

MILITANT WOMEN FORCE ASQUITH TO CAPITULATE British Premier Consents to Receive Delegation of East End Working Women in Downing Street. PREMIER WAS COERCED BY SYLVIA PANKHURST

London, June 18.—Premier Asquith has capitulated to the suffragettes. He has consented to receive a deputation of East End working women in Downing street Saturday. Miss Sylvia Pankhurst's attempt to carry out her threat of a hunger strike at the entrance to the house of commons until the premier yielded to the demand that he listen to a delegation of women, was largely responsible for the prime minister's decision. The victory is a great one for Sylvia Pankhurst was created about a week ago for attempting to lead a procession of East End women to Westminster and demand the audience which Mr. Asquith has promised.

Holloway jail opened its doors to-night to release Miss Pankhurst, weak and pale after her eighth successive hunger strike. The militant leader drove to Westminster and rebuffed Kier Hardie's efforts to persuade her to go home. She was sitting on the steps of the house, waiting to be taken to the cells, propped up with cushions and supported in the arms of friends when Mr. Lansbury came out with the news that Premier Asquith had surrendered.

The "Here's Sylvia." The militants' plans were arranged effectively. When their leader emerged from Holloway jail on the arms of two attendants a motor car was waiting, filled with cushions. Two nurses took charge of her and propped her up. A group of militants had gathered outside Westminster and when the car drove up they cried, "Here's Sylvia!" A large force of police was on duty, but they made no objection when the automobile entered the palace yard under Big Ben. This is the first time private entrance has always been forbidden ground to the militants. Crowds began to assemble and the police were reinforced, but they maintained an attitude of watchful waiting.

Mr. Kier Hardie emerged from the house bareheaded and talked with Miss Pankhurst. Then, with the aid of police, Mr. Hardie made three journeys to the house and the car, obviously acting as a go-between in the negotiations. Sylvia talked with him in a weak whisper. Seemingly the independent labor movement has a failure, for after the third conference Miss Nora Smythe, Miss Pankhurst's lieutenant, announced to the bystanders: "We are going to the house of commons to sit on the steps."

She sat on the steps. Mr. Hardie explained to the crowd that the militant leader had requested admission to the house, which was refused. The car started and drew up at the public entrance to the house of commons. Women carried up and lifted the cushions on the steps and lifted back the spectators. Miss Pankhurst remained unmolested for ten minutes. Then Mr. Lansbury appeared with the news of Premier Asquith's decision. The chief of police made three journeys to the newspaper, saying Mr. Asquith gave his consent to an audience several hours before Miss Pankhurst paid her visit to the palace yard. The statement added that she had been taken forcibly during her last incarceration because she was too weak.

Three Houses Raided. The police raided the houses of three militants today in search of incriminating papers. Miss Barbara Wille announced this fact at a meeting of the Women's Social and Political Union to-night. The residence of Mrs. Mansell, Mrs. Schutte and Mrs. Loevy were searched, said Miss Wille, "but the police retired as they came and found nothing."

In Candle Lit Cell Three Negroes Pass Last Night on Earth

Refuse All Food Except Bananas and Oranges, and Beg for Ready-Made Cigarettes.

There have been feasts of many kinds, but the meal served in the dim and candle-lit confines of the death cell in the county jail last night was unique in Fulton county annals. It was the last meal of John Paschal, Robert Hart and Will Hart. They have been sentenced to die on the gallows at 11 o'clock today for the murder of Mrs. Jefferson Irby in Wrens, Ga., several months ago.

It was an elaborate meal, especially prepared by the jail chef. All condemned men are served with a big meal the night before their fate. The doomed men, though, partook of nothing but the bananas and oranges that came as dessert.

Eat Bananas and Oranges. They ate the two dozen bananas and orange with relish. Then they asked for more. The feast was served just after the Rev. H. H. Proctor, a negro pastor, accompanied by men and women members of his flock, had held an impressive song and prayer service in the cell.

An eleventh hour effort to spare the lives of two of the negroes was made by Will Hart, who, after maintaining his innocence in the courtroom while the Paschal negro took the blame solely upon himself, now says that he alone committed the crime, and that the two other negroes were no wise connected with it.

Paschal now renounces his confession. He lays the blame on a negro who has heretofore been unmentioned in the case. Paschal is a short, chunky black, only 15 years old. All night he stood beside his bunk, clinging to the bars and moaning an incessant prayer.

The Hart negroes are facing their fate calmly enough. The youngest, Will, is reluctant. He skulked in a dark corner of his cell, hiding in the flickering shadows that were thrown upon the wall by the candles that glowed from the crucifix. His brother, who last night made his confession, pleaded with the judge for some cigarettes to last him through the night.

He wanted them to smoke through the wakeful hours. He couldn't sleep. He asked the jailers to supply him with cigarettes to burn all day. Cigarettes and cigars. His bunk was littered with half burnt smokes, and from each cigar, as acquired as many ready-made cigarettes as the visitor possessed.

The execution of the three negroes is scheduled for 11 o'clock this morning.

MAGICIAN GUILTY; GETS THREE YEARS

Edward Marshall, Alias Edward Rhynata, Sentenced for Shooting at Negro Bank Cashier.

Edward Marshall, alias Edward Rhynata, who, it is alleged, attempted to rob the Atlanta States Savings bank, was found guilty yesterday afternoon before Judge Price Edwards in Fulton county superior court on the charge of shooting at J. C. Ross, the negro cashier.

He was sentenced to three years in the penitentiary. His pretty wife, who was with him at the time of his arrest and who was his assistant in the Rhynata vaudeville act, was in the courtroom when the sentence was decreed. There was an affecting scene between husband and wife.

Marshall had pleaded not guilty. He had been identified by various witnesses, including J. C. Ross, negro cashier of the bank which the robber had attempted to plunder. Ross had been fired upon at the time of the robbery and was struck a severe blow across the head.

YOUNG DIVORCEE BRIDE OF MORTON F. PLANT

New London, Conn., June 18.—The marriage of Morton F. Plant, yachtman and capitalist, to Mrs. Seiden B. Mainwaring, of Hartford, at Branford house, Eastford point, yesterday was formally announced today. The Rev. P. M. Kestridge, rector of St. James Episcopal church, of this city, officiated, and only a few friends were present.

The bride obtained a divorce from her husband in April last. She is 31 years of age, and Mr. Plant is 62. The first Mrs. Plant, who was Miss Nellie Capron, of Baltimore, died of typhoid fever last August.

GUINN MAKES PLEA FOR A SCHOOL TAX FOR MAINTENANCE

Urges Charter Amendment Giving Department Practically One-Fourth of the City's Revenue—No Raise in Tax Rate.

Following a lucid argument as to the needs of Atlanta's school system, the charter amendment committee of council yesterday took under consideration the proposal of School Commissioner R. J. Guinn to create a direct school tax for maintenance only of the public schools.

