ASKED AND ANSWERED.
Editor Constitution: Two reports have been persistently circulated here for the past several weeks—one to the effect that The Constitution has bought The Atlanta Georgian, and the other to the effect that Mr. Hearst has bought The Constitution.

Simply for information, and to put an end to the rumor one way or the other, I will be glad to have an expression from you on the subject.
D. G. BICKERS.
Athens, Ga., March 22, 1914.

The rumor quoted in the letter from Mr. Bickers is an echo of similar gossip which has been revived in various forms from time to time during the forty-six years' career of The Constitution, and which, in its new form, has doubtless gained current and renewed circulation, on which account only The Constitution, confirming its personal reply to the specific inquiry, takes advantage of the opportunity to publicly bury this rumor in the grave of its predecessors.

The Constitution has not bought The Georgian, and, while it maintains cordial relations with all of its competitors, confessing a peculiar fondness for its Atlanta neighbors of the newspaper field, it has no cannibalistic appetite for assimilation.

Neither has The Constitution sold, nor offered, nor considered a sale to Mr. Hearst or to any one else.

In the splendid development of the unequalled territory covered by The Constitution, there is plenty of room and a fair field for healthy competition in every class of legitimate endeavor, and it shall be the policy of The Constitution in the future, as it has been in the past, to labor along its own lines for the perfection of its own processes to aid, to entertain and to please its subscribers, and to build up the business of its advertisers.

In the meantime, The Constitution has no remote purpose, desire or intention to buy from, or sell to, any of its competitors, with all of whom it confidently expects to maintain for all time the keen but generous rivalry which wars only in enterprise and industry.

"A MESS OF POTTAGE."

The Associated Press reports that the situation regarding the Panama canal tolls repeal is badly obscured, and that it is commonly conceded that much of the foreign policy of the administration hinges upon the success of repeal.

The mere fact that the honor of the country is pledged should be sufficient to rally an overwhelming majority to the repeal of the indefensible exemption clause.

It does not lighten the face of dishonor to say that the platform of this or that party demands free tolls.

The Hay-Pauncefote treaty, with, theoretically, the signature of every American citizen upon it, is a prior lien upon the good faith of the nation. No number of party planks or quibbling subterfuges can evade this clean-cut fact. And that is not to reckon with the knowledge that exemption of coastwise shipping, as a means of protection, is a fraud, pure and simple; already coastwise shipping is protected against foreign competition; whatever "exemption" is given will be a naked gift from the United States treasury.

But, for the sake of academic argument, put the matter of exemption upon a sordid basis. Assume exemption is justified. What does coastwise shipping get out of it? The estimate is that exemption will confer upon coastwise shipping a gain of $2,000,000 a year.

Why pay this gratuity to an already-protected interest?
We pay, first, the contempt of every square-dealing nation in civilization, the contempt visited upon the individual or the nation that fails to fulfill a solemn pledge, that "welches" on a note; we invite distrust of America in all its dealings with each other country in civilization. Translated into the "dollars and cents" basis, which the opponents of repeal appear to consider the sine qua non, what do these conditions signify?
Jostling and jarring in the far east over trade, territorial and racial matters; a blot upon England's powerful friendship for us; a possible embarrassment on our own hemisphere regarding the Monroe doctrine; a probable embarrassment of the growth of our foreign trade for an indefinite reach into the future.

All this for $2,000,000 a year to a lusty and protected interest.
Honor to one side, if the nation is willing to swap its birthright for this microscopic mess of pottage, the sterling common sense of the nation has undergone a marvelous metamorphosis.
That for the "dollars and cents" basis!

THE MEDIEVALISTS.

Several days ago The Constitution published an editorial protesting against the proposed professional crucifixion of Dr. John A. Wyeth, of New York city, for a larical infringement of medieval medical ethics. Dr. Wyeth, whose name and accomplishments reputable physicians the world over hold in reverence, had invited a reporter to a clinic upon the explicit understanding that his account of the proceedings should not be used until first submitted to the doctor. The condition was observed. Despite this concession to ethics and accuracy, there quickly sprung up in New York a few doctors with their heads in the middle centuries, who sought to discipline Dr. Wyeth for his breach of "ethics." This action The Constitution characterized as a travesty not only upon the dignity, but as well upon the common sense of the medical profession.

