

IDENTIFIES SUSPECTS AS MEN WHO ROBBED TRAIN OF $40,000

Harry Melville, the Postal Clerk, Says Perry Is Man Who Stabbed Him When He Refused to Give Up Money.

$6,000 REWARD OFFERED FOR ARREST OF BANDITS

East Point Watchman Identifies Fields and Perry as Suspects He Arrested After Depot Safe Was Looted.

Harry B. Melville, the postal clerk on the Queen and Crescent southbound train No. 1, running from Cincinnati to New Orleans, which was robbed near Birmingham of $40,000 on the night of February 19, arrived in Atlanta Friday afternoon, and identified A. O. Perry, one of the three alleged robbers, who were arrested Monday morning at No. 85 Brookline street, by Sergeant George Bullard and Plain-Clothes Man Shaw, as the train bandit who stabbed him in the back with a knife when he refused to tell the gang of robbers where all the money in the mail car was hidden.

W. B. Gray, alias "Des Moines Billy," alias William Grant, and Rexford Fields, were partially identified as members of the gang of train robbers, along with six other white prisoners, by the three suspects who were lined up, and Melville, on entering the room, proceeded immediately toward Perry, and picked him out as the man who stabbed him. He then picked out Fields and Gray, but was not absolutely positive about identifying them.

Perry Becomes Nervous. When Perry saw Melville enter the prison cell he became very nervous. It was noticed by the officials that Fields and Gray also showed signs of uneasiness when Melville began to approach them.

Tom Oliver, night watchman at the East Point yards of the Atlanta and West Point and the Central of Georgia railroads, identified Fields and Perry Thursday morning as the two men who were arrested as suspects about two months ago on the night when the $40,000 depot safe was blown. Oliver said he knew nothing of Gray. He stated that on that night he was beaten by Fields and Perry, after he had them arrested together and taken to them, when they took his revolver and handcuffed key, and made good their escape.

Fields was identified Thursday morning by a Detective at the post office as the man who was seen with the revolver that since has been identified as one of the two belonging to John Nolan, the train bandit convicted Tuesday afternoon in Marietta, for robbing the Nashville and Chattanooga and St. Louis train at Vinings, Ga.

The three alleged robbers, who were being held at 85 Brookline, supposedly operating from there, have been under police surveillance for some time, information having been received here from the western states that they had moved here. They were arrested Monday morning at the following places: Fields at Griffin, Ga., Saturday night, when the Walker Bros. safe was robbed of $805. Tuesday afternoon, while the officers were searching for the safe, they discovered buried underneath the house a complete set of reggenn tools.

Smith, the Atlanta United States postoffice inspector, who has been working on the Birmingham robbery, have been trying to connect the men with the Queen and Crescent robbery.

Knew John Nolan. The officers state that the suspects "knew" John Nolan, who was killed by James, who was one of the men who defended Nolan at his trial, at police headquarters Friday afternoon and stated that it was his belief that Perry and Nolan held a robbery at the Nashville and Chattanooga and St. Louis train at Vinings the night of January 16. He will cure passengers of the train to identify Perry, and the other two, and ask a new trial for Nolan, who was sentenced to twenty years for the robbery.

Reward of $6,000 was offered for arrest of the gang who robbed the Queen and Crescent train, and if the suspects now held are convicted, Sergeant Bullard and his partner, Shaw, expect to claim the reward for their capture.

Melville told the story of the robbery, stating that the robbers had concealed themselves in the mail car, and armed themselves with pistols. While they were looting the car, he stated that he threw a $5,000 package of bills over into a mail pouch for concealment. The robbers suspected him of doing this, and demanded that he tell them he had thrown it. When he refused, Perry said, "Well, let's kill him," and ran a knife into his back, according to Melville. Melville states that one of the robbers, he thinks Gray, stated that he would not be a party to such a crime, and remonstrated with Perry, trying to keep him from killing him.

Birmingham Wants Suspects. Birmingham, Ala., March 20.—The Ironclad train robber suspects, identified at Atlanta, are to be brought to Birmingham for preliminary hearing before United States Commissioner Walter. The case will go at once into the federal courts because the robbing of mails is involved. Sheriff W. B. McWhorter of this county, said tonight that no action would be taken in behalf of the state until the federal authorities had finished with the prisoners.

CONTAGION SWEEPS NEGRO ORPHANAGE; MANY CHILDREN ILL

Six Colored Babies Lie in Illy-Ventilated Room at Carrie Steel Logan Home on Fair Street.

ALREADY THREE DEATHS HAVE OCCURRED THERE

Diphtheria, Pneumonia, and Malnutrition the Cause—Conditions Prove Necessity of Greater Hospital.

Conditions bordering upon the unbelievable and at once emphatically emphasizing Atlanta's need for a hospital, equipped to take care of its growing population, were unearthed last Friday in the Carrie Steele Logan Home, a colored orphanage, at 901 Fair street.

Six colored babies lie in one ill-ventilated room in that structure, two of them mortally sick. Two doctors have disagreed as to the cause of the illness which has swept through the home leaving a trail of whooping cough here and the clammy hand of double pneumonia there. Dr. H. R. Butler, well known colored physician, of 200 Auburn avenue, states that the children are suffering from diphtheria. Dr. Hall, city physician, declares that the children are suffering from "a complication of diseases." Trained investigators say that diphtheria, pneumonia and malnutrition have caused the epidemic of disease, which has in the past week caused the death of three of the orphans who have been kept at the home.

No Money From County. A visit to the home late Friday afternoon disclosed the fact that the matron, Augusta L. Goodrum, a graduate of First School for Negroes, has been conducting the place for the past several years. The city makes an allowance of $100 per month for maintenance. Up to the first of the present year the county also made an allowance for the support of the home, but this allowance has been cut off. The matron declared that since the first of the year she has received no salary. She stated that prior to that time she received $5 a month as salary, and for incidentals.

The matron also outlined the food served the children, declaring that from the rather formidable menu there was very slight deviation the year round. The children are served two meals a day—breakfast and dinner at noon. The 6 o'clock meal consists of crackers.

