

GORE IS ACQUITTED OF ASSAULT CHARGE BROUGHT BY WOMAN

Ten Minutes After the Case Was Submitted the Jury Returned Verdict in Favor of the Blind Senator.

EVIDENCE FOR WOMAN ENTIRELY INSUFFICIENT

So the Verdict Declares. Jury Says It Was Not Necessary for Senator Gore to Submit Evidence.

Oklahoma City, Okla., February 18.—United States Senator Thomas P. Gore was today exonerated of charges of improper conduct by a verdict in his favor returned in district court here in the suit for $50,000 damages instituted by Mrs. Minnie E. Bond, of Oklahoma City.

The verdict was returned at 5:40 p. m.—ten minutes after the case was taken to the jury. Only one ballot was taken.

We find, the jury stated in the verdict, "the evidence submitted by the plaintiff entirely insufficient upon which to base a suit, that said evidence wholly exonerates the defendant and had the defendant, at the conclusion of the plaintiff's evidence, announced that he desired to introduce no evidence and rested his case, our verdict would have been the same in that event as now returned by us in favor of the defendant."

Crowd Cheered Verdict.

Despite the efforts of bailiffs to maintain order when the last words of the verdict, "favor of the defendant," were read the crowd which taxed the capacity of the court room turned into a cheering throng, orderly but no less determined to give vent to their feelings.

Those displeased by the verdict forced their way to the doors and left in silence amid the bantering of the senator's friends.

Sensor Gore heard the jury's decision without change of countenance. Mrs. Gore was the first to grasp his hand. When she turned and shook hands with Henry Carpenter, the former teamster, who was the check of both herself and the aged farmer.

"The verdict confirms my faith that truth will triumph," said Senator Gore. "I never for a moment doubted the outcome at the hands of the jury."

From the time the jury returned to the room to prepare their verdict until the demonstration was under way, Mrs. Bond sat in silence, leaning on a table and scribbling on a piece of paper. She seemed in no haste to leave the room until she was approached by her attorneys, when she arose and walked away with them and her husband.

E. J. Giddings, chief of counsel for Mrs. Bond, stated tonight that an appeal to the supreme court would be taken on the grounds that applause and demonstrations in the courtroom during the trial had influenced the jury.

Senator Gore stated that he would remain in Oklahoma City until Saturday when he will go to Hot Springs for a short vacation before returning to Washington.

The termination of the trial, which has attracted more attention and has been more vigorously contested than any trial in Oklahoma history, came at the end of a day devoted to argument by opposing counsel, in which words were not spared in denouncing witnesses and opposing parties in the suit.

What the Woman Charged. Trial of the suit, began last Wednesday. In her declaration, Mrs. Bond alleged that the senator attacked her while she was in conference with him at a hotel in Washington last March. In connection with the possible appointment of her husband Julian Bond, as internal revenue collector at Oklahoma City, Gore seized her, she alleged, throwing her into a room and freed herself only after several men appeared in the doorway of the room. In the scuffle, Mrs. Bond asserted, her face was scratched and her hair torn out. She also alleged that she was struck on the head and her eyes were injured.

Evidence of an organized gang of professional pickpockets has come to the police headquarters frequently of late. The past few months has reaped rich harvest for "dips" and hardly a day has passed without one or more complaints coming to the police of losses by robbery. A large number of arrests have been made within the last several months. Numerous accused crooks have been sentenced to prison terms.

The jury, composed of nine farmers, a grocer, a banker and a broker, was sequestered on the first day of the trial. Mrs. Bond was called as the first witness after opening statements were made Thursday. Repeating her allegations, she denied any knowledge of the plot alleged by the senator, who is a candidate for re-nomination at the Oklahoma primaries next August.

Part of Both Parties Barred. Efforts to have Fed depositions dealing with alleged incidents in connection with the past of both parties to the suit were prevented by a ruling of Judge Clark, who held such evidence too vital to the suit.

T. E. Robertson, Kirby Fitzpatrick and Dr. J. H. Egan, attorneys for Mrs. Bond in Washington at the time of the hotel episode as applicants for federal positions appeared as the principal witnesses for Mrs. Bond. All were unsuccessful in their endeavors. Robertson and Fitzpatrick claimed to have been eye-witnesses to the alleged assault, while Egan asserted that he had been imported by Gore to have watched Bond leave Washington and "hush the matter up."

