

MRS. NINA FORMBY MAKES AFFIDAVIT TO ASSIST FRANK

Understood That Defense Has Paper Signed by Her in Which She Repudiates Affidavit Given Police.

CHARACTER WITNESSES MAY CHANGE TESTIMONY

Reported Defense May Make Attack Upon Detective Rosser, Who Secured Evidence Against Frank.

Another interesting development in the Frank case came to light Sunday when it became known that attorneys for the defense have obtained from Mrs. Nina Formby an affidavit reported to accuse detectives and the police of inveigling her into a "frame-up" against Frank shortly before his trial.

A member of the council for the defense stated that the affidavit was in existence, but that he did not know its exact details. He declared it would be of aid to the defense, and that it would create astonishment upon being made public.

Attorney Luther Rosser, when communicated with by a Constitution reporter last night, declared that he had nothing whatever to say regarding the Formby affidavit or the others. He said that for his part, the defense would make no statement of any kind. He would neither deny nor affirm the affidavit.

C. W. Burke, the private investigator attached to Rosser's office, who obtained the Albert McKnight affidavit which was published in the Sunday morning papers, is said to have secured the admission from the Formby woman. It is rumored that she declared her statement made to Chief Beavers, Solicitor Dorsey and a number of detectives several weeks previous to the trial, was false, and that she was coerced into it by detectives.

It is also reported that the defense has evidence attacking Bass Rosser, a headquarters detective, who has been assigned to the Mary Phagan murder since the body's discovery. Rosser found Monteen Stover the girl who swore she visited the pencil factory at 12 05 o'clock on the day of the murder, and found Frank absent from his office.

He was also instrumental in unearthing considerable evidence produced against the prisoner during trial. For the past several weeks he has been detailed exclusively to the office of Solicitor General Dorsey.

Rumors are said that Rosser will be charged with concocting evidence against Frank, and of being a party to the accused "frame-up" said to be alleged by the Formby woman. A number of affidavits, it is stated, are on hand to substantiate the reported charges against him.

Another rumor is to the effect that investigators for the defense are probing the report that signals were given by the Frank jury at least forty minutes or more before their verdict was rendered in the courtroom, and that the nature of their decision was generally known in the court considerable while before they filed in for their announcement.

The defense will have nothing to say on this. A member of the council has said, however, that they had heard rumors that the jury had signalled its decision.

The Formby woman's affidavits, made for Chief Lanford, Chief Beavers and Solicitor Dorsey quite a while before the trial, set forth that she had received a telephone call from Leo Frank about 9 o'clock on the afternoon of the murder, and that he had frantically pleaded with her to permit him to secretly bring a girl to her house on Piedmont avenue.

Had Been to Her Place. She also stated that although Frank had been to her place repeatedly, she would not allow him to visit again, and that she refused under the pressure of the solicitor general's apartments at Piedmont avenue and Carrier street for an automobile ride.

The affidavit attacked Frank's character. But little faith, however, was pinned in it. She was not even called to testify in the trial, and the court officials say, and she is said to have been the keeper of a disreputable resort.

Her signature was put upon the affidavit in the office of Detective Chief Lanford, and in the presence of Judge Nash R. Broyles, Sidney J. Coogler and others. The woman was visited at her home by detectives and Chief Beavers, Lanford and Solicitor General Reuben Arnold said to the Constitution last night that the defense would take no action at all in the trial of Jim Conley, which is scheduled today, on a charge of accessory after the fact in the Mary Phagan murder. "We have nothing to do with that," he stated. "It was rumored that the defense would make a vigorous effort to block the trial. The negro's arraignment is expected to take place some time this morning before Judge Ben Hill.

22 YEARS A BISHOP NELSON CELEBRATES TUESDAY MORNING

On Saint Matthias day, which is tomorrow, 22 years ago, in the year 1892, Bishop Cleland Kinloch Nelson, of the Atlanta diocese of the Episcopal church, was consecrated as bishop of this district. In celebration of the twenty-second anniversary of his consecration members of the Episcopal churches of the Atlanta diocese will gather at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning at St. Philip's cathedral. Speeches in honor of the occasion and the bishop will be delivered by prominent clergymen of the Episcopal church. Over seventy men of the Atlanta diocese of the Episcopal church attended the corporate communion for the men communicants of the Atlanta district held at St. Philip's cathedral Sunday morning at 7:30.

SHE'S MY DAUGHTER AND I WANTED HER, ASSERTS KIDNAPER

Edward Stuart Declares He Only Took His Own Child Catherine Winters.

PAPA DIDN'T STEAL ME, SAYS THE LITTLE GIRL

"She's My Own Flesh and Blood," Says Alleged Kidnaper—Case Is One of the Strangest on Record.

Huntsville, Ark., February 22—Edward Stuart, under arrest here charged with the abduction of Catherine Winters, 10-year-old daughter of Dr. W. A. Winters, of New Castle, Ind., today admitted that the child found in his custody is "Catherine Winters." "But I did not steal her," Stuart protests. "Her name is Catherine Winters it is true, but she is my daughter and I wanted her."

"Papa did not steal me and my name ain't Catherine, it's Lucy," the child insists. "The man who took me rode in an automobile. We rode and rode until we met a red wagon and then we got into that."

Here the girl cut short her narrative. Late today Sheriff M. Shuster started with the child on a 25-mile overland trip through the mountains for the railroad station at Springdale, where they expected to meet Dr. Winters, who started south when advised of the detention of Stuart and the child here yesterday.

From Anger to Pleading. Stuart paced his cell today and while his mood frequently changed from one of anger to pleading he held to the assertion that the girl was his child. "She is my own flesh and blood," he told the sheriff. "I am not guilty of a crime and you have no right to take her from me."

Stuart who says he is 55 years old, but looks older, declares that before her marriage to the Indiana physician the child's mother was his wife, that they separated, a divorce was secured and when she died several years after she was married to Dr. Winters, the child was placed in an orphanage. From this institution, Stuart declares, he secured the child. How he accomplished this he will not tell beyond insisting that he did not abduct her nor will he say in what city the orphanage is located.

Pictures Led to Arrest. Declarations of relatives of Mrs. Winters that so far as they know she was not married before she became Mrs. Winters repeated to Stuart brought no change in his story.

Pictures printed in a Fort Smith, Ark., newspaper, which reached this mountain hamlet several days old, led to the detention of the man and girl, traveling in a wagon with the child dressed as a boy and her hair "bobbed."