A tour of the home building disclosed the following conditions:

TROOPS ARE MOVED IN READINESS FOR CRISIS IN ULSTER

Clash Between British Soldiers and Volunteer Forces, Aroused Over Home Rule, Is Feared.

LEADERS ON BOTH SIDES TRYING TO KEEP PEACE

"Whatever Happens, We Will See That Law and Order Are Observed," Says Attorney General.

London, March 20.—"War in Ulster" is the startling headline sensational London newspapers are displaying in the blackest type.

The government began to dispose of its regular troops in Ireland so they may be in a position to deal with any situation that arises. The army council, some time ago, considered the possibility of home rule strikes and instructed Lieutenant-General Sir Arthur Henry Fitzroy Paget, who commands the Irish garrisons, to take necessary precautions to maintain order and safeguard property. A general redistribution of forces in Ireland, therefore, was begun today.

Two regiments were sent from the south to reinforce the Ulster garrisons while the troops in Ulster were moved to new stations in conformity with the custom that in the event of trouble soldiers will not have to encounter people with whom they had formed friendships. Some Irish recruits were sent from the Armagh recruiting station to England.

Leaders Urge Peace. The possibility of a collision between British soldiers and Ulster volunteers, resulting from the superheated political feeling, are recognized, but leaders on both sides are trying to exert a pacific influence. John Redmond, nationalist leader in parliament, today telegraphed nationalists in Belfast an urgent appeal to abandon a parade arranged for Sunday in Londonderry, which, it is thought likely would result in rioting. Sir Edward Carson, the Ulster leader, and members of the Ulster council invoked calmness on the part of the volunteers. Four cabinet ministers met in Ulster situation at different meetings tonight. John Burns, president of the local government board, in an address, said:

Will Carry Home Rule. "Home rule" is a question mainly for Ireland itself. Three-fourths of the people there have demanded it persistently for years, and we have no right to listen to the demand for more constitutionalism to clamor. We have no more desire to yield to lawless lawless than to lawless laborers.

Thomas McKinnon Wood, secretary of state for Scotland, said: "We will carry home rule by agreement if we possibly can, but without it we must." Augustine Birrell, chief secretary for Ireland, in his speech, declared the government's proposals gave Ulster freedom from coercion for six years.

The Ulster Volunteers. In view of the partisan claims, regarding the number of men, the organization and equipment of the Ulster volunteers, statements by Colonel Duce, military correspondent of The London Times and H. W. Nevison, a prominent writer of the Nation, who have been touring Ulster, are of interest. Colonel Duce says the 110,000 men

O'NEAL DEMANDS GRAND JURY PROBE

Lacy's Charge That Governor Received $27,500 of Convict Funds Branded as Absolute Falsehood.

Montgomery, Ala., March 20.—"An unqualified falsehood" was the term applied here tonight by Governor Emmet O'Neal, of Alabama, to a statement issued here today by Theophilus Lacy, former chief clerk of the state convict department, in which he alleged that he had given the governor $27,500, alleged to have been funds of the convict department. Lacy recently was convicted of embezzling state funds and sentenced to serve ten years in prison.

Dallas Is Coming to Shrine Convention

Dallas is coming to the Shrine convention—that is, all that part of Dallas entitled to do a good, old-fashioned Turkish salami and wear a red fez. This much was assured Friday, when Dr. Harrison B. Cave, manager of the band of Hella Temple, Dallas, C. W. Davis, captain of the Hella Temple patrol, and C. F. Woods, also of Hella Temple, made arrangements in Atlanta for the visit of the Texans. They secured the ninth floor of the Piedmont for Shrine week. The visitors were shown the city by G. G. Dugas, formerly of Hella Temple, and C. W. Ferguson, of Yaarab patrol. The party was royally entertained Friday night by C. L. DuPuy, of Atlanta, formerly of Palestine, Texas.

TORREON INVESTED BY GENERAL VILLA AND 12,000 REBELS

Cannons Placed to Shell Federal Stronghold Sheltering 9,000 Troops Under General Refugio Velasco.

"CITY WILL BE MINE IN WEEK," SAYS VILLA

Constitutionalists, After March Across Desert, Occupy Suburbs of Torreon and Prepare to Shell City.

Constitutionalist Headquarters, Yermo, Durango, Mexico, March 20.—General Villa and his army of 12,000 rebels today invested the federal stronghold of Torreon.

The khaki-clad columns occupied the environs of the city without opposition, and today was spent in wheeling and dragging field pieces into place to shell the federal trenches, dug at every point where the federal commander, General Refugio Velasco, expects attack.

Velasco's army is estimated to number 9,000 men. South and southwest of this city his position is regarded as almost impregnable by reason of the mountains, through which only three passes run, and these have been rendered almost impassable by fortifications and barbed-wire entanglements. In other directions the city is reached through the desert and high hills.

Villa's progress has been slow, because it was necessary to repair railroad tracks and bridges. Early today, however, the road was open from Yermo, where the troops have been mobilizing, to Mapiami and Bermejillo, which are only a few miles north of that city.

At these two cities, after suffering long hours in freight cars, where they were stuffed like pigs in a box, and with little water, the troops detrained and, in the intense heat, formed in columns.

Army Crosses Desert. There was little loss of time in plunging into the desert, some mounted and others on foot. Great clouds of fine dust marked their progress over hundreds of cacti-crowned mesas and through dry water courses. Great tank wagons laden with the water supply which has been Villa's greatest problem, rumbled in the trail, the wheels at times almost hid deep in the sand. When branches of the tough mesquite bush and soap weed were matted under the wheels, sturdy ponies put hands to the spokes, there were streams of profanity addressed to mules in a language said to be in this respect the most adequate in the world, and the column would proceed.

The lips of the few foreigners in the army were cracked and swollen from the heat and alkali dust, but the Mexicans, trained to such conditions, covered their mouths with folds of their blankets and fared better. All eyes were bloodshot.

In this way, amid all the suffering which the harshed waste of arid land in Mexico can furnish, the outskirts of Torreon were reached.