Out of the present tax rate of $1.25, Commissioner Guinn proposes that council ask the legislature for an amendment to the charter to authorize the city to take from the general tax revenue 20 cents on every $100 for school purposes. This fund to be additional to the fund paid over to the city by the county and state, and is not to be used for new buildings.

Atlanta's tax values of $180,000,000 will yield the schools, under Commissioner Guinn's scheme, approximately $360,000 a year, or about $46,000 more than the finance committee apportioned for school use in January.

The amendment does not contemplate an increase of the present tax rate. It provides only that 20 cents, or a little less than one-fourth of the tax rate, be set aside for exclusive use of the school board. If the amendment is adopted by the legislature it will obviate the necessity of the school board going before the finance committee every year with a budget. The fund will be set aside by law. It will also guarantee an automatic increase of revenue for the schools each year for the reason that each year the taxable values increase. Last year the increase was about $17,675,000, part of which would have been available for school purposes had the law been effective at that time.

Discussing his plan before the committee, Commissioner Guinn emphasized the fact that he was launching the school board initiative, and he made it plain that the school board had not authorized him, or rather asked him, to place the matter before council. Chairman George M. Hope and Commissioner Morgan were present at the meeting, and both informed the committee that they were in thorough accord with Commissioner Guinn's plan. They stated also that they were certain the board of education was in sympathy with the proposition.

The strongest argument offered in favor of the scheme is that by making one-fourth of the tax revenue of the city applicable to use for school purposes, the city would be able to place the educational system on the highest plane of efficiency. Commissioner Guinn recited that inasmuch as council places confidence in the school board, it should also show its confidence by placing the fund in the hands of the board to be spent for such improvements as it deems to be the best advantage of the school system.

The lowest figure. In reply to a question, Commissioner Guinn explained that 30 cents of the $100 of the ad valorem tax was as low a figure as the board could possibly operate successfully on. He pointed out that a majority of the most progressive cities in the United States have a direct school tax fund for the support of the schools, and he explained that the systems have been built up and are now the finest in the United States.

While members of the committee did not express their views as to the wisdom or utility of the plan, it seems to be the sentiment of a majority of council members that 30 cents is a good one and should be adopted. However, City Attorney Mayson was consulted before the amendment is reported to council. In the meantime, Commissioner Guinn will gather data from a number of cities where the plan is in vogue, and he will appear at the meeting next Thursday to further elaborate on the details.

The committee also took up proposed amendments which have been offered in council within the past two weeks. Councilman Jesse B. Lee's amendment providing for including the National Stock Yards in the city limits was given but scant consideration, and will be adverse at the next meeting of council. Councilman Lee's amendment is that inasmuch as the city furnished fire protection at the stock yards, and inasmuch as the owners of property derive certain city benefits, the city should gather the area in and collect the taxes thereon.

No Women on Boards. Councilman Ashley's amendment authorizing women to serve on boards was also adverse. Councilman Ashley's amendment does not propose increasing the number of members on each board, but simply provides that women shall be eligible on the school, park, library and hospital boards when vacancies occur.

The amendment to give the city authority to regulate the smoke evil outside the city limits was laid on a table to be considered at some other date.

Alderman Nutting's amendment urging the legislature to authorize the appointment of women on state, county and city boards, was adverse, but the committee will make a favorable report on the Nutting amendment authorizing the issuance of bonds on a vote of two-thirds of the qualified voters instead of two-thirds of the registered voters.

California's Erupting Volcano

CRATER OF VOLCANO. Redding, Cal., June 18.—The eighth eruption of Mount Lassen since it last became active on May 28 was distinctly visible here at noon today, notwithstanding a thick haze that obscured the outlines of the mountain 50 miles away. Two outbursts of volcanic fire and lava from the crater of Mount Lassen, resulted in the killing of one man and the injury of another. Two men are missing. One man was driven temporarily insane as a result of the terrific outburst from the crater, which has been reported for several years. Reports were received that a party of eight men who had ventured near the crater just before the sixth eruption were overwhelmed by a sudden explosion and sent a mass of rocks, ashes and thick smoke 2,000 feet in the air. It had been supposed that Mount Lassen was burning at the time, but the anxiety of many who live in cabins in the mountains in that district.

YAARAB TEMPLE WILL HAVE PATROL CHORUS

Movement Launched at Barbecue Given Thursday by Walter P. Andrews. Exhibit at Auditorium Estimated to Be Worth Two Million Dollars.

The next Shriner's convention will find Yaarab temple on hand not only with her magnificent patrol, but with a patrol chorus. This was decided at the barbecue which Walter P. Andrews, president of the patrol, tendered the patrol last night at his country place on Peachtree road.

During the barbecue the Yaarabites began singing songs, and so well did they do it that President Andrews proposed a chorus be made a part of the patrol. A motion to this effect was put and carried, and a committee of John Grace, Mr. Ashford and Mr. Ferguson was appointed to perfect tentative plans and report at the next meeting of the patrol. It is probable that Frank A. Cundell will be asked to head the chorus.

Have Bally Good Time. About seventy-five members of Yaarab patrol had a bally good time as the guests of their president. And, indeed, there was every reason why they should. "Charlie" Gramling, one of Fulton county's best "cue-makers," started to work on young lambs and pigs at 6 o'clock on the evening before and did a job fit for a king. The big mineral spring on Mr. Andrews' place is nature's own "cure spot." Mr. Andrews is an ideal host, and well the reputation of Yaarab patrol as jolly good fellows is history.

The patrolmen began gathering about 5 o'clock. Immediately a keg was "tapped," and the spirit and spirits of the evening were simultaneously released. Everybody took a stroll down to the pit to watch Charlie put the finishing touches on the barbecue, and the Brunswick stew, and what with the savory smells of roast pig and things, everybody took a stroll down to the feast when it was spread.

Everything Happy. Things went merry as you please and wound up with many speeches, which, if they did not decide questions of international moment, were lively and interesting enough.

Mr. Andrews was made an impromptu toastmaster, and the following were among those who spoke: Arthur Hynds, "daddy" of the patrol, Charlie Gramling, barbecue expert; Major J. O. Seaman, who was dubbed "nurse" of the patrol; Mr. Harding, a visiting Shriner from Wichita, Kan.; "Frank" Milner, exalted ruler of the Elks, who told of the campaign to get the Elks' 1916 convention for Atlanta; Dr. Vandiver, Dr. Argard, John Grice and others.

J. LINDSAY JOHNSON GOES TO PHILIPPINES

By John Corrigan, Jr. Washington, June 18.—(Special.)—Colonel J. Lindsay Johnson, of Rome, Ga., editor of The Rome Tribune-Herald, and a strong Bryan supporter, has been appointed assistant director of the census for the Philippine Islands by the governor general, Francis Burton Harrison. The salary of the position is $4,000 a year.

Colonel Johnson was prominently mentioned early during the present administration for consul general at Shanghai, but this position went to another because of his lack of knowledge of Chinese language and customs.

A quick Colonel Johnson got off at this time has been going the rounds here. "Can you speak Chinese?" asked Secretary Bryan. "I can answer any question in Chinese you put to me," confidently replied Colonel Johnson. The position in the Philippines is not one which the senate must confirm, but is held at the pleasure of the governor general of the islands.