Testifying in his own defense, Senator Gore characterized the allegations as "baseless lies" and asserted that the whole affair was the result of the plotting of his political enemies, intended to embarrass him in his campaign for re-nomination. He declared that Mrs. Bond seized him and at an opportune moment Robertson and Fitzpatrick appeared in the room. Other witnesses for the defense quoted witnesses for the plaintiff as admitting that a "frame up" against Senator Gore had been arranged and quoted several

REAL ESTATE MAN ROBBED OF $1,000

Believed Pickpocket Watched E. G. Black as He Drew Money From Central Bank Wednesday Afternoon.

An adept pickpocket who invaded fashionable Peachtree street in the downtown neighborhood plucked $1,000 from the pocket of Edward G. Black, a prominent real estate dealer, Wednesday afternoon as Mr. Black walked from the Central Bank and Trust corporation.

The dip is believed by detectives to have kept a vigil at the cashier's window of the banking house, where he watched his victim draw the roll of $1,000 only a few moments before it was stolen. Mr. Black reported the case to police headquarters at once. No clue has been found as yet.

The stolen roll was in two packages containing $500 each. Upon drawing them from the Central Bank and Trust offices, he slipped them into an inner coat pocket, emerging to the street. No one has thus far been found who recalled seeing him followed. The offices were crowded with customers at the time.

Leaving the bank, he went into the cigar store of the building, then started for the American National bank, at Broad and Alabama streets, traversing Peachtree on the route. Entering the building of the latter bank, he felt into the pocket for the $1,000. The roll was $1,000.

Evidence of an organized gang of professional pickpockets has come to the police headquarters frequently of late. The past few months has reaped rich harvest for "dips" and hardly a day has passed without one or more complaints coming to the police of losses by robbery. HOT WATER STORY WINS UGLY WORD FOR THE KANSANS

Grand, Kan., February 18.—No solution of the mystery that developed a month ago, when water in the city's wells, 1,200 feet deep, rose to 120 degrees was offered in a report by A. Haskins, state engineer, made today to city officials. Mr. Haskins said he could find no cause for the heat, but pronounced the water pure. The water's temperature now is 90 degrees.

Grand, Kan., February 18.—According to the police, Mrs. Elmer Anschott, 17, today confessed she had taken part in many burglaries for which her husband, who is 19 years old, was arrested. Dressed as a boy, her hair cut short she stood guard outside the houses he robbed with a revolver hidden under her coat, they say.

Quantities of silverware and other valuables, alleged to have been stolen by the couple, were recovered by the police. Mrs. Anschott will be given a hearing tomorrow.

FOUND PROSPERITY ALL OVER COUNTRY

Federal Reserve Bank Organizers Jubilant About Business Conditions Disclosed on Trip.

Washington, February 18.—The federal reserve bank organization committee, back in Washington after a five weeks' trip through the country, in a statement tonight announced that its selection of Federal reserve cities and definition of reserve districts would not be made until it had carefully considered information accumulated on the trip. The statement said the committee found the country prosperous and learned that bankers and business men are confident of the success of the banking system.

In a supplemental statement Secretary McAdoo declared he hoped the new system would be established in time to take care of crop-moving contingencies next year, but that if it were not the treasury department would stand ready to place its funds again at the disposal of business men.

Statement by Committee. The committee's statement in part: "We have spent practically from the 4th of January to the present time in hearing the views of business men and bankers on the problem of dividing the country into not less than eight nor more than twelve districts and of locating in each district the main office of a federal reserve bank. Of the two questions, the division of the country into districts is the more important. The committee asked those who appeared before it to direct their attention to these two problems. A great many able and impartial business men and bankers have submitted their best information and opinions and away in a spirit of great fairness. The committee has held hearings in eighteen cities and has heard from every community of consequence in the sections of the country it has visited.

In every section of the country the committee has found a practically unanimous conviction that the currency bill will bring about most beneficial changes in business. The committee was presented with overwhelming evidence of the enormous economic strength of the country and of the rapid progress of every section.

MUTUAL DIVORCE GIVEN TO MACKAY AND WIFE

Decree Was Granted by the Courts of France Last Wednesday.

New York, February 18.—A mutual divorce to Clarence H. Mackay, president of the Postal Telegraph-Cable and numerous other corporations, and Katherine Duer Mackay, his wife, was granted by the courts of France on Wednesday last. It was announced here tonight by Frederick R. Couderc, counsel for Mr. Mackay.