Given No Opposition. There was no opposition, and General Villa declares there had been none since he began to repair the railroad south of Jimenez. The federalists contented themselves with strewing all possible obstruction except bullets in his way. There were occasional exchanges of shots between outposts, but nothing that assumed even the dignity of a skirmish.

General Villa was everywhere, for now that the eve of the battle is at hand, he is busy with the details of the battle of Jimenez. He is now grabbing the battery of a refractory mule, now criticizing the lashings of a pack saddle, or snapping orders at a lesser leader. He went from point to point in his private car, attached to a light engine, and wherever he alighted, his horse, saddled and bridled, was instantly awaiting.

Torreon will be mine in a week. Continued on Page Nine.

Woodrow Wilson Describes Just How It Feels to Be President of United States

Draws Intimate Picture of Himself as Chief Executive for Benefit of Press Club.

Washington, March 20.—Woodrow Wilson unboomed himself to members of the National Press Club of Washington today, telling them, in a frank, conversational way, how he felt as president of the United States, how difficult it was for him to imagine himself as the chief executive with the formal amenities of the position, and how he had struggled to be as free as the ordinary individual without the restraints of his office.

"I tremble to think of the variety and falseness in the impressions I make, drawn by myself, on the occasion of the 'house warming' at the Press club's new quarters. The president did not intend to have his remarks reported, but later, at the request of the club, the unusual speech was made public. It follows:

"I was just thinking of my sense of confusion of identity, sometimes, when I read article about myself. I never have read an article about myself in which I recognized myself, and I have come to have the impression that I must be some kind of a fraud, because I think a great many of these articles are written in absolutely good faith. I tremble to think of the variety and falseness in the impressions I make—and it is being borne in on me so that it may change my very disposition—that I am a cold and removed person who has a thinking machine inside which he adjusts to the circumstances, which he does not allow to be moved by any winds of affection or emotion of any kind, but turns like a cold searchlight on anything that is presented to his attention and makes it work.

Feels Like a Volcano. "I am not aware of having any detachable apparatus inside of me. On the contrary, if I were to interpret myself, I would say that my constant embarrassment is to restrain the emotions that are inside of me. You may not believe it, but I sometimes feel like a far from extinct volcano, and if the lava does not seem to spill over it is because you are not high enough to see into the basin and see the caldron boil. Because, truly, gentlemen, in the position which I now occupy there is a sort, I do not know how else to express it than to say, passionate sense of being connected with my fellowmen in a peculiar relationship of responsibility. Not merely the responsibility of office, but God knows there are enough things in this world that need to be corrected.

"I have mixed, first and last, with all sorts and conditions of men—there are mighty few kinds of men that have to be described to me, and there are mighty few kinds of experiences that have to be described to me—and when I think of the number of men who are looking to me as the representative of a party, with the hope for all varieties of salvation from the things they are struggling in the midst of, it makes me tremble. It makes me tremble not only with a sense of my own inadequacy and weakness, but as if I were shaken by the very things that are shaking them; and if I seem circumspet, it is because I am so diligently trying not to make any colossal blunders. If you just calculated the number of blunders a fellow can make in twenty-four hours, if he is not careful and if he does not listen more than he talks, you would see something of the feeling that I have.

"I was amused the other day at a remark that Senator Newlands made. I had read him the trust message I was to deliver to congress some ten days before I delivered it, and I never stop 'doctoring' things of that kind until the day I have to deliver them.

Bandit's Description. The bandit is described as being of medium height, slender and apparently youthful. He wore a blue handkerchief pulled over his face to the brim of a stylish telescoped hat, which had a bow at the back and was green. He wore kid gloves and tan shoes and a light gray suit. The gloves are believed to have been worn to conceal either a missing finger or some identification mark upon a hand or finger. His trousers were pressed, and he wore a collyer and tie.

The patrol was the biggest, every passenger—and even the porter—agree, ever seen in even a stage hold-up. Conductor Graden, himself, declared to a reporter for The Constitution after reaching the Terminal station at midnight, that it was fully as long as the forenoon.

Among the passengers in the day

DETECTIVE BURNS GIVEN HOT ROAST BY WILL M. SMITH

Lawyer for Jim Conley Pictures Detective as "Movie Picture, Stage Lecturing, Tangoing Sleuth."

SAYS BURNS MUST AGREE TO TERMS HE WILL MAKE

Charge of Conspiracy Made by Burns in Roasting Private Detectives—Mysterious Telegram Sent Conley at Will.

"Detective Burns in this matter will, at least, be taught that he is merely a 'private detective' working for his employers, 'private parties.' He is not even a citizen. Burns has no rights in this matter. He is in no way connected with the administration of the law of this state."

In this manner Attorney William M. Smith, counsel for Jim Conley, arrested, William J. Burns, America's noted sleuth, who is engaged in probing the Leo Frank case, Mr. Smith last night issued a public statement in answer to the recently published statement from Burns that the attorney, in event he cared, would interview Conley at will.

Smith declares that if Burns ever sees Conley it will be necessary for the detective to consult with the negro's counsel in a gentlemanly manner, and to agree to conditions which the attorney will stipulate. Smith says that Burns cannot affront the laws which govern the rights of a prisoner in a predicament in such a manner as is a predicament in such a client is abused.

Will Smith's Card. His statement follows in full: "If the papers correctly quote William J. Burns, this movie picture, stage lecturing, tangoing sleuth, following his usual methods of playing to the galleries, he must be not only a disappointment to his employers, but a downright injury to the cause in which he is being paid."

"Atlanta generally no doubt hopes that a Daniel has come to judgment, and that a truly great mind, with lofty purposes, had quietly moved into this great issue to search out the truth, without parade or display."

"With this responsibility for the right in this crisis of our law administration resting, in a measure, upon me, I had hoped for something from Burns, but with a great deal more hope, however, than faith, I must admit."

"Burns' statements (like many of his swiftly-formed and published opinions) that my co-operation was unnecessary to an interview with Conley may be a prematurely formed opinion, and, at least, an unfortunate expression of them. Unless the sheriff or his deputies, in the face of the order of court and the expressed wish of this ignorant negro prisoner and his counsel—and I have no reason to believe they will—Mr. Burns will find that his expressed opinion in this matter is sadly wrong."