Some days ago someone asked Dr. Wyeth what he had to say of the discussion, and he replied: "Nothing, except to quote Galileo, 'The world moves all the same.'"

The school boy studying history can tell you just how sweeping and pertinent that epigram really is. Galileo was a born insurgent in astronomy and science. He wasn't on speaking terms with standpatism. He discovered many of the laws of moving bodies. He was, in his day, the most powerful supporter of the Copernican theory that the earth revolves around the sun. The old standpat doctrine held that the earth stood still. The story runs that Galileo made it so hot for the standpaters of his day that they offered him the alternative of recanting or the block. It is told that in the face of this delectable pressure he still said, "The world moves all the same." Today the world upholds Galileo, and remembers his detractors only as laughing stocks.

And that is why the reported comment of Dr. Wyeth is so pertinent. Dr. Wyeth will not, however, have to wait so long as Galileo for his vindication. Already the council of the American Medical association, the most powerful medical body in the country, has approved a doctrine of publicity in the lay press that far exceeds the cautious program of Wyeth. And it is right. In the middle centuries the alchemist or the charlatan might legitimately have relied upon mystery to give efficacy to his spells. Then, and even later, the witch-doctor might have been justified in demanding an air of concealment for his charms and incantations.

In the twentieth century such pitiful theatrical accessories are not only ludicrous, but positively harmful. The one class of doctors they help are the quacks; the one class they injure are the conscientious practitioners. Just where this leaves "ethics" is a self-answering question. That is not to consult the welfare of the public. For one layman who has benefited from the nursery-room-mystery of "ethics," twenty laymen, their wives and children have suffered from lack of that proper knowledge it should be the province of the qualified physician to sow. Sensible publicity never hurt any business or profession. Its absence, especially in these days when folk read and think, can work havoc.

Dr. Wyeth already is vindicated in the mind of the well-poised physician as well as the layman. All his critics are accomplishing is to lay up for themselves ridicule and discredit. The medievalists abound in all professions, flock all walks of life. For their croakings and sneers, their fibes and persecution, the retort of old Galileo is a solar-plexus:
"The world moves all the same!"

With his own army to lead on the border Uncle Sam should put the refugee Mexican army to work for a living.

The Prosperity Train can't be sidetracked; it is making all stations on schedule time.

Reason Huerta is always at his post is because he fears that should he leave it it wouldn't be there when he returned.

ALABAMA IN THROES OF HOTTEST CAMPAIGN KNOWN IN THE STATE IN PAST QUARTER OF A CENTURY

By John Corrigan, Jr.
(Constitution Political Correspondent.)
(Birmingham, Ala., March 23.—(Special).)

Alabama is in the throes of the bitterest political struggle that has shaken the state in years. Five candidates for the United States senate and four for the governorship have wrought up the commonwealth to a white heat of interest. The campaign has reached a stage where the words "Underwood" and "slenderer" are being used recklessly. The contest between Oscar W. Underwood, the democratic house leader, and Representative Richmond P. Hobson, for the senatorial term beginning March 4, 1916, has overshadowed all other contests in interest. It has divided families into opposing political camps. Thomas F. Ryan and prohibition are the issues on which the contest will turn.

While Mr. Underwood is remaining at his post in Washington, Mr. Hobson is making a whirlwind rush in preparation for the primary election which he kept in the stump four months, and has covered the state, outside of his own congressional district, five times. He is making from two to half a dozen speeches a day.

Thomas F. Ryan has projected into the campaign by Mr. Hobson. The man who put up $500,000 to pay the insolvent debts of the national democracy in 1914 is being scored from every stump by Mr. Hobson for his contribution of $25,000 to the Underwood presidential campaign fund last year. In answer to the charges that the democratic house leader is a "tool of Wall street," the Underwood managers confidently reply, "We stand on the record."

National Prohibition.
National prohibition is the other big issue which Mr. Hobson has introduced. Other national problems are being ignored. Canal tolls, a greater navy, the trusts, the currency and the tariff are being mentioned only incidentally by Mr. Hobson on the stump. He is devoting all his energies to capitalizing on the prohibition sentiment, attempting to arouse prejudice against Mr. Underwood by saying the latter is a reactionary.

According to time-honored custom, both campaign managers are seeking large prediction columns. Joseph F. Johnston, one time senator, for whose unexpired term the present contest is being waged, predicts an Underwood victory by 30,500 majority. L. B. Musgrove, state manager for Hobson, claims the state, but gives no figures.

