old Glory"
"Here's life in the old flag yet!"

And she'll ripple some day
O'er the hosts of the foe she has scattered away.
Heroes of old have uplifted
Her folds, and have crimsoned her bars
Where the smoke of the battle has drifted,
And the stars made the light of her stars.
Oh, they'll gleam in the fray,
And she'll ripple some day
O'er the hosts of the foe she has scattered away.

War Talk in Billville.
As soon as we were certain that we would have trouble with Mexico we started out to drum up a Billville regiment. The fellows who are too lazy to plow were hot to enlist, and the women who want to run for office advised everybody to join us, for if they can get all the men out of the country it'll be easy for 'em to grab the offices. But the row started when we calmly informed the boys that all couldn't be generals, and the captains, and so forth—that there would have to be a few privates to shoulder arms. Having made ourself general-in-chief of the Army of Billville, we'll die before we resign; and we won't recognize the "generals" who are appointing themselves right and left. That's the state of affairs at the present writing.

Flowing the Poets.
'It is said that Robert Burns composed his sweetest songs while guiding a plow over the stubby fields of his native land," says The Whitsett Courier, "but we grieve to say that the poets hereabouts are cast in a different mold. Last week we caught six of them and did our best to plow 'em, but they swore at the mules in Latin, and the mules kicked, and the poets hopped over a ten-rail fence and took to the woods again. All Along the Line With George Fitch

THE CITY OF MEXICO
The City of Mexico, capital of the upper floor of Hades for the last two years, is located in the country for which it is named, so far inland that escape is very difficult indeed.

Mexico is the most difficult city in the world to live in owing to the fact that it frequently attains a velocity of several revolutions a year. Even when it is quiet, however, it is one of the most interesting cities in America. Those United States citizens which feel old and privileged because things happened in them during the seventeenth century should read Mexico's history with some care. It has been a civilized city, so to speak, since 1521. But before that it was a vast city of 300,000, built of stone and situated in the middle of a great lake. This lake was crossed by a single bridge which made it very discouraging for rivals who attempted to march into town and burn the city. When the city was finally reconquered by Cortez in 1519, however, he not only burned the city and tore down the temple, which was as big as a small pyramid, but he reduced the population until it could have found standing room in a New York street car. That was the kind of a man Cortez was. His birthday is not celebrated by the oldest Mexican families.

Mexico now has about 350,000 people, most of whom seem to be regarded by the contented Mexican enemies as superfluous. It is about a mile and a half above the sea and has a climate which would make the city's fortune if it could be bottled and sold farther north. It is Spanish in architecture and disposition, but enough American business has been grafted on to make it a modern city, full of factories and high finance.

Mexico City has a ten-acre palace, a cathedral larger and older than St. Paul's, a national opera house, which has enriched the city by the building of an all-Albany statehouse and several daily newspapers which run whenever they do not annoy the administration. It has beautiful plazas and avenues and puts United States citizens to shame by its appearance. But after the American tourist has visited the public squares in which political insurgents are still backed against a wall and shot they go back home resigned to homeliness and hell.

GETTING MAD.
Getting mad consists of cutting out the muffler and taking the hands off of the steering wheel—mentally.

When a man gets mad, he stops thinking with his brain and turned the job over to his feet. The first step in opening new lines of ideas as a child produces art with a pair of red paint.

Getting mad is a favorite human occupation. With some men, it is a habit and with some a principle. Usually it grows on a man like any other habit. A man begins by getting mad at something maddening and ends by getting mad because the world jostles him while presuming to go by.

After a man has gotten mad a few times a day for several years he hangs out a red flag when he sees him coming home and the children retire to the cellar until father's temper has cooled.

There are two times in which to get mad. The right time and the wrong time. The wrong time is the first time that he gets mad. There is nothing more pitiable than a man who is constantly being abducted by his temper. And there is no one so many times better off as the man who allows his opponent to do the thinking, while he is bursting at the seams with indignation.

Getting mad keeps about as many men hunting for jobs as getting drunk does. It is only about as hard on the nose and eyes unless one is always careful to get mad in the presence of smaller men.