The decree was the result of a suit brought by Mrs. Mackay on the ground of desertion. Mr. Mackay interposed a counter claim on the same grounds. Mr. Couderc's statement reads: "On February 11 the French courts granted a mutual divorce to Mr. and Mrs. Mackay in an action brought by Mrs. Mackay on the ground of desertion. Mr. Mackay having interposed a counter claim on the same grounds. No other charge was involved. The decree grants the full custody and control of the three children to Mr. Mackay, with the right to visit them according to Mrs. Mackay."

Mutual Divorce Common. Subsequently John B. Stanchfield, of counsel for Mrs. Mackay, gave out a statement in which he explained that a "mutual" divorce is common under the law in France. Under it a decree is granted to both parties where the issues are joined by the defendant filing a suit and urging the same grounds as were alleged by the plaintiff.

No monetary matters were mentioned in the papers in the case, according to Messrs. Couderc and Stanchfield. These, it is understood, were arranged a year ago, when Mrs. Mackay signed away her title to the $6,000,000 home her father-in-law, John W. Mackay, the bonanza king of Comstock lode fame, gave her when she was married. This was at the time Mrs. Joseph A. Blake, wife of the noted surgeon, began suit against Mrs. Mackay for $1,000,000, alleging alienation of the affections of her husband. This case did not become public property until June last. Subsequently it was withdrawn about the time Mrs. Blake was

ALASKAN RAILWAY BACKED BY HOUSE

Bond Provision in Senate Measure Stricken—$35,000,000 Allowed for Road From Current Revenues.

Washington, February 18.—The administration Alaskan railroad bill authorizing the president to construct a $25,000,000 railroad from Alaska's coast to its great coal fields, was passed by the house late today by a vote of 230 to 87.

A similar measure already has passed the senate and the bills will be taken up at once in conference between the two houses, with a view to sending it quickly to the president, who has signified his intention of signing it.

Bond Provision Stricken. At the eleventh hour, after a sharp parliamentary skirmish, the house eliminated from the bill as reported by the territories committee a provision authorizing a bond issue of $35,000,000 to finance the railroad and to be paid off by the proceeds of government land sales in Alaska. The senate bill provided for a $40,000,000 bond issue.

Representative Fitzgerald, of New York, led a fight which resulted in striking out the entire bond provision from the bill. Under the amended measure the project would be financed out of current funds in the treasury, the president being limited to $25,000,000 and $10,000,000 being appropriated for immediate expense. Congress would appropriate each year the amount estimated as necessary for the construction of the road.

Provisions of the Bill. The bill provides for the construction of a road "not to exceed 1,000 miles, to be so located as to connect one or more of the open Pacific coast harbors on the southern coast of Alaska, with the navigable waters in the interior of Alaska and with a coal field or fields yielding coal sufficient in quality and quantity for naval use, so as to best aid in the development of the agricultural and mineral or other resources of Alaska."

Effort was made by opponents of the bill led by Representative Davenport, of Oklahoma, to postpone the final vote until Wednesday, but it was defeated.

To Open Great Resources. The Alaskan railway project is of more interest than even the expenditure of $25,000,000 proposed ordinarily would create. Coming as soon after the completion of the Panama canal it attracting attention as another great engineering project under the direction of the American government. Moreover, the new project is to be the first test in this country of government ownership of a public utility. It is expected to open great resources that until now have been for the most part lying idle, and will afford employment to a large army of men, both in its construction and in its maintenance. It also will develop Alaska agriculturally, as well as in other ways, by attracting homesteaders, friends of the measure claim, and it will cheapen greatly various commodities of commerce, notably coal. The bill, which places great power in the hands of the president, directs him to locate and acquire, by purchase or construction, or by both means, a line or lines of railroads from the interior of the interior of Alaska to ad to navigation on the

COUNSEL FOR FRANK TO ASK A REHEARING BY SUPREME COURT

First Step in New Battle to Save Life of Prisoner Convicted of Phagan Murder, Will Be Taken Today.

BURNS TO INVESTIGATE MARY PHAGAN MURDER

"Its Mysterious Features Appeal to Me, and I Want to Learn the Truth," He Says.

Leo Frank knows nothing of the decision of Detective William J. Burns to investigate the Phagan murder. That is he knows nothing except what he has learned from the newspapers. They he told friends who visited him late Wednesday afternoon.

