

$750,000 Bond Issue For Greater Hospital Urged by Committee

Aggressive Plans for Improvements Decided Upon at Joint Conference of the Council's Plaza Committee and Hospital Ways and Means Committee.

MAYOR URGES ELECTION ON PLAZA AND HOSPITAL HELD AT THE SAME TIME

If It Is Impossible to Persuade Legislature to Pass on Plaza in Time, However, Woodward Says This Project Can Be Voted Upon at Later Date.

Aggressive plans for the improvement of Grady hospital, through the issuance of bonds aggregating $750,000—possibly a million dollar issue—for new buildings and equipment, were launched at a joint conference of the plaza committee and the hospital ways and means committee yesterday afternoon.

Resolutions strongly urging Atlanta's general council to authorize the issuance of hospital bonds were adopted. At the next meeting of council the first step towards getting the issue floated will be taken. Leading physicians interested in the growth of Grady will begin work immediately to interest voters of Atlanta in the project. If the committee's educational campaign can be carried out in six weeks the hospital bonds will be submitted to the people at the election in May. Should the committee decide that the campaign cannot be carried out in such a short length of time the election will be deferred until August.

Wants Election at S. Time.

Mayor James G. Woodward took the position that the bond issue should be presented on the same ticket as the plaza bonds, and both should be submitted to the people on their respective merits. The mayor indicated that he does not favor consolidating the issue to be voted in one lump sum.

Let the issues stand on their respective merits," he told the committee. "Hold the elections at the same time. If we can't get the legislature to act on the plaza project, the hospital bonds can be submitted at some later date."

Mayor Woodward's attitude caused the committee to agree that the hospital bonds should be separated from the plaza bonds. The agreement was unanimous. The mayor, however, gave his hearty endorsement to the plans for improving Grady, and while he did not say to what extent he will support the measure, Grady advised that he is satisfied that the mayor's help will materially aid the scheme.

Cost of Maintenance.

According to his estimate the maintenance of the hospital with the improvements planned will necessitate an appropriation of $200,000 annually. Dr. Sumnerall, superintendent of Grady, outlined his plans for the expenditure of the $750,000 in bonds proposed for improvements. They include new outdoor clinic, dispensaries, laboratories and other facilities, $100,000; new dormitory, $100,000; contagious disease hospital, $30,000; contagious disease sanitarium for whites, $125,000; building for negroes, $125,000; children's hospital, $50,000; boiler rooms, laundry, $50,000; and other buildings, $50,000, and $50,000 for the purchase of a strip of land now used as a street in order to isolate the hospital.

Equipment of the buildings is not included in Superintendent Sumnerall's plans.

With increased facilities for caring for pay patients, they will generate revenue sufficient to pay the interest on the bonds and create a sinking fund for their retirement," Dr. Sumnerall suggested. "The bond issue will not be a burden on the taxpayers."

SMITH IS GIVING HIS SERVICE FREE TO JAMES CONLEY

Family of His Client Unable to Furnish Funds for His Defense, Says Attorney for Negro Sweeper.

SMITH WILL PUSH PLEA FOR NEW CONLEY TRIAL

Even Though Judge Should Decline Frank New Trial, Extraordinary Motion Will Delay Execution Date.

Attorney William M. Smith, counsel for Jim Conley's defense, is furnishing his services to the negro with no expectation of financial remuneration. Ever since the earlier stage of Conley's participation in the famous Phagan mystery, Smith has not received a penny. This was brought out on yesterday afternoon.

Smith was originally employed by contract in the case, however, but was later dismissed. Because of the negro's insistent plea for him to keep the case, and because of the attorney's conception of legal ethics, he decided to continue his services.

He would have little to say regarding the disclosure when a Constitution reporter visited him in his offices Tuesday afternoon, except to admit the fact that he was receiving no fee, and that he anticipated none. The attorney's family connections were unable to furnish funds even for expenses.

Keeps Case at Loss.

He also stated that he intended to continue the case, although at a financial loss to himself. "It is merely a matter of legal principle," he told the reporter. "He was unable to employ a competent lawyer, and as I had originally entered the case with the intention of fighting it to the end, I could see nothing else to do but to stick it out."

Smith was employed shortly after Conley had begun making his series of startling confessions at each headquarters. The attorney's retainers were officials of a publishing concern in Atlanta. He took the case, he stated, in good faith to the client whom he was to represent.

Had to Keep Case.

"And that is the situation," Smith said. "He was locked up in prison, unrepresented, without money, and thrown upon the mercy of Providence alone. I could do nothing ethical but resume his case, which I did. Anybody who wanted to help him had to get another lawyer. He had no money, and would have been forced to resort to some inexperienced, untrained attorney, who would take the case on the promise of nothing more than the publicity he would get out of it."

"I felt that it was my professional duty to continue with Conley. And, at the same time, I felt that such a case where it would have been nothing short of criminal to desert him. I made up my mind to stick the fight out to the end."

Smith assured the reporter, too, that he would remain throughout the case. He had been retained by the client, he said, and prudence of invaluable training. In speaking of the proposition made by his original retainers, the publication firm, Smith said:

BRITISH EUROPE GREATLY SHAKEN BY ARMY MUTINY

Parliament a Seething Caldon Over Alleged Alliance of King and Army Aristocrats Against Democracy.

KING BEING ATTACKED WITH GREATEST VIGOR

Unless Premier Asquith Satisfactorily Explains He Will Face Great Danger From a Liberal Rebellion.

London, March 24.—Westminster continues to be a seething caldon over what the liberals now denounce as the "betrayal of the army aristocrats" against democratic government. The fact has been established from all obtainable evidence that General Hubert Gough and the other officers of the Third cavalry brigade demanded and obtained written assurances that they would not be ordered to fight Sir Edward Carson's Ulster volunteers, and that these assurances were obtained largely through the personal intervention of the king.

Before they left London yesterday the officers telegraphed to their brother officers in Ireland that they had found support "from the highest quarters." On their arrival at Curragh camp today they were welcomed by a guard of honor and related the outcome of their summons to the war office.

King George Attacked.

The throne, which traditionally has kept out of party controversies, is involved in the discussion as it never before has been during King George's reign or that of his diplomatic father. The section of the liberals who opposed what they denounce as a surrender to the military aristocracy are criticizing the king with the greatest freedom. They resent his action in summoning to the palace Field Marshal Lord Roberts, who, in his speeches, advised the officers that they might proceed, but how far the negroes in carrying the Ulster irrecconcilables. They criticize his majesty for dealing personally with Field Marshal Sir John French, chief of the general staff, and General Sir Arthur Paget, commanding the forces in Ireland, who should have been dealt with, they think, only by the secretary of state for war, in accordance with the customary official routine.

Explicit Information Wanted.

The government's two spokesmen, Colonel Seely, secretary for war, in the house of commons, and Viscount Morley, Blackhouse, in the house of lords, were confronted today by persistent demands for explicit information. They were asked as to exactly what assurances the government gave the officers, and demanded to be informed if these papers disclose that the government is able to give information that will clear up several of the baffling jewel robberies which have taken place in Atlanta recently.

The detectives believe that Reeves is a noted criminal and are seeking information about him from the police departments of other large cities. In Reeves' right arm there is a suspicious scar wound, the bullet having shattered the bone and not yet healed. It is the belief of detectives that Reeves received this wound when attempting to burglarize some house. Reeves was found by the police in a room in his arm on December 20 at Ordeau, Utah.

Colonel Roosevelt Safe.

New York, March 24.—All feeling of anxiety regarding the safety of Colonel Theodore Roosevelt, who is in the jungle in Brazil, has been removed by additional advices from Anthony Fiala, whose party lost its equipment in the Rapids of the Devil in the Papagola river. Fiala reports that the colonel is in good health and was not with the party that met with mishap. With another part of the expedition Mr. Roosevelt is exploring the Rio Unzuato or River of Doubt, a hitherto unexplored stream.

Dirt Broken for New $30,000 D. W. Luckie Masonic Temple

Plans Completed for Taking Up Measure to Repeal Exemption Clause and the Forces Are Aligned.

New home of the Luckie Lodge of Masons.

Dirt has been broken for the new $30,000 D. W. Luckie Masonic temple, to be erected at 208 Lee street, near Gordon. Work will proceed rapidly, and the structure is expected to be finished by July 1.

It will be a three-story building, up-to-date and modern in appointment. It is the first Masonic lodge to be erected by one lodge in Atlanta. The first floor will be outfitted for the stereorooms. The second will be the banquet hall, auditorium and entertainment floor, while the third will be occupied by the lodge rooms proper.

HADEN IDENTIFIES STOLEN JEWELRY

Reeves Confesses to Theft From Peachtree Home, According to Chief of Detectives Newport Lanford.

L. C. Reeves, who was arrested in Spartanburg, S. C., Monday when he tried to pawn a pair of opera glasses on which was engraved the initials of Mrs. Charles J. Haden, whose home at 1212 Peachtree road was burglarized some time Saturday and $1,000 worth of jewels stolen, was brought to Atlanta Tuesday afternoon by Policeman L. W. Evans. The officer also brought back with him the stolen glasses and a valuable pin set with pearls, which was taken off Reeves when arrested. Charles J. Haden appeared at the police station during the afternoon and identified the stolen jewels as the property of his wife.

Following Mr. Haden's identification Reeves changed his story about having been burglarized, but he admitted and confessed complicity in the jewel robbery, according to Chief of Detectives Newport Lanford.

SEARCH FOR BLACKS WHO ATTACKED GIRL

Bold Attempt at Assault Is Thwarted by the Timely Arrival of White Man Late Tuesday Afternoon.

A pretty little white girl, while walking alone on the Southern railway tracks near the Brookwood bridge, near Peachtree road, was brutally attacked late Tuesday afternoon by two blacks, who had concealed themselves behind an embankment. The negroes dragged her into the woods at the side of the tracks, attempting to strangle her to silence any alarm, but the girl struggled fiercely, and the attention of L. C. Haynes, a white man of No. 190 Echo street, was attracted by her muffled cries. He ran to her assistance and the blacks fled. Police headquarters was notified of the attempt, and had a dozen policemen and as many detectives, were rushed to the scene in the auto patrol by order of Police Chief Beavers.

The young girl, who had fainted from the shock she had received by the rough treatment of the two brutes, was revived sufficiently by this time to give a description of her assailants. Armed with the descriptions, the patrol of policemen began to scour the woods for the negroes.

A posse of citizens of the north side of the city, who had heard wild reports of the attack, had rushed to the place and formed themselves into squads for the purpose of patrolling the woods. Up to a late hour the search was still going on, and the posse of citizens had swelled to larger numbers.

Death Grapple Continues Between Mexican Armies In Suburbs of Torreon

DECKS ARE CLEARED FOR BITTER BATTLE OVER CANAL TOLLS

Plans Completed for Taking Up Measure to Repeal Exemption Clause and the Forces Are Aligned.

UNUSUAL SITUATION FACED BY DEMOCRATS

Underwood, Clark and Other Leaders Oppose Repeal. Adamson Leads Fight for the Nation's Honor.

Washington, March 24.—Congress is on the verge of the most vigorous legislative struggle that has enlivened its proceedings in many years—the contest over the repeal of the Panama canal granting toll exemption to American coastwise ships.