Whoever who uses getting mad as a weapon of offense and who have their temper ready to harness up and turn loose at the first opening, who never comes in. When a man saves up his mad for an important occasion and explodes into righteous anger, he is a formidable and fearful opponent. The right time to get mad is just after the first time that he has got mad. We must insist on setting the dates ourselves.

HANS WAGNER.
Hans Wagner, one of the world's greatest sweat-soaked ideas in Pittsburgh during the overheated season, but is very well known in seven other American cities where he is as welcome as smallpox.

Wagner is one of the greatest musicians the world has ever known. There are people who praise his musical ability and claim that a namesake of his, Richard Wagner, who died some years ago, produced far greater music. This is preposterous, however. Richard Wagner never uplifted more than four or five thousand people at a sitting and it took three and four hours of incessant playing to do this; whereas Hans Wagner, by one single exquisite quadruple bass thump, has brought thirty thousand people to their feet and has sent them home happier men and women.

Wagner produces his music with a common hickory stick in his left hand. He plays shortstop for the Pittsburgh team. He is a stout, short man with large, wide-breasting shoulders and a pair of hands that are as grabby as an oil trust.

If the regular army were to shoot a three-inch shell at Wagner while he has shortstop on his mind, it would not do him any harm, pick it up with the other and shoot it to first before it had time to explode.

Wagner is a poor conversationalist and rarely attempts to tell an umpire how far the latter has descended from the Ape family. He is a poor talker, but he is a great hit. There are few things more eloquent than a balanced hickory remark by this eminent sentimentalist. The masses fall and the enemy only the run ahead.

THE DUCK.
The duck is a sort of natural hen. It lives on land, but acts as if it was inexperienced at the job and flops into the water with a low contented quack at every opportunity.

The duck cannot sing as sweetly as the hen, which is saying very little indeed. Though its wild relatives are great travelers it flies about as poorly as an amateur aeroplane. Poets have never celebrated its mother love and have even declined to give it credit for patience, though it sets a week longer than the hen to hatch its young—providing that it has a hen to do the hatching. It has the business ability of the hen. The hen has convinced us that when she stops laying humanity will shrivel up and starve.

The duck lays an egg twice as large as the hen, but it is as good as dead and the price of duck eggs is never quoted.

The duck's one talent is swimming. It swims as gracefully and as fast as a top in a pool. When it is in the water it is a help and a hind, and it floats gaily off doing nine knots an hour by paddling with its webbed feet. This is because it has a broad in the beam and designed for marine work. It sits on the water like a sidewheel Mississippi river steamer. It is a very broad in the beam and designed for marine work. DAILY GRIST from the STATES POLITICAL GRIND

GOVERNOR JOHN M. SLATON WILL MAKE TWO ADDRESSES
Governor John M. Slaton left last night for Brunswick, where he will deliver an address before the Georgia Drainage congress tonight. From Brunswick he will go to Savannah the following day to deliver an address of welcome to the delegates of the National Drainage congress, which meets on Wednesday.

Governor Slaton's mail is steadily increasing. On Monday he received over 1500 letters from various parts of the state giving him encouraging reports of his campaign thus far. "I could not wish for better reports than I have been receiving," said Governor Slaton Monday. "The campaign seems to be in better shape at this time than I had any idea it would be."

DR. HARDMAN IS LINED UP WITH NO SET OR FACTION
Dr. L. G. Hardman, the first man to openly announce his candidacy for governor and pave the way for the host who apparently are to follow, was in the city Sunday and gave out the following statement: "Neither geographical lines, factional lines nor vocational lines will play any part in my campaign for governor of Georgia. I stand for a constructive policy, one which will make Georgia a greater state. I am not a candidate of any one section of the state, but, if elected governor, as I confidently expect to be, I will serve the entire state—north, east, south and west—with equal fairness and fidelity."

"There is no factional partisanship in my candidacy. I earnestly advocate political harmony and hope to appeal to the voters of the state without regard to their past political affiliations. I am seeking the support of all classes alike. If an elected governor I shall seek to represent the best interests of laborer, as well as capitalist, with the main object of always doing what will be for the proper upbuilding and development of the state and its people as a whole."

