Consulate Blown Up; Orgy of Destruction Leaves Town in Ruins

Mexican Troops Fire Across Boundary Into Laredo, Texas, but Are Forced to Flee After Several Brisk Skirmishes With Border Patrol. International Bridges Escape an Attempt to Dynamite Them.

Laredo, Texas, April 24.—Nuevo Laredo, the thriving Mexican border town opposite this place, was in ruins tonight, devastated by dynamite and fire set by Mexican federal soldiers who late today began an orgy of destruction which did not end until they were forced to flee southward before the guns of the American border patrol.

Two Mexicans are known to have been killed by the United States troops and several were seen to fall when a machine gun platoon from Fort McIntosh got into action. Several brisk skirmishes between the Americans and Mexicans were fought in quick succession as the burning city, began an indiscriminate fire across the international boundary, but tonight there was no evidence that their shooting had been effective.

Property damage in Nuevo Laredo will reach $500,000. Among the buildings destroyed were the United States consulate, municipal buildings, postoffice, theater, the flour mill, one of the largest in this section of the southwest; the railroad shops of the Mexican National railway, and other smaller structures.

At a late hour tonight the fire was still burning, with no chance that it would be controlled until everything inflammable had been wiped out. Kerosene and other combustibles, liberally used, added to the wreckage, which otherwise would not have been great, owing to the adobe construction largely used.

GIRL TAKES POISON AFTER SHE INVITES FRIENDS TO FUNERAL DIES IN AMBULANCE

Miss Helene Eberhardt, the Pretty 17-Year-Old Cashier in Winnie Davis Ice Cream Parlor, Swallows Contents of Bottle of Carbolic Acid.

After repeatedly asking her co-employees in the Winnie Davis ice cream parlor, at 217 Peachtree street, last night, if they would come to her funeral if she should die, Miss Helene Eberhardt, the pretty 17-year-old cashier, swallowed the contents of a bottle of carbolic acid about 10 o'clock, and died in the ambulance on the way to the Grady hospital. Several prominent people, returning home out Peachtree from the downtown amusements, gathered at the scene of the tragedy and witnessed the placing of the prostrate form of the girl in the ambulance. Miss Eberhardt was employed as cashier at the ice cream parlors for the last two weeks. At 1 o'clock Friday she relieved the day cashier for dinner hour. During this time she asked DeWitt Johnston, the soda fountain clerk, if he would come to her funeral if she should die. Johnston stated that Miss Eberhardt took three soft drinks in short order during the dinner hour between 1 and 2 o'clock, and that he became alarmed and told her that she would kill herself drinking so much. Miss Carbolic Acid. At 6:30 o'clock last night, Miss Eber-

Four Countries Offer Services as Mediators But Are Not Encouraged

Uneasiness Abroad Because of Measures Adopted by the United States Without Declaration of War.

Washington, April 24.—While the attention of the American government for the most part today was concentrated on restoring order at Vera Cruz and expediting the departure of Americans from Mexico, a watchful eye was trained on the transcontinental boundary between Mexico and the United States for any signs of hostility from Mexican constitutionalists. President Wilson and his cabinet had a long meeting, after which optimism was conspicuously apparent, both in their demeanor and informal discussion of the situation. There was no particular development to which the feeling of hopefulness that real war would be averted could be traced, but General Villa's friendly pronouncement, it was admitted, had impressed many officials here with the possibility that the constitutionalists would remain neutral while the American government sought reparation from Huerta. Other officials were not so sanguine and the army moved with precision and swiftness to protect the American boundary and reinforce the expeditionary force of marines and blue jackets at Vera Cruz. AMERICAN CHARGE AND FAMILY SAFE

Nelson O'Shaughnessy and Consul General Shanklin Arrive in Vera Cruz From Mexico City.

Washington, D. C., April 24.—Nelson O'Shaughnessy, American charge at Mexico City, his family and staff, and Consul General Shanklin and his staff, arrived in Vera Cruz from the Mexican capital tonight. Under date of 6:30 p. m. today Rear Admiral Fletcher, at Vera Cruz, reported to the navy department. "Upon telegraphic request of Charge d'Affaires O'Shaughnessy, the train left here at 3 o'clock conveying Captain Huss, Lieutenant Fletcher and Ensign P. Toad to meet him. It also carried the family of General Maas and about 250 Mexicans. At about five miles out, track was found torn up for about three-quarters of a mile. On the other side of the breach in the track was a train from Mexico City conveying the charge d'affaires and others as follows: "Mrs. O'Shaughnessy, child and maid, Captain Burdette, Lieutenant Rowan, Mr. and Mrs. Parker, Mr. McKenna, Consul General Shanklin and staff. "The train was in charge of Chief of Staff General Corona, two aides and an escort of about fifty-odd troops. "The rumor has reached Mexico City that no Mexicans were allowed to leave Vera Cruz, and it was reported that in consequence Huerta would not allow any more Americans to leave Mexico City. Mexicans in Vera Cruz have been allowed to leave at will, but none have been able to go out on trains. Captain Huss was directed to lay emphasis on this fact and to express a strong desire to send daily trains to convey Mexicans from Vera Cruz to meet trains bringing foreigners from Mexico City. General Corona promised to bring it to the attention of Huerta."

AMERICANS RULING CITY OF VERA CRUZ AND 5-MILE RADIUS

Five Divisions of Civil Administration Organized. Effort Made to Have Mexicans Head Departments.

Vera Cruz, Mexico, April 24.—Five divisions of the civil administration were organized today—police, sanitary, harbor, finance and customs. An effort was made to put Mexicans at the heads of all departments, but as this was impossible, at least in two departments, American officers were assigned to the posts. They are Lieutenant Commander McNeely, of the battleship Louisiana, who was appointed chief of police, and the fleet paymaster, who was made collector of customs. An effort still is being made to get Mexicans to act as heads of the other departments, but if this is found to be impossible, Americans will be placed in charge of all. An American will be made inspector over each department headed by a Mexican. Police provisions call for a continuance of the patrol of Americans, although Mexicans have been invited to co-operate in the organization of a native force. The customs receipts, it is said, may be placed to the credit of the United States. Close scrutiny will be maintained over all newspapers and other publications and no editorial comment concerning the American occupation or

ATTEMPT TO DYNAMITE TWO BRIDGES FAILS.

There was no property loss in Laredo. Both international bridges are safe, though efforts to dynamite them resulted in the death of two men engaged in the undertaking. One Mexican was shot by a sharpshooter from the top of the water tower. The Mexican was trying to reach the end of the international foot and wagon bridge. Another was killed when he tried to blow up the Mexican end of the international railroad bridge. American soldiers are constantly stationed at the American end to prevent such an attempt.

AMERICAN CONSULATE BREAKS INTO FLAMES.