I hope Burns will investigate it, he is quoted as saying, "and find the truth I am awaiting." It is generally conceded that Burns will not be associated with the prisoner's defense. His investigation it is said will be conducted independently. Police officials and Chief Lanford of the detective department, united Wednesday in expressing satisfaction at the coming of the famous detective.

The announcement that counsel for Leo M. Frank will this morning ask the supreme court for a rehearing, the statement of William J. Burns, detective, that inside of ten days he will return to Atlanta to make a personal investigation of the Phagan murder, and a letter to the press given out by the prisoner in the Tower, were the chief developments of yesterday in the Frank case.

The first gun in the new fight to save Leo Frank from the doom of death to which has been consigned by two Georgia courts—the superior and supreme—will be fired this morning early when the defense will make a motion before the supreme court for a rehearing.

All Wednesday afternoon Attorneys Luther Rosser and Ruben Arnold, counsel for the defense, assisted by Leonard H. Mass, were closeted in the office of Mr. Arnold reviewing the two sets of opinions handed down by the supreme court in its decision Tuesday.

It is rumored that they have prepared in the neighborhood of fifty grounds for their new motion. Neither would state the most important of these grounds Mr. Rosser declared, however, that the dissenting opinion of Justices Fish and Beck were not their strongest argument.

Make Motion This Morning. The motion will be made this morning. It is the object of the defense to lose no time in their final battle. Just what action Solicitor Dorsey will take is not as yet known. Attorney General Thomas Phelan, however, will combat the effort to gain a second hearing. He is taken automatically into the Frank case as prosecutor when it comes into the realm of supreme court.

Mr. Rosser and Arnold were silent on the subject of the report that William J. Burns, the famous detective, had been called into the case. The only words of the senior counsel were "I know nothing about Burns and his plans."

"We are going to plead for a rehearing," he stated. "Beyond that I will say nothing." "On what grounds?" he was asked. "I will not say at present. The motion is now being transcribed stenographically."

"How many grounds will there be?" was another question. "I will not say that, either." "Will there be a hundred or more?" "No, not that many." "Fifty?" "I will not say."

It was therefore presumed that there would be in the neighborhood of fifty grounds for their new motion.

Newark, N. J., February 18.—The instant Hugh M. Strang fired a bullet into the body of his wife on April 20, 1911, on the streets in Paterson, technical desertion forced by the act began and therefore Mrs. Christine Strang is entitled to a divorce under the laws of New Jersey. So ruled Vice Chancellor Howell here today, in deciding the suit for divorce brought by the wife. Strang claimed that the desertion was not willful, because convicted of the shooting, he had been forced to live in state's prison and could not offer her a home.

Physician Gives Recipe For Gray Hair

A Well-Known Physician and Author Gives Simple Home Recipe That Will Darken Gray Hair.

Dr. Stanton Burroughs, the well-known physician and author, recently made the following statement: "Gray hair can be easily darkened by the following simple recipe which you can mix at home. To 7 oz. of water add a small box of Barbo Compound, 1 oz. bay rum and 1-4 oz. glycerine. Apply it to the hair every other day until the desired shade is obtained. It not only is an excellent hair darkener, but at the same time removes dandruff and other ills of the scalp. I use it myself and have no hesitancy in recommending it to my patients. These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost."—(adv.)

CANAL TOLLS FIGHT BEGINS IN SENATE

Bristow Bitterly Attacks President Wilson for Opposing Free Tolls—Alleges Greed of Railroads.

Washington, February 18.—Accusing President Wilson of inconsistency in his views on the binding effect of the democratic platform and charging that "greed of the railroads and the audacious claims of Great Britain seem far more potent with our president than the appeal of the whole-ness of the nation," Senator Bristow, republican, of Kansas, turned discussion of woman suffrage in the senate today into a vigorous debate on the proposed repeal of the free tolls provision of the Panama canal act. Senator Bristow's attack brought to the defense of the president several republican as well as democratic senators, while it served also as the signal for opening the fight within the democratic party against repeal of the tolls exemption provision.

Senator Chamberlain, of Oregon, democrat, dramatically declared that he would not stultify himself by telling his constituents that he had not kept his platform pledges on the toll question "because the president of the United States does not agree with me." While senators were thus engaged in the first open discussion of the approaching battle in congress over the chief executive's desire for reversal of the Panama policy, the president himself was engaged with leaders of the house of representatives who are opposed to repealing the declaration of the party platform. The situation with Majority Leader Underwood and Representative Kitchens of North Carolina, but no agreement can be learned, did not convert them to his view that the provision granting free tolls to American ships under the Hay-Pauncefote treaty and embracing the administration in its foreign relations.