JUDGE A. W. FITE LISTENING TO LAW ENFORCEMENT ECHO
Judge A. W. Fite, who some time ago was spoken of as a possible candidate for governor, is said to be still considering the idea of running. He stated that from all parts of the state he is receiving letters urging him to make the race on a platform of law enforcement. In speaking of the matter, he made the following statement: "I am being urged from all over the state to run, and I may do so. If I knew that could get to the people, I would make the race, and, more than that, I would be elected."

"The people all over Georgia are clamoring for the enforcement of the law, especially the prohibition law, and it coming sooner or later, and the sooner we begin the better for the peace, prosperity and happiness of the people. No man should be elected governor who is opposed to the enforcement of the prohibition law and will not pledge himself to see that the prohibition law is enforced."

ATTORNEY GENERAL GRICE HAD BUSY DAY MONDAY
Attorney General Warren Grice had quite a busy day of it Monday. It was the first time since taking the oath of office that he has appeared in the supreme court. A batch of nine murder cases awaited his attention.

Mr. Grice has received an invitation to deliver the commencement address before the Gordon Institute, May 25, and has accepted. Mr. Grice, on account of the exacting duties of his office, will not be able to deliver many speeches during his campaign for attorney general. He feels that his first duty is to perform the duties of attorney general. However, he is receiving hearty assurances of support from all parts of the state.

Will Argentine Cattle Lower the Price of Beef?

(From "Beef from South America and Australia," by Arthur Wallace Dunn, in the American Review of Reviews for January.)

As cattle are now raised in Argentina the increase must be gradual. The time necessary to open pasture lands and produce cattle ready for market is so long that no sudden change in prices is possible by increased production. The cattle-raisers of South America do not believe it would be advisable to make strenuous efforts to increase their output by restoring to the range or investing large amounts in opening new pasturage. There is not an unlimited supply of wild cattle on the pampas of Argentina, nor in the hills of Uruguay, nor on the plains of Brazil, as some of our people have imagined. There is no large number of wild cattle in the minds of our people, and the idea gained a foothold that if we let down the tariff bars these cattle would come swamping across the borders, or that refrigerated beef would flood our markets.

Many years ago the wild cattle of Argentina were there. Owners of vast tracts of land had millions of head of cattle roaming the pampas. But that was at a time when cattle were killed for their hides and tallow. Refrigeration had not made it possible to ship beef, and when refrigeration came it was found that the beef was not marketable.

Napoleon to Be Avenged.

When the great French Emperor died in exile in 1821 there was probably a wish buried deep in his Corsican heart that the island which had been the scene of his humiliation might be wiped from the face of the seas.

Whether or not such a curse was ever cast upon the island, it is certain that St. Helena is doomed, if not to extinction, at least to become an uninhabitable rock. With the advent of steam navigation the island ceased to be a regular port of call, so that its always scanty exports dwindled almost to the vanishing point; plagues of insects destroyed the crops; rats brought thither by foreign vessels multiplied and overran its soil until the government was compelled to order a bounty of 1 penny for every rodent captured. Then the English garrison, which had been practically the sole means of the island's sustenance, was withdrawn and the needs of the natives became desperate.

Then, as if this series of misfortunes was not enough, the terrible—that curse of tropical and semi-tropical countries—invaded the island and will, unless controlled, render the city of Jamestown to a pulp of sawdust.

A Princess' Romance.

(From The Indianapolis News.)

Europan journals have recently given note of the approaching marriage of the crown prince of Greece and the Princess Elizabeth, daughter of Carmen Sylva, queen of Rumania, who, though she does not live romances, writes them. A few years ago the Princess Elizabeth, then only seventeen years old, accompanied by a sympathetic lady of the bed-chamber, was taking a morning promenade in the royal park. At some distance from the border of the walk, quite beyond her reach, she saw a cluster of flowers of the raiety that she greatly desired to possess. At this moment the lieutenant of the palace guard approached, adroitly gathered the flowers and presented them to the princess, who accepted the gift with no unusual emotion. The next morning the handsome young officer—for he was young and handsome—before disappearing the Princess Elizabeth fell in the path of the princess a cluster of lilies, the center of which was a red carnation.