Stuart declares that they were en route back to Indiana, but for what purpose he will not state. They stopped at Huntsville, he says, "because it is an out of the way place."

The fact that it is an "out of the way" place was in a measure responsible for the arrest. Newscomers in the mountains are always a subject for comment and coincidentally pictures of the missing girl appeared in the papers which country folk spent Friday evening reading.

The Town Was Agog. Early Saturday the town was agog and before long a posse was organized, armed in anticipation of an encounter and headed for the camping place of the wagon.

John Barnes and Frank Morton took short cuts and had Stuart under arrest when the main body of the posse arrived. He offered no resistance and was taken to the town jail, where he made vigorous protest that it was all a mistake until, according to the sheriff, the child remarked that her name "used to be Catherine, but it's Lucy now."

Before starting for Springdale, Sheriff Shuster stated that while Stuart held to the main assertion that the girl was his child and that her mother was his wife, he had contradicted himself in several places.

BLUEJACKETS OF GERMANY ARE SENT TO MEXICO CITY

Vera Cruz, Mexico, February 22—The commander of the German cruiser Dresden last night shipped to the German legation in Mexico City two machine guns and 40,000 rounds of ammunition. Accompanying the shipment went a squad of sailors from the Dresden in civilian dress.

The detail of bluejackets on duty at the American consulate here was withdrawn today and replaced by a marine guard. This step was taken after General Gustavo Mader, commander of the federal forces here, had given his consent.

Liquor is the cause of more lawlessness than any other agency of the devil in the entire land, and if the business men of the city would stand up in a manly manner and determine to stamp out the evil, it could be done in a short time.

But business men of today are weak-kneed and lack backbone when the prohibition question is approached. They are afraid to hold the liquor license, if run out of the country will affect their interests.

"They are wrong in this. I cite the city of Atlanta. I have in years past visited Atlanta on several occasions and never have I seen such prosperity as is shown now in this city, which is operating under the prohibition law.

About seven years ago I was here and visited several sections of the city, which were absolutely filthy. On visiting these same sections on this visit I must say that the aspect is entirely different since the effective war on liquor traffic has been going on. Instead of a rathole to every corner I now see fairly prosperous looking business houses.

In regard to the social clubs, I wish to say that I myself would like to be a member of a social club, if I could afford it, but any citizen who is a member of a social club selling liquor is showing a lack of backbone. He is doing more to spread the evil results of liquor by his example than any dirty bartender that ever covered a greasy counter, sending the souls of men to hell.

It is the duty of these business men who belong to social clubs selling liquor to withdraw, if they wish to be a help to the law enforcement committee of Atlanta in fighting down the great evil.

Dr. Baker made a stirring appeal to the Anti-Saloon league to use their influence toward the sending of a senator to Washington who would lift the shoes of the great Bacon, and fight for the interest of the people of Georgia, and not that of the whisky trust.

HANDSOME PAINTING WILL BE A FEATURE OF PLAY AT GRAND

One of the most interesting details of the stage settings of the Nat Goodwin club, "The Genius" which the Playwrights' club will produce next Tuesday night at the Grand Opera House, will be a brand-new painting by Adolph Neubauer vice president of the W. E. Browne Decorating company and one of the best known artists of Atlanta. The picture is entitled "Summer" and is said by art critics of Atlanta to be one of the most worthy pieces of art ever exhibited in this city. It will be exhibited in the studio of one of the play. The artist alone for this picture will cost $200.

The seats for "The Genius" are selling very rapidly, and the prospects are for a sold-out house on Tuesday night. Tickets are on sale at the box office of the Grand Opera House, and are worth 50 cents 75 cents and $1.

LAW ENFORCEMENT IN ATLANTA URGED

Business Men Should Demonstrate More Backbone in This Matter, Says Dr. P. A. Baker, of Columbus.

That the business men of the city should demonstrate more backbone in the enforcement of law and order was declared by Dr. P. A. Baker, of Columbus, Ohio at the mass meeting of the Anti-Saloon league Sunday afternoon at Wesley Memorial church.

Dr. Baker is the national president of the Anti-Saloon league. He was brought to Atlanta for the special purpose of delivering the address to the "liquor trust" of this city.

PRETTY BRIDE WON BY MINISTER'S SON AFTER NIGHT'S RIDE

Savannah, Ga., February 22—(Special.)—Morgan D. Ainsworth, son of the Rev. Dr. W. N. Ainsworth, pastor of the Mulberry Street Methodist church in Macon, eloped from Macon to Savannah with Miss Eleanor Porter, daughter of N. Porter, a wholesale grocer of Chattanooga. They were married this afternoon by the Rev. John S. Wilder.

Mr. Ainsworth says he is 21. His bride is three years younger and pretty. They had considerable difficulty in securing a license after their arrival in Savannah. They had sat up all night in a day coach from Macon, and although tired from their journey, they searched all over the city for the ordinary clerk. Finally they learned he was at the Isle of Hope a suburb 8 miles from Savannah and there they proceeded in an automobile. After securing the license they went back to Savannah as fast as the machine would bring them and were married.

"We just decided to get married," said young Ainsworth. "We don't know whether our parents have any objection, but the truth is we don't care. I suspect that my father will let me to root hog or die, but Eleanor expects her father to forgive her. I went to her grandmother's house in Macon, where she is visiting, at 1 o'clock this morning and found her waiting, a suit case packed."

FOR CANAL TOLLS DR. WHITE PLEADS

Washington Would Have Urged United States to Keep Her Word to Nations, Says the Pastor.

"George Washington and America's Greatest Sin" gave the pastor of the Second Baptist church, Dr. John E. White, a fit subject for broad, strong gospelizing last night at his well-attended evening service. His text was "Blessed is that nation whose God is the Lord" and "Ye that forget God consider this." Dr. White said, in part:

"It is a great time on the birthday of George Washington when our people are recalling the vast human service rendered by the man who has been one to the world, to reflect upon the superhuman forces that sustained him and the cause of the republic of which he is called 'The Father.'"

"In a good time, also, to consider and compare the vast human service rendered by the man who has been one to the world, to reflect upon the superhuman forces that sustained him and the cause of the republic of which he is called 'The Father.'"

"One hundred letters were recently written to a vast number of representative characters asking for opinions on the question, 'What is America's Greatest Sin?' The replies were various, distributed between a half dozen notorious public evils.