Senator Bristow based his charge of inconsistency against the president on the ground that he had told the senate he would not agree to their cause because the democratic party had not expressed itself in the matter, while he proposed that congress reverse itself on the tolls question despite the fact that the party had indicated a single sentiment on the Kansas senator mentioned the reference in the Baltimore platform favoring a single tariff on the tolls and asked whether the president would "interpret this plank in harmony with his position as to suffrage, or as to canal tolls."

Railroads and Free Tolls.
When Senator Bristow said that the transcontinental railroads had for years been battling the fight against free tolls for American ships and intimated that they had influenced the president, Senator Lodge, of Massachusetts, republican member of foreign relations committee, took the floor to declare that the president was actuated in his attitude on the toll question solely by his desire to restore the United States to its former prestige among the nations.

The Claims of England.
"It is true that we expended about four hundred millions of our own money in constructing this canal on our own territory," said Senator Bristow, "and that a democratic house of representatives, a republican senate, by an overwhelming majority, have failed to repeal the tolls of the United States, and the democratic national convention all thought we had a perfect right to permit our own ships engaged in our domestic commerce to go through free of tolls if we saw fit to do so. But England claims that this must not be done without her consent though her ships cannot engage in our domestic commerce, and she has not directly or indirectly invested a dollar in the construction of the canal."

Senator Owen of Oklahoma was the first to rise to the president's defense. He asserted that the conscience of no democrat was bound by the platform platform on the tolls question, because it did not represent the sober judgment of the party on that point.

Chamberlain Against Repeal.
Senator Chamberlain of Oregon, who voiced the first formal opposition to the president within the party ranks, said: "It is a matter of history that the railroads of this country, particularly the transcontinental railroads, prevented the construction of the Panama canal for years, and when the question of granting coastwise vessels freedom from tolls was introduced here in the senate those of us who knew the lobbyists of the railway companies could look up in any of the galleries and recognize the faces of Mr. Schwerin and other men who were lobbying for the railway companies here and opposing this part of the Panama canal act. Having failed to defeat the building of the canal, they now made the field of diplomacy."

Where are we going to stop? Are we going to listen to an assistance which may be made hereafter by some foreign power against railway owned ships passing through the canal? This violates the treaty as much as the free tolls provision. Are we going to dismantle our forts and our guns and say that our naval vessels must pay tolls?"

McCumber Defends Wilson.
Senator McCumber, republican, replied briefly to the president's defense, declaring he did not join with Senator Bristow in charging that the president was the tool of the transcontinental railroads.

Senator Shively, acting chairman of the foreign relations committee, ended the discussion with the declaration that there were two sides to the question, which congress would satisfy, and that the president needed no defense.

The president's position said he "is well understood by the country, and the difficulties of the situation are likewise understood by the country."

A Great Practical Truth
How to Practice It

The great truth, "the best is ever the cheapest," is a widely acknowledged one. The large number of people who follow its teachings have profited by the advantages it offers. Those who have not may have their reasons, or mayhap they have not reasoned about it. BUT, when one may have the best at a price regularly belonging to the article of lesser value, all reason is in favor of such a purpose. This is the philosophy of MUSE February sales, when every man may wear the best and may purchase the best, with one-fourth its regular price removed. This applies to—

- Suits, Overcoats, Shirts and Furnishings.
- Neckwear has even greater reductions.
- Shoes are very especially priced.

"BABY BONDS." Tom M. Morgan, of Atlanta, in a communication published elsewhere, asks why the school teachers of the state cannot be paid promptly by the issuance of county bonds in denominations of from $10 to $50, which would readily be purchased by home people.

His argument is emphatically a strong one where it applies to finding the funds for highway construction. It should also be possible to apply the 'baby bond' method to all funds for public expenditure, municipal or county, provided there are no legal obstacles in the way.

The advantage of the plan is that money is kept at home, further the citizen whose funds are tied up in a public bond is going to keep a hawk's eye on public expenditures. There won't be much chance for misappropriations, for recklessness or waste.

AN UGLY INCIDENT. The interchange of letters between President Wilson and W. W. Prescott editor of The Protestant Magazine published in Washington, brings to light a species of religious and political intolerance that broadminded Americans hoped had ceased in this country.