But this little venture edged quite differently from the romance of the past. At some distance from the border of the walk, quite beyond her reach, she saw a cluster of flowers of the raiety that she greatly desired to possess. FORCED TO EAT CRUSHED ICE
And Was Not Even Allowed Privilege of Sitting Up, But Finally Wins Out.

Kaplan, La.—Mrs. Casamear Burkhardt, of this town, gives out following for publication: "I feel that I owe my life to Cardui, the woman's tonic. I was married last April, and was in fairly good health. Shortly after marriage my health began to fail, and for three long months I was threatened with serious sickness. I passed most of my time, in bed, with a nurse at my bedside. At last, I was told an operation was necessary. I was so weak I could retain nothing on my stomach but crushed ice, and was not even allowed to sit up in bed. A friend of mine advised me to use Cardui, the woman's tonic, and they got a bottle for me, as a last resort. After taking Cardui for one week, I was able to be up in my room. After continual use for two months, I was in perfect health, and could do all of my work without tiring. I take an occasional dose of Cardui and Black-Draught now, to keep my system in good condition. Several of my friends are using Cardui with good results. I am never without it in the house." There's a bottle of Cardui waiting for you at your nearest druggist's. Get it and begin taking today. You will never regret it.

RUMOR OF TROLLEY LINE FROM MARIETTA TO ROME

Rome, Ga., April 20.—(Special.)—There is a rumor in financial circles here that a force of locating engineers will shortly be sent to the field for the purpose of determining the route of an interurban railway between Rome and Marietta. It is said that this will be an extension of the Atlanta and Marietta electric railway.

The rumor further states that forty engineers were sent to work immediately upon the extension. It is believed by some that the proposed line has been projected by the Louisville and Nashville railroad, which system, it is declared, is taking this means of paralleling the state route between Atlanta and Marietta, on which its system expires. Belief is further strengthened in the rumor project when it is said that propositions are being made to begin the construction of the 100-mile dam on the Etowah river, four miles from Cartersville, where the Georgia Power company will erect a hydroelectric plant capable of producing 20,000-horse power.

It is said about 100 witnesses have been summoned to testify in this case. Several of the best lawyers in this section have been retained, and the case will be one of the hardest-fought and most interesting heard in this county for some time past. The statement that has been published to the effect that Campbell had been moved from Mitchell county jail on account of the high feeling against him is not true.

CHEAPER GAS PETITION DELAYED FOR A TIME

Gas Consumers' League Still Gathering Data for Fight, Says Electrician Turner.

City Electrician R. J. Turner authorized the statement that the initiative and referendum petitions circulated by the Gas Consumers' League, asking council for $5,000 to probe the Atlanta Gas Light company for the purpose of forcing the company to give Atlanta an 80-cent gas rate, will not be presented to council Monday afternoon.

Turner said, "and the league is ready to start the fight. We want plenty of time to expose the Atlanta Gas Light company to show the people that it is possible for the corporation to serve consumers with gas at eighty cents per 1,000 feet and still make money."

Turner declared that the object of the league in delaying the preliminary petition is to avoid a possible election to the people at the issue election on May 5.

"The issue is a great one in Atlanta and needs careful study. We don't want to rush the matter before the people."

BABY MAKES PLAYROOM OF MUNICIPAL COURT

Crawls Into Lap of Judge While Mother and Alleged Father Fight Legal Battle.

The municipal courtroom on Monday was turned for a while into a playroom, while a 4-year-old child, who crawled about unconscious of the fact that its future would be largely shaped by the decision of Judge Hitchcock, who was presiding.

The prisoner was Mitchell E. Sampson, who was on Thursday released from the federal penitentiary after serving a year's sentence for white slavery. Then he fell into the hands of a Fulton county deputy, who served him with a bail troyer and a warrant.