"Mr. Burns in this matter will, at least, be taught that he is merely a 'private detective' working for his employers, 'private parties.' He is not even a citizen. Burns has no rights in this matter. He is in no way connected with the administration of the law of this state."

"If Burns ever sees Conley he must come to me as a gentleman should and express an understanding that he has no rights in the matter, and, if his requests are reasonable, and Burns will agree to such terms as I dictate, Burns will receive consideration as far as the situation—in my judgment—demands."

Will Be a Courtesy. "If Burns is allowed to see Conley it will not be as a matter of right, but as a matter of courtesy from Conley and his counsel."

"It ought to be to the everlasting shame and disgrace of William J. Burns should he come here to perform a high service for truth's sake and sacrifice it upon the altar of his desire for publicity. There is no time for bombast and braggartry."

"The public mind of our people is sternly, determinedly bent upon truth seeking only. Human life is at stake."

WANTS BOND ISSUE FOR PLAZA PROJECT

Woodward Says He Is Willing to Have Bonds for Greater Hospital Included at Same Time.

Although Mayor James G. Woodward is not in favor of a bond issue to float all the public improvements urged on the city administration, he placed himself squarely on record yesterday as not only favoring an issue of $1,000,000 but advocating such a project providing the money is devoted to the plaza project.

Want Plaza Started Mayor Woodward wants the plaza project started next year if possible. He stated Friday that the scheme is first and last with him and he explained that he believes the people of Atlanta will vote an issue of bonds to carry the improvement through. The mayor also favors the issuance of at least $1,000,000 in bonds for Grady hospital provided the issue is included in the plaza project.

Will Retire Bonds The increased taxes from the property in close proximity to the plaza will be sufficient to retire the bonds and pay the interest in thirty years.

CURE YOUR SORES Use A-K Salve.

MEN AND RELIGION BULLETIN NO. 106. PERSONAL LIBERTY

"You have been called unto liberty; only use not liberty for an occasion to the flesh, but by love serve one another." —Gal. 5:13

- "God is love." Browning sang—"All's love, yet all's law." The sacrifice of children in mills— Working women and men at less than a living wage— The brothel requiring the ruin of girls and spreading disease— Cruelty to convicts— Breweries and distilleries belching forth poisonous streams which leave in their wake hate and murder, crime, broken hearts and wrecked homes— The blind tigers, whether in the guise of near-beer saloons or social clubs, the unlawful channels through which these alcoholic poisons pour in Georgia— The Church of the living God in the name of the Law of Love calls you to war against all of these.

- Not to deprive you of dividends, but to save little children. Not to keep you from growing rich, but to give liberty and life to women and men— Not to prevent your enjoying life, but to save girls from worse than death and unborn generations from blindness and disease— Not to spoil good fellowship, but to put a stop to the ruining of health, the wrecking of homes, the promotion of crime, and the spreading of degeneracy— Not to enslave you, but to keep you free.

"For freedom did Christ set us free." And today there is the age-old choice—God or Mammon, love or greed, liberty or slavery. Dividends against the lives of children; money against the homes of women and men; gold against the purity of girls; coin against health, happiness and honor; material wealth against your soul

Jesus said—"You can not serve God and Mammon." Paul wrote—"The love of money is the root of all evil." And note— THE DECATUR STREET BLIND TIGER—THE NORTH GEORGIA MOONSHINER—THESE BREAK THE LAW TO GET MONEY WITH WHICH TO PAY DEBTS AND TO BUY. THE SOCIAL CLUB, WHICH BREAKS THE LAW BY SELLING LIQUOR, DOES SO TO GET THE MONEY WITH WHICH TO PAY DEBTS AND BUY. THE THREE DERIVE A PROFIT FROM DRUGGING MEN FOR MONEY IN DEFIANCE OF THE EXPRESSED WILL OF THE STATE.

The three fight to destroy respect for law. And you prate of personal liberty in defence of this? There is this difference—the moonshiner and the Decatur Street blind tiger when caught are punished. GOD HELP YOU AND US, IF THE DAY EVER DAWNS WHEN EITHER POSITION OR WEALTH WILL LONG PROTECT MEN WHO ARE ENGAGED IN THE DELIBERATE VIOLATION OF THE LAW. SHOULD THAT DAY EVER COME, LIBERTY WOULD INDEED BE DEAD. There are those in Georgia and in this world who try to follow Christ who believe that that day has not come and will never come. Christ by His death and life has made us free. Across the ages we see Stephen stoned, James beheaded, Peter crucified, Paul slain, John Huss and Savonarola burned, and the bones of Cromwell disinterred and hung in chains, but—each time liberty, that perfect law, personal liberty has been more deeply written in the hearts of men and women. No man, nor group of men, can blot that out which is graven upon the heart of the world by the cross of Christ—"God is love." Ever and again, when Greed seeks by passion or cruelty to obscure this word, there comes God's call—"You have been called unto liberty; only use not liberty for an occasion to the flesh, but by love serve one another. "For all the law is fulfilled in one word, even this: Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself."

"THE DEVIL WAS SICK."

It may have been only a coincidence that three days before the senate called up the bill of Senator Smith, of South Carolina, providing for federal regulation of cotton exchanges, the New York Cotton exchange announced a voluntary change in its system of grading and classification. Knowledge of the simious psychology of what has been called the "greatest gambling institution on earth" kindles our suspicion that the action was deliberate and not spontaneous. It is all over again a case of—

"The devil was sick, the devil a monk would be;
The devil was well, the devil a monk was he."

The New York Cotton exchange has for some time known that it was in the mind of congress to amend or end the exchange. Loving life, the exchange is evidently trying to "beat congress to it." The one weak point about the action of the exchange, whereby it commits itself to the same standard of classification in use at New Orleans, is that folk are proverbially distrustful of death-bed repentances.

No one wants to incontinently wipe out of existence the New York Cotton exchange or any other exchange.

The annihilation of these institutions would deprive traders and mill owners of the legitimate right of hedging, the practice upon which the system of long-time contracts for delivery of goods is based.