No "Neutral" in Mexico, Says the United States To the Huerta Delegates

Villa Assumes Supreme Control of Central Zone and Will Proceed With Army Toward Mexico City CARRANZA POWERLESS IN VILLA TERRITORY

In Zone Claimed by Villa He Will Control Civil as Well as Military—Two Distinct Governments.

El Paso, Texas, June 18.—General Carranza tonight advised Lazaro de la Garza, Villa's agent here, that the difficulty between himself and Villa had been adjusted by Carranza giving his permission for Villa to proceed south to Mexico City, regardless of the appointment of General Natera as head of the new central zone.

Carranza said that the forces of General Obregon in the west and General Gonzalez in the east would work independently of General Villa's troops. Future Misunderstanding. The constitutionalist commander concluded by saying that the misunderstanding between himself and Villa, and any future misunderstandings between any of the leaders would be left for adjustment when the three armies meet before the national capital.

In the meantime General Villa will run his own military and civil office in his territory. Villa will proceed with his army south toward Mexico City, disregarding General Natera, whose appointment by Carranza as head of the new central zone evidently caused the open breach between the northern zone commander and the constitutionalist commander-in-chief.

This made clear for the first time the relations between Carranza and Villa. It was said officially that Villa's forceful taking over of the Carranza offices at Juarez was but a step in a general plan to oust all Carranza elements in the territory Villa dominates.

Villa Makes Conditions. While not declaring that he is not under Carranza's orders, Villa is known to have told his chief that he will take the central strip of country leading to Mexico City, while Carranza's other divisional commanders can do likewise down the east and west coasts. According to this arrangement there would be two distinct governments, both military and civil, in the northern part of Mexico held by the constitutionalists.

One would be Villa's strip, where not only his military leaders, but his own appointed civil officials would hold office. The other would be that directed by Carranza in his capacity as military and political chief of the movement from his capital at Saltillo. It is not doubted that General Alvaro Obregon, commander of the western military zone, and General Pablo Gonzalez, in the east, will remain firm adherents of the Carranza party.

Villa already is reported to have taken over some of the petty leaders of the central zone territory south of Torreon. The news that General Natera, whose troops have been recruited at Zacatecas, had come north to visit Villa was taken as significant. Natera previous to his appointment as a zone commander, blocking Villa's movement, had been a staunch Villa man.

It also was learned today that General Chio, who some time ago had been reported ousted by Villa as governor of Chihuahua, has joined Villa with a column of troops from Parral, although having been ordered by Carranza to proceed to Saltillo.

The authoritative narrative of what occurred between Carranza and Villa is as follows: On Saturday Carranza ordered Villa to send 5,000 men to the assistance of Natera, under command of one of Villa's generals. General Villa replied that he was going to Zacatecas himself with his entire army. Carranza asked Villa to obey his orders, which would have placed Villa's troops under command of Natera, in whose zone Zacatecas is located.

After this exchange of telegrams, Villa proffered his resignation. Carranza asked that his successor be appointed immediately. Then followed a conference of fourteen generals under Villa, who declined to accept a new leader. Villa then told Carranza that he was going to move south as he had announced previously. The exchange ended.

Villa took over the Carranza offices and put his own men in. Among the national officers arrested at Juarez was Scarpia Aguirre, Carranza's treasurer-general, who had been issuing a new series of constitutionalist money. The money was confiscated by Villa's troops. It amounted to more than $1,000,000.

Statement by Villa. Torreon, Mexico, June 18.—General Villa today issued the following statement regarding his relations with General Carranza: "I have received today many telegrams from the American representatives. The statement in substance follows: 'The American representatives do not think it conducive to the interests of mediation to publish, during its pendency, the various plans or contentions of the parties, but as the Mexican representatives have given out a formal statement of their objections to the appointment of a constitutionalist as provisional president, because among other things an election, conducted by such a provisional government would not represent the will of the Mexican people, it has been thought necessary to give a part of the answer to the letter written by Mr. Rabasa. 'In that answer the American representatives utterly repudiate any suggestions that the American president has any intent of destroying the electoral liberty of Mexico and insist that the Mexican representatives entirely understand the motives and objects of the president, who recognizes the facts and sees in the past success of the constitutionalist army indisputable evidence of the approval of the Mexican people.' 'But he also sees the full triumph of that army means an indefinite continuance of war, with the suffering and bloodshed and death which every war involves. 'These consequences the president seeks to prevent through mediation, but we greatly fear the language of the Mexican note implies that his efforts will be thwarted because of unwillingness to have a constitutionalist as provisional president, although that promises the only practical means by which the horrors of war can be prevented. 'It is expressed that the Mexican representatives do not further oppose the only plan which promises peace when its rejection means suffering and death to so many. We are convinced that your objections to the plan itself that may follow its adoption are not well founded; and that in attacking the details, you lose sight of the large and controlling motive which, from the beginning of this trouble, has been in the mind of the president, and which

No "Neutral" in Mexico. In reference to the suggestion that the provisional president should be a neutral it is said that it is manifest that in such a contest as has been waged in Mexico for years, it is not only fair but necessary to assume that neutrality is at heart on one side or the other and the country might well question the participation of any Mexican who had been colored in such a contest, and as the provisional president must be to some extent identified with one side it is necessary to assume that he will take the requirements of the present situation, his sympathies, which really mark the man, must be with the dominant element.

Purpose of American Plan. "By analogy the next election should be supervised by only one officer representing the American plan. It is widely understood to assume that this supervised it will be fairly conducted and you may rest assured that the United States can legitimately use will be exerted to secure an honest election. Indeed it is the earnest wish of the government that the permanent president shall be chosen in a manner so free from objection that the confidence and respect of his people will be the strongest and the knowledge that he represents their free and unfettered choice at an election held, not by one party but by representatives of both parties.

Credece was given here to reports from the Mexican border that General Villa had proposed to Carranza that there be a division of civil and military operations. Villa to command the military and Carranza to remain in charge of governmental forces. Messages are known to have come from Villa to Carranza in the United States in which Villa explained that his action in imprisoning some of Carranza's subordinates was a direct slap at Carranza's chief, but merely to check more serious ruptures. Several messages were received at the state department indicating that differences between Carranza and Villa had been patched up.

ATLANTA WILL BID FOR ROTARY MEET

The Local Delegation Will Leave at 5:20 This Afternoon for Annual Convention at Houston.

With plans well laid for bringing the 1916 International Rotary Club convention to Atlanta, the Atlanta delegation to this year's convention, which will be held in Houston, Texas, June 21 to 26, leaves this afternoon at 5:20 o'clock on a special car over the Atlanta and West Point railroad.

The Atlanta delegation is headed by Albert S. Adams, president of the local Rotary club; L. D. Hicks, secretary; Ivan E. Allen, chairman board of directors; Hubert W. Anderson, former president, and Fred Houser, who is both an active Rotarian and representative of the Atlanta convention bureau. The Atlanta delegation is also accompanied by a number of Rotarians from other cities who came here to attend the National Photographers' convention and who are going on to Houston.