Each document had been issued by Mrs. May Donaldson, a pretty young actress, who prosecuted Sampson on Monday's trial. She charged him with being the father of her 4-year-old child, a chubby bundle of flesh, curls and blue eyes, who romped all over the courtroom, crawled into Judge Hitchcock's lap and climbed upon the knee of the man his mother accuses as the prisoner's father on the witness stand.

The charge was dismissed. The man's accuser left the courtroom in tears. She is a striking blonde, and apparently less than 25 years old. The ball troyer, which she issued against Sampson, will be heard before the civil division of the municipal court soon. It involves a diamond ring, which she charges was taken from her by Sampson.

Sampson was married to Miss Mae Edmondson, a young Atlanta girl, only a few weeks before his arrest on the white slave charge. The bride's loyalty to him impelled her to take up residence in the vicinity of the federal prison, where she sent there so that she might see him every day that visitors were allowed.

She is now living in Tampa, Fla., and will return to Sampson, he stated, as soon as his legal troubles have ceased.

LOOKING FOR BIG MAN TO HEAD REGIONAL BANK

Names of Wexler, Lane, Jordan, Hand and Harding, Are Mentioned.

By John Carrigan, Jr. Washington, April 20.—(Special)—In anticipation of the organization of the federal reserve bank of Atlanta, Secretary McAdoo has been looking around for the most suitable man to be governor of the bank.

Realizing the great responsibility that will rest upon this official—one of the three directors to be named by the federal reserve bank—the banker, ablest and best financiers in the southeast who can be persuaded to make the position is wanted. Much of the success of the new system will be based upon the man at its head, a man with not only practical business experience, but something broader and bigger than a mere commercial banker is wanted.

Senator Elkins has suggested with Secretary McAdoo the names of Sol Wexler, the president of the Whitney Central National bank of New Orleans, Mills E. Lane, of the Citizens' bank, Savannah, E. L. Hand, of Palm, and W. P. G. Harding, of Birmingham, for appointment as governor of the bank.

Among the men in the southeast who could be considered for such a position, a great majority are now carrying loads that they cannot easily lay down in justice to themselves and their stockholders. It is known of no honor or opportunity for service to our section of the country that could come to a business man than to be in this position. The appointment will not be made until after the president appoints the remaining five members of the federal reserve board who will have general charge of the system.

For the past few weeks, Guthrie has been in treatment at a local sanitarium for a nervous trouble, and last night he escaped from the nurses after they had refused to let him go home.

NO GAME WARDENS IN FULTON COUNTY

Zimmer and His Deputies Resign After Clash With State Game and Fish Commissioner Davis.

A breach which occurred between the game wardens of Fulton county and the state department of game and fish immediately after Charles Davis succeeded Jesse Mercer as state game and fish commissioner, resulted two weeks ago in the resignation of Will V. Zimmer as Fulton county game warden, and culminated Monday in the resignation of his two deputies, leaving Fulton county temporarily without a game warden or a deputy.

Although the resignation of Mr. Zimmer has been in the hands of Commissioner Davis for two weeks, it did not become publicly known until Monday.

Soon after the appointment of Mr. Davis as game commissioner, according to Mr. Zimmer, he asked for the latter's resignation. Mr. Zimmer refused at that time to resign.

Clashes With Davis. Approximately two months ago when a case for the infraction of the game laws was pending in the Fulton county courts, Mr. Davis, it is said, berated Mr. Zimmer for not being present in the courtroom when the former wanted him there.

Mr. Zimmer then gave Mr. Davis to understand that he was not a hireling, and was not to be addressed in that manner, which led to warm words between the commissioner and his deputy, with a promise from the latter, it is said, that he would break his walking stick over the former's head.

Following this encounter, Mr. Zimmer tendered his resignation about two weeks ago, stating simply that he realized it would be impossible to render the state reasonable and proper service under your (Commissioner Davis) administration.

The resignation was accepted. Deputies Resign. On Monday, when Deputy Wardens A. E. Bender and Bill Folker learned definitely that Mr. Zimmer had resigned, they at once decided to stand by their head warden in the matter, and sent their resignations by messenger to the office of Commissioner Davis.