The farmer also would suffer, since there would be no balance wheel to quotations and we would be virtually at the mercy of selfish European interests.

All that is asked of the exchanges is that they be made to observe a fair and honest contract system.

That assured, the exchanges will be left undisturbed to pursue their legitimate functions. Without it they will and should be abolished.

THE PRESIDENT AND MEXICO.

President Wilson's unofficial announcement with regard to the approaching Mexican crisis is nothing more nor less than a reaffirmation of his ultimatum many times reiterated to prominent Mexicans. He says that he maintains no blacklist of the Mexicans personally unacceptable to the administration. His one idea, and it is axiomatically fundamental, is that this government will recognize no one who is not acceptable to all factions, and no one whose ascendancy represents merely arbitrary force and not the expression of the public will. The talk that the president may send a commission to Mexico, and that Huerta as well as Carranza and Diaz will confer with its members, is an encouraging gleam from a sinister situation.

counting chickens before they are hatched. It may be that at the show-down the Mexicans will be utterly unable to agree among themselves. That means intervention. In the meantime, the president cannot be accused of leaving one stone unturned to prevent a climax the possibilities of which no judicial mind can view with complacency.

THE FEDERAL ROAD MEASURE.

President Wilson has broadly intimated that he will support the Shackelford bill, already reviewed in The Constitution. The measure pledges the federal government in substantial amount to co-operate with the states in construction and maintenance of highways. Such action on part of the president means the bill will pass at the present session of congress, the appropriations to be available during the current year, provided of course the individual states comply with requirements.

Under the Shackelford bill Georgia would ultimately draw nearly or quite $700,000 from the federal treasury to be expended upon roads. The one drawback so far as this state is concerned, the question as to whether or not convict labor on roads could be accepted as the state's cash equivalent to the government's offer, has already practically been ironed out in the senate. Only technicalities remain to be effected. The other requirement, that the state maintain a bona fide highway commission, can and will be met as soon as the legislature convenes in June.

The Constitution confidently predicts that the enactment of this legislation will prove one of the strongest and most popular features of the administrative program. For years the nation, irrespective of party, has been clamoring for real and not fictional aid to highway construction. And here it is nearly materialized, with hardly a ripple save that pertaining to the task of compromising slight divergencies of opinion. If congress put through no measures other than the tariff and currency laws and this roads bill it would have wrought in a manner not approached by its predecessors in many years.

REAL PATRIOTISM.

The senate witnessed the other day the remarkable spectacle of Senator Lodge, republican, of Massachusetts, vigorously defending the administration's policy in caring for the Mexican refugees interned this side of the Rio Grande.

It is gratifying that the long-drawn-out Mexican crisis has brought to the surface a good deal more patriotism than jingoism and peanut politics. Of course, in both house and senate there have not been lacking small or bitter minds willing to grasp questionable political advantage at the expense of ridiculing the administration in a national crisis. We have had that sort of thing before, in war no less than in peace. But there is less of it than at any time in the history of the country. The wholly selfish efforts of a few newspapers to humiliate and embarrass the administration have had precious little respectable support in congress.

All of which is heartening to the American who believes in progress and optimism. The day of the rabid partisan has passed, or at least is passing. We will always have parties, under our form of government. But indications multiply that party fervor will increasingly be unable to tempt men to forget their primary duty to the whole nation or to the dignity of the nation's service.

WHEN BUSINESS WAKES.

An encouraging development of the national legislative situation is the projection of legitimate business influence into its various processes. Among the latest illustrations is a bill looking to the regulation of stock exchanges, drawn by the Boston chamber of commerce and submitted to the senate banking and currency committee by request of that body.

Few of our legislators are finished business men. They need information from business men, not lobbyists or interested individuals. Logically, this sort of co-operation is of mutual aid.

The business man is saved from the demagogue. The legislator is saved from the public wrath. May they come closer together in the future.

It is needless to say that the next speech Ambassador Page delivers will not be extemporaneous.

The springlike weather is bad for the coal barons, but the popular petition soon will be, "Heaven save us from the ice trust."

Professor Taft is still paying his respects to the Colonel, who is too busy slaying wild animals to notice the knocks.

A few thousand Mexicans at Uncle Sam's Texas hotel don't give a rap for the high cost of the daily bill of fare.

Mr. Taft protests against being called "Colonel." This is either a slam at a certain great hunter or a criticism of his Kentucky friends.

Now that Mr. Bryan has six grandchildren, he may have to put on more lecture dates.

Just from Georgia
Joy With His Fiddle.
Hand sweet Joy his fiddle
—let him play a tune;
We want to dance our troubles from the green earth to the moon!

A Joy-dance, good people!
Trouble comes from the same time be
And so, we want to dance it
From the green earth to the moon!

The Rayner Tribune expresses this "want" in its editorial columns:
"Wanted, an editor who can read, write and think. He should be able to handle religious, funny, scientific and historical material, will write to please everybody, know everything without asking or being told, always having something good to say about everybody else, live on wind and make more money than enemies. For such a man a good opening will be made (in the graveyard)."

When the Sun Is on the Blaze.
Springtime in Georgia—you'd like to sing her praise
Or just a day in summer, when the sun is on the blaze;
But if you did, a blizzare a mighty howl would raise
And scatter leagues and leagues of snow on all the shivering ways!

The singers never realize the tickle seasons' plan
And they get small information from the government weather man;
But, glory be! no matter how the weather works its will,
It's damn to be a livin' in the glorious country still.

MORBIDITY.
By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS.
Moribidity is a contagious disease. And yet in no civilized community are there quarantines against it. So that each man must bear any individual responsibility for its extermination.

Morbidity is what happens when you come to think that your lot is the SADDEST and most difficult in the world—also it's the thing that follows brooding and inaction.

The disease of Morbidity acts very much the same upon humans as the pictured and acted stage play did upon the woman who wept bitterly over the acted scenes while her coachman was freezing outside. Every time you allow yourself to become Morbid, you may be sure that the innocent will suffer from it the most.

The Great Trials of History

TRIAL OF BENJAMIN DISRAELI.