There was little excitement occasioned by the presence of the federalists until this afternoon. Smoke was seen issuing from some of the buildings around the plaza, the center of the town. The municipal building and the American consulate on opposite sides of the square broke into flame simultaneously. Next door to the consulate the postoffice, temporarily closed, also was seen to be burning and around the plaza, smoke began to issue from the windows and roofs of other buildings. A few minutes later a loud explosion wrecked several houses and the fire

THINKS AMERICA MUST ADMIT STATE OF WAR

Paris, April 24.—American operations at Vera Cruz are likely to raise international difficulties, according to a London dispatch to The Times, unless they are regularized by admitting the existence of a state of war. It is pointed out that France endeavored to blockade Chinese ports in 1884 without declaring war, and that Great Britain declared war, at the outbreak of the Boer war, asserted that the operations were of a police nature against rebels, she was obliged to change her position when German vessels carrying contraband were detained.

DID NOT CONFESS TO GIRL'S MURDER, SAYS JIM CONLEY

Three New Affidavits in Hearing on New Trial Petition by Leo Frank Necessitate Postponement.

JIM CONLEY CONFESSED GUILT, SAY WITNESSES

Preacher and Negress Swear to Admission—Another Witness Tells of Seeing Girl Leave Frank's Office.

Jim Conley, the negro accused yesterday of confessing to the murder of Mary Phagan, made a sweeping denial last night to The Constitution, and declared that his counsel would be able to present evidence which would prove that the accusations were absolutely false.

The negro's statement was made to a reporter for The Constitution through Attorney William M. Smith, Conley's attorney. Smith was requested to ask certain questions having direct bearing on the affidavits submitted before Judge Ben Hill by Frank's defense, in which two witnesses accuse Conley of having admitted the Phagan crime.

Conley also stated that he would be able to show an alibi to disprove the charge of Rev. C. B. Ragsdale, the minister who has made an affidavit to the effect that he overheard Conley tell another negro in an alley near the Terminal station on the Monday night following the murder, that he had killed a girl at the pencil factory.

Attorney Smith was asked by the reporter to make a statement regarding the new evidence which so startled those present at the hearing for a retrial, being held before Judge Ben Hill, which was adjourned Friday morning until next Friday morning, to give the prosecution time to form a counter showing to the new developments.

His answer was: "In the words of Champ Clark, I can only say: 'Shoo fly! Don't bother me!' Confession is Alleged. The effect that the two strongest pieces of evidence introduced by attorneys for the defense will have on Solicitor Hugh Dorsey's fight to prevent a new trial for Leo Frank will, in all probability, cause a second delay in the re-trial hearing that is now in progress before Judge Ben Hill.

The solicitor requested adjournment of the hearing yesterday morning so that he would have ample time and opportunity to gather evidence with which to make a counter showing against three new affidavits that were presented by Frank's attorneys Friday morning.

These affidavits are from witnesses whose connection with the case was not made public until their testimony was revealed to Judge Hill. Two of them—a minister and a negro woman, swear they heard Jim Conley confess to the murder of Mary Phagan. The third witness states she was in the pencil factory at the time Mary Phagan entered, and that she saw the girl depart from Frank's office and go down the stairway to the first floor.

Work of Detective Burns. These affidavits were introduced into the retrial motion as amendments. A strong fight was made against them by the solicitor, who defended the alleged confession from Conley, as in her own words "she knew they were both phases of the new evidence were unsworn by Detective William J. Burns.

Solicitor Dorsey would have nothing to say for publication. He would exonerate himself in no manner regarding the Conley confession affidavits. He intimated that the prosecution would insist upon further postponement next Friday so that he could make exhaustive investigations into the new affidavits.

Annie Maude Carter, a negress, who was once a prisoner in the Tower in which Conley is held, made the most startling of the three affidavits. She testifies that the negro prisoner had made love to her and had wanted to marry her, and that he had confessed to her that he had killed a girl.

She swears that the negro went in through the details of the murder, and that he exonerated Leo Frank completely. At first, however, she stated in the affidavit, Conley sought to make her believe that he and Frank were both implicated in the murder, and that both had attacked the girl after she (Conley) had strangled her into unconsciousness.

Had Killed the Girl. The affidavit from the minister—Rev. C. B. Ragsdale, of Kirkwood—tells of an alleged conversation he overheard on the Monday night after Mary Phagan's death between Jim Conley and another negro in an alley near the pencil factory building. He swears that Conley told his black companion that he had got into trouble at the pencil plant—had killed a girl.

Conley's companion, the minister says in his document, asked Conley if anyone was in the building at the time Conley committed the crime, and Conley answered that Frank might have been in the place, but he thought not.

The third sensation is an affidavit attested to by Mrs. Maud Bailey, who swears she saw Mary Phagan come to the second floor of the pencil factory about five minutes after 12, on the day of the tragedy, go into Frank's office, remain a moment or so, emerge and then go down the stairway to the first floor.

She also swears that, as she came up the stairs upon entering the building, she saw Jim Conley sitting on a box near the foot of the steps.

The affidavit was corroborated by the negress, in telling of the alleged confession of Conley, says that Conley had been in the pencil factory for the purpose of trying to direct suspicion to Newt Lee, the negro night watchman, and that he had first started to the second floor.

He admitted, she says, prying the table from the rear door of the factory basement and going into the alley, from whence he saw the girl enter.

The woman also says she was at police headquarters Thursday, and that she had been there since she was arrested by Chief Lanford and Detectives Chewing and Struvinant. But, she says, she did not tell anything of the alleged confession from Conley, as, in her own words "she knew they were both phases of the new evidence were unsworn by Detective William J. Burns.

The affidavit procured from her at police headquarters has not been made public.

Solicitor Fights Amendments. The hearing before Judge Hill was adjourned until Friday morning, when the counsel for Frank proposed to amend their motion with the new evidence, a vigorous fight against the amendments was made, and the affidavit was taken soon after by Judge Dorsey, when, in reply to a remark from Dorsey, the senior counsel said: "The affidavit was taken soon after by John Starves and Pat Campbell—were gathered around the solicitor, Dorsey, from their quarters in the Tower."

A thorough probe of the three affidavits will be made by the investigation of Dorsey's staff would talk.

AMERICANS RULING CITY OF VERA CRUZ

news regarding the movement of troops will be permitted. No Attack Expected. Rear Admiral Badger, in a report to the navy department tonight, said that his forces were so strongly posted that no attack from the Mexicans was expected at present.

He said there had been no further casualties and that the wounded were doing well. The commandant of the San Juan de los Rios fortress, in the inner harbor, dressed in full uniform, called on Rear Admiral Fletcher today and was granted permission to take supplies to the women and children refugees in the fortress.

The battleship Louisiana sailed for Galveston today to convey the army transports to Vera Cruz.

Conditions Almost Normal. American marines and bluejackets controlled today a radius of at least five miles around the city of Vera Cruz, in which normal conditions had been virtually restored.

Outposts were pushed farther out in a southerly direction early this morning to the water supply station at Tejar and marines and sailors were dispatched there on a train to obtain control of all pipe lines into the city. They took with them oil fuel to run the pumping plant.

On the west and northwest, Captain Smodkey Butler, with his marines, are stationed. Thus Rear Admiral Fletcher commands all the approaches to the city.