Plans for taking up the Sims repeal bill were completed in the house today and democratic leaders prepared their arguments. It was generally conceded that the bill would be called up for general debate by Thursday, and that it might be reported some time tomorrow, when Representative Henry, chairman of the rules committee, proposed to amend a rule to limit general debate on the measure to fifteen hours. A vote on this rule, when reported, will, in a measure, test the strength of the opposing forces.

Preliminary to the debate, which is expected to be most spirited, special attention was given tonight by senators and representatives to the majority report on the Sims repeal bill submitted by Representative Adamson of Georgia, chairman of the committee on interstate and foreign commerce. This report, which appeared in printed form today, points particularly to the fact that in reporting the Panama canal act during the last congress, the committee recommended uniform tolls and that the exemption for American coastwise shipping was accomplished by amendment.

Not Disturbed by Taunts.

The committee had recognized, the report said, long before any formal complaint had been filed, the opinion of the committee that twenty stipulations required uniform tolls.

"We are not disturbed," it added, "by the taunt, made for a purpose, that repeal would be truckling and yielding to the demands of a few selfish interests. It is the duty of the committee to honorably enough to comply with contracts or generous enough to promote friendly relations by according respectful consideration to views of the opposite party. From high sources in the other house, however, from men yet alive who participated in the formation of the various treaties—men whose veracity and integrity cannot be questioned—come unequivocal statements that the language of the treaty controlling the imposition of tolls was not intended to permit such discrimination."

"Even if it were a close question with the balance tending in our favor, we could not afford, in a matter of national honor, to yield to the pressure of a proposition which involves a policy not in the interest of our entire people, but in the interest of a small special class in whose favor the exemption operates against the general interest of our people."

Efficiency Experts Are Now at Work Changing Girls' Pronunciation to Get Better Results.

"If, too, thank-ree-fife" answers the phone girl these days, if you should call "ivy 235," or any number with a three or a five in its make-up.

Underwood Opposes Repeal.

Considerable speculation exists as to the strength of the opposition to the repeal of the Panama canal exemption. Conservative proponents of the measure, reversal of policy, while claiming an assured majority in both houses, admitting that the opposition is formidable. It is an unusual situation confronting the democratic party in the house, where the repeal is the measure against which the majority leader, Mr. Underwood, Representative Fitzgerald, chairman of the appropriations committee; Representative Kitchin, of North Carolina, ranking member of the ways and means committee, and according to undenied reports, the speaker of the house, whether Speaker Clark will yield the gavel to take part in the debate is a matter upon which the repeal champions considerable concern. The speaker has given no indication of his intentions in this regard.

Anti-Repeal Gun Fired.

One of the first guns of opposition to the repeal in the senate was fired today by Senator Chandler, who proposed, through the introduction of a resolution calling upon the secretary of war for all available information as to the cost and maintenance of navigation routes and canals through which all shipping, by an act passed in 1884, was guaranteed passage free of tolls. In a preamble to the resolution it was asserted that it was the policy of the government since its relation to navigation tolls is to be reversed, the policy with reference to the canal and canals should be changed and charged to all shipping to pay the government for maintaining the waterways.

Official Dispatch Received Late Last Evening Reports Desperate Fighting Still Going On at Gomez Palacio.

CORPSES OF THE DEAD LITTER THE STREETS

Rebels Claim That 700 Federals Have Been Killed. It Is Evident That General Villa's Advance Is Desperately Opposed.

Chihuahua, March 24.—An official dispatch received at 5 p. m. today says fighting continues fiercely at Gomez Palacio. The rebels are said to have captured the stone railroad roundhouse and to be fighting from it. The rebels claim that the federal dead number 700. No report as to their own losses has been made public, but it is learned that they have at least eighty wounded.

Still Fighting at Gomez Palacio.

Tuarez, Mexico, March 24.—Rumors and "official" reports of the onward sweep of General Francisco Villa and his victorious rebels kept this city in a state of gratified excitement today, but the optimism was dampened somewhat by the receipt of an Associated Press dispatch from Chihuahua quoting an official dispatch defining the fighting continues at Gomez Palacio. It was announced officially in the course of the morning that the city, three miles from Torreon, was taken last night at 9 o'clock and that General Villa had ordered supplies sent there direct.

Next came word that General Eugenio Aguirre Benavides had captured two federal quarters in Torreon itself. This information was conveyed in a private telegram from Colonel Trevino, one of Benavides' staff officers, to his brother in Juarez. At this time was further joy, but it was nothing to the excitement occasioned when General Manuel Chao, military governor of the state of Chihuahua, and now in this city to greet General Carranza, received a private report that General Velasco, federal commander at Torreon, had surrendered.

No Reply From Villa.

General Chao accepted the report with reserve, however, and telegraphed to General Villa asking for confirmation or denial. After two hours he had received no reply.

The dispatch from the Associated Press staff correspondent at Chihuahua had something of a dampening effect on the spirits of the rebels, and it gave rise to all manner of conjectures. It was the first direct news telegram of the day, but it was argued that the official report quoted in it did not necessarily disprove previous reports of fighting in Torreon, or even that Villa did not actually have Gomez Palacio in his possession last night.

Many Dead in Streets.

El Correo, a Spanish newspaper, today prints a statement that many dead are lying where they fell in the streets of Gomez Palacio. No official statement of losses on either side in yesterday's fighting could be obtained today.

The surprise of the day to the rebels was the arrival of federal reinforcements and the battle put up by the Huertistas in the streets of the city. Gomez Palacio is northeast of Torreon and Cerro De La Pizarra commands

C. F. von HERMANN, Section Director.

Portions of both cities. It lies to the right of the street car tracks connecting the two cities and it is assumed that General Villa planted his own artillery there to support the infantry and cavalry advance on Torreón.

Captured Huerta Artillery.

In the fighting at Gomez Palacio last night the rebels captured much of the federal artillery on Cerro De La Pajar, the mountain near Gomez. They also captured the field furniture and bedding of the federal commander in chief, General Velasco, who was in personal charge of the defense of Gomez Palacio.

The rebels are reported to have Torreón closely invested, and last reports were that the whole army was confident of the early fall of the federal stronghold. The conquest of Mazatlán, Saltillo and Monterrey is taken for granted by the rebels, once the main federal force under General Velasco at Torreón is conquered.

Fighting Was Desperate.

El Verjel, Durango, Mexico, March 24.—Meeting stubborn resistance at Gomez Palacio, only a few miles north and east of Torreón, General Francisco Villa and his 12,000 rebel troops yesterday began the most important battle of the constitutionalist revolution. Today the field hospital here is crowded with wounded which streamed into El Verjel as fast as they could be returned from the front. Given emergency attention here, the seriously wounded were hastened on to the general hospital at Hermosillo. The federal loss appears to have been much heavier than that of the rebels, but no accurate estimate of their dead and wounded has been made.

Apparently determining to deal General Villa a crushing blow before he actually reached the gates of Torreón, General Velasco sailed out of the invested city under cover of the guns of Cerro De La Pajar, mountain and of strongly garrisoned Gomez Palacio. He made a night attack on the federal troops and he heard the report from his scouts that Gomez Palacio was captured and gave the order for attack.

Big Guns in Action.

The guns of Cerro De La Pajar were engaged in the attack. The fire of the federal trenches and the fire of rebel artillery and small arms opened the first serious engagement of the troops and federalists, who hope to check the march of the constitutionalists to the national capital.

The rebel cavalry pressed forward toward the mountain and before many minutes of fighting Villa's men had taken the water tank, securing their first vantage ground.

They fought on to the Birmingham soap factory, infantry engaging the leading forces. After an hour and the federalists retreated to the Cuartel where they fought a light action. The look place. Fighting from the front gaining ground foot by foot, the rebels finally drove the federalists back toward Torreón.

But so heavy had the firing been, so many were the shells, that the Cuartel that scarcely had it been occupied by the pursuing rebels, than it was a ruin. The federalists were forced to abandon it. The federalists retreated in order, however, keeping up an incessant firing as they were beaten back on the road to Torreón. As the rebels advanced they rushed forward and shot the federalists dead. The wounded, Villa reiterated his confidence that Torreón would be his by Thursday.

April Number of Harpers Magazine

There are eight short stories altogether in this number. Three of them are really laugh-makers. And the serious and artistic features are uncommonly attractive. Former Ambassador Hill contributes another brilliant article on diplomacy, and the entire magazine in beauty and interest justifies the high praise that everyone is giving it. Here is a sample of what is being said, a remarkable editorial from The Belman, an able and discriminating weekly published in Minneapolis, Minn.:

"Practically all of the American monthly magazines except Harper's have obediently responded to what they imagined was the demand of the readers of today; many of them have burned their bridges behind them with more valor than discretion and some, lacking the boldness frankly to abandon their old standards, are tentatively toying with departures in text and illustration, as if to discover how much of the new and inferior stuff their readers will stand without a revolt."

"Harper's Monthly is now practically alone in the position which it took in the beginning and has consistently maintained ever since. Evidently its publishers are determined, in these days of easy and prompt compliance with a sentiment esteemed to be deep and widespread because it is vociferous, not to be misled by clamor into the belief that all Americans have gone mad. They are obviously minded to uphold and advance the publication's traditional standards, thereby widening the distinction between it and its backsliding contemporaries."

Yearn for Food—Don't Spurn It

A Brisk Appetite Is a Healthful Necessity. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Quickly Restore Lost Relish for Food.

Unless you have a real hearty desire for food you should by all means take no chances. A stomach trouble, a loss of appetite means a signal of distress from a deranged digestion. When the stomach wants food, it signals the mind through the nerves, and these excite the taste buds in the mouth, which secrete the digestive quantities of saliva. This is called "mouth water," and all of us know our "mouths water" we want food.

"There's an appetite that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets gave me!" Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets very quickly restore appetite by making the stomach want food. The stomach readily recovers from indigestion, dyspepsia, etc., as soon as it is enabled to digest food. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets taken at regular intervals quickly digest that meal and thus wonderfully rest the stomach.

In a short time the digestion assumes its normal condition and then the appetite for food is restored as the natural consequence. One may actually fatten a few Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, place them in a glass tube with meat, grains, vegetables, etc., and these tablets will digest the contents of the tube without aid.

Just think then how quickly and efficiently they act when they are mixed with the food in one's system and what a great relief it is to the digestive apparatus to have its fluids so enriched. HUERTA ADOPTS PLAN TO FILL HIS TREASURY

Mexico City, March 24.—President Huerta's financial troubles have been relieved by a plan adopted today which will bring into the treasury 100,000,000 pesos which will be immediately available, the rest as required.

The plan provides for the resumption on April 1 of interest payments on the foreign debt, suspended January 12 last, and the early issue of a 50 per cent advance in import duties recently imposed as a war measure. The advance will be set forth in a decree to be issued within a day or two.

The plan involves the issuance of treasury notes for the same amount of bonds authorized in May, 1912, to the amount of $100,000,000 for a portion of which a Paris syndicate has subscribed, but of which nearly half remain unsold. These bonds will be placed with the Mexican banks at 50 per cent of their face value, the banks to issue them at the legal ratio of three to one. The bonds are secured by the pledge of 15 per cent of the customs.