"But one man sounded the note of vital and profound judgment. He said 'America's greatest sin is ingratitude to God and the increasing lapse of American memory from the earlier consciousness expressed by Webster when he said 'America has been one small part in the achievement of this republic at its outset. The Massachusetts and Virginia colonists were not looking for gold but for God. This is the distinction of the American contribution to mankind. That this type of men—the religious type—projected the civilization of the United States, is of incalculable weight and value in its consequences to humanity. Every human interest in the world has been raised higher because the religious motive and the religious man was the original American quality. And have you ever grasped the fact that it was

ANSWER OF SPEER TO PROBE CHARGES GIVEN TO PUBLIC

EACH SEPARATE CHARGE IS DENIED IN-DETAIL

Document, Which Makes 323 Book Pages, Filed With Chairman Webb on Saturday.

Macon, Ga., February 22—Positive denial that he has ever been guilty of official misconduct during the twenty-nine years he has held office, is made by Federal Judge Emory Speer, of the southern district of Georgia, in a brief submitted to the congressional committee which recently investigated charges against the jurist. This inquiry was directed by the house committee on judiciary after formal charges against Judge Speer were submitted to that body. Sessions extending over two weeks were held by the investigating committee at Macon and Savannah, at the close of which Judge Speer was given permission to submit a reply to the accusations lodged against him. In the brief Judge Speer reiterated declarations made as a witness before the committee and answered in detail many of the charges made against him by other witnesses.

While the original document was delivered to Representative Webb, of North Carolina, chairman of the committee, yesterday, the contents of the brief today was made public for the first time. It contains more than three hundred printed pages.

Every charge is taken up separately and in the best apparent temper. The keen wit, and at times merciless repartee, which he flung at his accusers while on the stand in Savannah for three hours at the close of the open hearing, has not been indulged in. Instead, he has confined himself to a review of the records of the case, citing

THOUSANDS WATCH BATTLE WITH FIRE ON PEACHTREE ST. SUNDAY AFTERNOON

McKenzie Building, One of the Landmarks of the City, Guttured by Flames Which Gave Members of Fire Department Stubborn Battle for Hours—Loss Will Be Over $100,000, According to Estimates.

FIVE FIREMEN INJURED AND MANY OVERCOME BY FLAME AND SMOKE

Stoddard's Dry Cleaning Establishment and Johnson-Gewinner Company Are the Heaviest Sufferers—Two Alleged Pickpockets Are Captured by Police—Mayor and Police Chief Confer on Scene.

It was reported Sunday that in all probability as the result of the fire a new skyscraper will soon be erected on the site of the McKenzie building. Provided this plan materializes the new structure will be one of the handsomest in Atlanta.

Fully twenty-five thousand spectators stood in vicinity of the Candler building throughout Sunday afternoon while nearly every fireman in Atlanta battled furiously with one of the most dangerous downtown fires in years which almost completely wrecked the McKenzie building at James and Peachtree streets, a city landmark. "Damage is estimated" at between $100,000 and $150,000. The greatest sufferers are the Johnson-Gewinner company, on the Forsyth street side of building, in which the flames originated and the Stoddard Dry Cleaning company, at Peachtree and James. The flames raged fiercest in the Johnson-Gewinner quarters, where they spread rapidly over oil and inflammable automobile supplies.

Five Men Injured. Five firemen were injured. A number were suffocated by smoke and fumes. One ladderman E. A. Davis, of engine house No. 1 fell from the top of a thirty-foot ladder in front of the Johnson-Gewinner firm when it slipped and crashed to the sidewalk. He was carried in a semi-conscious condition to the Ansley hotel, where he received medical attention.

The other injured firemen were hurt by flying glass and falling timbers. None of them were wounded seriously. They were Mosemen Bill Gilbert, of head and tail store rooms of the Piedmont hotel were damaged for a while it looked as though the hotel would be unable to serve dinner at 6 o'clock. Water flowed into the stock room until it reached a depth of eight feet. Officials of the Piedmont placed their loss at $5,000 all of which is insured. A fire engine from station No. 10 was detailed with its crew to pump out the water from the Piedmont basement which was done by 5 o'clock.

Sufferers From Flames. The firms that suffered from the flames were the Johnson-Gewinner company, the Stoddard company, the Stephen A. Ryan real estate office, the Pickard-Deans Dry company, the John chairman of the Georgia Realty & Trust Co., the Woodmen of the World lodge the John D. Babbage real estate office and the W. R. Jeter contracting concern.

The Stoddard firm's loss as stated by W. J. Stoddard, the manager and proprietor, was $30,000 with practically no insurance. Mr. Stoddard at risk of his own life rushed into the burning building rescuing books and records. A policeman who stayed to give him arrested him, giving him a copy charges to appear in police court Tuesday for disorderly conduct.

Two alleged pickpockets were arrested in the huge crowds which swelled

BUSY WEEK NOW AHEAD AT COUNTY COURTHOUSE

Fulton County Grand Jury Will Return Its Presentments.

This will mark an eventful week in county court and commission circles. Before the week is out, Fulton county's changing camps will probably have been overhauled a new system of handling prisoners installed and a convict warden named.

Auditor James L. Anderson who heard the testimony in the Crawford bill case involving an estate of over $250,000 and detained by Colonel Burton Smith the well known attorney will have rendered his decision in the famous litigation.

Jim Conley witness in the Frank trial will have been tried by a jury in the criminal division of the superior court.

The Fulton county grand jury will have returned its final presentment to the grand jury after one of the most sensational sessions on record.

The city court will resume hearings as well as the criminal divisions of the superior court.

The municipal court will face the heaviest dockets since it began operations when it opens for business this morning.

Together the recent dullness in court circles will fade away by noon today and be replaced by more or less feverish activity.

STATES OF VENEZUELA TO NAME PRESIDENT

Caracas February 22.—Plenipotentiaries elected by the state legislatures will meet at Caracas April 19 to elect a president of the republic. Recently popular elections were held for members of the state legislatures who in turn elected provisional state presidents.

Last January the presidents of the states notified the central government that because of the state of war it was impossible to hold elections for congressmen and state officials whose terms expired in February. The presidents then were advised by the central government that they themselves must find a remedy for the situation.

COST OF FOREST FIRES TO THE UNITED STATES

Washington February 22.—Henry S. Graves, forest protector, states that the cost of forest fires in the year 1913 caused by forest fires in California alone remained over $100,000,000, the year nearly twice as many as in 1912 the damage done and the cost of fire fighting were kept to a minimum.