Coming into Birmingham yesterday, I polled the Southern train between Anniston and Birmingham. The result of the straw ballot showed eleven to one for Underwood among the citizens and voters on board, including non-residents who expressed a preference, the vote stood eighteen to two.

Big Majority in Jefferson.
Frank A. Hewitt, campaign manager for Underwood in this (Jefferson) county, predicts a majority in the county of 6,000. In answer to Mr. Hobson's claim of being an apostle of uplift and the candidate of the friends of righteousness, he took poll of the deacons and stewards and other church officials of the Baptist, Methodist and Presbyterian churches of the city. This showed for Underwood 134, for Hobson 43; now comes the county.

Mr. Musgrove today made this analysis of the situation from reports received at Hobson headquarters:
"Reports from southern Alabama are to the effect that almost the solid rural vote of Jefferson county is for Underwood. Hobson is also our information that such a condition prevails in many sections of north Alabama.

"Captain Hobson will get the largest vote that was ever polled in Mobile, Montgomery and Jefferson counties, and the candidate of the friends of righteousness, he took poll of the deacons and stewards and other church officials of the Baptist, Methodist and Presbyterian churches of the city. This showed for Underwood 134, for Hobson 43; now comes the county.

Where Candidates Spent Saturday.
OSCAR UNDERWOOD—On duty in the house of representatives, Washington. He earns $26 a day for representing the ninth district.
RICHMOND P. HOBSON—Speaking in Tuscaloosa and Jefferson county in the interest of his candidacy for the senate. He will continue to draw $25 a day as congressman from the sixth district.
The negro question is the third leading issue which has been brought forward to influence the choice of Alabama voters. This is always a subject of general interest in every state, and is used wherever possible to arouse prejudice and incite to resentment.

The Negro Question.
Hobson's vote in favor of the reinstatement in the army of the negro regiment which shot up the town of Brownsville, Texas, has been a regular campaign issue. Underwood's retention of two negro servants of the house ways and means committee in Washington.
But prohibition overshadows everything, because Mr. Hobson has kept it to the front, made it his hobby, and expects to ride on it into the senate. He charges that the whisky interests are trying to dominate the politics of the state to defeat him. The senate is reportedly made that their representative Emmet O'Neal's office, and from there directed the campaign in behalf of Mr. Underwood.

The answer of the Underwood headquarters is that, before Mr. Hobson was either a vote abstainer or a prohibitionist, Mr. Underwood, in seeking to protect local communities which passed anti-liquor laws, favored a measure similar to the Webb bill, which he later helped to enact. This bill makes it unlawful to ship liquors into dry communities for sale.

A constitutional amendment offered by Mr. Hobson and supported by the anti-liquor forces provides:
"That the manufacture for sale, transportation for sale, importation for sale and exportation for sale of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes in the United States and all territory subject to the jurisdiction thereof are forever prohibited."

Sale is Aimed At.
In every instance the sale is the thing aimed at. This proposed constitutional amendment has been formally introduced by the anti-liquor forces. It carries the Webb law a step further as a measure for fortifying the prohibition laws of dry communities.

The fight to drive liquor out of Alabama has been a long and interesting one. In 1906 the local option fight was won. Under this state law, Jefferson county, in which Birmingham is situated, voted out liquor the following year. Then, in 1908, Governor R. B. Comer advocated a state-wide prohibition law, which was passed. The state constitution, which was passed in 1901, provided for the liquor proposed to write the prohibition into the state constitution. This precipitated the hottest campaign known in a quarter of a century, with the exception of the fight now on. The constitutional amendment lost by 29,000 majority. Then these five counties voted liquor back in: Sumter, Talladega, Choctaw, Chambers and Lee. Following the election of Governor O'Neal in 1910, the legislature passed another local option law, permitting each county to choose between liquor and no liquor. Jefferson county went wet, and saloons now flourish in Birmingham.

The fact that sixty of the sixty-seven counties in the state are dry reveals the strength of the prohibition sentiment, to which Representative Hobson is appealing.
Mr. Hobson, in replying to Mr. Underwood's assertion that nation-wide prohibition has no part in the present senatorial campaign, dwells upon the recent conviction of the anti-liquor forces at Columbus, Ohio.