The bankers have agreed to take the bonds in question and the plan is only awaiting the signature of President Huerta to become effective.

CONFLICTING REPORTS OF FIGHT NEAR LAREDO

Laredo, Texas, March 24.—Conflicting reports of the battle between Mexican constitutionalists and federalists came to Laredo today from the isolated scene of yesterday's engagement near Guerrero, sixty miles from Mexico on the Rio Grande. Heavy losses on both sides were indicated.

An official dispatch given out in Nuevo Laredo claimed General Guardiola repulsed the rebels after nine hours' fighting and they took to them in retreat five weapons loaded with wounded, besides leaving many dead on the field. The rebels, constitutionalists deserted and fled into the United States during the fighting. It was admitted Guardiola withdrew to San Ygnacio after the reported retreat of the rebels. His loss in killed, captured and wounded was given as sixty men.

Constitutionalist reports were conflicting, but all claimed a substantial victory. The capture of Guerrero, which had been held by Guardiola, was a feature of the report.

It is regarded here as probable that both sides retreated with no material advantage. About 1,000 men were engaged on both sides. General Jesus Carranza and Antonio Villarreal commanded the constitutionalists.

TEXAS OFFERS REWARD FOR VERGARA'S SLAYERS

Washington, March 24.—Governor Colquhoun's offer of a reward of $1,000 for the delivery upon Texas soil of five Mexicans suspected as murderers of Clemente Vergara, has caused state and war department officials serious concern for international complications.

The five Mexicans sought are Captain Apolito Rodriguez, Nito Carranza, Castillon, Andreas Rodriguez and Dhimisio Martinez. In his report today, Brigadier General Bliss says:

"The men named are charged in the newspapers with complicity in the death of Clemente Vergara."

The right of the Governor to offer a reward for the apprehension of a fugitive from justice is not denied by the officials. But in this case it is feared that the offer may lead to an attempt to kidnap the Mexicans and bring them into Texas, which would be a violation of the extradition treaty between Mexico and the United States and afford the Mexican government ground for a demand for the punishment of the kidnappers with all sorts of legal entanglements.

Further reports on the incident near Del Rio, Texas, where Mexican federal soldiers fired across the Rio Grande at American troopers, say more than 500 shots were directed at the soldiers to whom the fleeing constitutionalists surrendered. The refugees were sent to Fort Bliss.

ARMS AND AMMUNITION FOR AMERICAN EMBASSY

Mexico City, March 24.—The first installment of arms and ammunition sent by the United States war department to the American embassy for the protection of American citizens in the event of disturbances in the federal capital, was delivered today.

The consignment, which includes 500 rifles and two machine guns, had been held at the customs house under orders issued by Provisional President Huerta for fourteen days. Nelson O'Shaughnessy, American charge d'affaires, anticipates no further trouble in securing the remainder of the rifles and the machine guns.

Rear Admiral Frank F. Fletcher, commander of the American warships in Mexican waters, who, with his wife and daughter, has been visiting Mexico City unofficially, departed for Vera Cruz today after four days of sight-seeing. The American naval officer met no Mexican officials.

YOUNG SON OF VERGARA KILLS HIS SISTER-IN-LAW

Laredo, Texas, March 24.—Jesus Vergara, young son of Clemente Vergara, the American recently kidnaped and assassinated in Mexico, today shot and killed his sister-in-law. He pulled the trigger of a rifle, which he thought unloaded.

600 HUERTA SUPPORTERS DEPORTED BY REBELS

Nogales, Sonora, March 24.—Six hundred citizens of Sonora, suspected of sympathy with Huerta, are to be deported by constitutionalist officials, according to authoritative statements made here today. The deportees were brought to Nogales today from Hermosillo.

Every one not in active accord with the Carranza program will be sent out of the country, it was said. None of the ex-patriates here tonight was allowed to take anything of value with him. All of their property has been confiscated.

Dead in the Bath Room.

Washington, March 24.—Dr. Oliver Kinsey, a young North Carolinian graduate of Johns Hopkins university and who was awaiting a commission as an army surgeon, was found dead in the bathroom of his boarding house today. Gas was flowing from a jet.

A Sign of Better Business

BY the use of attractive bulletins (in colors) you can tell your merchandising message to every man, woman and child in Atlanta in such a way that they will automatically absorb what you most want them to know.

¶ If the great force of advertising is suggestive--- and it is---Painted Bulletins are a great advertising force. ¶ For instance. A bulletin placed at Five Points actually reaches 200,000 people---possible customers---per day at a cost so small it is hardly considerable.

¶ There is absolutely no one means of reaching all the people in Atlanta all the time at as little cost as by the Painted Bulletin.

¶ Here's what an authority says about it---

H. G. HASTINGS & CO.
SEEDSMEN
Atlanta

March 18th, 1914.

Mr. St. Elmo Massengale, Pres.
Massengale Advertising Agency,
Atlanta, Georgia.

Dear Mr. Massengale:

I certainly want to congratulate you on the very fine work which you have done for us in the painting of the bulletins advertising our business, these having been placed in and around Atlanta. I do not believe it is any exaggeration to say, so far as our observation goes, that this is the best work your bulletin service has ever done and it certainly ought to produce entirely satisfactory results.

With best personal regards, I am,
Yours very truly,
(Signed) H. C. HASTINGS.

¶ The very fact that the best advertisers, large and small, use Painted Bulletins, is proof of their economy and efficiency. If you are not using them it is because you have not been informed of their merit and small cost. We welcome an opportunity to show you some interesting facts and figures that may be the means of making your Advertising more productive.

GOVERNOR APPROVES WIDER PEACHTREE

Did Not Say He Would Use Troops to Stop Work on Mansion Site.

The fact that city authorities had failed to get the approval of the governor for the plans of widening of Peachtree street between Carnegie way and Cain street in so far as it affects the state property upon which the governor's mansion sits, at Peachtree and Cain streets temporarily held up the work of street widening at that point Tuesday morning.

After a conference with the city attorney, however, when the plans were submitted Governor Slaton approved the plans in accordance with a legislative resolution of 1911 and the work was allowed to proceed.

Owing to a peculiar remark of one of the city officials to a reporter for an Atlanta afternoon paper the news had come out that Governor Slaton would call out the militia to stop that street work. The governor declared preposterous.

Governor's statement.

Governor Slaton gave out the following interview to The Constitution reporter:

"When I started from the mansion this morning I was to my surprise, that the work was taken down and large trees had been cut down and several feet from the street.

"There was no authority by law for such a course, and the resolution under which the work was being done only gave authority to the governor to grant permission with his directions and upon his approval of plans etc. No plans had been submitted nor request preferred.

"The resolution of 1911 authorizing the governor to permit the widening of the street is as follows:

"Whereas a movement is on foot to widen Peachtree street in the city of Atlanta and whereas the same would increase the value of property fronting thereon to be resolved by the General Assembly of Georgia that the governor is hereby authorized in his discretion to give off a strip not exceeding twenty feet on the Peachtree front of the lot on which the governor's mansion is located so as to appropriate with said plan of widening Peachtree street as such terms and conditions as he may approve.

Stops the Work.

"I stopped the work and went at once in person to the office of the chief of construction and stated that there was no authority for the appropriation of the state property but I would endeavor to aid the city authorities as far as I could upon a subsequently a true print of the work was submitted and an agreement made as to the sidewalk railing that was given me and authorized the widening.

"It was stated to me that immediately after the shriners convention the buildings on the opposite side of the street would be cut so that the widening could occur on that side as well as on the side of the executive mansion.

"It is the duty of the governor to protect the state's property and especially in view of the fact that all of the state's property is pledged by the constitution to the payment of the state debt and the amount being taken was 1,000 square feet of land on Peachtree street.

"The matter has now been agreeably arranged by executive order embodying a contract with the city.

"I am informed that the statement in an afternoon paper published today said by a statement by a city officer and taken seriously by the reporter.

Idle Men Decreasing.

New York March 24—Roswell D. Tomlinson, secretary of the United Board of Business Agents of the Union in the Building Trades in a report today said the number of unemployed mechanics here had decreased between five and six weeks ago to 1,000. There was about seventy thousand building mechanics idle while at present there were about fifty thousand. With improving weather conditions it is stated another 10,000 of the unemployed will be at work.

New officers were elected last night at the regular meeting of the Rotary club, held at the Hotel Ansley.

The following men were named: Albert S. Adams, president, F. O. Foster, first vice president, R. L. Foreman, second vice president, L. D. Hicks, secretary, W. B. Seabrook, assistant secretary, George W. Allen, sergeant at arms.

The dinner guests were selected to fill expired terms on the board of directors: Henry W. Grady, Lee Jordan H. W. Anderson, W. B. Seabrook and H. G. Hastings.

The dinner was, perhaps one of the most novel given in the organization's history. The banquet board was arranged in the shape of a huge wheel the Rotary club symbol. It was presided over by Hubert W. Anderson. The newly elected officers will assume their duties on June 1.

$100,000 IN POCKET, HE IS BEING HELD ON FRAUD CHARGE

Portland Ore March 24—Walter Greer Campbell, who three years ago had a fortune of more than $400,000, was arrested here today on a charge of obtaining money under false pretenses in San Francisco. He also is accused of fleeing from his creditors, owing upwards of $100,000. The police say $100,000 in gold certificates were found in Campbell's pockets.

San Francisco Cal March 24—Walter Greer Campbell arrested today in Portland left his wife and child there on March 9. Mrs. Campbell declares he pawned her jewels and the family silver and left her without funds.

Campbell's fortune, estimated at $400,000 has dwindled since the revolution in Mexico started. His investments there were for the most part in that country.

Colonel Sibert Recalled.

Washington March 24—Lieutenant Colonel William L. Sibert builder of Gatun dam and the Gatun locks of the Panama canal has finished that work and was today ordered to Washington to await further assignment.

Colonel Sibert has served as a member of the isthmian canal commission and as engineer in charge of the Atlantic division.

Malburn Takes Oath.

Washington March 24—William P. Malburn of Denver Colo today took the oath of office as assistant secretary of the treasury. Mr. Malburn will be in charge of the customs. He is a son in law of Senator Thomas.

DIDN'T MEAN TO KILL; ONLY WANTED TO WARN

Paris March 24—T never intended to kill Calmette, I wanted to give him warning.

This assertion was made by Mme. Caillaux today at her trial as the climax of her dramatic story of the shooting and a recital of the events leading to the killing of the editor of the Figaro.

Mme. Caillaux's state of mind on the evening day her purchase of a revolver and the last act of the tragedy revealed to her clothing before the fire could be extinguished she was horribly burned from head to foot. She is still alive and conscious, but it is feared she will die.

WOMAN HORRIBLY BURNED.

Columbus Ga. March 24—(Special) Mrs. Fannie Newsom, aged 63, was horribly burned at her home in Phoenix City Ala. this morning. She was sitting beside an open grate sewing and it is supposed that her work caught and the flames were communicated to her clothing. Before the fire could be extinguished she was horribly burned from head to foot. She is still alive and conscious, but it is feared she will die.