The aggregate loss in timber the statement said is estimated at nearly $9,000,000 board feet valued at about $2,000,000 and the damage to young growth and forage is estimated at $110,000 making a total of about $19,000,000 about 18 per cent of this loss was incurred on private lands.

West Point Home Burns

West Point Ga. February 22.—(Special.)—The beautiful two-story dwelling of Dr. J. M. Peor on the east side of the Chattahoochee river was totally destroyed by fire about noon yesterday.

The fire department responded promptly after notice of the fire was given, but the roof falling in when it reached the building. Only part of the household effects were saved.

Berne Switzerland February 22.—As an express train was emerging from the Gotthard tunnel it was struck by a terrific squall known as a foehn a violent southeast wind peculiar to the Alps. Two cars of the train were overturned and one passenger killed. Similar squalls are reported from many points in the Alps.

MRS. McLENDON SPEAKS ON SUFFRAGE IN MACON

Audience of Five Hundred Hears Arguments Favoring Votes for Women.

Macon Ga. February 22.—(Special.)—Macon's first Sunday political meeting was held at the city auditorium here today in the interest of woman suffrage. Fully 500 people about evenly divided between men and women were present to listen to talks by Henry Edwards author of the book, Mrs. Mary McLendon of Atlanta president of the Georgia Woman Suffrage association and Leonard T. Grossman president and state organizer for the Men's Equal Suffrage League of Georgia.

Mr. Grossman gave an address to the lunatics paupers anarchists and others" said Mrs. McLendon. How glad I would be if I could address you and find you all sane instead of mad and gentlemen.

Among the bills which the suffragettes hope to get through the legislature when it convenes in the fall in Georgia (led by Mrs. McLendon) is one to raise the age of consent which is now 12 years in this state. According to Mrs. McLendon three fourths of the tax money in Atlanta is paid by women. And she said that the face of this condition the negro with his small holdings is given a financial prestige over women it is not generally known but it is a fact that 14,000 negroes voted in the last gubernatorial election in this state.

Mr. Grossman gave an address to the men who favor votes for women and these will be presented to the next legislature to show the demand for equal suffrage in this state. He says Mr. Grossman admitted that he did not expect to see the bill passed by the coming legislature.

GOVERNOR TO NAME SENATOR THIS WEEK

Believed That He Will Reach a Decision in This Matter Wednesday Afternoon or Early Thursday.

It will be at least Wednesday before Governor Slaton announces his appointment of an ad interim senator to fill the vacancy caused by the death of the late Senator A. O. Bacon. Governor Slaton spent the day yesterday at his country home and concluded from the petitions which he has received that he will be authorized to name the nominee to the senatorial position in his mind.

Reports from the state capital on Saturday were to the effect that the governor had estimated more than a dozen possible names. Saturday the governor declared that when he finally settles it will be the task of making the selection. He will have to take into consideration that he will be authorized to name the nominee to the senatorial position in his mind.

against the fire lines. They were taken into custody by Special Court Officer E. A. Arthur and Park Commissioner J. O. Cochran. They were found by Mr. Cochran in front of the Candler building where they are said to have been trying to extract a wallet from an interested spectator. A third alleged dipper crossed the fire lines stumbled over hundreds of lines of hose and made his escape in the dense throng.

The prisoners gave the names of H. Holand of Charleston S. C. and J. D. Flynn of 33 1/2 Peachtree street a hotel where he has been stopping since having come to Atlanta recently. Both deny having sought to pick the pockets of anyone, but they were identified by their intended victim, a youth who lives on Peachtree street, and who will appear against them in recorder's court this afternoon.

The greatest damage was done to the Johnson-Gewinner store. This is estimated at $35,000. It is well insured, however, officials of the firm stated.

The flames created a thrill after-thrill throughout the six hours which they raged. The crowds that lined the sidewalks along the street and the fire lines almost to breaking were treated to the frequent spectacle of overcome firemen being dragged from the boiling interior of the first floor on both Forsyth and Peachtree street entrances.

Ladderman Davis Falls. The exciting fall of Ladderman Davis was undoubtedly the biggest thrill of the blaze. Davis was the first to proceed up a 30-foot ladder placed to the third story of the McKenzie building in front of the Johnson-Gewinner entrance. The wall was wet and streaming with water. As he reached the summit the ladder slipped, falling to the sidewalk, and Davis was thrown several feet and picked up in a semi-conscious condition.

This was witnessed by hundreds of men and women and children. Gaps of terror were up from the crowd as Davis sought for the bare second to regain a hold. His hands extended into the air and his fingers clawing for clutch in the brick work, he cried "Catch me, I'm falling."

A dozen rubber-encased comrades their garb glistening in the smoke that was laced with sunlight, darted toward him. He fell a few feet beyond them, however, his body crashing to the tiled walk with a sickening thud. A number of women strove to break through the fire lines to aid him but were restrained by the police.

Beavers and Woodward. Chief Beavers remained on the scene throughout the afternoon. Spectators watched interestedly as he and Mayor Woodward forgot politics and conferred anxiously over the situation while the fire was fiercest. Political differences were brought to mind when Chief Cummings, a bitter foe of the mayor hovered in sight dreading the grueling fight Cummings, however never came near Woodward all the while the mayor stood on the scene.

The McKenzie building was constructed probably forty years ago, and was the original army hall of the old Gate City Guard years ago. It was also used as the training quarters for the Atlanta police department during that period. The building was destroyed by fire on the second floor. The Johnson-Gewinner company the Georgia

President Takes Part in Celebration of Washington's Birthday—Aliens Become American Citizens.

Washington, February 22.—President Wilson was the central figure today at a mass meeting in a downtown theater here under the auspices of the Sons of the Revolution in commemoration of Washington's birthday. Joseph W. Folk, solicitor of the state department, in an address, paid tribute to the founder of the republic as a man "imperfect though to be intensely human and near enough perfect to be an inspiration to all who honor justice and worship liberty."

who received the gold medal of the Sons of the Revolution for the best essay on the subject. "The Greatest Event of the American Revolution"

In accordance with a century-old custom, a salute from an ancient cannon on Suter's hill in Alexandria, Va., across the Potomac, ushered in the observance of the day there, where a notable celebration is planned for tomorrow. President Wilson, Vice President Marshall, cabinet officers and other officials plan to go to the Virginia city to review a parade which will move past Washington's Masonic lodge room and Christ church, from which the father of his country was buried in 1799.