The Atlanta crowd will get to New Orleans on Saturday and will be entertained by the Rotary club there with a breakfast dinner at the old Spanish fort followed by a forty-five-mile trip down the coast. On Saturday evening at 8 o'clock the party will leave over the Southern Pacific (with Casey Jones, who is a prominent Rotarian at the throttle), and will arrive in Houston for breakfast Sunday morning.

On Sunday morning all the principal pulpits in Houston will be occupied by well-known Rotarians, and Fred Houser, of Atlanta, will preach a lay sermon in one of the downtown churches. On Sunday afternoon there will be a mass meeting at the Coliseum, which President Wilson has been invited to address, and which he has promised to attend if the situation in Washington renders it possible. The convention proper will open on Monday. On one day of the convention the whole convention will be moved on special trains to Galveston, and at Galveston the officers will be nominated for the ensuing year, and the invitations for the coming convention will be offered. Atlanta is making a strong bid for the 1916 convention.

On Friday night "The Red Roosters" which is the Houston boosters and carnival organization, will have a street pageant in honor of the Rotarians, and at midnight all delegations will leave on special trains for a circle tour of the Lone Star state as guests of the various local Rotary clubs. They will visit San Antonio, Waco, Fort Worth and Dallas.

The party will get back in Atlanta about July 1.

REPORT IS DELAYED ON U. S. JUDGE SPEER

Washington, June 18.—Absence from Washington of several members of the house judiciary committee today further delayed presentation of recommendations of the subcommittee which investigated charges against Emory Speer, United States judge for the southern district of Georgia. Chairman Webb is anxious that all members of the committee be present when the subcommittee's report is taken up and recommendations to the house are framed. He expects to be able to get the full committee together within a day or two.

It is understood the subcommittee will report that the evidence does not warrant impeachment.

HE THOUGHT WOMAN WAS MORAL IMBECILE

Hartford, Conn., June 18.—The hearing of the $50,000 damage suit of Mrs. Elizabeth Curtis Holman, of Waterville, Maine, against her former husband, Professor Cranston Brenton, and Dr. Paul Waterman and C. C. Smith, was resumed today in federal court.

Dr. Waterman said that, in his opinion, Mrs. Holman, while confined in the Brattleboro, Vermont, retreat for insane, suffered from abnormal mental disorders, and there was strong presumption that she was a moral imbecile. Asked on what he predicated his opinion of September 3, 1912, that she was insane, Dr. Waterman said:

"I found a woman whose sense of truthfulness was markedly defective, whose sense of shame was markedly defective, whose sense of duty to husband, mother, her child and society was defective."

Lavalliere, Lost Many Years, Found in Pawn Shop Window

Showing her mother's lavalliere to her doggie, which, incidentally, is much more interested in the camera. In the corner is the Baumrind lavalliere.

Mrs. Max Baumrind, of 181 Rawson street, is by the sheerest whim of fate now the owner of a lavalliere whose story is almost as weird as that of any gem that figures in Arabian Nights. Through the jewel is justly hers, until a month ago she never thought she would see it.

The lavalliere is more than 150 years old and was the property of Mrs. Ethel Ross, grandmother of Mrs. Baumrind. When Mrs. Baumrind was a small girl she used to look at the wonderful trinket and ask her grandmother to tell her stories about it. Mrs. Ross promised to give it to her little granddaughter when she should grow up, and the little lass used to stand before the mirror and imagine how she would look when she was a grown lady with the lavalliere about her neck.

But one fine day her grandmother looked for the lavalliere and it was gone.

Search was made far and wide for it, but no one ever knew what became of it.

After awhile the little granddaughter grew up, and she married Max Baumrind. She often told her husband of the lavalliere and described it minutely to him, so that he had almost as accurate a mental picture of the jewel as if he had seen it.

Years passed and nothing was heard of the gem until several months ago Mr. Baumrind was passing an Atlanta pawnshop, when his eye was attracted by a curiously and intricately designed lavalliere in the show window. He made a look at it; the sure he felt that this was the jewel which Mrs. Ross had lost so many years ago.

He took Mrs. Baumrind to the shop and she was overjoyed when she was able to identify it as the lavalliere of her childhood dream.

The rest of the story is short. Mr. Baumrind bought it for his wife, and now their little daughter, Lillah, dreams over the day when she shall be a grown lady and wear it, as her mother does.

tion which has been accorded them. "We have been made to feel at home in Atlanta," said Carl E. Akerman, acting president of the organization, "and everything has been done for our comfort and convenience that could be done. We have been made to feel your southern hospitality in many ways, and I am sure that every delegate will leave the convention with a warm spot in his heart for Atlanta."

Convention Ends Saturday.

The convention will be brought to a close Saturday, after a business session in the morning. The convention in Atlanta has been a success from the standpoint of the delegates and the association as a whole, and many new members have been added to the organization by the fact that this is the first convention of the association that has ever been held south of the Mason and Dixon line.

It is a "southern" convention in spirit and in fact. The president, Manly W. Tyree, of Raleigh, is the youngest man to hold that position and is the first southern man to hold the office.

PROSPERITY LETTERS RECEIVED BY WILSON

Washington, June 18.—President Wilson told callers today that in making public letters earlier in the week to emphasize his view that a "psychological depression" was being created, he did so without thought of influencing congress on the legislative program, but solely to inform the public of the method being pursued by those opposed to the administration's program. The president added that his mail every day brought evidence of prosperity throughout the country. The president said that he had received very encouraging reports of the prospects for early passage of the trust bills through the senate and that there were indications the bills will be supported by a number of republicans.

BANKS MUST HURRY ON THE A-B DIRECTORS

Washington, June 18.—The reserve bank organization committee today notified members in the federal reserve system that nominations of Class A and class B directors must be received not later than June 22, in order to appear on the ballots to be sent out to the district reserve electors. A second notice was sent to banks delinquent in furnishing the names of their electors, calling attention to the fact that failure to send in certificate of election of district reserve electors will constitute a violation of the federal reserve act.

OLUS SHIRTS

IN OLUS the outside shirt and underdrawers are one garment. This means that the shirt can't work out of the trousers, that there are no shirt tails to bunch in seat, that the drawers "stay put," to say nothing of the comfort and economy of saving a garment. OLUS is coat cut—opens all the way down—closed crotch, closed back. See illustration.

For golf, tennis and field wear, we recommend the special attached collar OLUS with regular or short sleeves. Extra size for very thin men. All shirt fabrics, in smart designs, including silk—$1.50 to $10.00.

OLUS one-piece PAJAMAS for lounging, reading and comfortable sleep. Made on the same principle as OLUS shirts—open back, closed crotch. No strings to tighten or come loose. $1.50 to $8.50.

Remember!—If it isn't coat-cut, it isn't OLUS. Ask your dealer for OLUS. Booklet on request.