Prescott had been informed, from what he deemed reliable sources, that Private Secretary Tumulty had been withholding from the president official correspondence bearing on subjects of a Roman Catholic nature. He also had been told that the president had shown undue favoritism to that denomination.

charged, but that the president has, so far as in his power lies, kept issues of religious faith out of statecraft. There can be no question that this entire ugly situation has arisen out of vicious and malicious gossip. Anyone who knows the reputations of the president and his secretary would never have believed otherwise.

Efficient Housekeeping. By HENRIETTA D. GRAVEL. Domestic Science Lecturer. MEXICAN AVOCADOES (Alligator Pears.) No one who sees this odd specimen of food for the first time and hears it called an alligator pear can avoid looking like an animal at a question mark.

From October to March avocados are in season in Pueblo Queretaro and other Mexican states. At this time of year great quantities are shipped to northern points principally to hotels and clubs where trained chefs know how to dress it and serve it in an appetizing manner.

Cut the fruit in half, using a silver knife. It will separate at the seed like a halved peach forming two cups. After the pit is removed fill the cavity with whatever condiment or salad dressing you like. The flesh and dressing are scooped from the shell with a fruit spoon.

Mr. J. C. Bosch of Mexico City writes: 'Many persons slice the avocado and add to it Northern cream to make a small slice crushed and added to a cup of bouillon. It does give a pleasing flavor.'

A genuine native Mexican way of using it that we have never heard of until recently is to use it as a vegetable by combining it with something else. As done we are told by dividing the fruit in half removing the seed scooping the pulp out with a spoon and mashing it with salt raw onion a little tomato and plenty of green chili pepper mixed fine.

The Great Trials of History. TRIAL OF ELIZABETH CANNING.

One of the greatest trials for perjury in the English police courts was that of Elizabeth Canning. It was of such a peculiar character that at its conclusion the entire town was divided between Canningsites and anti Canningsites.

The trial was held before the lord mayor Sir Gascoyne at Old Bailey. The major five judges the recorder and two aldermen were for transporting Elizabeth and the other eight aldermen were for six months imprisonment.

The Daily Advertiser of the following advertisement: 'Lost a girl about eighteen dressed in a purple gown with white handkerchief and apron a black quilted petticoat black shoes and a hat with green ribbons.'

Elizabeth had spent New Year's day at the home of an uncle and started for home about nine in the evening. She was accompanied by relatives to Houndsditch about half way. This was the last seen of her until January 23 at 10 o'clock at night when she was walking home tired hungry and poorly clad.

An effort was made at once to locate the house under the escort of Elizabeth and a gypsy woman named Mary Squires and Susannah Wells were arrested. The first for the robbery of the girl and the second for keeping a disorderly house.

The Dances Assemble Bright Company of Guests

The growing popularity of the Wednesday dances at the Piedmont driving club had proof yesterday in the gathering of one hundred and twenty-five people for this weekly diversion.

The occasion was a delightful one. Among those entertaining were Mrs. H. E. Harman, Mrs. Thomas B. Palmer, Mrs. Albert Collier, Mrs. Stewart Witham, Mrs. J. B. Hockaday, Mrs.

Miss Gussie Rogers presided over the punch table, which was especially pretty in its trimmings of red. Miss Alma Adamson rendered several selections on the piano, which were enjoyed by all.

BENSON WILL ADDRESS DRAMA LEAGUE TODAY

The Drama league members will have a rare treat today when Mr. Frank Benson, head of the company from the Shakespeare Memorial theater at Stratford, speaks to it on "Shakespeare and the Song-Words of a Nation." The meeting will be held in Cable hall at 3:30 o'clock and will be followed by an informal reception to Mr. Benson and by tea with the executive committee at the Piedmont.

Mr. Benson is known as the most scholarly of English-speaking actors. An Oxford man, he began his dramatic career by playing a Greek role in a Greek play at that university. He was also Oxford's champion athlete, and a magnificent picture in the British academy commemorates his achievements as a runner.

During the Shakespeare festival at Stratford-on-Avon he lectures often; he bears not only an Oxford degree, but the degree of doctor of laws from another university. On this, his first American tour, he has been invited to lecture to many colleges and universities, among them being Johns Hopkins, Harvard, and the University of Chicago. Mr. Benson is most courteously lecturing gratuitously at the Drama league, consequently there will be no admission charge, but the demand for seats is so great that members are especially requested to present their membership cards for admission.