ROME MAN HANGS HIMSELF TO TREE BY PUBLIC ROAD

Dalton Ga. March 24—(Special)—The lifeless body of George Hayes, a prominent and well known man, was found this morning hanging from a tree within a few feet of the public road by a mile east of here. The coroner's verdict was that he committed suicide.

Hayes, who was a resident of Rome was 67 years old. He was apparently in good health and was on a visit to his home at Dalton, Ga. He died at Dalton March 23.

No message has been found to account for his action.

lution in the senate tomorrow. Senator Chamberlain planning to call it up with the aid of the ratifiers and ratifiers act of July 5 1884 which it is proposed to repeal provides that no bill or resolution shall be introduced on any vessel through any canal or other work for the improvement of navigation belonging to the United States.

Messages Pro and Con.

Senator O'Connell had read in the senate chamber today letters and telegrams commending his opposition to the repeal. One telegram, from the New Orleans Association of Commerce declared that it would be a staggering blow to American aspirations for re-establishment of our merchant marine. Another from the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce urged the senator to night repeal to the last.

Senator James had read a telegram from former Senator Blanchard of Louisiana, to Senator Thornton declaring that public sentiment in Louisiana overwhelmingly favored the repeal as urged by President Wilson.

Against Repeal.

Albany N. Y. March 24—A resolution putting the lower house of the state legislature on record as opposing the repeal of the law exempting American coastwise vessels from Panama canal tolls was adopted today by a vote of 66 to 64.

DEMONSTRATOR'S BOOTH FINE PLACE FOR LUNCH

Mrs. Lillian Kroeber of Atlanta is conducting a demonstration of Campbell's Soup at a booth in the grocery department of J. J. High & Co. in the city. She has given away a taste at a time as high as fifty cans each. Last night she was accompanied by a spoonful of baked beans.

Mrs. Kroeber says that few of the same people return for samples, most of them buying cans for use at home, but she recalls the amusing reappearance of the same young man, who had bought lunch every day who frankly said:

"Well have a little Campbell's before we take our lunch."

During the pure food demonstrations of the High Company at Atlanta family buyers have been showing great interest.—(Adv.)

WEATHER MAN SAYS DAY TO OPEN FINE, BUT CLOUDS LATER

Following is the weather forecast for Atlanta Wednesday.

The day will open fine and comparatively warm, with light southerly winds. The advance of a new disturbance over the Ohio valley, however, will cause increasing cloudiness Wednesday afternoon with probably light rain and gusty southerly winds late in the afternoon or Wednesday night. The temperature will run somewhat higher probably reaching 65 degrees during the middle of the day.

TRI-STATE CONVENTION WILL MEET IN ATLANTA

Mayor Woodward Will Welcome Water and Light Association.

The fourth annual convention of the Tri-State Water and Light association of the Carolinas and Georgia will be held April 16-17 at the Piedmont hotel.

The entertainment committee composed entirely of Atlantans, has been selected as follows: B. Frank Erwin, Peter A. Peterson C. M. House, L. J. Leary, W. Z. Smith, Fred Houser, J. W. Nash.

The convention will be presided over by President A. J. Soroles, and Vice Presidents Fred C. Wyse and George W. Hubbard. All sessions will be held in the Piedmont. Mayor Woodward will welcome the visitors and W. P. Stieglitz, of Columbia will respond.

CORDIALLY GREETED BY EDITOR

The witness told of her cordial greeting by the editor when she reached The Figaro office.

"No doubt you know the object of my visit," she said to the editor.

"No replied M. Calmette. 'Went you sit down?' He then lit a lamp and placed it on the table."

Frantic at finding myself in semi-obscure facing the man who had maligned my husband my presence in the office known to all. Mme. Caillaux said dramatically I drew the revolver and taking careful aim, aimed low.

"Yes indeed interrupted M. Bocard observed that two bullets lodged in the base of the bookcase. But how do you explain the wound in the chest of M. Calmette who was behind the desk?"

"I do not know I continued to fire without noticing said the witness. 'Are you sure you did not fire?' followed M. Calmette around in his efforts to escape," asked the magistrate.

"To this Mme. Caillaux had nothing to say."

Not Nervous Excitement.

Mme. Caillaux then told of her luncheon with her husband the day of the tragedy and the consequent nervous excitement she suffered and the necessity of making a last effort to prevent the publication of the letter.

"I also had been obsessed with the idea that my husband might be driven to commit the crime she said and so decided to do it myself."

Mme. Caillaux who appeared in a condition of extreme fatigue today called impatiently for her husband, the former minister of finance. When he arrived at the trial a long conference ensued. Afterwards she was taken before the magistrate.

While Mme. Caillaux was being led through a corridor of the palace if justice to the court of the investigating magistrate M. Beauver, of Mademoiselle Hill at the time.

No message has been found to account for his action.

WHERE FADISM HURTS.

Practical educators who strive to keep their feet on the ground in this era of tads and follies in educational fashions will find strong support in a remarkable report just made by Dr. Leonard P. Ayers, investigator for the Sage foundation. We are indebted to The New York Times of recent date for a preliminary review of the report. Dr. Ayers bases his conclusions upon an exhaustive analysis of the school systems in seventy-eight American cities. What he says has, therefore, the stamp of scope and actuality. At no point does he rely upon theories or speculation.

The gist of Dr. Ayers' conclusions is to point the danger of riding vocational education to death and neglecting or minimizing academic education for the child of the poor as well as of the rich man. The craze for separating the sheep from the goats in our grammar schools, to make pretension that one child is destined to manual and the other to intellectual labor, which has not as yet, and very fortunately, been allowed to get far in Atlanta, is a fallacy if we are to believe this judicial expert. In some cities, where inexperienced visionaries, or those not averse to playing politics, control, an effort has been made to base education upon the hypothesis that only one child in ten will find his life work in an intellectual line, the others being scheduled for manual labor.

This theory Dr. Ayers riddles. He finds that mental workers, comprise more than one-third of the fathers of school children. It is logical that the child shall follow in the footsteps of the parent. He also does not spare the claim that children should be educated with a view to being utilized in local industries. Only one father in four was born in the city in which he now lives. This signifies the shifting of families to other communities. If we shape vocational training with the local end in view we shall, therefore, invite the risk of fastening upon children special local equipment for which they may have no use whatever.

Vocational equipment is excellent in its place. But there is danger that in the revolt against too much academic education we may swing the pendulum too far in the other direction. The more feasible plan is that which seeks to strike a common denominator in education. That is, to find a system which will equip every child for life anywhere in any calling, not to presuppose an aristocracy of wealth or of intellect or of opportunity, not to shut the door of chance, inferentially, in the face of any man's son or daughter. Any other principle involves inevitably a snobbishness totally at variance with the democratic instinct.

foundation, furnish an indication to the Atlanta report by that same authority we may expect a thoroughly impersonal and enlightening survey of the manner in which Atlanta children are being educated.

DELAY THE ONLY DANGER.

The Constitution publishes today a communication in which J. R. Smith, well-known business man of Atlanta, commends a Constitution editorial of last Sunday under the caption, "Waiting for Magic Word." In that editorial The Constitution set forth that the nation was calling on the railroads for a rehabilitation which would mean the expenditure of a billion dollars. We showed that contingent upon the raising of this huge sum was an understanding between the public, the railroads and the government, assuring mutual fair play as between all three and a guarantee against recurrence of past financial debauches on part of the railroads. We showed that once this assurance was forthcoming and the billion dollars distributed through the channels of commerce and industry prosperity would experience an impetus not paralleled in many years.

In these views Mr. Smith coincides, as did Mr. Holmes yesterday, and as have many other representative business men in Atlanta and Georgia who have communicated with The Constitution. In this connection it may not be irrelevant to mention the ground-rumor that the interstate commerce commission is dallying with the petition of the railroads in order to embarrass the administration, since the commission is of republican preponderance. The Constitution takes no stock in this report. The commission is a national and not a partisan organization. Its functions, and especially the business now before it, are of too vital importance to every man, woman and child in the land to be made a political football. But there is no doubt that the commission is disposed to delay action. Such a policy would be unwise.

The thing above all others that needs to be ended is the uncertainty that halts the stride of business. The commission has twice gone over the case presented by the railroads. It should be familiar with its every intricacy. Nothing is gained by postponement save the keeping of business on the grift.

Business has the right to know where it stands, and whether to adjust itself to the present conditions or build with larger designs in view. Any decision is better than indecision. Even though the verdict be adverse, it is wiser that fact should be known and business allowed to adjust itself accordingly than to have business eternally dangling between the Scylla of hope and the Charybdis of uncertainty.

It is the uncertainty that paralyzes initiative and prosperity. Therefore, the quicker the commission takes action the better for every industry in the country.

"CAESAREM VEHIS!"

A fragmentary report from South America reminds us that while T. R. may be gone, he or fate do not intend that he shall be forgotten. The cablegram vaguely states that the colonel's party have "lost everything in the rapids" somewhere in the obscurity of the Brazilian jungles. Meanwhile the American Museum of Natural History has wired our consul at Para to spare no expense in securing particulars of the disaster. It is said that the colonel's friends and family entertain no fears for his personal safety, but that they will be more or less agitated until reassured. Their concern is natural, but we decline to occupy with them the anxious bench. Every high school boy remembers that gentle phrase that Caesar, in a predicament similar to that of the colonel's, is said to have flung at his panic-stricken boatmen. "Quid times, Caesarem vehis?" was the consoling sentiment and, liberally interpreted, it means, "What do you fear? You carry Caesar!" It is related that the imperialist's oarsmen settled down to their natural stroke, in scorn of the storm, when he thus spoke to them. And it is impossible that the colonel's dingy oarsmen on the Amazon likewise got busy with the paddles when he rose in the boat and comforted with the assurance that he was the apple of fate's eye, had his fingers crossed, an Ohio buckeye in his pocket and a Georgia rabbit's foot reposing by his side. The combination is irresistible!

If we believed the colonel actually in danger, we should entertain alarm for a very great American, held by us in a warm esteem and friendship. But—you can't lose the colonel. Presently he'll come sailing back, whether to take a fourth cup of coffee with Dr. Lyman Abbott or to whack some mendacious editor over the head with a libel suit, it matters not. Come back, he will, at least in a physical, if not political, sense. "Quid times, Caesarem vehis?"

There's a good deal of "watchful waiting" among the Mexican refugees between meals at Uncle Sam's border beanery.

Mr. Taft says he has "learned to be content." That being the case, he shouldn't be so anxious about the future of his disorganized party.

Huerta's being in financial straits might excite sympathy, but it happens to be his chronic condition.

Summer'll come to see us—bring us brighter skies,
And yet it's always summer in the light of Jenny's eyes.

Summer, sparkling-bright
With its living light;
Life is like a dream there and sorrow is in flight.
Once Life went a-weeping in a world of sighs,
But Joy came with the morning of the light of Jenny's eyes.

And in that light I seem
To catch the deathless beam
Of stars that shine forever through the vistas of a dream.
'Twas Just a Wooden Leg.
When I awoke the other morning," said the citizen, "I was dumfounded to see a wooden leg standing in a corner of the room. Now, I know that I had gone to bed as sober as the proverbial judge, and certainly must have no distorted vision; yet there that wooden leg was, leaning against the wall!"