Guilty Man Shanghai's Substitute To Serve Sentence in Penitentiary

San Francisco, June 18.—Shanghai in Nagasaki, carried in irons across the Pacific on the United States transport Sheridan and thrust into San Quentin penitentiary to serve three years under a name he could not pronounce for a crime he never heard of, Albert Johansen, a Scandinavian sailor, was freed today by the United States district court.

On June 27 he must appear again, for the return of a writ of habeas corpus, application for which was filed today in his behalf, but in the meantime he is free without bail, and there is no doubt in the minds of the United States authorities that his imprisonment was the result of a substitution.

The prisoner's story was that he was drinking one night last month in a waterfront saloon at Nagasaki. Three strangers offered to stand him a treat. He accepted. The next morning he found himself at sea, a prisoner.

Nobody understood him when he tried to explain who he was and he was delivered at San Quentin as Peter A. Rogers, alias Peter Grimes, there to serve three years for a sentence imposed by the treaty court at Shanghai for forgery. His cell mate chanced to be a fellow countryman and through him he got a hearing.

Today Johansen was given the album of prisoners' portraits and asked if he could find anybody in it he remembered. As soon as he came on Rogers' portrait he said:

"That's one of the men I drank with in Nagasaki."

The real Rogers served a year in San Quentin for forgery. When released he won the interest of Captain Robert Dular, a merchant of San Francisco, who sent him to China as a clerk. Soon Rogers was posing as Captain Dular's secretary and was passing checks, was caught and convicted, and sentenced to three years in San Quentin. An officer of the court was to have taken him to Nagasaki where he was to be placed on the Sheridan at that point the facts end, and the story begins. The bell of federal officers is that Rogers got his guardian drunk, poured a stupefying drug into Johansen's drink and personally delivered him late at night on board the Sheridan, turning over to a petty officer of the ship the papers he had stolen from the drunken deputy and receiving in person the acknowledgment for his own delivery.

Peter A. Rogers, alias Grimes, convicted forger, who is believed to have drugged Albert Johansen in a Nagasaki saloon and substituted the Norwegian sailor for himself just before his transfer under guard to the transport Sheridan, has been apprehended near Nagasaki by Japanese authorities and is in custody, according to information received from Washington by United States District Attorney John W. Preston late today.

The department of state received messages early today from the United States consuls at Shanghai and Nagasaki confirming the substitution story, and later news of Grimes' arrest. Preston was told that Grimes could not be extradited, but that the Japanese government had given assurances that it would prosecute the forger.

Preston was requested to gather all evidence possible from Johnson and forward it to Nagasaki.

JESSE B. LEE ELECTED BY GEORGIA RED MEN

Augusta, Ga., June 18.—(Special)—The great sun council of Georgia Red Men adjourned after this morning's session to meet in Atlanta next year. The feature of the session was the presentation of the retiring great sachem of the great council of this state, Charles Stroberg, of Macon. The jewel of the very elaborate presentation speech was made by Grand Master W. F. Sullivan, of the Old Fellows, who is chairman of the board of appeals of the Red Men of this state.

The following officers were appointed for the next great sun session: Great sachem, Jesse B. Lee, Atlanta; grand councilor, E. C. Coker, Trion, Ga.; great guard of wigwag, H. Ivey, Atlanta; great guard of the forest, J. F. Sullivan, Macon.

Board of appeals (three years), T. H. Bright, Canton; orphans board (three years), M. Gavronski, Beaufort; finance committee (one year), P. H. Griffin, Griffin; J. A. Hollis, Atlanta, and J. L. Spikes, Lagrange.

Credentials committee of medical George O. Hook, Alpharetta, Ga.; C. J. Shelverton, Austell, and Alec C. Hunter, Littleton.

Mileage and per diem (one year), James C. Branan, Savannah; J. B. Everidge, Columbus, and Charles Fowler.

St. Louis, June 18.—Plans for negotiating a long term loan with which to begin the building of one of the great medical colleges in the world are being considered by the faculty of St. Louis university, a Jesuit college, which ultimately will come into possession of the estate of James Campbell, the value of which is estimated at $1,000,000.

By the terms of the will the entire estate passes to the university for the building of a hospital and for the advancement of the "medical science" at the death of Campbell's daughter, and only daughter, or if the daughter has children, twenty-one years after her death.

The plan now being considered contemplates the negotiation of a loan to be paid out of the principal of the estate when it becomes the property of the university.

Dr. Hannau W. Loeb, dean of the medical faculty of St. Louis university, said that the work of upbuilding the medical school would begin at once.

ATLANTA NEW YORK PARIS

That You May Know the Wonderful Sonora Phonograph

We have arranged a splendid "Introductory" Sale beginning today.

$25 Model and $9 Record Cabinet for $31.50

$3.00 at Purchase, $3.00 a Month

It is a really remarkable machine; one that brings the utmost value for the money.

It is the only enclosed machine at its price. It has the exclusive Sonora tone modifier, in addition to the time modifier; it plays any record made, and is equipped with the sapphire needle necessary for the French records. And still the best of the machine is not told—its tone is superb. It reproduces in full round measure the fine shadings and the quality of the record.

And this machine in golden oak, together with the 32-inch high record cabinet, which holds one hundred sixty-five 10 or 12-inch records, makes a much finer appearance than the price would indicate—the machine being enclosed.

You who had planned to spend more for a phonograph will do well to look into this special offer.

Remnants of Wash Goods

The Selling Starts at Nine O'Clock and All the Counter Space on Wash Goods Aisle Is Given Over to Them for the Morning

Such is the quality of remnants! They have accumulated very fast here of late. This can be explained by the fact that along in May we went to New York and bought wash goods at prices far below their worth, and we have been selling them the same way. Often a full piece of one day has become a remnant by the next. Now for the disposal of the accumulations at

Savings of a Half to a Third

And our advice is that whatever your wash goods needs may be, test this sale out! The most desirable fabrics get into these sales and there are lengths for every purpose, varying from two to four and a half yards.

- Lawns, piques, crepes, dimities, Persian lawns, India linons, linen lawns, Irish linens, French linens, linen sheetings, voiles.
- Among the colored goods are:
- Linen suitings, voiles, crepes, galateas, gingham, kimono crepes, suitings, shirtings, poplins, mulls, ducks, tickings, sheetings.

Specials in Wash Goods on Sale at 2 O'Clock

The remnant sale for the morning, and in the afternoon what is left of the remnants and these specials.

The reason for this is that the remnants will require all the display space in the morning, but by two o'clock we shall "consolidate" what remains and add—

- 12 1/2c Checked Gingham, brown, 27 inches wide, at . 8¢

- Sterling Silverware—savings of one-half or near it on sets and pieces particularly fine for wedding gifts.

Mrs. Fitzpatrick Entertains Ga. Delegates at Biennial

By Mrs. Harvie Jordan
Chicago, Ill., June 18—(Special)—Mrs. Fitzpatrick, president of the Georgia Federation of Women's Clubs, complimented the entire delegation to the Chicago biennial from Georgia with a dinner at the Congress hotel. The days have been so busy this was the first opportunity presented for all the crowd to get together.