COMING OUT PARTY

GIVEN 3,000 ALIENS

Chicago, February 22.—This city gave a coming-out party to 3,000 aliens who have sworn their native lands and taken the oath of allegiance to the United States during the year. The anniversary of the birth of George Washington was decided to be the most fitting time to celebrate the naturalization of the new citizens and the final oath of allegiance was administered at a public meeting today.

can citizenship among those naturalized, took a leading part in the celebration. A warning against "hypothetical" Americans was sounded by Emil G. Hirsch, rabbi of Sinai congregation, who said injury had been done by naturalized foreigners whose antipathy and prejudices had been fostered by ward politicians into German American clubs, Irish-American societies and the like.

Wants the Children to Make Gardens of City Back Yards

Following closely upon the suggestion made at the meeting of the City Federation of Women's clubs Friday, when Councilman Ashley advised that the club women start a crusade to make back yards as perfect as front yards, comes the word from that very constructive spirit, Miss Celeste Parrish, supervisor of rural schools in Georgia.

THE MOVEMENT

Relative to the work Miss Parrish states: "Back yard gardening is one of the revelations to modern city life. An occupation for children, it has no equal. The exercise furnished by it brings into play every part of the body, and, since it must be done in the fresh air and sunshine, it includes many hygienic factors. It arouses a high order of intellectual interest, and results in a moral way. If the children of Atlanta could be persuaded to undertake it, it would be a city analogue of the co-operative and canning clubs in the country. In the end it would be an economic asset for Atlanta and would do much to solve many of the moral problems which now perplex us. For one thing, it would help to keep the children off the streets, and it would give them a picture of the life of God's great out of doors."

MISS MATTHEWS TO ORGANIZE

"Miss Emma Matthews, 428 Peachtree street is interested in this work, and is anxious to serve the city children by stimulating the movement. She is ready to be eminently fitted for the task, and I hope that she will have the co-operation of every good man and woman in Atlanta. I entreat the various agencies for civic betterment and child welfare to give her their cordial support."

1. "Shall I be glad to have the new Encyclopaedia Britannica in my home?"
2. "Shall I order it now while I can get it for $5 a month?"
3. "Shall I wait knowing that if I do purchase it later, it will cost me $29 more and be sold for cash payment only?"

If You Are the Head of a Family

the sort of family you are the head of, and the welfare of that family, will depend very much on what you know. No book, of course, will take the place of brains or character; but there is one book in the world better fitted than any other investment you could make to supplement your mental equipment for the many-sided task that confronts you as the head of a family. That book is the new Britannica.

What Heads of Families Say:

"No educated home can afford to be without the set"—R. R. GOVIN, 16 Wall Street, New York

"Every professional man, and every family with growing children, seeking information, should have this invaluable work in the library"—JAMES P. GORTER, Judge of the Baltimore Supreme Court.

"The verdict returned by all members of my family upon the new Britannica is that it is the best investment around this house for some time"—C. P. ARBUTHNOT, C. Department of Economics, Western Reserve University.

These are only seven practical questions out of some 500,000 to which the Britannica supplies answers by authorities. Its unique Index volume and 28 volumes of text (44,000,000 words in 40,000 articles, a library of useful knowledge more complete than you could otherwise collect in a lifetime) give facilities for instant fact-finding combined with interesting casual or systematic reading unparalleled in the world of books.

Half-Price Furniture Sale Ends Tuesday

Blue Tag Furniture Sale Ends Saturday

It is now or none of the fine savings these two great sales offer. When the store closes Tuesday all will be over so far as the furniture in the first floor at half-price is concerned; when the store closes Saturday all will be over so far as the general reductions that obtain on all furniture (excepting contract goods) in the other floors.

But much can be done within the next few days by thrifty housekeepers, for this is a fact—

The fleeting opportunity that this week presents to buy Furniture at worth-while savings will hardly reoccur within a six-month, if then.

We are disposing of dropped patterns—pieces and sets makers have discontinued—at half-price. Blue Tag prices mean fine savings on all other furniture. And such furniture!

The kind that lives, that becomes a part of the home into which it goes—the best in woods, lines and workmanship that we could find when buying for this big representative furniture store.

Here is a partial list of things you will find in the first floor, where all is half-price. But after Tuesday no more! Be advised.

TENNESSEE PROHIB ACT EFFECTIVE NEXT WEEK

One of Hooper's Force Bills Expected to Close All Open Saloons.

Nashville, Tenn., February 22.—(Special.)—The "nuisance act," a prohibition law enforcement measure, passed by the last general assembly, in going into effect March 1 next, will close all the open saloons of Tennessee, while two of the most drastic failed, the nuisance act and the interstate and interstate jug bills carried after efforts had been made in the regular session of the general assembly and an extra session called by Governor Hooper, and it was in the second extraordinary session and the third session of the year that enough strength could be mustered to get the bills through.

Great Excitement Caused.
The passing of the bills created excitement and stirred the people even to a higher pitch than did the killing of United States Senator Carmack. The working of the bill through both houses, but especially the house, was attended by more sensations than any period of civil times can boast. Professional gunmen infested the capitol, trained guns on the legislators, and how the affair was finally closed without great loss of life will never cease to be a wonder in this state. State Senator Hubert Fisher, of Memphis, the old Princeton center rush of 1892 and 1893, was marked as the "first for the slaughter" by the administration gunmen, and his life was saved more than once because his would-be assassins could never get him separated from the throng of legislators, both Democrats and Republicans, when the times were running riot.

stationed in the office of the superintendent of the capitol, and while he ran into them accidentally, he was quick to have them ousted from the capitol when the discovery was made. The gunman also feared Senator Fisher on account of his fearlessness and great physical strength.

The epoch in Tennessee history marking the passage of law enforcement measures will ever remain a dark page and only needed bloodshed to make it the darkest page a political history since the murderous period following the civil war.

Memphis Will Be Dry.
The nuisance act that goes into effect will remove from Memphis the great number of saloons that have been running there for years without molestation under the state-wide prohibition law. The question is whether the saloon may be closed and all the property confiscated under action filed in any court of record at the instance of the attorney general or district attorney, or either a county or city attorney without an order of a justice of the peace, but where ten citizens commence the action the bond for costs must be made.