My wife was in the kitchen, superintending breakfast. I called her to see in a corner, "What is that thing in the corner?" I asked. "That," she replied, with perfect composure, "is a wooden leg!"

The Beloved Vagabond.
(W. G. Tinkom-Fernandez, in The Westminster Gazette.)
You who were once so careless, I can recall you now,
Your great visionary eyes, your great and open brow,
With naught to bind your heart-strings, and all the world in fee,
You went where all the roads lead, beyond the farthest sea.

What gypsy word was winged to you, and bade you and I rise,
What thrill of smoke sent onward your restless, eager feet?
What vagrant heart was waiting your wayward heart to greet?

We, who are kin to the city, across the candle's praise
Your tales of camps in twilight, your great and gallant ways,
Your knowledge of the mysteries deep-hidden by the wood,
The pagan trust you placed in man, the world you found so good.
Then leave a patrin for mine eyes, that I may follow, too,
And shall walk the world grows dim, and I shall beckon you,
Across the distant moorland, from beacon-turret plies high,
I, the newest rover, see your fire against the sky!

"Waiting for Magic Word"
Is Prosperity Beacon?
—J. R. SMITH.

Editor Constitution: Permit me to congratulate you upon your splendid editorial of yesterday, based upon a communication from Mr. Richard H. Edmonds, editor of The Manufacturers' Record, and a statement of the Associated Press representing the attitude of the railroad operators in regard to the financial condition of the railroads of the country. There is substance for real prosperity in your editorial.

Governmental regulation of railroads has long since been recognized as necessary and the railroad operators have been in the public eye. Many of the great systems have been looted by a few individuals over night, and millions slipped into their pockets at the expense of the public who were therefor paying dividends for the water that was poured in. This trickery, when brought to light, created a strong prejudice against the railroad operators, which has materially affected the property itself.

The credit of the railroads has undoubtedly been impaired by three causes in recent years: The stock gambler with his nefarious manipulations, the movement on the part of the government to prohibit this and reduce rates and regulate the properties, and the unscrupulous politician and demagogue who through senseless and useless agitation has taken advantage of this situation and feasted at the expense of the public and to the detriment of the railroads. The gambler has had his day, and the government its inning.

If the government is prepared to assure the investor against the gambler and give reasonable assurance of stable and profitable investment in the railroads, the money will be forthcoming. The operating expenses of the railroads throughout the country have greatly increased during the past few years; and during that same period the government has been gradually forcing rates downward until it has reduced the capital has been frightened to such an extent that the railroads have been unable to raise the necessary money to make improvements that the growth of the country demands. These are facts that the layman, as well as the railroad operator, the layman does not know. But the government, under the present system, should be familiar with it and prepared to present proper counter-arguments. It will require more than mere suggestions that prosperity is due to produce it.

Atlanta, Ga., March 23, 1914.

A Story of the Moment
By WALT MASON.
The Famous Fruse Poet.

Doing Good.
"I had a million dollars," remarked the obese banker, "I do a lot of good in the world. Every winter I'd buy a thousand suits of clothes for as many down-and-outers. I'd like to be rich, because I could do so much good."

"If you had a million dollars," said the star-browed, "you'd have entirely different views concerning such matters. You'd be pointing out to anxious inquirers that indiscriminate charity has a demoralizing effect upon the people, and instead of buying the cheapest suits of clothes you'd buy yourself a new motor car. Most of us are fond of talking about how munificent we'd be if we had a million dollars; but, in order to do good, we don't need a million dollars. In this highly respectable family boarding house there are many second hand hats and shoes and garments of various kinds which might go to the downtrodden and oppressed, just as well as the new stovetops that I have worn for twenty years. I bought it once when I figured on being married. It was a part of a perfectly gorgeous regalia I purchased for that occasion, but the bride didn't show up at the appointed hour. She changed her mind at the last moment, as it happened, and eloped with a young man who sold toilet soaps, complexion powders and various articles of a kindred nature."

"I have never worn that hat since, and it remains in my bedroom, a melancholy souvenir. I'd gladly give it to some worthy man if he would come after it, but it's too much trouble to carry it around the other side of the relief office, and I can't afford to advertise the fact that I have a stovepipe hat to give away. Some unfortunate man, beaten and buffeted by a cruel world, might regain his self-respect by buying a career of usefulness if he had that hat, but it continues to hang around my room."

"There would be a great deal more charitable work done if giving things away were all there is to it. But we all hate to go to any sort of a public sale, and I sit at the grinning board and talk about what we'd do if we had a million."

"If a rich man really wanted to do good with his money he could find plenty of opportunities for it. He could give some little person an effort, and naturally he objects to that. If a millionaire went the rounds of the cheap lodging houses on a cold winter night he could unload quite a package of money to good advantage, but it's a lot easier to give a large check to a college, or establish a hospital, or a public pool hall, and that sort of thing would bring a better grade of advertising, and it's advertising we're all after, Mrs. Jiggers."

"If I ever do gather up the old hats and neckties and silverware and the like, and take them to the relief department for the benefit of the poor, I'll try to charter a fife and drum band for the occasion, and if the event is pulled off in good shape, and makes a hit, I'll announce myself as a candidate for some office. I'll give a large check to a college, or establish a library, usually do run for office while the fact is fresh in the public mind."

"And when a man runs for office, he always insists that his real ambition is to do good for the people, and to make the world happier and better. There are times when I feel that I'd give fifty cents to meet a man willing to admit that he wants an office for no other reason than to get a large salary, and make his position plain, the people will rally around him with enthusiasm, and he will be triumphantly elected. For the people, my dear Mrs. Jiggers, are tired of statesmen and others who want to serve them in purple and fine linen, while they wear hickory shirts and blue jeans. They are in the mood of that ancient voter who threw the harpoon into Aristides because he was tired of hearing that patriot referred to as 'the just man'."

"Doing good is a long distance business. If we can do good by pressing a button while seated in a rocking chair before a comfortable fire, it is passing well; but if we are required to go out in the snow with a lantern, and help our fellow men, we remember our important engagements that can't be postponed. So I'll trouble you for some of the toast, Mrs. Jiggers."

Has Earth Expanded or Contracted?
(From The Engineering Record.)
A scientific survey to determine the exact regular distance between the cities of Berlin, Germany and Washington, D. C., will be made by the German Geodetic Institute at Potsdam in connection with the Coast and Geodetic Survey of the United States. Fifty years ago this distance was computed, presumably accurately; the purpose of repeating the computation is to ascertain whether the earth has expanded or contracted during the past half century. The Germans will establish the distance between Potsdam and Horta, in the Azores, and the Americans will ascertain the distance from Horta to Washington.

DAILY GRIND
STATE'S POLITICAL GRIND

POLITICS FAR FROM THOUGHTS OF FORMER GOVERNOR BROWN
Former Governor Joseph M. Brown is not now, nor is he a prospective candidate for the United States senate.

Furthermore, and as in all likelihood it will develop, he is not bothering himself about politics, and seemingly the last thing in his thoughts is the permitting of himself to become personally involved in any way in the campaign which will run this summer.

This may be said as a result of the unbusinesslike of the political operators who for the past several weeks have been unable to figure with any amount of condensation on the approaching campaign on account of the uncertainty surrounding the attitude of ex-Governor Brown. In effect, they have worked out a solution in the game of political chess which is now progressing, some move would finally lead up against the stone wall of the unbroken silence emanating from the direction of Marietta.

Practically not a day has passed since the death of the late Senator Bacon that the query as to what Governor Brown's intentions were has not been made in some form or another. The very fact that the former chief executive had spent many months in the quietude of his farm in Cherokee county, near the same spot where his distinguished father was reaping his grain when he was advised of his nomination for governor, has caused speculation as to just what his motive in thus secluding himself really was.

Solely, therefore, with the view of being able to tell the people of the state what might be expected during the forthcoming campaign from the only man who ever polled a hundred thousand votes for governor, a Constitution representative called on Governor Brown yesterday at his home in Marietta.

Has Eliminated Himself.
And the newspaper man found out—to his own conviction, at least. So far as being personally a factor in the political moving picture drama in Georgia, this year, Joseph M. Brown has been endeavoring to firmly and emphatically eliminate himself. And it is safe to prophesy that unless something unforeseen develops "Little Joe" Brown will for the next time be a name known to one of the stoom centers in Georgia politics.

Frankly the former governor outlined to the Constitution man his movements during the nine months since he gave up the governor's chair. During that time he has spent months at a time on his farm in Cherokee county, with politics dismissed from his mind and the heated discussions of political campaigns the farthest thing from his thoughts.

And, according to "Little Joe," he has enjoyed his life more during the past few months in which he has pursued uninterrupted the calm demeanor of his way than he did those years in which he was the center of the whirling merry-go-round of the political ring in Georgia.

So, instead of having been carefully working, in the seclusion of his agricultural interests, on a campaign which would land him in the United States senate, former Governor Brown has been enjoying a well-earned vacation in many ways. He has been with his mind centered upon the personal affairs which for so many years he had to neglect.

A note of warning was sounded by the former governor to those over-anxious who were urging the state into a long and heated political campaign this summer. He said: "Some of our over-eager seekers after office are liable to be gently but firmly set aside this summer if they try to plunge the state into the chaos of a long political campaign. I have not the time, and I for one would certainly hate to be the candidate responsible for opening up the fireworks this year before it is absolutely necessary, for—"

and here that quiet smile was again in evidence. "I am sure that we are going to have a long and interesting summer, and I for one am not going to have any time to deal with a long political turmoil. Whoever faction precipitates it is going to give itself an awful headache."

"The time has passed," continued Governor Brown, "when there is any hope for long political campaigns. In the olden days, when the farmers and those living away from the big towns, had no way at all to keep posted except by hearing speeches by the candidates, the state may have been some excuse for campaigns several months in length, but in these days of the rural free delivery and the metropolitan newspaper, when every farmer can have the news of the day before him at his breakfast table, there is no excuse for the willingness which it seems has already been demonstrated by some of the candidates to plunge the state into political strife."

"The best thing for Georgia now is political peace, and the voters are coming to realize that. They are accordingly not going to deal leniently with any candidate who permits their selfish desires to threaten the quietude of the present situation."

"So you are going to sit back and let them fight it out without taking any part in the fun?"

"That is certainly what I am doing now—but, of course, you never can tell about politics. It's such a funny game, you know, that just when you think you are out of the whirl and are getting the first rest you have had in a long time, some cog slips and the call of party loyalty, or of patriotism, forces you back into it all; but—"

"Let's hope that the peace and freedom from strife that we have enjoyed now for so long will continue."

affected under which the uncertainties of impending elections are avoided by an agreement to honorably retire. Judge Speer in advance of the age fixed by law for voluntary retirement.

It was said that members of congress had agreed on this feature of the deal so quietly and skillfully as to obtain the consent of Judge Speer to make a vacancy on the federal bench as soon as he could be honorably retired, and that practically all of the Georgia delegation in congress had committed themselves to the successful culmination of the coup.