Tells of Conviction.
"This was the greatest conviction ever held on this continent," he said in a speech Saturday night in North Birmingham. "Ninety-seven separate church and civic organizations were represented. The substance of the conviction was that it represented, nevertheless, the moral force of the American people."

Continuing, he told his audience that the president of a Kentucky distilling company had made a proposal that the government should set apart ten per cent of its gross income to buy out the distilleries at the end of ten years, and destroy them. He insisted the liquor people would spend half a million dollars to defeat him.

Another campaign handbook is printed at Westerville, Ohio, which is the headquarters of P. D. Baker, national superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league.
Predicting that his constitutional amendment for nation-wide prohibition would pass congress and be ratified by forty-six states, he said it was most important that the people should elect to the senate candidates pledged to support the resolution.

"Waiting the Magic Word" Should Be Read by Every Man in America.

—T. C. HOLMES.

Editor Constitution: I wish that every man in America could read your editorial of last Sunday under the caption "Waiting the Magic Word."

That editorial is the last word as to that, logic and aptly applied to two things foremost in the mind of the business man:
1. The restoration of prosperity to its full sweep and buoyancy for every interest in the land.
2. A permanent and amicable adjustment of relations between the public, the government and the selling directors.

I have seen many statements of the direct and indirect advantages to flow from the ability of the selling director to meet the needs of a degenerating conservatively one billion dollars.

Average Man's Stake.
But I have never seen stated anywhere the stake of the average man in this matter, and the far-reaching effect of the stake to prosperity as I stated these two propositions Sunday.

You strip the subject of all technicalities, all legal niceties, all confusion, and present it in such manner as to appeal to the intelligence of the least as well as the most. It is a masterpiece of logic and justice, and your arguments are judicial and clean-cut.

Interlocking Interests.
There is today much more or less loose talk about interlocking interests. I have a phrase that means much more.
"Interlocking interests"
I am no politician. Just a plain business man. But I confess that "interlocking interests" is a very loose term, and in the air talk about "interlocking interests" is a very loose term.

Interlocking interests means that at the last analysis the interests of every class in this country, when they are brought to the point of contact, they interlock at every point, prick the interest of the railroad and you prick the interest of the distiller, and you prick the interest of the real estate man, which latter happens to be my business. Conserve the interests of the railroad, and you prick the interest of the distiller, and you prick the interest of the real estate man. We're all in the same canoe.

How It Would Help Him.
Take my case for illustration. I sell real estate for a living.
Real estate feels depression just like any other business.
Things in Atlanta and Georgia have been healthier than elsewhere. Our bulge in real estate helps us "put it across" on other sections.

Despite that advantage, deals are not as crisp as they ought to be, as underlying causes give us a right to expect.
"Why?"
Because of the overhanging uncertainty as to what will happen to the railroads, as to what will do to business generally, as to what business is going to do.

Big Lubricant.
If a billion dollars be turned loose by the railroads on improvements, what will happen?
It record four sales a day where I now record one. Why?
The billion dollars will mean several ditch-diggers, draughtsmen, clerks, surveyors, mill hands, contractors, etc., at work where now there is one.
See the connection? That billion will be a big lubricant to business, oozing down into the smallest cog of the machinery in every American state.

Others, Too.
If I get my bare, other industries and activities will get their share.
The wholesaler and retail grocer will get their share.
The coal man, the ice man.
The furniture man.
The man who works on my pay roll.
The amusement man.
Every activity that bears on life and its maintenance.

Army to Be Supported.
Why?
Because the great army to be directly and indirectly affected by this huge expenditure will make requisition upon these producing agencies hardly equaled in our history.
In turn, what does that mean?
It means an impulse to prosperity now just poised for a record run; it means the death knell of paralyzing uncertainty; it means a big rush in every big and little business, responding to the "magic word."
I can't say that all this depends upon the good faith and honesty of the railroads. They must give and observe that pledge.
But it is up to us to remember our obligation and our stake in the pot.
The phrase, "interlocking interests," sounds mighty good to me.

THE DAILY CRIST From the STATES' POLITICAL GRIND

Most reassuring to any candidate for public office would be such promise of support as has been accorded State Superintendent of Education M. L. Brittain by the Oconee board of education in resolutions drawn and adopted last Saturday at the board meeting.