It is now said that there will not be the slightest opposition to the operation of the law in Memphis, the last of the saloons in the state, after Sunday next, and Mayor Crump has determined that the law shall be obeyed.

The dispensing of liquor will then be left to the professional bootlegger in Memphis like it is now done in other large cities by the white bootleggers and in the smaller towns by negroes and white bootleggers operating with success, and in many cases with apparent prosperity.

STUDYING PROBLEM OF UNEMPLOYMENT

Washington, February 22.—In connection with its nation-wide investigation of unemployment, the United States commission on industrial relations has begun a study of experiences of foreign countries in dealing with labor disputes. Desirable methods found in use will be used in framing legislation to be proposed as a remedy for America's condition.

After the experience of foreign countries with governmental machinery has been studied, said a statement issued by the commission tonight, "the commission will make a survey of private organizations of employers and employees, and the results of their activities in this country."

These two lines of inquiry into unemployment and foreign trade disputes act as well under way. Virtually all of the data on the latter investigation is available in reports and correspondence. By attacking only two lines of investigation at this time and later concentrating its efforts in other fields of inquiry, the commission believes it will get better results than by dividing its forces into many different groups.

Later the commission will devote itself to a study of the part played by the courts in labor controversies, an investigation of trades and labor unions and employers' organizations.

MAIL POUCH ROBBED IN BIRMINGHAM SUBURB

Birmingham, Ala., February 22.—It was learned today that the mail pouch from Boyles, a suburb of Birmingham, was robbed last night. The pouch was on an electric car, and when it reached Birmingham was slit open and three registered packages were found missing. One of them contained $26, the other smaller sums. There is no clue to the robbers.

HEARIN FOUND DYING ON COLUMBUS STREET

Columbus, Ga., February 22.—(Special.)—Meredy Hearin, a white man about 35 years of age, was found in a dying condition on Third-ogood street, North Highlands, this morning about daybreak. The persons who discovered him lying on the sidewalk carried him to his home where he died in a few minutes. It is believed that death was due to natural causes.

Society Girls Enjoying Time of Their Lives Acting as Cohan Chorus on Stage of Lyric

This week will be the first and very probably the only time that Atlanta will have an opportunity to see the above chorus of pretty young girls. Even the lure of Broadway would be unable to tear them away from the Gate City. For the novelty of the experience and in order to aid the Joseph Habersham Chapter, D. A. R., which will receive the receipts of tonight's performance, they are appearing in the Golden success, "Twenty-five Minutes from Broadway," as a part of the Norman Hackett company.

SURVEY WILL BE MADE OF SOCIAL PROGRESS

Statistician Falkner Has Been Employed by National Civic Federation.

New York, February 22.—With the selection of Dr. Roland P. Falkner, a statistician of world-wide repute, as director, the projected survey of industrial and social progress of the nation by the National Civic federation is now under way. It was announced tonight. The scope of the inquiry includes a study of a wide range of subjects. These embrace labor conditions, immigration, pure food and drugs, agriculture, tenement house conditions, industrial loans and savings, penal and correctional institutions, employers' welfare work, political ethics, social insurance, minimum wages, government ownership, law and order, judicial procedure, institutional church work, organized social service, educational opportunities and municipal government.

SMALL GAIN SHOWN BY THE ATTENDANCE OF SUNDAY SCHOOLS

The Sunday schools of the churches of Atlanta continue to show an increase over the same Sundays of last year. Eleven schools had a total enrollment of 4,586 Sunday morning, as against 4,169 the same Sunday of 1913, showing an increase over last year of 337.

The Sunday schools reporting were as follows:

Certain-teed Roofing

Quality Certified Durability Guaranteed

There is no "advance test" by which you can know how long a roof will last. Your safeguard is the guarantee-in-advance of a manufacturer whose responsibility is unquestioned.

Roofs don't wear out—they dry out. We use no coal tar in this roofing—because coal tar is of a gaseous origin and naturally returns to gas, thus drying out too quickly. Our properly blended asphalts are the result of a quarter century's experience and tests. They are not of gaseous origin and dry out very slowly.

When we say, "Certain-teed Roofing—shingles or rolls—is built on a soft center asphalt base with a harder asphalt protecting surface"—we have named the materials that make the ideal roof for best and longest service. We guarantee them—for 15 years—in Certain-teed Roofing. And the three biggest mills in the roofing industry are behind that guarantee.

Certain-teed Roofing is sold by dealers everywhere at a reasonable price. Ask your dealer.

WOMEN ON CITY BOARDS.

The City Federation of Women's Clubs has made a distinct stride in civic progress in petitioning council that certain of the city boards.

The resolutions taking this action specify boards having jurisdiction over schools, parks and playgrounds, libraries, health, sanitation and hospitals and charities.

Each one of these municipal activities come very close to the natural duties and natural inclinations of women.

They bear essentially on the future. They underlie permanent character-building.

They determine whether children shall have a "square deal."

They make for or against a healthy and a well-regulated and forward-looking city.

In the attitude of these women there is no political animus nor tiresome "militancy," nor reaching out for new, unfamiliar and dangerous power.

The government of no city is complete; it cannot be effectual unless it takes cognizance of the point of view of its women as well as of its men, specifically on issues that comprise the vital business of women.

The Constitution believes Atlanta will be a better regulated city for this partial participation of women in a sheerly advisory capacity.

We hope to see council take favorable action on the recommendations.

A MATTER OF COMPROMISE.

Judge C. A. Prouty, former member of the interstate commerce commission, and now in charge of federal valuation of rail-ways, made some remarkable statements recently in Baltimore.

Addressing the Traffic club of that city, he declared that there were decided forces making for government ownership of railroads in this country, and that the railroads could not give satisfactory service unless they were allowed to earn sufficient money.

Judge Prouty disclaimed any intention to influence the decision of the commerce commission on the pending appeal for the right to increase rates, but what he says must have its weight. He was one of the most conservative commissioners, and the exhortation he gave the New Haven railroad and its abuses was convincing indication that he does not lean unduly to the corporation side of the argument.

The gist of Judge Prouty's statement was that if the railroads hope to thrive they must cultivate public opinion. That is very true. The relations between the railroads and the people must be, after all, largely a matter of compromise. The public demands, and deserves to be given, satisfactory and efficient service. In return for this the railroads must have a sufficient return on their investment to make the borrowing of money relatively an easy procedure.

THE IRREPRESSIBLE GUNMAN.