The ancient court of king's bench has been the scene of many remarkable historical trials, but it has been but rarely that the "criminal" was afterwards loaded with honors, and in but one instance succeeded to the prime ministry. But such a thing happened in the reign of Queen Victoria. Benjamin Disraeli (or D'Israeli as it was then spelled), then member for Maidstone, was the defendant.

In 1837 Disraeli was thirty-two years of age, and although he had made four attempts he failed to get into parliament. At last his luck changed and, together with a Mr. Wyndham Lewis, he was returned as a conservative member for Maidstone.

Disraeli made his famous but unsuccessful speech during the autumn session, which was convened for the purpose of voting a civil list for the young Queen Victoria, and his exaggerated language and fantastic appearance were bound to ensure a fiasco. Let us recollect that the house would not allow the honorable member to finish his speech, and during the greater part of the time he was on his legs, he was so much interrupted that it was impossible to hear what he had to say.

Within a few months from the delivery of this maiden speech, Wyndham Lewis, Disraeli's colleague, died. At the bye-election by which he was returned, the conservative candidate was elected, and Disraeli's return. But a petition was presented against his return, and when it came up for hearing Mr. Austin, G. C., who was counsel for the petitioner, seems to have acted with perfect propriety in his opening speech. But it was made to appeal from the report of Disraeli of having, at the 1837 election, bribed the constituency to return him. This was copied and returned into the London papers, and thence found its way into the provincial press.

The chairman of the committee, who was rather deaf and very mischievous, when asked by Disraeli if the report of Austin's speech was true, replied in the affirmative. As a matter of fact, Disraeli made no charge against Disraeli at all, but Bruce had misled the latter as to what had taken place. Late that night Disraeli wrote a letter and sent it to all the papers, in part as follows:

"I therefore repeat that the statement of Mr. Austin was false, and inasmuch as he never attempted to substantiate it, I conclude that it was on his side but the blustering artifice of a rhetorical ringleader, calling himself the vile licensee of a loose-tongued lawyer, not only to make a statement that was false, but to make it with a consciousness of its falseness."

The paragraph quoted was a libel on Austin, who did not bring action for damages, but applied for a criminal information to be filed in the court of king's bench. The court was convened on November 23 to witness the trial of the handsome novelist, M. P. who had challenged O'Connell to a duel and was the special protégé of Lyndhurst.

The first Lord Denham presided on the bench, and the prosecutors were Campbell, Colclough and Follett. Campbell, in addressing the judges, denied entirely that Austin had ever made the imputation. He commented very adversely on Disraeli not having made the apology as Austin might have received, and that Austin wished to leave the matter entirely in the hands of the court.

Disraeli, having admitted his trespasses, pleaded for leniency. He confessed he was mistaken and felt pain and mortification, inasmuch as he had wounded the feelings of an honorable, respectable and learned man who had not attempted to injure him. He thought that the apology he offered was, under the circumstances, such as a gentleman should make, and with which the offended party should be cheerfully content.

The judges, however, said that Disraeli, in his address, had made it seem to them that he had no desire to injure the feelings of Mr. Austin, and had, in their opinion, made ample apology, which, if their lordships entirely admitted, his case would be satisfied.

To this Lord Denham remarked: "Then I understand you to say that in consequence of the satisfactory terms of this apology you upon the defendant, to pray for judgment on the defendant, to wit, that we can, with any degree of propriety, pass over his offense unpunished."

The attorney general having replied in the affirmative, said that was the satisfaction of the court that the matter should rest on reparation and apology, and that it should be considered at an end.

DAILY GRIND
STATE'S POLITICAL GRIND

The date for the meeting of the state executive committee has been definitely set for Saturday, April 4.

Governor Slaton on Friday received a letter from Chairman William J. Harris, of the committee, apprising the governor that the date of April 4 had been selected, if satisfactory to the governor. The governor has informed the chairman that he has no preference.

The letter to the governor states that owing to the fact that several members of the committee cannot attend a meeting from April 4 on account of court, that it has seemed best to select the earlier date, April 4 being convenient to the majority of the members.

At the meeting it is expected that the resignation of Senator W. S. West, as vice chairman of the committee, will be tendered. It is also anticipated that after this meeting the races for the various offices, the terms of which expire now, will begin to take a more definite shape.

HARDWICK BEGINS ACTIVELY HIS CAMPAIGN FOR SENATE
Washington, March 20.—(Special).—Representative Thomas H. Hardwick has begun actively his campaign for election to the United States senate by sending out under his congressional frank 300,000 copies of speeches he has made in congress.

Hardwick has a wide range of topics, and touch upon the general issues of the legislation, workmen's compensation, popular election of senators and other public issues which have been before congress during the last two years. Mr. Hardwick has represented the tenth district of Georgia since 1906.

Of course, this matter is of an official character and can be sent broadcast over the state free of charge under the representative frank. The only expense involved is that of having newspaper clippings printed at the government printing office.

Representative Hardwick, because of illness, canceled his engagement for a speech at the Home Market Club of Boston, where he expected to outline the issues on which he will seek election to the senate. It is now expected that he will take the stump early in April and be absent from Washington a great deal from that time on, prosecuting his campaign for the short-term senatorship.

ABSENCE OF THE "WISE ONES"
MARKS "FRIDAY" AT CAPITOL
Friday at the state capitol was marked, in so far as politics is concerned, with an absence of politicians or those inclined to talk politics. Hardly a day passes without that they are expected to outline the issues on which he will seek election to the senate.

THEY ARE STRONG FOR SLATON.
WHATEVER THE RESULT FOR Slaton in whatever decision he may make develops daily. A number of newspapers about the state have expressed the position that they are with the governor, whether it be for one of the senate terms or for another term in the governor's chair.

Also there occasionally appears a man who first thought that the governor would resign the senate, and now believes that he will run for re-election to the governor's chair instead.

SERIOUS OPPOSITION NOT EXPECTED
BY FRIENDS OF JUDGE BROYLES
Should Judge Roan decline to run for re-election to the appellate bench, it is regarded as a foregone conclusion that Judge Broyles will be his successor.