Deputy Folker stated, briefly, that just who will be appointed to succeed Warden Zimmer is not definitely known, but the name of John L. Edmondson, of Atlanta, has been mentioned in this connection.

WARNED BY PREMONITION OF SUICIDE OF HUSBAND

J. E. Sommer Follows Example of Two Brothers, Who Took Their Lives.

While sweeping in the hallway of her home early Monday morning, Mrs. J. E. Sommer of 23 Kuhn street, noticed a shiny lead bullet. With a premonition that something terrible had happened, Mrs. Sommer went to her husband's bedroom to see if he was there. Not finding him there, she looked into the bathroom.

Peering in, she saw the body of her husband lying on the floor, and a revolver beaming on the tile floor. A bullet had pierced his forehead.

Sommer was 43 years old, and held a position as bookkeeper for the Stafford Publishing company. He was the last of three brothers to take their own lives.

Mrs. Sommer arose before her husband Monday morning, and was in the backyard sweeping when she heard a muffled report in the house, which she thought was the noise of a fire. Independent and suffering mentally.

The funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Funeral will be held this afternoon at 4 o'clock at Peard and blind so that the funeral will be at noon Wednesday in the cemetery at Hogansville, Ga.

CHARGE AGAINST KNIGHT NOT PROSSED IN COURT

Wife of Macon Man Accused Him of Trying to Blind Her With Carbolic Acid.

The charge against DeWitt Knight, the young Macon husband whose wife accused him of having blinded her with carbolic acid last month when she was horribly burned about the face and eyes in a room in the Piedmont hotel, was dismissed yesterday.

Mrs. Knight did not appear in court. Her attorneys stated, however, that she did not care to press prosecution. The charges were dropped. Knight was ready for trial, he stated, and had prepared to show that his accuser had attempted suicide.

Mrs. Knight's injuries culminated from a series of domestic troubles. She disappeared from her home in Macon, and was not found by her husband for several days. After a search of a week or more, Knight found his wife boarding a train for Atlanta. He followed her secretly on the train and in a cab to the Piedmont hotel, where she was found lying on the floor, her face severely burned. Knight was in the room.

15-Cent Fare Brings $2,000 Damage Suit By Gainesville Man

Carl N. Davis, who is a prosperous undertaker of Gainesville, Ga., refused to pay 15 cents additional fare on Southern train No. 18 while on a trip from Howell station last February, and because the conductor put him off at Cross Keys he filed suit for $2,000 in superior court Monday afternoon. Davis alleges that he was forced to walk through the mud and rain for several days. He has a large part of the blame to the fault of the Southern, and he established a ticket office at Howell station, but most of it to the stationer.

He says that he paid the conductor $15 fare to get to Cross Keys, which itself was over the regular rate. The conductor, he charges, demanded $150.

WILL PROBE CHARGES AGAINST ATHENS CHIEF

Athens, Ga., April 20.—(Special)—The police committee of the council, possibly the entire council board and mayor, will investigate Monday evening the conduct of Chief of Police Lord A. Brooks who, some have charged, was under the influence of intoxicants at the fire which gutted a business block on Broad street Thursday night.

Mr. Brooks is still at his desk at the city hall. He joined in the request for an investigation. The chief was for years marshal of the city, and was sheriff of Madison county for several terms before moving to Athens.

MAYOR IS STYLED ATLANTA'S HUERTA

Warm Clash in Council Follows Attempt to Override Veto of the Sidewalk Paving Contract.

After Mayor James G. Woodward had sent a threat to council that he would refuse to sign the contract with the Cement Stone and Tile company, which amounts to approximately $100,000, council accepted the terms he dictated to a special committee and following a rather tumultuous session yesterday afternoon, practically sustained his veto.

Alderman Albert Thomson, the mayor's bitterest foe in the general council was on the floor throughout the debate against the veto message fighting to lead council to override the mayor.

Mayor Woodward is the Huerta of the city government," said Alderman Thomson. He is a man of unbounded egotism. He has been bulldozing this council into doing the bidding ever since he has been in office and it is child's play to send a special committee to him to let him dictate.