The support offered by the Oconee county board is based upon the services of the state superintendent in his past administration.

The resolutions are as follows:
"Resolved, that we note with gratitude the substantial record of Hon. M. L. Brittain, state school superintendent, for the advancement of our schools and educational interests; in whose administration of the affairs of this important office, and assure him of our hearty support in the coming primary."

The members of the board present were W. S. Elder, president; James M. Mayne, L. C. Crow and W. W. Jordan. J. W. McWhorter is superintendent of schools of the county.

JUDGES ROAN AND WADE PRESENT AT HEARING MONDAY MORNING
When the court of appeals sat for the hearing of cases Monday morning, before two new judges—Judges Roan and Wade—were present, for the first time since their appointment.

Both have been present at other sittings of the court, but not at the same time. Immediately after the appointment of Judge Wade, Judge Roan went to Florida for his health. He has just returned, and is feeling much better.

The next batch of decisions from the appellate court will probably contain opinions from both the new judges.
As yet, Judge Roan has not announced whether or not he will stand for re-election. The only candidate now in view for the place at the expiration of the term is Judge Broyles.

SAV'S PROGRESSIVE PARTY NEEDS GOOD HELP IN GEORGIA NOW
Following the recent meeting of the Pull Moosers in Atlanta, at which time they declared their mind to put forth a state ticket, a meeting of the executive committee of the same has been called to meet at the Ansley Hotel, in Atlanta, Friday, March 27, noon.

At this meeting the question of the state ticket will be thoroughly threshed out, and it may be that the state ticket will be declared then and there.
The call for this meeting comes in a circular letter sent out by Dean E. Ryman, secretary of the committee. His letter contains the following: "We are in a very critical condition of the progressive party in Georgia."

The progressive party is at the parting of the ways in Georgia. Never before was it in such dire need of cool and level heads as now. It is in a position where it is in such straits for unprejudiced and clear-sighted counselors in its committee that it will go out ignominiously—a discredited and a defeated party.
The product of a tremendous awakening of the people, the conscience of the entire nation, the political work in Georgia in 1914 are very troubled. The situation here is most intimately interpreted. We need your counsel."

M'ALLIE IS INVITED TO JOIN GOOD ROADS SCOUTING PARTY
The Georgia state geologist, H. M'Allie, has been invited to become a member of the government good roads scouting party on the part of the state geologist.
Mr. M'Allie has been asked to join the party in Augusta on March 25. The government good roads scouting party consists of Captain P. St. J. Williams, assistant director of the United States office of public roads; Leonard Tufts, chairman of the maintenance committee of the Georgia Highway Commission; and J. P. Coleman, state highway commissioner of Virginia. Dr. Joseph Hyde Pratt, state geologist of North Carolina, and C. H. Spoon and D. H. Winslow, highway engineers of the United States office of public roads.

WRIGHT THINKS SOMEBODY IS TRYING TO STEAL HIS NAME
Rome, Ga., March 23.—(Special).—"Why should a lot of red-headed, round-bellied fellows be so anxious to get the name of the democratic party?" was the cryptic query of Senator Wright. Rome's noted prohibition orator, who has been in the United States office of public roads, Leonard Tufts, chairman of the maintenance committee of the Georgia Highway Commission, and J. P. Coleman, state highway commissioner of Virginia. Dr. Joseph Hyde Pratt, state geologist of North Carolina, and C. H. Spoon and D. H. Winslow, highway engineers of the United States office of public roads.

PRIMARY ON FRIDAY WILL END QUET CAMPAIGN IN MITCHELL
Camille, Ga., March 23.—(Special).—"The county democratic primary of Mitchell county will be held on Friday, the 27th. The county is very quiet, and there has been very little discussion in regard to it.

"The World and His Wife" Enjoyed by Woman's Club

The Atlanta Woman's club held one of its most interesting meetings of the season yesterday afternoon when William O'Neil Spiker, chairman of the literature committee, gave a dramatic reading of the Spanish play, "El Gran Gato." Preliminary to the reading Mrs. Spiker gave a short sketch of the dramatic Jose Echegaray, who is one of the most noted modern playwrights, and told something of his best known plays, of which "El Gran Gato" stands first. Mrs. Spiker explained that the title meant the tongue of gossip and the translation from which she read was made by Charles Windinger and is known as "The World and His Wife." The play tells of the evil done by gossip. The play offers splendid opportunities for dramatic ability, and Mrs. Spiker's interpretation was impressive and convincing.