As yet, Judge Roan has not announced whether or not he will stand for re-election. But it is generally expected that he will stand for re-election at the expiration of the present term he will not be before the people for the place.

And to date no one has appeared to oppose Judge Broyles. It is set a little early to predict that no opposition will be forthcoming, but serious opposition is not anticipated by the friends of Judge Broyles, who would see him on the appellate bench.

MONTGOMERY COUNTY VOTES
AGAINST FORMING OF NEW COUNTY
Mount Vernon, Ga., March 20.—(Special).—At the last session of the legislature a bill was introduced to further cut and divide

Montgomery county by the creation of a new county out of the northern end of Montgomery, the new county to be called Truettlen. The new county of Toombs was taken largely from Montgomery county in 1905 and in 1912 the new county of Wheeler was created out of Montgomery county's territory, no part of it being taken from any other county. The bill to create Truettlen county does not take any territory from any county except Montgomery.

The question of the further division of Montgomery county was submitted to the people of the county at the primary held April 6, Wednesday, the democratic executive committee having called a meeting on this question under instructions from a mass meeting of the citizens of the county, and the result in this primary was against the creation of the new county, the new county proposition receiving 474 votes and against the new county receiving 886 votes. It will be of interest to note that of the votes cast in favor of the new county 181 of them were polled at Spouton, which hopes to be the county seat of the new county if created.

It is hoped that this expression from the people to be affected will be heeded by the legislature in the approaching session this summer.

GLYNN COUNTY COMMITTEE
FAVORS EARLY PRIMARY
Brunswick, Ga., March 20.—(Special).—The democratic executive committee of Glynn county will hold a meeting early next week for the purpose of fixing a date for the county primary.

While no date has as yet been decided on, it is understood that a majority of the members of the committee, as well as the various local candidates, are in favor of an early primary, and it is expected that it will be called for some time early in May.

COMMITTEE SETS MAY 12 AS DATE OF WALTON COUNTY PRIMARY
Monroe, Ga., March 20.—(Special).—The Walton county democratic executive committee met a few days since and set May 12 as the date for holding the county primary. Up to this date there are very few candidates in the field, but the indications are that several more will enter within the next week or so.

NUMBER OF INTERESTING RACES
IN PROGRESS IN FLOYD COUNTY
Rome, Ga., March 20.—(Special).—One of the warmest political races in Georgia will be that for sheriff of Floyd county. W. G. Dunahoo, the present sheriff, has announced for re-election, and has on his ticket as deputies D. C. Pears, Joseph Watts and Burr Stanton. James Dunahoo is opposed by J. B. Barron. The indications are that several more will enter within the next week or so.

THE NEW COMMITTEE ORGANIZED WITH HON. ORRIN HOWARD, CLERKMAN AND EDITOR BROSST CAMP SECRETARY, THE COMMITTEE BEING CHOSEN AT A MASS MEETING A FEW DAYS PREVIOUS.

HAIRY RE-ELECTED CHAIRMAN OF PIKE COUNTY COMMITTEE
Barnesville, Ga., March 20.—(Special).—The new democratic executive committee of Pike met Thursday at Zebulon and organized for the next two years. B. H. Hardy, of Barnesville, was re-elected chairman and W. Jordan, of Molena, was re-elected secretary.

TWO SANDERSVILLE CITIZENS ARE CANDIDATES FOR CONGRESS
Sandersville, Ga., March 20.—(Special).—It is now definitely known that Judge B. T. Rawlings will not be a candidate for re-election to judge of the middle judicial circuit. He has aspirations to be congressman from the tenth. Also as A. Willis Evans, of Athens, and J. B. D. Evans, of Athens, are candidates for re-election to the senate, and the indications are that several more will enter within the next week or so.

Promoting Farm Development
R. W. Perkins, president of the Shore Line Electric railway, Norfolk, Conn., has announced a campaign on the part of the company in behalf of the farmers in the territory which the railway serves. The state has $1,000 which it is prepared to appropriate to New London county for agricultural development, provided a sufficient amount can be raised by the people of the county to defray the expenses of the demonstration.

The Shore Line Electric railway has offered to make an annual contribution of $500 toward the expense of this demonstration and a guarantee of $500 additional, provided the organization is able to raise the full amount above the $1,000 given by the state and the $500 by the company.

Plans have already been made by the Shore Line Electric railway to alter an old freight terminal, and Mr. Perkins has offered to furnish quarters to be used in connection with the new London County Farm Bureau station for such farm produce as is brought in. There will be connections with the tracks of the steam railroads.

and he made himself ridiculous every time he opened his mouth.

"The last time he was a candidate for the school board he attended a political meeting and was called upon for a few remarks. He was sitting by him and tried to persuade him to refuse, but he was bound and determined, and had his way. He got up on the platform and tried to turn loose a speech but he was so nervous that he couldn't get a word out. He was the only one who was not called upon to speak, and he was always coming home with a hazy idea of what he would say if he saw my standing here trying to sell a book on oratory."

A Story of the Moment

By RACONTEUR.

THE SPELLBINDERS.

"I am informed that your husband takes an active public matter, as all good citizens should," said the man with side-whiskers, "and I have no doubt that he's often called upon to make a speech. Now, it's an unfortunate fact that the average American is not up to the mark when called upon for a speech, because he doesn't know the rudiments of rhetoric. It was with this fact in mind that the great Professor Doodle-spleer wrote his book on elocution and oratory. With this book in his position any man may rival Demosthenes or J. Hamilton Lewis, and I am offering it at such a low price—"

"Oh, go along with you," exclaimed Mrs. Curfew. "Even if your book was the best in the world, I wouldn't buy it because it was brought up in a respectable home, and my father taught me to place no trust in people who wear side-whiskers. I have sympathy for men who are crippled or deformed, for they can't help themselves, and only yesterday I gave a good hickory shirt to a man whose ears had been bitten off by a tame bear; but no man is compelled to wear side-whiskers, and such deformities don't appeal to charitable hearts. It may be that your wife is bedridden and that you have many children crying for bread, but nobody will feel sorry for you until you have had those fine escapes condemned and removed."