The reason assigned by current gossip to the miscarriage of these well-laid plans was the discovery on the part of Congressman Bartlett that the possible vacancy had been tentatively pledged to Congressman Hardwick as a leverage to get him out of the senatorial race and leave the field open to Attorney General Felder.

Judge Speer has given some foundation for at least one branch of the rumor by publishing a letter recently written to his counsel, agreeing to honorable retirement in advance of the age prescribed by law, provided all charges reflecting upon him or upon his judicial administration should be abandoned.

The story is but a rumor, but the rumor is charged with interest, if true.

CONVENTIONS CAUSE CHANGE IN DATE OF RICHMOND PRIMARY
Augusts, Ga., March 24.—(Special.)—The democratic executive committee Monday fixed the date for the county primary for May 15, request having been made to change it from the original date of May 20, on account of the convention to be held by the Eagles and Knights of Pythias.

TRELL COUNTY VOTERS GLAD FOR REST FROM POLITICS
Dawson, Ga., March 24.—(Special.)—Following the recent primary in this county, the normal equanimity of the various candidates is one more noticeable, and all political agitation is a thing of the past, and everybody is in a good humor.

The election was wholly free from all bitterness or strife, and the candidates conducted their campaigns with the utmost fairness. While there were surprises and disappointments at the result of the ballots in several instances, yet no ill-will or unkind feelings are harbored by any citizen of the county.

LARGE NUMBER OF CANDIDATES MAKING THINGS WARM IN STEWART
Richland, Ga., March 24.—(Special.)—Stewart county's primary for county officers will occur on April 15.

There are seven candidates for treasurer, three for tax collector, four for receiver, two for sheriff. For county commissioner there will be at least ten candidates to fill the three vacancies.

Mr. E. Carter, the present clerk, has no opposition. Mr. Davis, tax collector, is being opposed by M. D. Goude and E. L. Alston; W. K. Johnson, sheriff, is being opposed by James A. Snelling, George A. Ammons, tax receiver, will not offer for re-election; Buck Gentry, treasurer, is opposed by six candidates.

While the primary for representative will not be held till August, two candidates have announced, W. S. Loyett and A. J. Fey.

EXPECT BIG VOTE TO BE POLLED FRIDAY IN CRISP COUNTY
Cordale, Ga., March 24.—(Special.)—All of the candidates for county officers in Crisp county are putting their campaign money and turning ability to the test, coming in on the "home stretch." With the contest brought to a close in the primary Friday, the political pot will boil less noisily, at least until the state primary, while there will doubtless be some disappointed candidates, but it would be officials telling how it all happened.

There is considerable speculation as to the outcome of some of the races, especially the three-cornered ones. In view of the numerous candidates and the strong interest in the affair growing out of their popularity, it is expected that the vote polled will considerably exceed that of any previous primary.

CLARKE COUNTY COMMITTEE SETS MAY 9 AS DATE OF COUNTY PRIMARY
Athens, Ga., March 24.—(Special.)—The Clarke county democratic executive committee met Monday with the chairman, Hon. Howell Cobb Erwin, at noon.

The primary for county officers is to be held Saturday, May 9, the entries for these offices to close on April 20. Registration will close on April 7. There were no changes in the party committee, and the strong interest in the affair growing out of their popularity, it is expected that the vote polled will considerably exceed that of any previous primary.

LARSEN MAKES NO STATEMENT AS TO HIS INTENTIONS
W. W. Larsen, of Dublin, whom reports have put in the race for congress from his district, was in Atlanta Tuesday and called at the capitol to see the governor and others of his friends.

However, he had nothing to say as to whether or not he would be a candidate for congress.

Larsen is a prominent lawyer of Dublin, and is well known and liked about the state. He was for a while warrant clerk in the governor's office under Governor Brown.

Questions Associated Press Report
Editor Constitution: From time to time there occurs in the various newspapers of the country press dispatches telling of some remarkable operations or cures that have been accomplished. Of late Baltimore seems to be the city where so many erroneous statements originate. I note in this morning's Constitution a press dispatch from that city saying that a most remarkable operation had been performed of transplanting a portion of a pig's eye to the eye of a man who was afflicted with blindness, leading the public to believe that in all probability this man's vision would be restored. The facts are that Dr. DEXTER ROY, M. D., has tried thousands of times by oculists all over the world, with very little success. The nearest approach, however, has been where there has been transplanting tissues from man to man.

Such dispatches and statements as these lead to false hopes on the part of the afflicted, and many a poor person will spend their last penny in order to consult these men who hold out such possibilities to the human race.

No doubt Baltimore was crowded at the time such extravagant statements were being made in reference to the cure of cancer by radium. Such reports are impositions on the public.

A Pathetic Figure on the Strand.
(From The London Globe.)
There is an old man who patrols the streets of London day in quest of a vanished daughter. Few frequenters of the Strand can have failed to observe him. He is a pathetic figure, with his tattered top hat, which has seen better days, and the written placard which advertises to the world his mission in life.

GRAND JURY PROBES GOVERNOR O'NEAL

Investigation of the Lacy Charges Against Alabama Executive Begun—Lacy Before the Grand Jury.

Montgomery, Ala., March 24.—Repeating in full the allegations preferred by Theodore Lacy against Governor Emmet O'Neal, declaring that if "the governor of this state be guilty, he should be indicted, convicted and adequately punished by imprisonment in the penitentiary along with any other guilty party or parties," but that "if he be innocent, he may be vindicated," Judge Armstead Brown at 12:45 this afternoon convened the Montgomery county grand jury in special session and charged that body.

Judge Brown said that the "mere loan to the governor of private funds of Oakley by Lacy might not constitute any criminal act," but summing up Lacy's concurrent insinuations, he charged that "it might further be implied from Lacy's alleged statement that the governor not only tried to help cover up a known shortage in the department, either wittingly or unwittingly, but held off Examiner Brooke until Lacy had safely absconded."

Regardless of the interpretation of Lacy's article, Judge Brown said it was "no time to split hairs," and referred the jury to the section of the code covering the prosecution of all persons concerned in a felony.

In conclusion, Judge Brown said that "the court has not called you together either to indict Governor O'Neal or to whitewash him, but it has called you together to make a brave and honest effort to get at the real facts, and act accordingly in the light of your duty under the law."

Theodore Lacy, under sentence of ten years for embezzling convict department funds, was summoned before the grand jury this afternoon. He was brought from his cell across the street to the grand jury room by two deputies. He was the first witness.

After questioning Lacy briefly, the grand jury adjourned until Friday. It is expected Lacy will be recalled then.

SLAYER OF MARSHAL JAILED AT DOUGLAS

Douglas, Ga., March 24.—(Special.)—Charles G. Hester, shot and killed Lawrence Newbern, marshal at Broxton, last Saturday night, and escaped, was captured between Denton and Hazlet and brought to Douglas jail, where he is now in safekeeping.

Immediately following the shooting Saturday night, ex-Sheriff David Rickerson and a posse started in pursuit. Hester was very close at one time to Graham and shot, but it was so dark that he was unable to tell whether the bullet hit. However, next morning blood was discovered around the place where he had shot, and Graham was traced to the point near Hazlet, where he was captured.

It is understood that Judge Quincey will call a special term of superior court for the first time in April to try Graham. The wounded brother has been taken from the Douglas hospital to Vidalia, where he is wanted by the sheriff. It is believed that it is necessary to the crime that he planned it from Broxton.

The dead marshal at Broxton was buried on Tuesday morning.

WOMAN AWARDED $10,000 FOR INJURIES IN WRECK

Macon, Ga., March 24.—(Special.)—In the city court of Macon this afternoon Mrs. M. J. Blazer won a verdict for $10,000 against the Southern Railway company for personal injuries sustained in the wreck of the "Dere Brown" train in the local railroad yard, May 21.

Mrs. Blazer sued for $35,000 damages, claiming that as a result of the wreck she lost her eyesight and hearing and in addition she sustained an injury to her back.

Her husband has a suit for $25,000 pending against the company to recover money spent in hearing his wife treated and for loss of her companionship for ten years. Her claims to have spent $1,000 for doctor bills.

Mrs. Blazer is a sister of Attorney Julian Urquhart of Macon, and at the time of the wreck was on a visit to her father, W. J. Urquhart, at Nashville, Tenn. The railroad company has not given notice of an appeal.

BIG CROWD AT DAWSON SEES AVIATOR IN AIR

Dawson, Ga., March 24.—(Special.)—A. C. Beach made two successful flights in his airplane here today in the presence of the largest concourse of people ever assembled in Dawson. He will fly his aerobane morning and afternoon. The aviation nest is being given free by the merchants of the city.

GIRL OF M'DONOUGH JILTS HER FIANCE AND WEDS OLD LOVE

McDonough, Ga., March 24.—(Special.)—Exercising a woman's prerogative to change her mind, Miss Ruth Walker, a pretty young society girl of this place, was this afternoon unexpectedly wedded to her old lover, as Miss Walker and the fiancé of Mr. Smith, of Savannah, had been regularly announced and the nuptials set for April.

The former marriage, which was solemnized at the manse of the Presbyterian church and performed by Rev. John Barelay, created quite a furore in society circles, for the young lady, as Miss Walker, and the fiancé of Mr. Smith, had been extensively entertained.

The young couple left for Atlanta tonight, for the honeymoon. Mr. Walker is the daughter of Mrs. C. W. Walker. The groom is assistant postmaster here.

GORDON CADET NAMED FOR NAVAL ACADEMY

Barnesville, Ga., March 24.—(Special.)—Cadet Fred Holmes, of an excellent family who received an appointment to the United States Academy at Annapolis from Congressman Hughes, has just passed successfully his examination for the year ending in June. Cadet Holmes is a member of the senior class. His home is at Vidalia, in Congressman Hughes' district.

Cadets John Teasley and Jack Smith, who received appointments to the Naval Academy from Senator Hoke Smith, will take the examination in June. The two men are successful in their examinations. It will give Gordon three cadets at Annapolis in October.

Cadet Henry Lee has just received his appointment from the government in the consular department. This gives Gordon five men in this department appointed in the last six months.

WIDOW OF YEGGMAN NABBED IN SAVANNAH

Savannah, Ga., March 24.—(Special.)—Mrs. C. C. Craven, alias Mrs. Prater, widow of the Yegman, was nabbed by police, who was killed at Wildwood, Fla., more than a month ago, and who led the Savannah detective department on a chase for hidden gold, bobbed up in Savannah mysteriously yesterday and today is being held at the police station for a hearing. She is thought to be the woman who came into town with her.

The detective department was largely vindicated for its all-day search for the alleged hidden treasure on March 23, when she was nabbed in a room near the Cathedral cemetery. That money may be hidden seems to be a possibility. She is thought to be the woman who started out today to the same locality and tried herself to locate the hidden treasure. Her husband had secreted a large sum of money.

NARROW GAUGES CEASE TO EXIST IN GEORGIA

Gainesville, Ga., March 24.—(Special.)—Today winds up the narrow gauge railroad in the state of Georgia, the Gainesville Midland railway at this place having broad gauged their line from Belmont to Gainesville. The termination of this road on the Windsor division.

The Georgia railroad announced this morning that the first broad gauge train would run from Belmont to Gainesville this evening. The broad gauge line having been used for some time like a month from this place to Belmont.