After toasts were proposed to the president the state secretary stated for and other delegates of which Georgia is justly proud, Mrs. Fitzpatrick asked each one to tell what had impressed her most during the convention. One said the beautifully running machinery of it all impressed her most—no friction no confusion every program carried out promptly and concisely.

Another was especially impressed with the fact that no other state had more splendid club women no better speakers no lozier idealism than Georgia.

Modern Methods Are Best

Mammy now uses Calumet Baking Powder instead of sour milk and soda, or the cheap and big-can kind, because it is more convenient—because she knows from experience that the baking will be lighter, daintier and more uniformly raised—that it will keep fresh longer.

Calumet is certain of good results—it is purer and more wholesome than the cheap big-can kind, and more economical in the end.

Give Calumet one trial. If it fails to give you absolute satisfaction return it and get your money back. If you don't get Calumet you don't get the best.

TECH MEN ENCOURAGED BY RESULTS ACHIEVED

Campaign Workers Redouble Efforts—McCrary Discusses Value of Greater Institute.

Encouraged by the success with which they were met yesterday, the campaign workers of the Greater Tech movement have redoubled their efforts to break the record in the campaign today and tomorrow.

The practical advantages to Atlanta and to Georgia are being stressed by the workers. J B McCrary of the McCrary Engineering company yesterday pointed out the value of a research station such as will be established at the Greater Tech.

It is proposed to establish here said Mr McCrary a bureau of investigation and experimental research work for the benefit of the individual and the manufacturers of the state. You will be supplied with an equipment so that the inventor or the discoverer who has caught a new idea can learn whether his scheme is commercially and theoretically practical. An organization of this kind, which wishes to work out new processes in manufacture chemistry or construction can be furnished with the technical skill and theoretical knowledge to determine whether his idea have a practical and commercial value.

With Georgia spending $20,000,000 per year for fertilizers what could be of greater value to the state than a center where the manufacturer could utilize nitrogen from the air or the manufacture of potash from some raw materials within the state?

Take the cotton seed and its products. The present process has been developed to change cotton seed oil worth 30 cents per gallon into Cortolene Cusco snowdrift and artificial lard worth 50 or more cents per gallon giving additional value to Georgia and the south amounting to many millions a year. If Germany had this cotton seed her chemists would not doubt have long since added other millions to its value.

The state of Georgia has a great deal to expect from the Agricultural school at Athens and the Technical school in Atlanta in the way of new and scientific ideas to be applied to the farm and new processes.

To Keep Skin in Fine Condition All Summer

It would be much better for the skin if little cream, powder or rouge were used during the heated term. Mixed with perspiration dust and grime. Suggest there are anything but beautiful. Ordinary mercerized wax will do more for the complexion and with out giving an oily streaked spot or pasty appearance. It is the ideal application for the season as it not only keeps the pores clean but daily removes particles of scarf skin which have been soiled by dirt or weather. By constantly keeping the complexion clear white satin, it does more toward perpetuating a youthful countenance than any of the arts or artifices commonly employed. One ounce of mercerized wax obtainable at any drug store will completely renovate the "worst complexion" it is applied at night like cold cream and washed off in the morning.

To keep the skin from sagging or wrinkling or to overcome such conditions there is nothing better than a face bath made by dissolving 1 ounce powdered salicylic in 2 pint with hazel—(Ad.)

MIGHTY MEN WITH THE PEN.

Here we have been basking in the boast that Georgia is the one state in the union with a statesman who could float into office on the backs of cards, not the playing variety, but newspaper cards. And along comes one T. R., brutal iconoclast in politics as in exploration, and threatens to imitate the same correspondence school campaigning that "Little Joe" Brown made famous. How, do you say? Why, a throat specialist in London has told the Colonel that he would not answer for the consequences if he (the Colonel) draws his voice on any public audience for the next several months. Simultaneously comes the embarrassing announcement that those two noble brothers, Amos and Gifford Pinchot, not to mention George W. Perkins and others of the militant bull moose clan, are trying to catapult the Colonel into an extended autumn speaking campaign, which would necessitate not less than 2,259,999,999 speeches in the open air, from Pullman platforms and elsewhere. Nearly three billion speeches, with the Colonel's voice drying up on him!

There you are. How can you expect a man to be a successful candidate, or even a Warwick of candidates, when his vocal cords are wrapped in a kimono and his larynx is at half mast? The answer is that "Little Joe" Brown has led the way for all time for statesmen to whom the stump is forbidden, and who must find some other outlet for their oratorical ginger. "Little Joe" Brown "put over" two governorships by the aid of his trusty pen and some stubborn people think he may try the method again with regard to this or some other office.

The question arises, and it is pure speculation, can the Colonel enfilade the enemy by the stenographer route as effectually as our own "Little Joe"? We confess to a keen zest for the contest. The Sage of Cherokee has the knack of making a sentence rise up from a sheet of paper and "swat" the reader in the understanding. He can do more with ten lines of type than the average spell-binder can with an hour's vocabulary and the speed limit suspended. The Colonel, of course, is himself "some" writing man. But one can no more imagine the Colonel writing himself or others into an office than he can imagine a windmill drawing water without waving its arms. At some stage of the game the Colonel would become aplogetic, lose his writing voice and straightway break all the injunctions of that London throat pilot.

However, state pride may cause us to underestimate the Colonel's qualities. At any rate, you can't deny that a noiseless campaign contest between he and "Little Joe" would cause more tension and exchange of money than a world's baseball championship series.

WHO'LL PAY THIS COST?

George P. Dickson, of the Tenth Ward Improvement club, tells The Constitution in a recent communication that the city's failure to pave Stewart avenue is causing a depreciation in property values. Who'll pay the cost for the penalty of this blundering and inattention? Mr. Dickson says that from the intersection of Stewart with Whitehall and on out to the corner of Dill and Stewart, no one fears the speed limit will be broken. So impassable is the street that machines court danger even when they make five miles an hour.

What happens to delivery wagons is, of course, another matter. It is no wonder that property should be threatened with depreciation, and it is no wonder that the owners should be in organized protest against the condition.

These people pay taxes. They have been working hard to make Stewart avenue an attractive thoroughfare. To that end they have done their part splendidly. The city has "renegged" on its share of the compact. What encouragement is such a policy to citizens in other parts of unimproved Atlanta? Stewart avenue is not merely a local thoroughfare. It forms an important outlet to three large counties. The traffic is tremendous. This single fact, if not the rights of the residents, should have moved the city to such action as would make the street decent. The condition here represented is not a new one. For nearly two years it has penalized the dwellers and every wagon and auto driver that uses the street to reach the big stretch of country beyond.

The amazing part is that the people living on Stewart have thus long been patient. What they ought to have done was to have sent a vigilance committee to council to state the situation and insist on action or an explanation.

This business of neglecting important trunk streets is getting altogether too frequent in Atlanta.