Police Commissioner McKay, of New York, city, has instituted a crusade against the gunman. It is reported that recently conditions have become intolerable, that the gunmen are multiplying on the east side and wholly defying the police.

Following the murder of Rosenthal, a rigid crusade against gunmen was instituted. For a time the city was relatively quiet. Crooks, terrified, departed for distant sections. A partial reign of law settled down over the city.

Lately the lid has come off again. The police seem to have lost their ability to handle the situation, and hold-ups and feuds rage with their old-time vehemence.

Is there no permanent solution for the problem of crime in New York? Time and again police commissioners have undertaken the task of pacification only to make a great furore at first and then to fall on innocuous desuetude.

There appears to be some paralyzing influence in the atmosphere in and through the New York police department. Once a commissioner gets in his energies are stunned and he is unable to make head against adverse influences.

That may have explained why Goethals, with all his force and confidence, was not over-anxious to undertake the task of bringing order to the metropolis. Certainly, it is seen that he recognized the dimensions of the job when he stipulated that it be stripped of politics, and that underlings should not have the right of appeal.

Distinction and fortune waits the man who can for considerable time solve the question of subduing crime in New York. Roosevelt did it temporarily, but the agencies of evil soon were again rampant.

Who will be the next volunteer for the arduous task? The filling of the office of police commissioner appears to have been the hardest nut Mitchel yet has tried to crack.

CHAMP, THE PHILOSOPHER.

Speaker Champ Clark told a Christian Endeavor mass meeting in Washington city the other day that the world is growing steadily better and not worse.

He said it angered him to listen to the pessimist or the muckraker, who mouthed of the backwardness of the times and the iniquity of public servants.

One may not invariably agree with the genial and hopeful Mr. Clark. But in the present case he has spoken a parable.

The world is steadily growing better. It does not require a mental or moral microscope to fix that conviction.

We hear of plenty of sin and vice and graft and public and private shortcoming. But making allowance for change in fashions of transgressing, there was just as much of this variegated assortment of evil, comparatively speaking, in the days of Adam as today.

And today men collectively and individually lean more toward virtue and more against vice than at any time in the world's history.

Society is organized against disease. It is compactly organized against crime. It is banded against immorality, though it is finding that more can be accomplished by fundamental education than through fiat enactment.

It is enforcing the ban against whisky, with the motive the all-impelling economic one. Its philanthropy is less maudlin, more practical.

It is less purulent, more practical in its search for righteousness.

COMPETITION. BY GEORGE FITCH. Author of "At Good Old Sitwash." Competition is a mysterious force which enables men to perform impossible feats. It is supplied by some other fellow, who is trying to do things a little better.

It is quite easy to distinguish competition by becoming a customer. When a railroad agent smiles blandly and says that the company will take your freight as a favor, but that you should not let it occur again there is no competition in the vicinity.

The Great Trials of History. TRIAL OF EARL FERRERS.

Ferrers was the name of a great Norman-English feudal baron, who, about the middle of the thirteenth century, was the conqueror of the Earl of Ferrers. He was a man of a bloodthirsty lot, and was distinguished for his unbecomingly temper which brought several of them to an untimely end.

Because there was insanity in the Ferrers family may have been responsible for the actions of Earl Ferrers, for from an early age his behavior seems to have been eccentric and his temper violent. His wife was compelled to secure a separation from him for cruelty in 1358.

From his youth there was employed in the earl's family a man by the name of Johnson. The man had always faithfully performed his duty and was apparently satisfied with his lot. On Sunday, January 13, 1360, his lordship called on Mr. Johnson at his house, and requested him to come to his country seat at Stanton on the Friday following, between 3 and 4 in the afternoon.

In the intervals the earl took care that the time Mr. Johnson was expected the house should be as empty as possible. Mr. Johnson was punctual in his arrival and was let in by one of the maids. After waiting for some time his lordship called him into his apartment, immediately locked the door, and after some business conversation shot him with a pistol, of which wound he afterwards died.

As soon as his lordship had committed the deed, he called the maids to the stairs and ordered them to bring his family to bed. He also sent a servant to a surgeon and another for Mr. Johnson's children. When the surgeon arrived the earl desired him to take all possible care of the man, but would not consent to his being removed to his own house.

The surgeon found that the wound was mortal, and Johnson died the following morning at 9 o'clock. The earl was seized, after which he was conveyed to Leicester jail and from thence to the Tower of London, where he was tried by the peers, found guilty of murder and ordered to be executed on May 5.

Ferrers conducted his own defense with great ability. The plea was insanity and it was supported by considerable evidence. After he had been condemned he stated that he had pleaded insanity to oblige his family, and that he had himself always been ashamed of such defense.

With respect to the death of Mr. Johnson his lordship said he was under peculiar circumstances, and had not with so many expenses and vexations, as he fully knew what he did, and solemnly swore that he had not the least malice against him.

During the time his lordship was in the tower he was, for the most part, calm, but would sometimes start, and hastily unbrace his order the rope with which he was hung, and when he was taken to the gallows he said that he was sorry for the deed, and that he was sorry to see the executioner's axe.

A Story of the Moment. THE BEST POLICY. By WALT MASON, The Famous Prose Poet.

"Mr. Swinlow, the new grocer on the corner, is a remarkably honest and conscientious man," declared the landlady, "I dropped in there to buy a few things, this afternoon, and as soon as I entered the store he told me that he had overcharged me seven cents the last time I was there, and he handed me the money at once."

"And by this small expenditure, this restoration of seven cents," explained the star boarder of the grocer, "has established his reputation for uncompromising probity, so far as you are concerned. Some men have a positive genius for cheap but effective advertising, and I predict that Mr. Swinlow will, in fact, be the true Napoleon of the head for street, and will simply a masterpiece of my dear Mrs. Jiggers."

"It would be interesting to know how many females, upon entering the Swinlow store, have been informed that they were overcharged three or five or seven cents. I venture to say that a number of them received a few pennies, with profuse apologies for a hypothetical overcharge, and they are all explaining to their delighted friends and relatives, and as soon as I entered the store I felt quite convinced that his claims are made of cotton waste, at Meriden, Conn."

"The truly honest man does not advertise his honesty. He knows that his honesty will be taken for granted until he has given public reason for it. I doubt it. The fact illustrates a beautiful phase of human nature, and confounds the cynics, who hold that we have no faith in our fellow men. Let a stranger move into this community, and if he seems respectable, and behaves himself, and does not do anything that is so much, he can get anything he wants on credit. A man has to demonstrate that he is a crook before people will suspect that he is a crook. The truly honest man has learned this from experience, and he knows that when he has done anything that is so much, he will be accepted as one of nature's noblemen."