WOODWARD SIGNS $50,000 VOUCHERS

Mayor Shows That He Does Not Intend to Allow Holding Up of Finance Sheet to Interfere With Business.

Positive evidence of Mayor James G. Woodward's determination to prevent the budget dispute from interfering with public business was given when he signed warrants and vouchers amounting to approximately $50,000 yesterday afternoon in the brief space of thirty minutes.

Attached to each warrant was a check of the comptroller's department, representing money drawn from the treasury to pay salaries of city employees and to meet necessary bills.

"We're doing business as of old," Mayor Woodward said as he laid his pen aside. "I guess I have signed away about $50,000 from the treasury, and I expect to sign as many more as the comptroller sends to me."

Comptroller John H. Goldsmith advised his signature to the checks when they were presented to him. Wednesday's development in Chief Clerk Beacham's office in the shape of a statement prepared by the tax assessors showing that the city has about $30,000 more available for use at this time than was estimated in the January sheet.

In making up the income balance of the city for 1913, the finance committee estimated that the increase over 1912 income from all sources of the city would be about $11,000.

More Than Anticipated. But it is a positive fact that the city realty assessments will run beyond $2,500,000 more than the finance committee anticipated in making up the sheet. The city's tax rate is 1.4 per cent. This means that the city will have $30,000 additional to spend over and above the amount included on the income side of the sheet.

Mayor Woodward still insists that the amount of money to be included on the sheet he put a strain on the city's finances which he believes will seriously menace public business later in the year. The finance committee is burdened with the task of making up another sheet in June to carry all the departments through the year and provide for improvements demanded by the public.

Asked if he would allow any part of the $30,000 increase to be used in the January sheet, Mayor Woodward replied that he would study the matter before he reached a decision. It is not likely, however, that the mayor will allow the finance committee to use more than $15,000, which amounts to half of the increase.

It is possible that the city will yield to the requests of Whitehall property owners and allow at least $12,000 to go into the January sheet for carrying out the regrading of that thoroughfare and $2,400 to restore the positions of Inspectors D'Alvigny and Dozier.

Minority members of council who have vigorously opposed the passage of the finance sheet declare that Chairman Humphrey practically made the promise to some members that the committee would put $8,000 in for Whitehall and $2,400 for the inspectors. Members of the finance committee, however, state that the minority opposition to the sheet was not created because the committee failed to provide for Whitehall street or because the sidewalk inspectors in the construction department were cut off.

The fight is no being made on the finance sheet or the committee, said one member, "but on the $5,000 the subject with the committee. Should the majority of council yield to the minority the first change that will be demanded in the sheet will be striking out the Spring street money."

WILSON AND M'REYNOLDS CONFER ABOUT TRUSTS

Washington, February 18.—President Wilson and Attorney General McReynolds spent two hours last night at the White House examining in detail various bills pending before congress dealing with the trust problem. It was the first opportunity the president has had for long and detailed discussion with the attorney general.

No announcements were made afterwards, the attorney general expressing the opinion that the preliminary work would have to be worked out gradually, but an idea of the principles the administration desires embodied in the proposed legislation was gained from an authoritative quarter.

Some of the proposals in the tentative measures on which hearings are being held will be entirely revamped and others will be dropped, so that the most logical machinery carrying out the proposed reforms is as simple as possible. The attorney general and the president are in agreement that the proposed interstate trade commission can be made a part of the trust problem provided its powers are properly restricted.

The suggestion that the commission be set required to obtain reports from all organizations and concerns under $500,000 in capitalization is being considered favorably and there is a possibility of making a part of the president and attorney general to advise that the new legislation should not deal with the trust problem in relation to partnerships of small concerns which in no way operate in restraint of trade or to produce monopoly.

Strains of Fiddles Inspire Tangoing and Turkey Trotting

It was well-nigh the shank of the evening at the Old Time Fiddlers' convention at the Auditorium-Armory Wednesday night when Fiddler J. F. Hudson swung into the seductive strains of "Hop Light, Ladies," and Colonel William Lawson Peel, musical expert and a judge of the contest, was stirred from a dream of old times in the country. He judged Judge "Dick" Russell on the elbow and leaned forward.