Within the city sniping had almost ceased this morning. A close watch for sharpshooters was kept up all night by patrols who marched through the streets. Orders had been issued that all citizens should keep within their residences after 7:30 o'clock in the evening and that they were strictly obeyed. As a result the night was quiet.

American Refugees Leave. Americans, numbering about 300, mostly women and children, left for Galveston on board the Esperanza and arrangements have been made for removing from the coast towns as soon as possible all Americans who can be induced to leave.

More than 1,000 Americans are reported to have left Tampico, where they were urgently advised to depart. The Chester will be sent to Frontera, Coahuila, and other coast towns to urge Americans there to be ready to embark on the Ward liner tomorrow, which is due here today from Havana.

Only three of the American wounded are in a critical condition, according to the report received from the city, where the wounded are being treated in the hospital. First-Class Fireman H. Pullan, Ordinary Seaman E. G. Wright and Private Jeremiah G. Peoples.

The dead have been embalmed and their bodies are lying on board the Solace ready to be sent north. Naval surgeons say that the majority of the wounded men will be able to report for duty in a short time.

Total Force 6,500 Men. By tomorrow the total force on shore will probably reach 6,500 men. The outposts have been equipped with twelve machine guns and several 3-inch field pieces, which were taken to Rear Admiral Fletcher's headquarters at the Terminal hotel are guarded by machine guns, while seven field pieces are held in reserve in the vicinity.

Over 250 Mexican sick and wounded were found in the San Sebastian hospital when it was captured today by a navy surgeon. Forty dead were found in the mortuary. Conditions were so bad that navy surgeons were detained to assist the hospital authorities.

The medical department today inspected the sanitary conditions of the city and opened negotiations with the Mexican health officials in the hope of inducing them to return to their posts. With Commander Herman O. Stickney, of the Prairie, appointed commandant of the city, American authorities today undertook the administration of the customs. Rear Admiral Fletcher has begun the general supervision of the city. Very few of the former heads of the city government are still in power, and most of them seem to have left the city.

car lines also have resumed partial service. Numbers of shops and restaurants were opened yesterday and crowds walked about the streets and the open places. Except for the passing of an occasional patrol the city seems to have resumed almost normal conditions.

Bands from the American fleet played yesterday and attracted large crowds. The idea of providing music for the people was suggested by Captain Rush, who only a few hours before had been directing the artillery and machine gun fire against the same people.

Large numbers of Mexicans called on Rear Admiral Fletcher today pleading for the release of friends and relatives who had been made prisoners. The almost invariable reply was that all those innocents could be established would be released.

The total number of prisoners taken was about 300, but many have already been released.

Refugees From Mexico City. A refugee train of fourteen cars from Mexico City, carrying 150 Americans, 100 Germans, 300 Spaniards and Mexicans and 50 Englishmen, arrived here last evening.

The exodus from the capital was arranged through the joint action of the British and German diplomatic offices, which were the first to be reached by the Mexican outposts.

Tejeria at noon, where it was detained for two hours while a search was made by the Mexicans for railroad officials, four of whom were arrested and held until General Maas, at Soledad, was communicated with and their release effected.

About three miles from Vera Cruz, a section of track nearly a mile long was broken up and the cars were carried their baggage to a train on the Vera Cruz end of the break, which was about 200 yards from the Mexican camp. The train was met by the American officials at the station on this last stage of their journey to Vera Cruz.

On the last day of its convention, adopted on Wednesday there was a repetition of street demonstrations by mobs such as were witnessed in the week in front of the principal streets, an American flag was thrown to the ground and a procession and trampled over by the demonstrators. It was arranged to have a similar performance repeated. Later it was torn to shreds amid the yells of the crowd and handclapping and cheering in windows and balconies.

A small gathering of Mexicans at the station on Wednesday night, Tuesday night, listened to speeches from street orators. The crowd, however, was orderly, probably because a heavy guard of police was on duty there.

Mob Tramples American Flag. Mobs in the streets of Mexico City were trampling under foot the Stars and Stripes and were threatening American pedestrians when the refugee train, engaged under the auspices of the British and German legations, left Vera Cruz for Galveston.

The position of these American citizens in the federal capital was regarded as critical. Nelson O'Shaughnessy, the American chargé d'affaires, Lieutenant Rowley, of the navy, and Captain William A. Barnside, of the army, were to leave on Thursday night for Mexico City, where they were to be met by the American consul under special arrangement with Provisional President Huerta.

Immediately after the news of the landing of American bluejackets and marines at Vera Cruz was made known in the federal capital by extra editions of the local newspapers, crowds of students and government office employees began to assemble.

By dusk a mob had been assembled in front of the American club, where the federal capital by extra editions of the local newspapers, crowds of students and government office employees began to assemble.

An appeal to the governor of the federal district brought police protection, but not before the crowd had shattered many of the windows in the clubhouse and in adjoining properties belonging to Americans.

Until 2 o'clock in the morning bands of excited Mexicans marched through the streets singing the Mexican national anthem and shouting "death for the Americans."

An American jewelry store was looted by the mob at midnight. The police looked on but took no action.

The American club, the lending American hostelry, and the offices of The Mexican Herald were closed, owing to the threat of the mobs to burn them and murder their occupants.

The British, German and French in the federal capital were prepared at a moment's notice to gather in the previously arranged concentration districts, which had been provisionally established.

Papers Tell of "Victories." The newspapers, probably acting under the directions of General Huerta, issued many extra editions, in which they printed reports stating that El Paso, Laredo, Nogales and other places had been taken by the Mexicans.

Other dispatches announced that the federal troops had gained a great victory at Vera Cruz, where they expected to surround and drive the invaders into the sea.

The papers also declared that the battleship Louisiana had been sunk by Mexican torpedoes. An alleged dispatch from the south said that Emiliano Zapata, the southern rebel, was coming to join forces with General Huerta.

All the American officials employed by the National railroads and the Mexican Railroad company were immediately discharged by the government in order that no trains could be operated except under the supervision of the government.

At the American embassy orders were expected from the Mexican government that the arms and ammunition recently permitted to enter should be given up. This was in retaliation for the seizure of Vera Cruz by the American fleet.

At 8 o'clock, on Wednesday evening, Nelson O'Shaughnessy, the American chargé d'affaires, had not received his passports, but he was preparing to leave. The refugee train was twenty hours in making the journey from Mexico City to Vera Cruz.

While delays were many, there were no mishaps.

WHEN PATRIOTISM KINDLES. One of the brighter lights of our broil with Mexico comes from the action of the C. A. Evans camp of confederate veterans at Lumpkin, Ga.

Of course, the offer of these old men valiant cannot, in the nature of things, be accepted. More youthful bodies and keener eyes are needed for our distasteful task in Mexico, and these will be available in abundance.

But it is the spirit of the tender from Stewart county that counts. To quote the scriptures, these confederate veterans may be numbered among "they who came out of great tribulation."