Owens Answers Mayor.

When Mayor Woodward's veto message dealing with the resolution authorizing the city to enter into the 1914 contract with the Cement Stone and Tile company was taken up, Alderman Owens of the eighth ward the member who was criticised by the mayor in the veto message as having a direct interest in the corporation seeking the contract, read a statement which appeared in full in Sun days Constitution.

Alderman Owens added to his statement that since the controversy with the mayor arose the stock he held as collateral on notes of W. L. Winship, his former partner in the business had been replaced by other collateral and he explained that his only connection with Bishop or the Cement Stone and Tile company was that of the holder of purchase money notes representing the payment for the stock.

Councilman Humphreys made the suggestion that a committee of three members of council be appointed to inform the mayor that Alderman Owens had taken other collateral than the stock he originally sold to Bishop. He said he was certain the mayor was simply acting in the interest of the city.

Armistead and Shepard Clash.

At this stage of the discussion Alderman Armistead and Councilman Shepard crossed lances when the latter charged that the mayor was not perfect if he is then we ought to send him to heaven. He is too good to be with us.

Alderman Armistead arose to state a point of order. He declared that council was not discussing the mayor's veto but was engaged in assailing his character.

I don't think we have a right to attack anyone's character here he said. The question before the council is whether or not a committee shall be appointed to confer with the mayor.

Councilman Shepard denied that his remarks assailed the mayor.

Councilmen Humphreys and Knight and Alderman Armistead were appointed to confer with the mayor.

Mayor Woodward told the committee that under the assurance made to him he would approve the contract.

"But I'll not sign if council does not sustain my veto," he threatened.

Legal Says Mayor.

The committee then made a verbal report quoting the mayor as near as possible through councilman Humphreys urged that for the sake of expediency and in fairness to W. L. Bishop and the Cement Stone and Tile company that council sustain the veto and approve the contract.

City Attorney Maxson ruled that council could do what it pleased with the contract, could not have to advertise for bids again, and that whatever action was taken would be entirely legal. He explained, however, that he did not believe it to be entirely regular to go into the proposition again without giving the other bidders a chance.

Council gave the matter legal status laying the veto of the mayor on the table which practically amounts to approval, and placing the original resolution awarding the contract to the Cement Stone and Tile company before council as an entirely new proposition introduced by the street committee.

The resolution was then voted on and approved.

Mayor Woodward's vetoes of resolutions providing for laying sewers in various parts of the city on the ground that they were not through up regularly, were overridden, 15 against 3.

Failing to muster a majority of two thirds the members of the veto of the Edgewood Light plant property to a citizen named Cotton Oil company of $5,000 for the property against $4,500 offered by Farmer.

Two members of council voted to override the veto and six to sustain it.

Experts have estimated that if the forests of the world were scientifically operated they would yield the equivalent of from 10 to 15 times the present consumption of wood annually.

TEACHER OF TANGO DENIES CRITICISING DANCERS OF STATE

Miss Clara R. T. Jennings of Rochester, N. Y., who has conducted several very successful and popular dancing classes in Atlanta, has just returned from Rome, where she has just closed a very successful engagement.

Miss Jennings denies the report that she said while in Rome that the dancers of Atlanta, Rome, Athens and Columbus were anything but graceful to say the least.

"Such an utterance," said Miss Jennings, "I could never think of making. The dancers of these Georgia cities are as charming, graceful and proper as any I have seen in my pleasure to meet anywhere."

Miss Jennings left Monday for Athens where she will visit friends for a few days before going north. She will return to Atlanta on Saturday.

Uneasiness Over Mexican Situation, But Many Think Declaration of War Would Have Bullish Effect.

New York, April 20.—Cotton recovered a good part of Saturday's loss during today's trading. There was further uneasiness over the Mexican situation, but many brokers thought that even if this country should be forced into a declaration of war the effect on cotton would be bullish rather than otherwise, as it would be expected to stimulate the demand for cotton, and possibly cause a general advance in the southwest. At any rate, after some irregularity, the market ruled generally steady and closed at a net gain of from 6 to 11 points.