"Swing your corners! Ladies change! All hands 'round!" shouted Colonel Peel. "Forward, and back and down the center!" yelled Judge Russell. And after that, joy reigned free and unconfined. "Who Said Formality?" But there hadn't been any formality even before that. From the time Fiddler John Carson played "Devil in the Wheat Patch" and Red-Necked Jim Lawson snatched the stuffing out of a wire-strung fiddle to the tune of "Joe Clark," the ushers had been tangoing down the aisles, and late-comers were trying to turkey-trot to their seats without stepping on other folks' feet.

No, there was no doubt that Atlanta welcomed the fiddlers. The clock had just struck 7 when Colonel Jasper Newton Smith and his ilk had entered the main door, closely followed by Mayor Jim Woodward and Judge Andy Calhoun. There was a steady stream of arrivals after that. They came in in limousines, trolley cars and "hoofed it."

KAUFFMANN DISCUSSES PROPOSED PLAZA PLANS

City Engineer Outlines Scheme to Make Public Park Over Railroad Tracks. C. E. Kauffmann, the engineer of the plaza, viaducts, proposed new union depot, including lowering of bridges and estimates of the city department of construction, delivered the address last night at the Carnegie library, submitting his plans for the proposed plaza improvements. He outlined the scheme in general to make a public park over the railroad tracks by erection of a concrete plaza about ten days ago.

The approximate cost of construction railroad tracks and streets, is estimated at $1,750,000. Tentative plans for the plaza is divided into drives and parks; the drives along the north and south fronts are 20 feet wide with 10-foot sidewalks along property fronts, the street crossings remaining as at present, the park between the drives are laid out with terraces, gravel walks 10 feet wide and provided with fountains or equivalent at the east and west ends. The design is intended to co-operate with the plans of the civic improvements as submitted to the public. It is intended to be a key to discuss all suggestions, to formulate effective and economic ways as for construction, grades, etc., and to bring the plaza project in proper shape for final execution.

The length of the proposed plaza is about 1,833 feet with a total area of 280,100 square feet exclusive of the union passenger depot. The additional frontage to property as created by the plaza amounts to about 1,129 feet, which is considered a wonderful increase to central property frontage. The length of the proposed plaza is about 1,833 feet with a total area of 280,100 square feet exclusive of the union passenger depot.

In Washington and Atlanta, Last Tributes Are Paid Dead Senator

In one picture the casket of Bacon is shown, where it lay in state in the Georgia capitol rotunda, in the other is a scene in Washington, D. C., when his casket was being borne down the capitol steps.

W. G. O'Neal, Attorney General Thomas S. Palmer and others immediately behind the casket walked Governor Slaton.

The supreme court of Georgia and the statehouse officials followed. The casket was borne in this impressive manner to its resting place in the rotunda of the capitol.

An honorary guard was detailed at once to the casket and the procession outside was dismissed. The guard of honor detailed to the casket was the Georgia National Guard.

The Governor's Staff—Lieutenant Colonel Joe Brown Connally, W. P. Stovall West and Oscar Balmour. From the Fifth Regiment—Captains W. H. Leahy, Candler, Hartland and Slaton.

From the Georgia Military Academy—Cadet Captain C. M. Angel, Lieutenants C. E. Woodward, Lynn Sifford and F. D. Clarke.

Although the committee report that the country may have changed its opinion of the proper location of several banks, it is not doubted here that the names will be placed in New York, Chicago and St. Louis certain reserve cities in the present national bank system.

While the committee is working out the details of the plan for the new system, five persons are to be chosen by President Wilson before the names of the cities are to be sent to the senate for confirmation at the same time.

McMurtry's plan was to prosecute claims for nearly $3,000,000 from Indians of Oklahoma in connection with the transfer of their lands, and Senator Gore fought McMurtry's claims.

Rogers asserted that Senator Gore was the only man who had nerve enough to oppose McMurtry and in retaliation the conspiracy to ruin him had been planned.

Oklahoma has a home for such conspirators, he yelled. It is over at McAlester. The state penitentiary is located at McAlester in the county of that name.

Nashville Tenn. February 18.—In a letter to the clergy of the diocese of Tennessee Bishop Thomas F. Gailor of the Protestant Episcopal church in Georgia in some strong criticisms of the present generation.

Our country swarms with the salaried representatives and agents of great educational foundations, social industrial, educational, religious and these agents must earn their living by advocating reforms in their several departments.

Therefore the whole stress of the reformers and operators of the present day is on the material side and goes to the detriment of the spiritual side.