They have known the horrors of war, the humiliation and the heartbreak of reconstruction. Yet with them these fateful events become as negligible memories, ghosts of past trials, when the flag of their reunited country is subjected to indignity.

The Spanish-American war, with its commingling of the grayheads of blue and gray in warrior counsels, marked a far milestone in the welding of the sections.

The spirit of patriotism that flames into action the moment this nation is even remotely assailed, promises to achieve yet greater results in the final re-nationalization.

The mood of the veterans of Lumpkin is typical of the mood of the vanishing men in gray, wherever their lots may be cast. It is refreshing to know that if we must assume an onerous and uncounted responsibility, the burden will be lightened by distinct compensations.

KEEPING CATTLE AT HOME. The Georgia State Chamber of Commerce is calling the attention of trade boards and newspapers throughout the state to an editorial which recently appeared in The Constitution under the caption, "The Wrong Cattle Policy."

Commenting upon the editorial, the chamber of commerce thus addresses its correspondents: The editorial in The Constitution this morning entitled "The Wrong Cattle Policy" is one of the most serious problems that confronts Georgia today.

For years The Constitution has been preaching that Georgia offers conditions ideal to the creation of a livestock industry upon a scale almost commensurate with the revenues from cotton.

We have stressed the economic folly involved in Georgia, which should lead the eastern south in beef-raising, sending millions annually out of the state for meat products.

And here are many counties in Georgia disposing of their breeding cattle at the first opportunity, unmindful of the ultimate consequences of such a policy.

A 14-foot elephant was dug up in California; but it wasn't buried as deep as the G. O. P.'s. paying a skyscraping price for the same cattle as a finished market product. Some sacrifice will, of course, be required to insure that good Georgia stock shall stay on the farms, instead of being exported.

But the game is worth the candle. The bankers and the merchants and trade boards generally can help on the practical end of the proposition by co-operating to the end that the farmer's basis for collateral shall be broadened and he shall not be compelled to thrust cattle on the market upon terms that cannot constitute other than an ultimate loss to himself and to the community.

SMOKING AND WRITING.

Someone has been interviewing French academicians as to the effect of smoking upon literary composition. The results of the census range widely from enthusiastic commendation of the inspiration of "Lady Nicotine" to frank avowals that her devotees know they injure themselves when they indulge.

Once upon a time a writer of some experience, who also was an inveterate smoker, asked a capable physician if smoking were not a distinct aid to concentration of mental effort.

"Rot!" said the physician with some energy. "Whatever aid you get to composition is that of a purely mechanical nature. Pull your nose, twist your moustache, roll your ear-lobe, and you will secure enough outside stimulus to aid inspiration."

This may be true, and it may likewise be true that the writer who depends upon smoking to set his thinking machinery in motion is only pampering a habit. But enough men of literary importance have found assistance from tobacco to at least give the habit the sanction of vogue and precedent.

At the last analysis, it all gets down to a matter of personal idiosyncrasy. With tobacco as with food, what is one man's meat is another's poison. While it is difficult to imagine Shakespeare polishing off a sonnet to the accompaniment of fragrant smoke clouds, it is easy to visualize lesser men coaxing stubborn Parnassus with a lusty, trusty pipe, or coming suddenly out of a tobacco reverie to plunge at pencil and paper with a flash of inspiration.

THE GOOD ROADS SMOKER.

The "smoker" held last night by the Automobile Club of Georgia is prophetic of still farther organized effort in behalf of good roads in Georgia.

The theme of the addresses was the commercial and economic value of good roads and how co-operation might best facilitate the movement.

A significant feature of the meeting was the tentative plan to interest farmers and their societies in organized good roads crusades.

For every automobilist who benefits from a smooth stretch of highway, twenty or thirty farmers reap dividends the year round.

HURTFUL PARTISANSHIP.

The claims of Senator Borah to the effect that we are "in Mexico to stay," and that we are likely to "carry the flag as far south as Panama," are unjustified and full of mischief.

Borah uttered these sentiments in the debate over the resolution to appropriate $500,000 for the purpose of caring for refugees from Mexico.

His statements are calculated to give aid and conviction to those critics in Latin-America and Europe who have refused to accept the president's disclaimer of any designs on Latin-American territory.

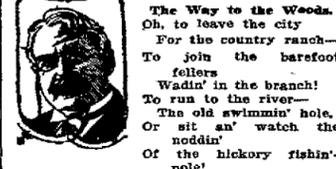

Playing politics at a time like this is not a patriotic pastime. Some of the popular novelists are going to the front. Here's hoping they will not be killed for their bad writing.

And George Bailey says that "Coal Blaze is the Huerta of South Carolina." Huerta wants to go down to history. He'll go down in short order.

Cole Bease is ready to rush to Mexico and give an exhibition of fighting fire with fire. Huerta is short of aeroplanes, but it's all up with him, anyway.

The Colonel hasn't heard the war news, or he wouldn't waste all that ammunition on the animals of the jungle.

PONCE DE LEON. Ponce de Leon was a Spaniard who hung around the court as a boy about 450 years ago, went to war now and then and gradually accumulated a substantial pull.

In those days this was regarded as a greater financial success than running a factory or organizing a trust, and Ponce de Leon came home with a substantial pull.

By the time Ponce de Leon became governor he was a very great man. But he was not satisfied. The gentle Indians could not fight the Spaniards, usually, and he even with them by telling stories about strange rich lands to the west.

DAILY GRIST From the STATES' POLITICAL GRIND

JUDGE NAT E. HARRIS IN RACE; ALL EYES NOW ON THOMAS. With the definite announcement of Judge Nat E. Harris, all eyes are now turned on south Georgia in anticipation of the probable action of Judge W. E. Thomas, of Valdosta, who has been prominently mentioned as a gubernatorial candidate for the past two weeks.

The Macon Telegraph of Friday morning is authority for the statement that Judge Harris has definitely decided to make the race and it is generally understood that his formal announcement will be forthcoming a day or two. He has written several friends in Atlanta, practically assuring them that he would run.

Still another interesting action is W. H. Burwell, of Hancock, speaker of the house. Mr. Burwell has had the matter under consideration for some two weeks or more and he is said to be "almost persuaded" should Judge Thomas decline to make the race, it seems assured that Mr. Burwell's announcement will be promptly forthcoming.

With J. Randolph Anderson and Dr. L. G. Hardman openly running, and Nat E. Harris, W. H. Burwell, Judge W. E. Thomas and W. J. Harris practically assured, it looks like the field is going to be the largest in the history of Georgia politics.

FOR SPEAKER OF THE HOUSE. Henry J. Fullbright of Burke county, representative of the house and candidate for reelection, was in Atlanta Friday in attendance on the meeting of the Western and Atlantic commission. Mr. Fullbright announced that he would make the race for speaker of the house at the next session of the legislature, provided he was returned and things shaped up properly.

OFFERS TO GO TO FRONT IN MEXICO. Governor Slaton receives many unique communications during the day's work, but here is one that stands out from the rest with a touch of pathos.