The usual business session of the club was held before the afternoon was turned over to Mrs. Spiker. Mrs. A. E. Coles, president, presided, and Mrs. Coles announced that the club had elected Mrs. Spiker as its chairman of the year. Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Robinson, of New York, Charm Atlanta During Their Brief Stay Here; See the Cradle in Which Roosevelt Was Rocked Atlanta is accustomed to indulge in the pleasure of entertaining visitors. It has been her custom since even those early days after the war, when there were not many houses left in which to entertain. The best she had to give she has always given. It has made no difference where the visitors came from if they were the "kind" of people Atlanta liked. Whether they came from Maine, the northwest or California, if they were just that "kind" of people Atlanta has opened over wide her hospitable doors.

Of the many who have visited Atlanta in her more prosperous days, many coming as strangers, no two were more warmly received than Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Robinson of New York, who, though they but arrived in Atlanta Saturday evening.

gentleman, impatiently, at the Driving club Saturday night. It is late and we are all waiting.

"They are all in the dressing room listening to the most fascinating lady I ever heard tell anything," said a debutante, as she arrived at the bottom of the steps. She is a Mrs. Robinson, but I could not get close enough to meet her." That incident illustrated the conquest of Mrs. Robinson from the moment Atlanta had the pleasure of receiving her.

Are Entertained Here.

Mr. and Mrs. Forest Adair entertained Mr. and Mrs. Robinson at dinner Saturday night. They met with friends informally at the Georgian Terrace Sunday night, after their afternoon drive to Roswell, and dined last night with Mr. and Mrs. Clark Howell.

Mr. Robinson shared very equally the popularity of his charming wife.

Mrs. Douglas Robinson, sister of former President Roosevelt, visits Atlanta store to see cradle, in which her brother once slept Sunday Mrs. Robinson and her husband visited the old Bulloch home in Roswell, and last night they left for Savannah.

ing might claim now as friends ago Atlanta they have met and that is many.

Visit Bulloch Hall.

They came to visit Bulloch hall, the birthplace of Mrs. Robinson's mother, and, escorted by Mr. Forest Adair, spent the greater part of Sunday afternoon there. It will be recalled that Colonel Roosevelt was never too busy on his several visits here to go to the old home. He had brought to his sister, Mrs. Robinson, stories of the place pictures of it and inspired her desire to see it. With Mrs. Baker, that distinguished Georgia lady who was bridesmaid to the "Little Bulloch" afterwards Mrs. Roosevelt, Mr. and Mrs. Robinson went over their old home and its gardens Sunday.

What a beautiful woman Mrs. Pike is now, and how beautiful she must have been in the period of time when she was bride-maid one of the brides of the party remarked.

And then but not half so pretty as when she was a bride-maid, Mrs. Pike who replied, "I may have been old, but I was not half so pretty as when she was a bride-maid."

And this beauty has been inherited, the consensus of all who have met her. Her eyes are blue and her hair is brown, and she has a smile that is as bright as the sun.

These are the first newspaper pictures for which she has posed for a long time. She told the reporters and photographers, "I hardly know why I am doing it, except that it must be the first of the southern folk, or a semi-southern woman I just simply can't refuse."

Proof of that was given in the fact that he was being called "colored" the first time he has been called that, explained Mrs. Robinson and she told a good story on her husband. During the Roosevelt administration Mr. and Mrs. Robinson at a large reception were singled out as relations to the president, and a western statesman hearing his daughter had not fully appreciated the meaning of the name. Mr. Robinson for the second time saying, "My dear did you know Mr. Roosevelt?" He is the president, "brother-in-law."

"but I didn't know he was that I thought he was one of those southern colored."

See Roosevelt's Cradle.

Mrs. Robinson departed last night with her husband a prominent real estate promoter. A few hours before Monday afternoon she paid a visit to the store of C. W. Melcher at Hunter's Broad street, where she gazed for the first time upon the cradle in which her brother, the ex-president, was born. The cradle is at Bulloch Hall—his birthplace.

And while there she consented to pose for a photograph. A few hours previously she had posed at police headquarters with Judge Broyles, whose court she had visited during the morning session.