As announced editorially in The Constitution a few weeks ago, this is the last of the narrow gauge lines in Georgia, therefore, after today the "tinny lines" will be extinct in Georgia.

WILL TRY WEIDEMEYER ON CHARGE OF BIGAMY

Savannah, Ga., March 24.—(Special.)—Joseph S. Weidemeier, known in Savannah as "Reddy," is charged with bigamy in the case of Miss Charlotte Wickens, who was a trained nurse at the Oglethorpe sanitarium. Will go on trial in the superior court on the charge of bigamy.

Researcher Schwartz today holding that his relations with the woman in Atlanta which he had discovered in a common law wedding in the event it might not be proved it was a legal one.

The charge is to establish his innocence of a violation of the Georgia penal code, his liberty would have been restored. Waiting in the court room was the representative of the United States ready to arrest him for the violation of the Mann white slave act.

GEOLOGICAL SPECIMENS GIVEN MARIETTA HIGH

Marietta, Ga., March 24.—(Special.)—The Marietta high school has just received from the United States geological museum a large collection of geological specimens. The collection contains no more than a hundred specimens, but many of them are of great value. They are all of which are classified and their localities given. This collection was secured through the efforts of H. M. Quillian, Jr., through the influence of Senator Smith and Congressman Gordon Lee. This gift of the national museum gives the Marietta high school one of the largest geological collections in the state.

PROMOTION IS GIVEN TO FORMER ATLANTIAN

A circular letter sent out from the office of President Charles H. Carson, well known in Atlanta, from the position of assistant general manager of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railroad, to become acting general manager of the same road.

Mr. Carson is a Tennessee. He came to Atlanta about ten years ago as a local agent and later was promoted into the position of assistant general manager, with headquarters in Nashville.

He will remain in Nashville as acting general manager.

Mr. Carson was in Atlanta Tuesday visiting relatives and receiving the congratulations of the local railroad officials.

TOURISTS NEAR DEATH AS AUTO TURNS TURTLE

Colonel T. W. Mattox and Family, of Moultrie, Injured Near Arabi.

Cordele, Ga., March 24.—(Special.)—Pinned beneath a touring car which had turned turtle on a sharp curve on the national highway near Arabi, in this county, Colonel T. W. Mattox, of Moultrie, his wife and daughter, Larson, aged 11, had a narrow escape from death last night.

Residents near the scene of the wreck heard the screams of Mrs. Mattox and her daughter and hastened to pry the car off them. While mother and daughter sustained no injuries, the wounds of Colonel Mattox were quite serious. He was thrown against the steering wheel and rendered unconscious, badly hurt in the breast, and received a gash on the side of the head. He was taken to a hotel in Arabi and medical attention given there.

Colonel Mattox will be out in a few days. The family were on the way to Atlanta and were overtaken by darkness, expecting to stop overnight at Cordele. It seems that Colonel Mattox lost control of the machine.

LEASING PLAN PROPOSED FOR ALASKA COAL LANDS

Washington, March 24.—Opening of Alaska coal lands under a leasing plan was proposed in a bill introduced today by the senate public lands committee, and which will be favorably reported by Chairman Myers.

Under the bill 5,130 acres in the Barling river district and 7,850 acres in the Matanuska district are to be served to be mined by the government when, in the opinion of the president, "the mining of such coal becomes necessary by reason of an insufficient supply of coal at a reasonable price" for the navy and government work "and for relief from oppressive conditions."

The bill proposes that the unreserved lands be surveyed into 40-acre tracts or multiples thereof, the maximum being fixed at 500 acres for any tract. They are to be leased to competitive bidders, not more than one tract being included in an lease. Railroads will be prohibited from acquiring a greater coal supply than needed for their own uses.

Provision is also made for the relinquishment of pending claims under the public land law. Claimants will receive refund of money and a right of selection under the leasing act.

The total average of contiguous land, which one person or corporation might hold, in the discretion of the secretary of the interior would be fixed at 2,500 acres, and consolidations of small contiguous holdings would be permitted if the total area involved were within that figure.

EX-WIFE TAKES CHARGE OF THE BODY OF PECK

Stamford, Conn., March 24.—The body of Professor Harry Thurston Peck, who committed suicide here yesterday, was removed today to the home of his former wife, Mrs. Cornelia Peck, at Sound Beach, with the consent of Mrs. Elizabeth D. Peck, his second wife.

Among the effects of Professor Peck, of which Mrs. Cornelia Peck has taken charge, are a number of manuscripts. One of these was an "epitome of friendship," in which the question is raised as to whether a man and woman associated in their work would, day after day and year after year, can maintain a friendship wholly free from sex consciousness.

INDIANS TO BE WARNED TO BEWARE OF WHISKY

Washington, March 24.—Commissioner Sullivan of the bureau of Indian affairs, has addressed to each of the 6,000 employees of the service a letter which he has instructed shall be read to the students of every Indian school April 6. In it he points out that whisky is "the greatest present menace to the American Indian," and he pleads with Indian service employees to set an example by abstaining from alcohol and exert their best efforts and influence for the protection of the Indian "from this, his worst enemy."

SENTENCED FOR LIFE FOR 50-CENT ROBBERY

SILVER SALT CELLAR IS SOLD FOR $28,000

London, March 24.—A silver salt cellar, from the late Lord Ashburnham's collection, was sold for $28,000 at auction today. The treasure, which dates from the period of Henry VIII, is believed to be the earliest standing silver salt cellar in existence. Its height, with the cover, is 12 1/2 inches, but it weighs only 20 ounces.

A pair of Charles III bottles sold for $14,500.

Delegates to Roads Meet.

Norwood, Ga., March 24.—(Special.)—Citizens of this place met in Mayor F. M. Harrison's office and appointed delegates to meet the committee of the National Highway association in Augusta, Ga., March 26. The consensus of opinion of the meeting is that the route along the Georgia railroad is the logical route. The following delegates were appointed: Mayor F. M. Harrison, G. A. Ray, T. E. Massengale, W. L. Hayes, L. F. Lewis, J. T. Gresham, R. Wray, Dr. R. Y. Bryce and W. F. Howell.

ROYAL Baking Powder

Saves Health and Saves Money and Makes Better Food

United States Senator Benjamin Tillman, who told his colleagues in the senate how he discovered the road back to health and vitality during a visit to the pleasant journey in Atlanta.

Senator Tillman's speech in the senate, in which he stated that he was worth reproduction, particularly inasmuch as it resulted in the stopping of smoking, was a landmark. The man who persevered will thank me for the result will immediately be good. The man who has more curiosity and will power should not be better not begin.

After I passed my sixty-sixth birthday last August and am therefore not very far from the Biblical limit of three score years and ten. But had I learned how to take care of my body in early manhood, I might have been likely to reach the age of eighty-five or ninety, perhaps a hundred years and inherited from my father and mother a very strong constitution.

The main idea I have had in devising this scheme to restore my health by the use of physical culture exercises has been to get the circulation and drive the blood to the brain, and keep down rheumatism by working the joints and preventing calcareous deposits.

These calcareous deposits are like iron rust and when allowed to accumulate they cause a great deal of trouble. Hot water flushes the arteries and washes these poisons out. Like other poisons they are not in the body should be kept in good order by constant exercise. Physical culture has both the means and the incentive to keep the hinges from creaking.

Senator Describes Exercises.

The following are the exercises I take on my bed each morning:

"Bare feet on the floor, the morning take the head off the pillow and stretch out straight. Draw in a deep breath and hold it for fifteen times, then exhale. Draw in the breath again and hold it for fifteen times, then exhale. Then let the breath out and draw in a fresh breath and kick with both feet five times in a fresh breath to the limit after each movement."

Next, wrap the heels on the bed with the knees drawn up. Then, throw the knees as far apart as they can be extended, and repeat the exercise ten times. Then throw first one foot and then the other toward the headboard with vigor. Keep the feet straight as you can. A different set of muscles are brought into play by doing this with the knees drawn up and the knee-joints limber.

"Now kick out with both feet as wide apart as possible, and with the emphasis—as though you were kicking off a vicious dog."

Next, draw the hands under the small of the back, using these as a lever, elevate both feet at once and the exercise of pulling up the headboard, using the abdominal muscles to pull up the lower extremities. This is done by grasping the railing or round above the head with the hands, pulling up the feet and the next movement are intended to reduce the paunch by changing the position of the feet. This is done by fasten the feet under something, and pull the trunk to a sitting posture, and draw the feet up as high as possible, but do not strain. Repeat four or five times.

"Then, fasten the feet under something with the feet on the bed and lift the body clear so that the shoulders do not touch, forming an arch. Repeat this as often as you wish."

Follows With Cold Bath.

"If the wake a cold bath, beginning with it as cold as I can stand. I rub down briskly, put on undershirt and drawers and a light pair of trousers, and weigh 2 1/2 pounds. These are to give momentum to the movements and bring the muscles into action. The first movement is to stand erect with the dumbbells firmly clenched. Throw the arms downward, using the muscles of the back and thighs. Repeat fifteen times. Continuing, bend the trunk forward as nearly as possible, and swing as you can, swing as near the floor as they can go straightening up between each swing and repeating until you have bent down ten times.

"Then, keeping the knees stiff, try to puncture the floor with the feet, using both fists. Repeat as often as desired straightening up between punches.

"Still holding the dumbbells, throw one to the rear and the other to the front, looking first over one shoulder and then over the other. Bring the spine as far as possible and loosen the vertebrae.

"Then, with the hands at a time, swing the dumbbells upward, backward, downward and forward, forming a circle with the arms and repeat. Continue in reverse and swing the other way.

"Standing flatfooted, elevate the hands above the head and swing forward and try to touch the floor while the knees are held stiff. Straighten up and repeat. Continue until you succeed in reaching the floor. I usually reach it the third effort. As a first effort could be lower than my knees.

Months His Horse Unstaid.

"Take hold of the bed and squat as low as you can. Straighten up and bend backward as far as you can. Then squat and repeat, straightening up and bending backward. This will loosen the vertebrae of the spine and the pressure of the nerves inside the trunk. This to me is my most valuable exercise. It causes me to breathe to mount my horse from the ground without assistance.

"Caution: Never do any of these movements to the point of fatigue.

"I practice these exercises morning and night before and after breakfast. It takes about ten minutes, not including the bath. I have found that keep the body in good condition, and strength and has facilitated my return to health. Many do not know what it means. So I will describe my method.

"First, compress the diaphragm, driving all the breath out of you can. This is what the doctors call dead or residual air, and it remains in the lungs all the time. It is expelled by will power. After you have cleaned out the lungs, draw in all the breath you can. Hold it in the lungs while you count ten.

"Then, exhale slowly. This increases the quantity more than he had supposed possible at first. This is the best thing you can do for your asthma, almost before I know it, as I am counting the inhalations, I am usually able to breathe to the limit. I do it more than ten times without going to sleep.

"That breathing to me has been hot water. I drink it as hot as I can, about 160 degrees Fahrenheit in my case, and repeat it three or four a day. Tepid water is rejected by some stomachs as it produces nausea. But hot water becomes acceptable to most people. I have gotten so I do not want any other kind. It cleanses the stomach in readiness for food, aids digestion, taken at the right time—shortly after eating—acts as a stimulant to the bowels, regular and is a specific for indigestion, acute or chronic. Indeed, I cannot say too much for it.