"Honorable Governor John M. I have been serving soldiers on the coast for some time and have been in the army for eighteen years for manslaughter. I was connected with the killing of a negro in Spalding county. My confinement has worked a great hardship on my wife and eight children. I know the pay in the army is small, but a little would help them. Hoping you will grant me a parole and give me a chance to help my family, I beg to remain,

ANTI-PISTOL TOTTING BILL. Mon. H. J. Fullbright, representative from Burke county, who was in the city yesterday, conferred with William J. THE BUSINESS SITUATION. (From The Saturday Evening Post.) Business in the United States, on the whole, is not so good as it was early last March. Few shrewd observers at that time expected it would be. Steel mills were then running at full capacity—on orders received some months before. They are now running at not much over half their capacity.

It is important, however, to remember that this condition is practically world-wide—and so are the chief causes of it. The cause that by far overshadows all others is the scarcity of fixed capital—the world is simply hard up for cash. This cause developed out of conditions with which domestic politics had absolutely nothing to do, and England, France and Germany are as hard up as ourselves. Europe, and the world, are more affected by the world-wide money pinch than the United States.

THE ART OF POLITICS consists partly in telling plausible lies. There is always a ready-made crowd to believe the business condition of the country—whether good or bad—is simply hard up for cash. This cause developed out of conditions with which domestic politics had absolutely nothing to do, and England, France and Germany are as hard up as ourselves.

REALTY MEN FAVOR GRADY BOND ISSUE

Committee From Pan-Hellenic of Atlanta Visits Hospital and Says Improvements Badly Needed.

At a special meeting of the Atlanta Hotel Men's association, held at the chamber of commerce building, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

"Resolved, That the Atlanta Hotel Men's association heartily indorse the movement looking to the issuance of $750,000 bonds for the Grady hospital, and the support of this association and its members is hereby pledged to said movement."

There was enthusiasm at Grady bond headquarters yesterday when it was learned that the real estate board, after listening to a brief summary of a Grady bond issue by Bird Adams, had given its unqualified indorsement to the bond issue.

The real estate board is another of those civic organizations which, according to the pessimists, was not in favor of the bonds. A short time ago there were several such organizations. The Fulton County Medical society was against them. Labor was against them. Some members of the board of the hospital, itself, were against them. The Catholics were against them. According to the pessimists—and there never was a much-needed city improvement that didn't breed pessimists—rather than a Florida swamp breeds mosquitoes—the bonds for greater Grady didn't have a chance.

That was a week ago. Then the Fulton County Medical association gave the bond issue its indorsement. A resolution to do so was unanimous. A few days passed and the Atlanta Federation of Trades passed the bond issue. The members of the hospital board, to a man, registered their belief in the bond issue over their signatures. Thursday night, the Knights of Columbus indorsed the bond issue. The real estate board indorsed it.

Today the workers for the bonds can look at the real estate board with pride, and say there is scarcely a civic organization or faction of any importance whatever which has not put its official seal of approval upon the plans for a greater Grady. As for the supposed opposition, it can be located. It is the real estate board, which is object because it feared an increase of taxes. Whether it did or not, Mr. Adams' talk certainly dispelled any such impression. Anyone acquainted with the greater Grady plans knows that they entail no increase of taxes whatever. The bond issue includes $100,000 for day wards. The receipts from this warding are sufficient to pay the interest on the bonds and meet them as fast as they mature. Mr. Adams pointed this out to his audience yesterday and the real estate board's objection of indorsement came up for vote, there was not a dissenting ballot.

Another remarkable feature of the campaign is the interest which the various women's organizations are taking in it. The real estate board, which called for 10 o'clock Monday morning in the University club by the executive committee of 400 representatives of college sororities. It must not be supposed that the young women are going to college now. All of them have graduated. A good many are even married.

Women Examine Hospital

A special committee of five looked over the hospital Friday afternoon. It consisted of Miss Elizabeth Kempton, Mrs. E. B. Hines, Miss Vee Strickland and Miss Hester Hill. The committee, after looking over the hospital with Mr. Merrill, superintendent of the hospital, came out highly indignant. It was particularly indignant over the conditions of the most wretched features of the hospital.

"It is awful," said Miss Kempton, "for women to have to live in such places. To look at their living quarters, you'd think the men who were being punished for some crime and were being punished for it, instead of being members of the noblest profession woman can enter."

NEW LOAN ASSOCIATION HAS SOME UNIQUE RULES

A new loan association, to be known as the Co-operative Investment association, with a capital of $50,000, is being organized by J. A. Patterson and C. L. Boone.

A unique feature of the company's loaning plan is that personal indorsements will not be required of its patrons. In case of the death of a customer, the estate would be liable for the amount of the loan. In case of a customer's sickness on the day a payment is due, a department of prominent business men of the city will be called upon to guarantee the loan.

CAMPBELL ON STAND IN HIS OWN BEHALF

Camilla, Ga., April 24.—(Special.)—The case of state v. C. C. Campbell, charged with the murder of John Harrel, is still in session in Mitchell superior court. The entire day was spent in examining witnesses for the defense, the feature of the day's session being the statement of the defendant, which was made late this afternoon.

The statement was clear and forceful and about one hour was consumed in its delivery. Immediately after the statement the state called more witnesses for rebuttal.

Court adjourned at 3 o'clock and convened again at 8 o'clock for a night session.

The case will probably consume most of tomorrow. The courthouse was packed with spectators today.

Great Opportunity Presented To Obtain Automobiles Free In the $25,000 Gift Contest

The Constitution believes that there are many people who are upon the lookout for an opportunity and who are alert enough to see and grasp it when it appears.

For this reason, a plan is presented in these columns, which affords just the chance these ambitious people want, and in which the benefit to those taking part is only limited by their own ability.

Appropriating over twenty-five thousand dollars to forward the enterprise, The Constitution purposes to distribute that amount in valuable prizes and cash through the medium of a great circulation campaign.

It costs nothing to try for any award.

No Restrictions.

There are no restrictions as to territory or age. Any woman or girl can enter; or any man or boy can enter through some lady relative or friend. This makes the field open to all. Just simply send in your name or that of a relative or friend to the contest department of The Constitution. Need for Greater Hospital Is Urged by Mrs. McCarthy

"Go into the highways and byways and preach the gospel of the Greater Hospital which we can get through the bond issue," urged Mrs. William McCarthy at the regular meeting of the Atlanta chapter, Daughters of the Confederacy, Thursday afternoon. "I know women are very busy with spring cleaning, with guests expected for opera and for the Shriner's convention to follow, but we must stop everything and look after the hospital which we own in common. It is the property of all citizens, men and women; it is our obligation, our responsibility, and women would be failing in their first calling to look after the weak and dependent—if they fail to work for the Greater Hospital."

Besides the appeal to humanity which this hospital movement means, it has its patriotic phase. Atlanta should have the best hospital in this section. She is the greatest city of her section. She has that reputation and she must live up to it.

Information Given.

If any information is desired on the subject of the bonds it can be obtained from the central committee, of which Dr. W. S. Elkin is chairman, or from Mrs. Samuel Lumpkin, who is directing the forces of Atlanta's federated women in their work for the bond issue.