Who's sleeping with regard to Stewart avenue? Who'll pay the cost for depreciating property values?

THE HISTORICAL PAGEANT.

The picturesqueness and the charm of the Georgia of the colonial and revolutionary eras will form the historic background for a pageant to be presented by the Joseph Habersham chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution at the Auditorium, June 25 and 26. For many weeks the various tableaux and spectacles have been in rehearsal under competent directors and the long cast of men, women and children who will participate has achieved a high degree of efficiency. The Metropolitan Opera Company of New York has loaned scenery and stage settings a fact which testifies to the magnitude of the undertaking and the richness in detail which will mark its presentation.

The pageant opens at the English home of Lord and Lady Oglethorpe. The settings of this scene alone are of rare beauty and attraction. Part II deals with colonial Georgia, including impersonations of many of those who came over with Oglethorpe in the "Ann," a cast of Indian characters and such historic scenes as those which figured the Wesley brothers. Part III, covering revolutionary Georgia presents such noted personages as Governor Sir James Wright, Joseph Habersham, the Liberty boys, continental soldiers, Tories, Indians, Nancy Hart and daughter, George and Martha Washington, Baron DeKalb, Sir Patrick Houston, Count Pulaski, Marquis and Marquise de Lafayette, colonial dames and distinguished personages.

To enumerate these names is to suggest to the reader at once the broad and spectacular scope of the pageant with its wealth of dramatic and historic detail. From start to finish, the audience will have unbound before it a constantly moving panorama of the men and women and events that shaped the early life of this state. Panhandling care has been taken to insure that settings and costumes shall be historically accurate.

The Joseph Habersham chapter of the D. A. R. has laid Atlanta and Georgia under obligations for its work in promoting this pageant. We are now in a year of spectacles of this nature, but the one to be staged at the Auditorium is the first time in the history of the modern south that such exhibits have been attempted on so large a scale. The enterprise is consistent with the other patriotic achievements of the Joseph Habersham chapter in publishing volumes of its story and genealogy, promoting Flag Day, giving away thousands of flags and historic documents generally. It is practical patriotism of this sort that ministers to intelligent love for our finest traditions.

A CHANCE FOR ATLANTA

If Atlanta is to secure the eastern university to be established by the southern Methodist church, sharp and quick work will be needed. The special commission authorized to effect the changes incident to the controversy with Vanderbilt university has awarded the western institution to Dallas. The eastern university as well as the great publishing house now located in Nashville are yet to be placed.

There is no doubt that competition between the cities of the eastern south will be keen. The sooner Atlanta gets into the field the better her chances. The securing of the publishing house of the church would also be a distinct gain to Atlanta. With its large plant, its impressive list of publications and big roll of employees, the publishing house would not only increase Atlanta's prestige, but as well offer substantial material advantages.

With Agnes Scott already operating and Oglethorpe already assured, the addition of a Methodist university would give Atlanta educational distinction throughout the south and the country. It has been suggested that Emory college be moved to Atlanta as the nucleus for the university. The idea has opponents as well as friends. Whatever Atlanta is to do should be done without delay. The special commission is expected to make a decision at a comparatively early date.

UNLIMITED POWER. By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS.

The thing that brings power to you is will. If you will get tired or drowsed and its snap grows dull your Power is withering. Your Will marks out the limits of your usefulness and expresses the extent of your influence by its strength.

If you want to see your Power increase day by day keep the throttle of your Will wide open. The other day I watched a workman packing up his tools and quitting his job 'according to schedule' early in the afternoon whereas I learned that his employer still looked far into the night. And I said that it was a piece of truth that a man staked off his own Success.

Men die from the decaying of their unused abilities. Every thought destroys thousands of cells—but the ones that are placed as if by the Creator would think of limiting the great advance of a single one of His creations! You who work look to your Divinity. And the more and harder you work the more sublime seems your mission. Would you bargain for limited Power, ah if not then at once realize the Unattained Possibilities that are ahead of you. Those things already done or attempted are but the working over and over again—except to their Perfection.

Unlimited Power is for the alert the watchful the courageous—the man with a Will who knows that it has no limit.

DANIEL WEBSTER. By GEORGE FITCH, Author of "At Good Old Swinham."

Daniel Webster the most tremendous orator who has ever reverberated in America, was born and educated in New Hampshire, after which he went to the sea and remained ever since in a partially exhausted condition. Webster arrived on earth in 1782 just before the close of the revolution and eighteen years afterwards delivered a Fourth of July oration in Hanover, which contained many words used for the first time in that vicinity. At 19 he became Dartmouth college's greatest alumnus and later went to Boston where he studied law and fell organ conversation with thunder and lightning strikes.

Webster was at that time a fat lad with a head several times too large for him. He was intensely earnest and chose his pie for breakfast with an eye toward the future preservation of the republic. He took great delight in explaining the size of duty as he sees it. They cannot come in if his being carried away by an enthusiasm of the moment and he will not be. He has two sides yet to serve as solution. How pending will demand his attention for some time to come.

His real friends know that whatever decision he reaches will be made only after he has weighed all the pros and cons and they will be satisfied with that decision. A little careful study of the situation by those who are not personally acquainted with Mr. Dorsey will convince them that he is right in taking time to analyze the question.

On the one hand is a popular clamor from all parts of the state for him to become a candidate for an office—the highest in the gift of the people in the state—an office which one year ago he had possibly never thought of offering to. This call has come from all hands and conditions of people in all sections. It is such a call as few men ever receive in a lifetime. It is one of the most flattering demonstrations that ever man received in the state of Georgia.

Many men would have heeded it long ago and they would have done so for better or worse. To decline such a call might mean neglecting what has been spoken of as the psychological moment but men who can and do say no are bigger men than those who acquiesce too readily.

Mr. Dorsey is a young man—not too young to fill the advisory chair but there are material considerations which he will have to take into account. He fully realizes this.

When there is the work that a campaign will entail, it is over a year Mr. Dorsey has been under a mental and physical strain which few men could have stood. He is to be in the best of physical health but he himself admits that he is exhausted.

Other considerations are to be taken into account and these Mr. Dorsey is weighing carefully before making up his mind. Sunday morning will tell the tale. No one will know before that time.

This is not convincing because many women have shown that they can shoulder a musket and face the cannon and endure long marches as well as their men in foreign lands and among out own Indians. Women often do the heaviest sort of work until their skins are like leather and their muscles are as hard as iron. It is all a matter of training.

But there are many things to consider in war besides fighting. What is a war for? Generally it is intended to gain some rights or stop some abuse but whatever it is for specifically men want their children to grow up and their homes to be preserved and the women stay by the stuff and guard the attars and the fires. DAILY GRIST from the STATES POLITICAL GRIND

THE PROS AND CONS OF DORSEY BOOM: DRIMMON STILL IN THE AIR.

The gubernatorial situation so far as the entry of Solicitor Hugh M. Dorsey is concerned is still a matter of conjecture. As has been stated on several occasions, Mr. Dorsey will make out a statement for publication Sunday morning. Just what the statement will contain Mr. Dorsey's closest and most trusted friends do not know for the very good reason that he himself does not know.