"And if you must go around pestering busy women trying to sell books, you might at least sell cookery books, or some volumes that will make people nobler and better. We have too many orators in this country as it is. You start a man once set on his feet, and he is a spellbinder, he is totally unfit for useful work, and most men are only too eager to believe that they can talk rings around Cicero and Bryan."

"My husband is a fine man, taking him by and large, and he is universally respected. He can do many things well, but he can't speak worth a cent. When he talks low he rumbles, and when he talks high he whistles, and every once in a while he forgets what he was going to say and stands before a crowd like an idiot struck by lightning, so that even his worst enemies would feel sorry for him. It took me the longest time in my confidence that public speaking isn't his strong point. He used to be always reading the orations of Daniel Webster and the rest of the famous windjammers, and he bought books on elocution and studied them when he should have been spading up the garden. In spite of all his studying he couldn't overcome his habit of getting his wires crossed whenever he tried to speak, and he made himself ridiculous every time he opened his mouth.

"The last time he was a candidate for the school board he attended a political meeting and was called upon for a few remarks. He was sitting by him and tried to persuade him to refuse, but he was bound and determined, and had his way. He got up on the platform and tried to turn loose a speech but he was so nervous that he couldn't get a word out. He was the only one who was not called upon to speak, and he was always coming home with a hazy idea of what he would say if he saw my standing here trying to sell a book on oratory."

Hauling Materials in Motor Trucks.

(From The Engineering Record.)

Although the horse and the mule will long continue to be used on road work, their day for hauling road materials is fast passing. Motor trucks of 3 to 5-ton capacity are becoming popular for hauling wherever the roads are sufficiently good to admit their use. Recently the use of "trailers" has added much to the popularity of motor trucks. While a "trailer" decreases the speed of transportation it greatly increases the tonnage haulage. In fact, traction engines hauling trains of wagons have been in successful use for many years.

As to the relative economic merits of motor trucks and traction engines, no data yet available point either to the one or the other as being clearly preferable. In making comparisons, several things, other than the ton-mile cost while hauling during the road building season, should be kept in mind: Whether the hauling can be used for other purposes than road building; whether it can be used in the winter; whether it destroys existing roads and subgrades sufficiently to be objectionable; whether there is room to maneuver.

Not a few men are making it their sole business to contract for hauling. Such men often work their hauling plant two shifts daily, running about 18 hours out of the 24. This greatly reduces the interest cost per ton-mile. A not uncommon price is 15 cents per ton-mile over rough roads and under severe conditions.

Money-Saving Gardens

Lots of talk the past few years about the high cost of living and that high cost is a real problem and still with us.

Health-Saving Gardens

There's a health saving side to the home garden also. Out people as a whole eat too little vegetable food. Lack of proper amounts of vegetables in our diet means clogged up system and a constant "below par" feeling.

Hastings' 1914 Catalogue

Will help you in planning for one of these money-saving, health saving gardens for spring and summer. 100 pages, handsomely illustrated and full from cover to cover of garden and farm information. It's free. Either call at our store, write or telephone and we will send it promptly.

Something Entirely New in Corsets

This store has always been headquarters for Nemo Corsets in this city, and since the introduction of the Self-Reducing Corsets we have with pleasure presented to our customers many Nemo improvements and special patented features, all of which have added to the fame of the Nemo, because all have accomplished some particular service in giving women beauty and style of figure with perfect comfort and hygiene safety.

But perhaps the most important and most revolutionary of all Nemo improvements is the new—

KOPSERVICE

This is a newly patented and novel construction, with the liberal use of the durable Nemo elastic fabrics, producing a perfect CORSETLESS EFFECT, yet giving the figure complete hygiene support. It is entirely new.

There are FOUR of these models, each of which is practically two corsets in one—the inner Corset giving the needed figure-support or figure-improvement, the outer skirt adjusting itself in NATURAL FIGURE lines, and, being boneless, gives the perfect "uncorseted" effect to any figure. A MODEL FOR EVERY FIGURE.

No. 552, at $5.00—For full figures Construction similar to No. 551, but with elastic front gorges.

No. 561, at $5.00—An ideal model for SLENDER or medium figures. Almost 'topless,' and all-elastic above waist line. Very long skirt. The new KOPSERVICE supporting feature. Lastcurve-Back Suede batiste. Sizes 20 to 30.

No. 551, at $5.00—For full figures Improved supporting feature, with curved front steels. Low bust, long skirt with Lastcurve-Back. Fine coutil. Sizes 20 to 30.

No. 562, at $5.00—For medium figures. Low bust, very long skirt, with Lastcurve-Back. Deep elastic gorges in front give free breathing and the "nature" figure. Suede batiste. Sizes 20 to 30.

Every woman who aims to be up to date, yet values her health and comfort, will derive much benefit from studying these new models.

STRIKING MINERS SUED FOR MILLION

Colorado Coal Corporation Files Big Damage Suit Against the United Mine Workers of America.

Trinidad, Colo., March 20—Charging a combination by the United Mine Workers of America to injure the business of the coal corporation a suit asking for damages to the amount of $1,000,000 and bodily judgment against President John P. White, vice president Frank Hayes and a score of others was filed today in the district court of Loveland county by the Colorado Fuel and Iron company.

The complaint charges that in furtherance of the alleged combination and conspiracy the United Mine workers of America officials caused large quantities of guns and ammunition to be purchased for use and which were used in a series of strikes and explosions of plants in striking and intimidation suits to be made to plaintiffs' said employees which speeches contained intimations and personal injury and abuse would come to those who failed to respond to said call of strike.

It is declared that only about one hundred men of the company went on strike voluntarily. The defendants are charged with most violent and malicious conduct in the strike. It is charged that the strikers secured police and managed to strike terror to the minds of those who might wish to seek employment with the company.

Comment by Union. Denver, Colo., March 20—(Special.)—The United Mine Workers of America here refers to the announced intention of the Colorado Fuel and Iron company to file a suit against the union for nearly $1,000,000 and bodily judgments against their leaders. It was an admission of the inability of the company to break the strike.