STRIKERS RETREAT BEFORE TROOPERS

Warring Miners Believed to Be Massed in Black Hills. Imprisoned Company Men Released From Mine.

Trinidad, Colo., April 24.—State troops under command of Adjutant General John Chase tonight advanced toward Ludlow, after occupying Lynn and Agular without resistance by the warring strikers. At Agular the militiamen released the company men imprisoned in the Empire and South mine on Wednesday. All the prisoners, including J. W. Siple, president of the Southwestern Fuel company, were said to be unharmed.

The whereabouts of the strikers who suddenly abandoned their plan of assaulting the troops at Lynn was not definitely known. It generally was believed, however, that they executed the maneuver begun early in the day and massed their forces in the Black Hills two miles north of Ludlow.

GOVERNOR SLATON THE CHIEF SPEAKER AT DECATUR SMOKER

Governor John M. Slaton was the chief speaker at the second annual smoker of the Decatur Board of Trade Friday night, delivering an address on "Our State Finances." The governor stressed the necessity for a better plan of financing the state, declaring that it was getting farther and farther behind all the time. He also praised the new tax law.

Others on the program were W. J. Dabney, toastmaster; Mayor E. T. Hopkins, who delivered the address of welcome; Hon. George M. Napier, who introduced Governor Slaton; Ivan E. Allen, who spoke of "The Advancing Value of Stone Mountain to This Section"; L. J. Steele, whose subject was "Believing in the Good of the People"; and Charles J. McKinney, who told of "Decatur's Reputation in Georgia."

Over 150 were in attendance upon the smoker and much enthusiasm was evidenced during the evening.

Washington, April 24.—The nomination of Robert H. Terrell, a negro, as municipal judge for the District of Columbia, was confirmed tonight by the senate.

"UNTO GOD"

"Render Unto Caesar the Things Which Are Caesar's; and Unto God the Things That Are God's"

—Matt. 22:21

"Render unto Caesar the things which are Caesar's." Amen.

We have nothing of his. Nineteen hundred years ago Caesar died; today, only a forgotten grave and a niche of infamy in history are his. Let him have them. Disturb him not. But unto God, our living Lord, render that which is His.

They tried to trap the Carpenter into treasurable talk. With fawning flattery slaves of Rome asked, "Shall we pay tribute to Caesar?" He replied, "Show me the tribute money.—Whose is the image and superscription?"

"Caesar's," they answered. Clear. Plain. Caesar's money. Marked with Caesar's face and name. Give it to him, but "Unto God the things that are God's."

What says your dollar? What read we? Not Caesar's name but God's. Our nation story is told in that inscription, "In God we trust."

Christ with His cross has led our fathers forth from the tyranny of kings and Caesars into the liberty of children of God. He has trusted us to rule ourselves. Render unto Him that which is His, our whole hearts, our whole lives.

Let us be faithful to our trust. Beer barrels, whiskey kegs, wine bottles, brothel owners and money bags can never rule over us. We have no king, but God.

Consider our city, our home, Atlanta. Georgia's capital. There our representatives gathered. Led of God, moved by the suffering and sorrow of our brothers and sisters caused by the curse of drink, they enacted laws forbidding the sale of liquor within the state.

And yet, because we have failed to render wholly unto God that which is God's—because we have been faithless to our trust, day by day, in every paper we read of women, men and children sacrificed by those whose god is greed. But the end is near. We are waking.

Everywhere brothel owners are on the run. And today in two-thirds of the area of the United States it is a crime to sell liquor. While even now in the Senate of the United States is pending legislation, urged by such bodies as the Pittsburg Board of Trade, designed to effectually drive this traffic, that fattens upon the ruin of people, from the rest of our country.

IN SUCH AN HOUR, RENDER UNTO GOD THE THINGS THAT ARE GOD'S. Ask him who wants your vote, "Do you favor driving liquor from these United States? Will you support the bill now pending in Washington? Are you today united with others in mocking the prohibition law and making money by selling liquor through your club? It matters not that the money made is used in purchasing luxuries for you and your associates, are you thus conniving at breaking our law? And, if you so disregard the sacredness of law, should you be in public life?"

Yea, look about you. ATLANTANS AND GEORGIANS ARE TIRED OF BEING BETRAYED.

We are a law abiding people. These saloons and liquor selling clubs, maintained by a minority, misrepresent our City and State. Atlantans, Georgians respect law. They abhor falsehood which alone makes possible the existence of a blind tiger.

They hate greed. They despise hypocrisy. They have intelligence. They see—Beneath brothels ruined girls—Supporting breweries wrecked lives—Paying for drinks the broken hearts of women, the blighted lives of children, murdered men—And blind tigers of the most loathsome kind taking shelter behind refined clubs.

More, people know—None of these evils could exist in city or state without the connivance of members of the Church of God; these will go; for you will obey, not men, but God.

You will heed, not the clamor of politicians and liquor sellers—You will hear the call of conscience. And you will render unto God the things that are God's. You will be faithful to your trust.

AN APPEAL TO WOMEN

Bud, Ky.—"I want to urge all weak women," says Mrs. Lizzie R. Barker, of this place, "to give Cardul, the woman's tonic, a fair trial, for I believe it will do for them what it has done for me. I was a sufferer for 13 years, with such pains I could scarcely walk or stand on my feet. I had headache, dizziness and fainting spells. After many treatments failed to help me, my husband persuaded me to give Cardul, the woman's tonic, a trial, and I did so. Now I feel like a new woman. I am well of all these troubles, and can do all my household work, with pleasure. When I commenced taking Cardul, I was not able to sit up. Now I am enjoying good health and do all of my work. I shall keep Cardul in my home all the time. There is not any medicine that equals it for women." We also, urge you to try Cardul, the woman's tonic, for your troubles. It has helped so many thousands of women in the past half century that we feel sure it will help you, too. Prepared from perfectly harmless, vegetable ingredients, Cardul is the remedy for you to use. It can do you nothing but good. Try "

Mrs. McCrory charged that a "trust" controls the schoolbook supply and has called on the people of Georgia to shake off the shackles of the "schoolbook crowd." He said that the state of Georgia could publish its own books at a cost of 4 cents, where it now pays 16 cents. His plan is to have the state do the printing and select the books from those submitted by Georgia authorities. Otis Ashmore, in taking issue with Mr. McCrory's charges, said that the educational value of the books more important than the cost. "To buy the plates would cost $125,000 and to set up a printing office would cost $250,000," said Mr. Ashmore. "Why not let the regular book publishers bear this expense and let us select our textbooks from the market at large, so that we will be sure to get the best?" Resolutions Submitted. Mr. Ashmore submitted a resolution placing the association on record as opposed to the McCrory system and branding it as an unwise policy and a dangerous experiment to the state. The resolution further requests the legislature not to adopt measures that may seriously injure the McCrory system, the enterprise of editing and publishing textbooks for the public schools. Another resolution was introduced by J. M. McCreary, of Macon, which calls the matter to rest just as at present, but urging the association to bear in mind the future, "when all textbooks will be furnished free by the state to every child attending the schools of Georgia." Both resolutions will be reported on tomorrow morning. The convention will close tomorrow at noon following the consideration of the report of the resolutions committee and the election of officers. It is probable that Professor J. C. Wardlaw, of the State college at Athens, will be elected president, succeeding T. G. Polhill, of LaGrange, and the indications are that Macon will be the permanent headquarters of the association. A movement will be started tomorrow to have a state school for the deaf established in south Georgia. Tonight Dr. F. P. Daxton, United States commissioner of education, and J. M. Phillips, of Birmingham, were the speakers. This afternoon the delegates witnessed a playground festival and were guests at a barbecue at the Big Cabin, where they had a very enjoyable picnic-supper at Wesley M. college.