These are the first newspaper pictures for which she has posed for a long time. She told the reporters and photographers, "I hardly know why I am doing it, except that it must be the first of the southern folk, or a semi-southern woman I just simply can't refuse."

GORGAS IS HONORED BY LONDON DOCTORS

London, March 22.—The medical profession of London gave a dinner tonight to Brigadier General William G. Gorgas, chief of the United States army, as a tribute to the splendid work done by him as chief of the sanitary department at Panama.

Ambassador Page replied to the toast to the president of the United States in a speech which he read from a typewritten manuscript. He warmly commended on the President's cooperation with congress. He said that the president's method of approaching the congress was a commendable one, as well as human and friendly, and that congress had responded in a most approved way as the president had displayed in approaching it and had thus proved to be the most industrious and energetic congress assembled in a lifetime.

General Gorgas will go to Oxford with Sir William Osler to receive the degree of doctor of science.

Monticello, Ga.—Miss Tommie Bowden, of this town, says, "I suffered for one long year with serious womanly troubles—and it became so bad that I thought no remedy could cure my case. I was nervous, at times, and had a sick headache so bad that I could hardly bend over. I tried two different kinds of medicine, but they did me no good. I believe it is worth its weight in gold. I hope every lady who suffers from womanly trouble will try Cardui. I praise it to every lady I meet, and my sister also recommends it as the best of medicines for women."

THICK, GLOSSY HAIR
FREE FROM DANDRUFF

Girls! Beautify Your Hair! Make It Soft, Fluffy and Luxuriant.

Try as you will, after an application of Dandruff, you cannot find a single strand of thick, glossy hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most, will be after a few weeks' use when you see new hair growing down at first—very fine—but really your hair—growing all over the scalp.

A little Dandruff, immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull faded, brittle and scraggy. Just moisten a cloth with Dandruff, draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is immediate and amazing—our hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance, an incomparable lustre, strength and luxuriance, the beauty and shimmer of true hair.

A 2-cent bottle of Knowlton's Dandruff, from any drug store or your country's mail order, is as good as a pretty and soft as any that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all.

COULD NOT STAND ON FEET

Mrs. Baker So Weak—Could Not Do Her Work—Found Relief In Novel Way.

Adrian, Mich.—"I suffered terribly with female weakness and backache and got so weak that I could hardly do my work. When I washed my dishes I had to sit down and when I would sweep the floor I would get so weak that I would have to get a drink every few minutes, and before I did my dusting I would have to lie down. I got so poorly that my folks thought I was going into consumption. One day I found a piece of paper blowing around the yard and I picked it up and read it. It said 'Saved from the Grave,' and told what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for women. I showed it to my husband and he said, 'Why don't you try it?' So I did, and after I had taken two bottles I felt better and I said to my husband, 'I don't need any more,' and he said 'You had better take it a little longer anyway.' So I took it for three months and got well and strong."—Mrs. ALONZO E. BAKER, 9 Tecumseh St., Adrian, Mich.

Not Well Enough to Work. In these words is hidden the tragedy of many a woman, housekeeper or wage earner who supports herself and is often helping to support a family, on meagre wages. Whether in house, office, factory, shop, store or kitchen, woman should remember that there is one tried and true remedy for the ills to which all women are prone, and that is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It promotes that vigor which makes work easy. The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

STUDENTS' CONVENTION INVITED TO ATLANTA

Meeting Is Intended to Interest Negroes in Evangelization of Africa.

Resolutions urging Dr. John R. Mott, chairman of the continuation committee of the Edinburgh Missionary conference, to hold the students' missionary convention in Atlanta, were adopted at a joint meeting of white and negro pastors at the First Baptist church yesterday.

The convention will be held during the month of May for the benefit of students from the negro colleges of the south. The convention will be held for the purpose of enlisting the interest of students and their co-operation in the propaganda for the evangelization of Africa.

Resolutions offered by Dr. C. W. Daniel, pastor of the First Baptist church, endorsing the campaign by leaders of the race to solve the religious problems of the life of the community, were adopted.

Dr. Walker Allowed To Accept the Call of California Church

The Atlanta presbytery informed Dr. Hugh K. Walker Monday morning that he could accept the recent call to the First Presbyterian church at Long Beach, Cal., if he would resign from the First Presbyterian church of Atlanta, which position he held for two years, it is present in a critical stage and needs his guidance.