"But the man of fishy character, who wishes to dispose of his being fresh goods just as quickly as possible, goes out of his way to advertise his incorruptible integrity, and thereby gives himself away. People who have lived long in the land and have kept their eyes open to the wiles of the false, are not so easily deceived. The suspicion of the gentleman of the molly prunes."

"Whenever I hear him talk of his own honesty, or see him place it on a par with his own full well that he will bear watching. Most of the bank cashiers who have left their seats for the police, and the men who, with the visible assets of their banks, went to a great deal of trouble to make their honesty a byword. The plain people were immediately transferred your trade to some other grocer, for this Mr. Swinlow is too good to be true, and he is not a crook. He is a man of fishy character, who wishes to dispose of his being fresh goods just as quickly as possible, goes out of his way to advertise his incorruptible integrity, and thereby gives himself away. People who have lived long in the land and have kept their eyes open to the wiles of the false, are not so easily deceived. The suspicion of the gentleman of the molly prunes."

Fairness in Politics. Perhaps no feature of the Wilson administration so far has been more widely than the fairness men of all political faiths have manifested toward the president. He has been fair, not free from ordinary faults, but fair in his politics, and the fact of the country have had their share of fun out of his relations with Secretary Bryan, his Mexican attitude and the leniency of his chin. But no president of recent memory has attempted so many large changes in government policy, and in the absence of personal bitterness. There has, in fact, been a disposition on the part of his political opponents to commend him wherever possible.

Of the attitude of republicans, perhaps nothing better could be cited than the statement of Mr. Miller, leader of the anti-protest against this piece of pie. It is only half the size required by the contract.

Encouragement. BY GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS. You may think the above is a very commonplace subject. It is. So is Bread a commonplace subject. But think what the world owes to Bread! Then think what you owe to the Encouragement that has come to you from time to time.

WORTH A MILLION, DECLARES MURPHY

Started With a Shoestring, He Says, and Is Now Happy Man, With Not a Thing to Worry Him.

Chicago, February 22—"I started in baseball with a shoestring and now I'm worth more than a million dollars," said Charles W. Murphy...

"I'm a happy man he said because I haven't a thing to worry about nobody's calling me names and criticizing me and my team is worth a million dollars."

"I would be willing to concede to give the exact amount he replied, but estimated on the basis of the price I received for my interest the club is worth more than a million dollars."

SHIP SACHEM POUNDS ON THE VIRGINIA COAST

British Vessel Is Ashore, and It Is Feared She Will Go to Pieces.

Norfolk, Va., February 22.—The British steamer SACHEM, Captain Evans, from Liverpool to Norfolk via Boston, went ashore during heavy weather, early today 5 miles north of Hog Island, on the upper Virginia coast.

The ship first appeared to be in serious position. Life-savers went to the assistance and stood by ready to take the crew off. The high seas which caused the vessel to pound heavily after the struck, is reported to have subsided, and the SACHEM is now expected to float upon the next high tide.

The revenue cutter Ithaca has gone to the assistance of the steamer. The SACHEM is bound to Norfolk from Boston to complete loading cargo. She is of 3,377 tons net, and carries a crew of twenty-four men. She is a freighter exclusively.

Life-savers of the Kill Devil Hill station today picked up nine life belts that were cast on the beach by the high seas now prevailing along the coast. The belts were marked with the name of the vessel, and which were reported in trouble.

It is believed that the belts are old ones, and were probably thrown overboard from the steamer.

Wreckers Work on River.

Norfolk, Va., February 22.—The British steamship Riverdale, which went ashore near Little Island Saturday, is still ashore with wreckers working to float her. The Riverdale is still in a position of uncertainty, but the wreckers will likely be saved. Weather conditions are moderate and the vessel is not suffering to any unusual extent.

GENERAL STRIKE CALLED BY MINERS IN FRANCE

Paris, February 22.—The miners of Southern and several of the largest southern collieries have called a general strike for tomorrow as the result of the elimination by the senate of the pension bill for the underground workers' pension bill. Miners in the north have refused to take part in the strike. The government is dispatching large reinforcements of troops and gendarmes to St. Etienne and other points affected.

KING OF THE CARNIVAL REACHES NEW ORLEANS

New Orleans, La., February 22.—Leading a naval parade, the royal yacht Wisdom with Rex, king of carnival, arrived here Saturday night, accompanied by military organizations as escort. Rex will appear at the city hall at 8 o'clock, and will be crowned by Mayor Martin Behrman. Monday night the Proteus pageant and ball will take place at the city hall.

RARE BOOK SWINDLES RESULT IN INDICTMENT

New York, February 22.—Alleged rare book swindlers brought to light nearly two years ago were recalled today by announcement that the federal grand jury had found nine indictments against the group of swindlers. Delinquent agents arrested at that time, and that they probably would be tried next week. The indictments include new charges which increase the aggregate of the alleged frauds to more than $3,000,000.

Dr. Goodnow will assume the duties of his new office next fall.

THREE MASKED BANDITS HOT UP TROLLEY CAR

Pistols Presented, the Robbers Force Passengers to Deliver Their Cash.

Seattle, Wash., February 22.—Three masked men, interfering with the Seattle-Tacoma electric railway last night and robbed the passengers of more than $300. After the robbers had collected their tribute, they leaped from the moving car and escaped.

The train left Seattle at 2:05 o'clock and was made up of two coaches. In the first forward smoking car, there were ninety men. In the second car there were thirty passengers, mostly women.

The train made its usual stop at The Meadows, about five miles south of Seattle, and among the persons who got on were three men who were colored handkerchiefs about their heads and hats well pulled down.

The passengers to those of the robbers. The robbers went down the aisle, ordering the passengers to parley with them. All complied and it is estimated that $300 was transferred from the pockets of the passengers to those of the robbers. No attempt was made to search the passengers or parley with them.

The robber in the other car forced an 18-year-old boy to pass through the car looking at loss time. The conductor ordered the passengers to parley with them. The robbers went down the aisle, ordering the passengers to parley with them.

Building Boom in Jerusalem.

(From The London Jewish World.) About 5 p. m. the train reached Jerusalem. In an hour it would be dark and the night would be very dark. The city is still in a state of reconstruction.