Damaged Goods Teaches Lesson In a Dramatic Fashion

By Sidney Ormond. A rather small, but discriminating audience placed its enthusiastic stamp of approval on "Damaged Goods," the celebrated play by Brieux, at the Atlanta theater last night. It was an audience composed of persons who, for the most part, had either read the play or were acquainted with the theme through criticisms of it. They knew just what they were to expect and they did not attend last night's performance under any misconception of the meaning of the term "damaged goods."

At the outset, for the benefit of those who have not seen "Damaged Goods," but who intend to see it, let it be known that it is not an immoral play, not a play with a single suggestive line or salacious allusion. If you go to see "Damaged Goods" with any such idea in mind, you will be disappointed. On the other hand, if you are sufficiently interested in the subject of communicable disease to listen to a free and frank exposition of its evils, you are ignorant of the horrors of the disease of which the play treats, you will receive a lesson more valuable than any amount of reading. Just what proportion of last night's audience was ignorant of the nature of syphilis and the human misery it entails from generation to generation, it would be difficult to say. Certain it is, however, that the play carried the audience along with breathless interest—an interest which was not morbid or unhealthy.

In the lobby, between acts, where men about town gathered to smoke and talk, there was a noticeable lack of flippancy. Men, knowing the risks they had run in their own lives—and according to Brieux, there are but four men in a thousand who have not run this risk—talked soberly. The lesson of the play had been driven home with sledge-hammer blows. Men and women had been brought face to face with the awful thing which all know about, but refuse to discuss. The moral of the play is simply this—that no man who has run the risk has any right to refer to syphilis as a "shameful" disease; that he is no better than the man who has been so unfortunate as to contract it.

The story deals with a young man who has contracted the disease in spite of the fact that he had led a clean life, as the lives of men go. Despite the warning of his physician he married six months afterward and his child is infected with the disease. His father-in-law at first thinks of killing him; then of securing a divorce for his daughter. But the physician points out to him the danger of such proceedings. He shows him by his own admission that he himself is really to blame for allowing his daughter to wed a man without inquiry into his health. He forces from the outraged father the fact that he is not guiltless of illicit love.

In the third act, by the introduction of a pitiful creature in the advanced stages of the disease, and a painted street walker, the physician further illustrates the beginning and the end of the disease—not the end, either, but one of its many horrible phases. The play is admirably acted. Mr. Howard Hall, as the Doctor, was particularly witty and convincing. Raymond Bond, as the young husband, was exceptionally good. There will be a matinee this afternoon and the concluding performance tonight. Revival at Cedartown. Cedartown, Ga., April 24.—(Special) Rev. A. M. I. W. W. MOB ATTACKS SALVATION ARMY BAND

Seattle, Wash., April 24.—Several Industrial Workers of the World street speakers and their followers, objecting to the noise made by a Salvation Army band, which was playing in the street last night, attacked the Salvation Army band, and drew revolvers on them, where police reserves were summoned to protect the religious workers, many of whom were women. Detectives near the scene, when the trouble started, held the attacking party at bay until the Salvation Army band had retreated. The band members were hurled, but no one was seriously hurt.

WOMEN FILE SUITS CHARGING COERCION

Sensational Allegations Involving State Mutual Officials and Judge Maddox Made in Suits.

Rome, Ga., April 24.—(Special.)—Sensational allegations are contained in suits filed in Floyd superior court tonight by Mrs. Lula Curry Porter against the State Mutual Life Insurance company and D. W. Curry, and also in suits against the State Mutual Life Insurance company and Walter S. Griffin, of Greenville, S. C., by Mrs. Belle Vernon Porter.

She charges that the insurance company agreed to this, but knowing that it could not secure a legal title from her, it being against the law for a married woman to sell her property for her husband's debts, they had her transfer her home to her father, and be to them, whereupon the company agreed to drop criminal prosecution.

She asks that the company be therefore enjoined from disposing of the property, and Judge Wright will hear reasons as to why the injunction should not be made permanent on May 7.

The same allegations in effect are made in the petition of Mrs. Belle Vernon Porter, wife of J. C. Porter, brother of C. R. Porter, and former vice president of the State Mutual, except that the value of her home is set at $10,000, and W. S. Griffin, a son-in-law of D. W. Curry, was the intermediary. This case is also set for preliminary hearing on May 7.

"False," Declares Maddox. Judge Maddox denounces as "unqualifiedly false" the allegation that he was directly or indirectly concerned with the alleged agreement to compound any felony, but says on the other hand that he repeatedly refused to become party to such agreements.

GEORGIA SOCIETY HOPES FOR PEACE IN MEXICO

Able Address Delivered Friday Afternoon by Professor Arthur D. Call.

After listening to an entertaining lecture by Professor Arthur D. Call at the Piedmont hotel on Friday afternoon, the Georgia Peace society considered and adopted two resolutions.

One expressed the hope that the United States would be able to solve the Mexican problem without resorting to war.

The second urged the schools, churches and other civic institutions to observe May 18 as Peace day and to observe it with appropriate celebrations.

Dr. J. J. Hall was chosen as delegate to represent the Georgia society at the national peace convention in Washington on that date. Dr. John E. White introduced the speaker of the afternoon.

Professor Call, executive director of the American Peace society, declared that if the present strife with Mexico had broken out ten years ago, Atlanta would have been aflame with excitement whereas at the present time this city seems to be viewing the matter conservatively.

Another resolution was passed endorsing the legislative efforts for a state highway commission and pledging the support of the club.

SAVANNAH SOCIETY HOLDS STREET DANCING CARNIVAL AND FLORAL PARADE FOR DRAINAGE CONGRESS DELEGATES

FLORAL PARADE IN SAVANNAH.