Mr. Dorsey's position in regard to the race for governor is still a matter of conjecture. In the midst of important and taxing legislation which consumed every moment of his time his friends throughout the state through letters and telegrams and personal visits insisted that he allow the use of his name for higher office. The days have ended into weeks and the weeks into months like it has been seen in Georgia politics of recent years. Just what to do under the circumstances was a matter not to be lightly considered. It may perhaps be the reshaping of his entire life's work.

During the past few days Mr. Dorsey has come over the situation and viewed it from a single but still has reached no decision. He has questioned himself many questions. He has questioned the friends whose friendship he most highly prizes. He has listened to the enthusiasm of friends who assure him they would back him, but he has also listened to the friends who are optimistic predictors of the possible contest from the angle of the seasoned politician who indulges in few illusions and coldly considers facts. He has thought of the personal sacrifices his entry into the whole subject. There is not a single man who should be finally decided to make the race it will be without the illusions which some have indulged in. He will be prepared to put up a fight just as he always has done.

Those who know Mr. Dorsey most intimately understand why he has not rushed into the race headlong. They know how he feels toward the position he now holds. They know that he is entertaining very strong ideas in regard to a reform in his office as he sees it. They cannot come in if his being carried away by an enthusiasm of the moment and he will not be. He has two sides yet to serve as solution. How pending will demand his attention for some time to come.

His real friends know that whatever decision he reaches will be made only after he has weighed all the pros and cons and they will be satisfied with that decision. HUGHES MADE HIS ANNOUNCEMENT FOR RE-ELECTION AS NATIONAL REPRESENTATIVE FROM THE TWELFTH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT.

While there has been much talk of various candidates in opposition to Mr. Hughes, it has seemed doubtful that any candidate would be named. Mr. Hughes' announcement for re-election was made in a brief announcement of his candidacy for another term.

Another change in the Board of State's was the entrance of a new member in the race for re-election in the person of Mr. W. J. Dullin. It is one of the best known attorneys of the city. He is running on a platform of "consolidating the city and county" and is making the appearance of a candidate for the court in the next election. GEORGIA LAWYERS MEETING AT TYBEE Annual Gathering of State Bar Association Is Being Held—President Alston Delivers Address.

Savannah Ga. June 18.—The Georgia Bar association began its annual convention at Tybee today with a large attendance. The annual report of the president Robert C. Alston of Atlanta, was read at the morning session, as was that of the treasurer, D. Harrison of Atlanta. Illness prevented Mr. Harrison from attending the convention and his report was read by W. C. Harrison, chairman of the executive committee.

Woman Under the Law was discussed in an interesting paper by H. C. Peoples of Atlanta. A committee of Woodrow Wilson the Georgia Lawyer was the title of an interesting paper by P. C. McHugh of Atlanta, treating of the career of the present president of the United States when a struggling young lawyer in Atlanta. Lawyers from all sections of the state are present for the purpose of attending the meeting. A committee on the revision of Georgia judicial system and procedure will make a report suggesting many changes in the methods of holding courts in the state.

President's Address

President Alston showed that while there is a trend in many changes in the law, the conception of the federal constitution still stands unchanged. He made it clear that the growth of the people. He showed that under the articles of confederation there was no provision made for a federal court and that after that the government never existed for several years before the articles of confederation had had the necessary ratification by the states and that after that the federal government looked down to the states to enforce their laws and to protect their own commerce and activities.

Mr. Alston told how in 1830 an Indian named Tassel was convicted of murder in Hall county and a writ of error was taken to the supreme court. The supreme court held that the writ of error was not within the jurisdiction of the Georgia court was superseded by the federal court. The constitution of this state passed a resolution of joining the union to discontinue any and every mandate and process that Tassel be executed post mortem. The supreme court of the United States Tassel was accordingly executed on December 1, 1830.

Georgia Victories

He showed that the state of Georgia succeeded in these remarkable fights with the supreme court of the United States and that out of the Cheshom case grew the eleventh amendment to the United States constitution. He showed that the federal government has grown to a point that it has been able to take the life of the individual citizen. He showed that if the loss of the state of Georgia were to be in the beginning the power which it now exercises it would have been a great deal more limited. He showed that the state of Georgia has been able to maintain a judiciary which is adequate to the needs of its people composed of upright men against whose integrity there is no breath of suspicion who have moulded the state's laws into a system which challenges the respect and admiration of all men.

CONVENTION IS CLOSED TO INSURGENT WOMEN

Toledo Ohio June 18.—Contested in sargent elections, were barred from the national convention of the Modern Woodmen of America today when after a stormy session the report of the credentials committee ruling in favor of the insurrectionary forces was adopted by a vote of 75 to 125. The vote was the first real test of strength between the contending forces at the national meeting. It marks the first step in permanent organization that taken during the four day meeting. Extra police were stationed at the doors of the convention hall and a line of armed men guarded the entrance. The victory of administration forces on the administrative side of the convention frustrated the plot of the insurgents to hold a session at an independent financial management of the order.

SHULER WILL STAY AT EAST SIDE TABERNACLE

Yielding to the pressure of his congregation and friends throughout the city to continue his work with the East Side Tabernacle, Pastor C. E. Shuler announced at a meeting Thursday night that he had withdrawn his resignation and would continue in charge of the church. The church agreed for Dr. Shuler to be out of the city at intervals and conduct other religious meetings if he would consent to remain as pastor of the church. At the meeting Dr. Shuler will preach on "Sincere Step by Step."

BOSS IS BOUND OVER FOR DEATH OF CONVICT

Coroner's Jury Finds Captain Eberhardt Guilty of Involuntary Manslaughter.

LaGrange Ga. June 18.—(Special)—Captain T. Eberhardt convict boss was bound over for involuntary manslaughter this afternoon by the coroner's jury which has been probing the death of Charles Partridge a young white convict who died Sunday afternoon at a camp near Hogsheadville. Partridge's aged mother charged that her son died soon after he had been severely flogged by Captain Eberhardt. Two young men who had visited the camp Sunday testified that they had heard a blow had seen Partridge fall while Eberhardt stood over him with a heavy walking stick in his hand and tried the boss had then struck Partridge several blows, had cursed him and commanded him to go to the bushes. They declared that the young convict who died shortly after had hardly had strength to drag himself away.

Captain Eberhardt denied this testimony and was supported by several county employees and convicts. The undertaker today stated that he had failed to examine the body because he was afraid he would be summoned to testify. The coroner's jury found the back and legs of the dead man blue and seemingly bruised two hours after his death. The members were undecided as to whether the death was caused by blows or by the weight of the blood from other causes.

Will Levens John J. Gough Turner Ben Jones J. R. Hunt Norwood Darden and County Deputy H. W. Wood the witnesses examined Thursday. A packed house heard the verdict which was delivered in thirty minutes. Partridge leaves a wife and young child.