Many of the congregation wished to retain Dr. Walker and S. M. Inman urged the presbytery not to grant the release, but other members of the church should not be held here if he deemed best to go to Long Beach.

Dr. Walker, when he left an influential church and accepted the one to Atlanta, it was understood that a new church would be organized in another part of the city. He declared he did not think himself aggressive enough to leave a church which he had not good in Atlanta and that the western climate was more agreeable with her health, and that he expressed regret that these things were true. He will leave for California after the first Sunday in April.

District Attorney Alexander H. MINISTERS INDORSE LOCKER CLUB STAND

Baptists Agree With Position Recently Taken by Dr. Charles Daniel.

Agreeing with the stand on locker clubs recently taken by Dr. Charles W. Daniel, pastor First Baptist church, the Baptist ministers conference yesterday passed the following resolution: "First as citizens and ministers we deem it as an incontestable proposition that no citizen should participate in or be of encouragement to a law of the state and such a law is doubly repugnant to Christian patriotism and civic honor."

Second as ministers we are persuaded that we have no business to encourage congregations that are incompatible with the Christian religion to engage in or to encourage a traffic that degrades the lives of men whom Christ came into the world to save, and that it is doubly repugnant to Christian morality to do so in disregard of the laws of the state.

We submit to the reason of every man that according to the law of our state recently enacted by the legislature, a social club with a United States revenue license to engage in the sale of whiskey is violating the statute and every member shares the responsibility whether he actively makes purchases of liquors or not.

The position of Christian citizens holding membership in one of these clubs is indefensible and it is therefore resolved that all citizens and ministers seeking to serve the state should approve and commend the stand of the First Baptist church, taken March 13.

BUMPER FRUIT CROP PROMISED GEORGIA

Small Damage Done by Cold in South Georgia, None in North Georgia.

With no appreciable damage to the south Georgia fruit crop, and the north Georgia crop unscathed, the Georgia Fruit growers predict a bumper fruit crop for Georgia, provided, however that there is no weather of particular severity during the rest of the spring months.

W. V. Chase of the state entomological department, has just been to north Georgia and he predicts a 100 per cent crop for that end of the state. The south Georgia crop, it is believed, has not been greatly damaged.

MEDICOS ARE EASY FOR THE CRACKERS

Locals Win, 13 to 2, Without Half Trying - Only Blanked in Two Innings. Toyed With Doctors.

The Crackers had a frolic yesterday afternoon when they played the Atlanta Medical college and won a 13-2 victory.

It was just a question of how large a score the Crackers could win from the start. They toyed with the young doctors, taking all kinds of chances and getting careless at any and all times, or the score might have been twice the size.

Lawrence and Doscher divided the home work four innings, with only two bingles recorded against them and two runs. Both twirlers only appeared at times during the game and then only briefly.

Edwell and Doscher, and Schmidt and Reynolds, with three each, led the attack for the Crackers. Every batter got one or more hits during the game.

Edwell's single and Welch's double scored in the first. Singles by Label and Reynolds scored another in the third.

Welch's life on an error and single by Long, Plannigan and Edwell scored two more in the seventh. The Crackers' pitcher, Edwell, pitched a double header, and scored two more in the eighth.

FIELDER NAMED JACKET CAPTAIN

'Woods' Fielder, the crack little half-back on the 1913 Teca football team, has been elected captain of the 1914 team.

All McDonald was the first choice of the team, but since he will not be able to attend school next year, the election was necessary, with the above result.

McCord was chosen as alternate captain in the event that Fielder does not return.

Bill Smith and his Crackers were the guests of the Knights of Columbus at the opening performance of Neil O'Brien's minstrels last night at the Atlanta.

After the performance, the minstrel troupe and the ball players were the guests of the local knights at a banquet.

Mr. O'Brien is a member of the Knights of Columbus and the attendance at the local performance and the banquet afterwards was a compliment to him.

There has been no greater factor, perhaps, in the upbuilding of suburban residence sections around Atlanta than the building of the East Lake club.

The plans for the new clubhouse, of course, are not yet complete, but it is expected to be ready for occupancy in the near future.

The building committee has been intermittently forced ahead and dropped behind the permits of the corresponding authorities.

The permit for the Babage apartments, on Lafayette drive, in Ansley Park, is expected to be ready for occupancy in the near future.