Savannah, Ga., April 24.—(Special)—In connection with the fourth National Drainage congress Thursday afternoon and evening was staged one of the largest and most spectacular floral parades, street dancing fetes and confetti carnivals ever witnessed in the south. The parade was viewed in the park extension by the officers of the drainage congress and the judges who awarded the prizes at the close of the parade. It was preceded by the coast artillery corps from Fort Screven, under the command of Colonel Willoughby Walke, who was grand marshal of the parade; the national guard of Georgia, stationed at Savannah, and was followed by Savannah's magnificent automobile fire department. Owing to the crisis in Mexico, the warships which had been expected were unable to come. There was a magnificent display of beautifully decorated automobiles. The street dancing at night, however, proved to be the feature of the carnival. The night session of the drainage congress was abandoned on account of this feature. Hundreds of young couples took advantage of the unique privilege. A section of Bull street, abutting on one of the public squares, was reserved for the dancing. The street being closed to traffic and roped in. Spectators were confined to the sidewalks and squares. All dancers were required to unmask and city detectives were on hand to see that no improper characters were allowed to dance.

Simultaneously a great street masquerade was in progress on another thoroughfare. The street was given up to them from 8 o'clock until midnight. Everybody wore masks and everybody was in costume. Several organizations turned out in force and gave exhibition drills. There were boys' clubs and girls' clubs in the carnival parade. Confetti was used freely, and ticklers and horns and other noise producing instruments, but everything objectionable was strictly forbidden. The afternoon and evening was one of unalloyed fun, in which the older generation, as well as the younger folks and children, participated.

FOUR COUNTRIES OFFER TO MEDIATE TROUBLE

sentatives of the Mexican constitutionalists resulted in the dispatch to General Carranza of a telegram by the latter strongly advising him to remain neutral and assuring him that the American government intended to withdraw its forces from Mexico just as soon as Huerta had made satisfactory reparation for offenses.

The advice given Carranza here was that by assuming a hostile attitude he would draw all Mexico into a war; Huerta would be perpetuated and the constitutionalist cause lost. Four countries, among them France and Spain, came forward with inquiries to the United States about possible means of mediation between the Huerta government and the United States, but Secretary Bryan said these advances could not be described as "overtures" and he was inclined to attach little importance to them. The position of the American government is firm, that an offense against its dignity and national honor has been committed and that it must enforce reparation from Huerta.

Signs of uneasiness abroad because the United States, though not having declared a blockade or a state of war, is exercising jurisdiction at Vera Cruz between measures "short of war" and actual war became apparent today. Cabinet officials said no attempt would be made to interfere with the regular channels of commerce anywhere, cargoes being allowed to land at all points. Munitions of war alone will be held at the Vera Cruz customs house, if landed, provisions and other commercial supplies not being detained.

ARMY AND NAVY CONTINUE PLANS.

But outside of the diplomatic branch of the government the army and navy continued plans for holding Vera Cruz for the care of refugees, for the provisioning of American forces and for the maintenance of a strict border patrol, not only to prevent raids and uprisings, but to keep all factors in Mexico from obtaining munitions, arms and ammunition. The war department continued its plan for mobilizing regulars and veterans about the president call for them. Army transports, bearing infantry and artillery, sailed from Galveston to reinforce the war forces at Vera Cruz. The sporadic outbreak at Nuevo Laredo, Mexico, where the evacuating federals burned the town and fired on the American border, was not unexpected, but it was significantly pointed out by officials here that the American troops returned the fire merely in defense of the international line and did not become the aggressors.

Congress still talked about Mexico. Senator Lodge read a long telegram from many prominent persons, urging an inquiry into the Mexican situation before war was declared. Representative Fitzgerald, chairman of the house committee on appropriations, asked the president to keep all factors in Mexico from obtaining munitions, arms and ammunition. The war department continued its plan for mobilizing regulars and veterans about the president call for them. Army transports, bearing infantry and artillery, sailed from Galveston to reinforce the war forces at Vera Cruz. The sporadic outbreak at Nuevo Laredo, Mexico, where the evacuating federals burned the town and fired on the American border, was not unexpected, but it was significantly pointed out by officials here that the American troops returned the fire merely in defense of the international line and did not become the aggressors.

WILSON WILL SIGN ARMY BILL TODAY.

Mr. Wilson will affix his signature probably tomorrow to the new army bill providing for raising a volunteer army force in any time of emergency. The possibility that the president might at this time be called to an appeal to the supreme court of the United States for decision of a pending case, however, has been pointed out by officials here that the American troops returned the fire merely in defense of the international line and did not become the aggressors.

While a spirit of optimism and hopefulness was apparent at the white house, the three big executive departments continued busy with their new burden of activity. Mr. Bryan talked to the president about the Spanish ambassador's demand for an inquiry into the Mexican situation, but he was not inclined to be inquisitorial. The Spanish ambassador, however, inquired about the status of commercial vessels and their cargoes and told Mr. Bryan that he was not inclined to whether a blockade had been DECLARED OR A STATE OF WAR EXISTED.

The American government holds that the seizure of the customs house is in accord with international precedent as an act of reprisal. No blockade has been declared and no interference with commerce will be attempted. The German vessel that carried the shipment of arms, which it was feared might reach Huerta, was landed at the vessel for reasons of its own, but not the ammunition ashore. The United States forces at Vera Cruz have made no effort to prevent its landing, the consignee if deposited in the Vera Cruz customs house. American naval officers will not interfere with the vessel, but it is virtually certain a movement will be begun on their arrival to take possession of twenty-seven miles of the railroad system between Vera Cruz and Mexico City. In all, about 4,000 troops will be sent to the city, and upwards of hundreds of rifles and bluejackets.

TO TAKE POSSESSION OF RAILROAD TRACK.

At the war department Secretary Garrison spent most of his time today in the office of the fifth infantry brigade from Galveston, commanded by Brigadier General Funston. The order for the movement was received by the chief of the quartermaster's department at the Vera Cruz property and troops loaded throughout the night, steam gotten up and the supplies within a period of eighteen hours. No cavalry went today, but a regiment of the sixth infantry departed on the next transports. No accommodation for the cavalry was possible at the ships which departed today. The artillery taken was equipped with rapid fire guns and field pieces of the mountain type and pack mules. The disposition of the forces on arrival at Vera Cruz has not been determined, but it is virtually certain a movement will be begun on their arrival to take possession of twenty-seven miles of the railroad system between Vera Cruz and Mexico City. In all, about 4,000 troops will be sent to the city, and upwards of hundreds of rifles and bluejackets.

The navy department again was a center of activity today. Dispatches from the fleet being looked for expectantly there throughout the day. Secretary of the navy gave most of his time to arranging for the departure of the Hawaiian-American steamship anchored there, while the British cruiser Borwick was ready to take on more. The sunboat Nashville has gone to receive the crew of the ship. An official character of the interruption of the Tehuantepec railroad had been received, but American ships are at Salina Cruz, one of its terminals, ready to take on refugees.

The Esperanza, a Ward liner, which has been ordered to take on American refugees, will stop at Tampico for more and then proceed to Galveston to receive the refugees. Mr. Daniels reiterated that no foreign vessels would be detained by the United States, but he said, "it would be an act of war."

During 1912 there were 2,947 free schools in session in Chile, with an enrollment of 387,116 and a daily attendance of 163,744.

As a general thing the kind of man who would vote for a yellow dog nominee would raise Cain if a suffragette took her pooodle to the polls.