"Most men will be skeptical and not believe that I have done all I am doing every day to restore and preserve my health. It is by no means fully restored, but I have recovered in many respects. Those who have watched its progress, they can fill it and are anxious to try it.

"In the hope that my own personal experience may benefit others and save them from a long and painful life, I have written this book. I am going to recite briefly, as possible how I now live and what I have done and am doing every day to restore and preserve my health. It is by no means fully restored, but I have recovered in many respects. Those who have watched its progress, they can fill it and are anxious to try it.

"Most men will be skeptical and not believe that I have done all I am doing every day to restore and preserve my health. It is by no means fully restored, but I have recovered in many respects. Those who have watched its progress, they can fill it and are anxious to try it.

This is done by grasping the railing or round above the head with the hands, pulling up the feet and the next movement are intended to reduce the paunch by changing the position of the feet. This is done by fasten the feet under something, and pull the trunk to a sitting posture, and draw the feet up as high as possible, but do not strain. Repeat four or five times.

"Then, fasten the feet under something with the feet on the bed and lift the body clear so that the shoulders do not touch, forming an arch. Repeat this as often as you wish."

Follows With Cold Bath.

"If the wake a cold bath, beginning with it as cold as I can stand. I rub down briskly, put on undershirt and drawers and a light pair of trousers, and weigh 2 1/2 pounds. These are to give momentum to the movements and bring the muscles into action. The first movement is to stand erect with the dumbbells firmly clenched. Throw the arms downward, using the muscles of the back and thighs. Repeat fifteen times. Continuing, bend the trunk forward as nearly as possible, and swing as you can, swing as near the floor as they can go straightening up between each swing and repeating until you have bent down ten times.

"Then, keeping the knees stiff, try to puncture the floor with the feet, using both fists. Repeat as often as desired straightening up between punches.

"Still holding the dumbbells, throw one to the rear and the other to the front, looking first over one shoulder and then over the other. Bring the spine as far as possible and loosen the vertebrae.

"Then, with the hands at a time, swing the dumbbells upward, backward, downward and forward, forming a circle with the arms and repeat. Continue in reverse and swing the other way.

"Standing flatfooted, elevate the hands above the head and swing forward and try to touch the floor while the knees are held stiff. Straighten up and repeat. Continue until you succeed in reaching the floor. I usually reach it the third effort. As a first effort could be lower than my knees.

Months His Horse Unstaid.

"Take hold of the bed and squat as low as you can. Straighten up and bend backward as far as you can. Then squat and repeat, straightening up and bending backward. This will loosen the vertebrae of the spine and the pressure of the nerves inside the trunk. This to me is my most valuable exercise. It causes me to breathe to mount my horse from the ground without assistance.

"Caution: Never do any of these movements to the point of fatigue.

"I practice these exercises morning and night before and after breakfast. It takes about ten minutes, not including the bath. I have found that keep the body in good condition, and strength and has facilitated my return to health. Many do not know what it means. So I will describe my method.

"First, compress the diaphragm, driving all the breath out of you can. This is what the doctors call dead or residual air, and it remains in the lungs all the time. It is expelled by will power. After you have cleaned out the lungs, draw in all the breath you can. Hold it in the lungs while you count ten.

"Then, exhale slowly. This increases the quantity more than he had supposed possible at first. This is the best thing you can do for your asthma, almost before I know it, as I am counting the inhalations, I am usually able to breathe to the limit. I do it more than ten times without going to sleep.

"That breathing to me has been hot water. I drink it as hot as I can, about 160 degrees Fahrenheit in my case, and repeat it three or four a day. Tepid water is rejected by some stomachs as it produces nausea. But hot water becomes acceptable to most people. I have gotten so I do not want any other kind. It cleanses the stomach in readiness for food, aids digestion, taken at the right time—shortly after eating—acts as a stimulant to the bowels, regular and is a specific for indigestion, acute or chronic. Indeed, I cannot say too much for it.

"Most men will be skeptical and not believe that I have done all I am doing every day to restore and preserve my health. It is by no means fully restored, but I have recovered in many respects. Those who have watched its progress, they can fill it and are anxious to try it.

"In the hope that my own personal experience may benefit others and save them from a long and painful life, I have written this book. I am going to recite briefly, as possible how I now live and what I have done and am doing every day to restore and preserve my health. It is by no means fully restored, but I have recovered in many respects. Those who have watched its progress, they can fill it and are anxious to try it.

"Most men will be skeptical and not believe that I have done all I am doing every day to restore and preserve my health. It is by no means fully restored, but I have recovered in many respects. Those who have watched its progress, they can fill it and are anxious to try it.

SEASON TICKET SALE WILL CLOSE MARCH 28

Colonel W. L. Peel, president of the Atlanta Music Festival association, calls attention to the fact that this is the last week in which tickets for Metropolitan Grand Opera can be obtained at season rates. This Saturday, March 28, is the last day of the season ticket sale which is now going on at 100 Peachtree street, at the Metropolitan Piano Company. When this sale closes at 6 o'clock Saturday evening, it will be absolutely impossible thereafter for anybody to obtain season reservations or to get the advantage of the material difference in prices. For instance, in the arena a season seat now purchasable, may be had for $21 for seven performances, making a cost of $3 per performance. Exactly the same tickets will cost $5 per performance when bought for single performances. The same scale of prices prevails nearly all the way down. For instance, a seat that costs $17.50 at season rates for seven performances, will cost $4 for a single performance, and seats which cost $14 each for the season, will cost $3 each when bought for single performances.

Treasurer C. B. Bidwell announces that the season sale is already several thousand dollars ahead of the corresponding time last year, and that every indication points to a record-breaking attendance. There are plenty of good seats left, however, in all parts of the house. Out-of-town orders for season tickets will be received and filled provided they are actually mailed on or before Saturday, March 28. No orders for season tickets, whether by mail or otherwise, will be accepted at season rates after that date. The opera begins this year Monday evening, April 27, with "Carmen," with Enrico Caruso as Pique. Included in the leading roles. It concludes Saturday evening, May 2, with a double bill "Les Cavaliers Russe" and "Pagliacci."

DAILY PAPER ISSUED BY UNEMPLOYED ARMY

Los Angeles, Cal., March 24.—"The Unemployed Worker," a daily paper while it lasts, was issued today from the camp of "General" Morris Rose's jobless army here. Rose is editor-in-chief.

The paper will serve two purposes. It is expected to produce a revenue and to supply an alibi for every member of the army accused of vagrancy. Each man in the camp is listed as an editor, reporter, printer or newsboy. The first number named John D. Rockefeller, Henry E. Huntington, General Harrison Gray Otis and a number of other wealthy men as unemployed.

ANNUAL RECITAL SUNDAY BY ALL SAINTS' CHOIR

The large chorus choir of All Saints' church will present a sacred recital at the church on Sunday, March 29, at 4 o'clock. This choir gives a recital annually. This year the chorus will feature Sir George C. Martin's evening service in St. Paul's Cathedral, London. These sacred recitals are free to the public.

Lansing to Act for Bryan.

Washington, March 24.—Robert Lansing, newly-appointed secretary of state, will act as secretary of state in the absence of Secretary Bryan unless the president designates some other officer of the department to act in the capacity. With the assumption of the office of secretary by John Bassett Moore, President Wilson designated him to act as secretary during the absence of Mr. Bryan, and that order has not been revoked.

Burglaries at Cordele.

Cordele, Ga., March 24.—(Special.)—Four burglaries within a few nights have relieved the police officers of all doubt that the burglar epidemic here has become epidemic. For the past several weeks there has been one or more thefts almost nightly, though most of them were petty, except in one case in which they were more than $50.

Revival at Cordele.

Cordele, Ga., March 24.—(Special.)—More than seventy persons who had professed faith during the revival conducted during the past weeks at the First Methodist church by Rev. Marvin Williams were baptized Sunday night.

Thomasville Station Awarded.

Thomasville, Ga., March 24.—(Special.)—The officials of the Atlantic Coast Line railroad have awarded the contract for building the passenger station here to Little & Phillips, contractors of Cordele. They received the award out of twenty-seven others bidding for it.

One Application Will Remove Hairy Growths

(Bondair Secrets) No woman need longer tolerate ugly hairy growths, for with single application of a plain delatone paste it is an easy matter to quickly banish them from any part of the face or neck. Just mix some water with a little powdered delatone and spread it on the hairy surface. After five minutes, rub it off and the skin will be free from hair or blemish. After this treatment the skin should be washed to free it from the remaining delatone.—(Adv.)

ALMOST EATEN ALIVE BY VICIOUS WORMS

W. E. Dickens Is Now Well, After Having Been a Chronic Sufferer. As Usual "Quaker" Does the Work.

Mr. W. E. Dickens lives on Dancy street, in East Atlanta. He is now a sufferer, but was formerly on the police force of Monroe, and serving in the same capacity in Jersey. For years he suffered and continued to suffer. How and from what he is not able to say. Doctors said he had "stomach trouble." He himself thought he had an affection of that organ and from agonies and distresses he endured which had been the entire cause of all his trouble. Nothing else could cure him, for the simple reason that they could not reach the seat of the trouble, although really intended for ordinary stomach troubles. The wonderful Quaker Extract has a positive worm and germ destroyer in its formula, and if there are any such things in the system of those who are taking it, the remedy, they will be expelled. If there are no worms then that herb also failed to do anything for his case.

An intimate friend told Mr. Dickens to call at Coursey & Munn drug store and see about Quaker Extract. He did so, and after he had explained his case, was sold a treatment of three bottles of the Extract, which he took home and began using immediately. After several doses he began to feel much better, and on the third day he expelled over a hundred large stomach worms, which had been the entire cause of all his trouble. Nothing else could cure him, for the simple reason that they could not reach the seat of the trouble, although really intended for ordinary stomach troubles. The wonderful Quaker Extract has a positive worm and germ destroyer in its formula, and if there are any such things in the system of those who are taking it, the remedy, they will be expelled. If there are no worms then that herb also failed to do anything for his case.

the formula in removing the cause of the disease, regardless of the origin. So you see, Quaker Extract cures any branch of stomach trouble, such as indigestion, biliousness, constiveness and skin troubles. For it has the proper qualifications for curative work. But there are no opiates, no minerals, and no vile chemicals in it at all, so you cannot possibly harm the system of even an infant by giving it. Those who suffer with the above complaints, as the health teacher has proved when here that these Quaker remedies will cure, even after all other remedies have failed completely. Therefore do not be discouraged, sufferer, but go to Coursey & Munn drug store and find out about "Quaker" at 20 Marietta street, where these wonderful Quaker Extracts for $2.00 or $ for $5.00. Oil of Balm the or $ for $1.00 can be obtained at all times. We prepay express charges on all orders of $3.00 or over.

Towel Prices Tumble for Our 16th Annual Sale

HAVING held this sale every March for the past 15 years, prudent housekeepers have learned to look for it to replenish their towel supply.

The Savings Justify their action. On some towels, notably some broken lines of linen lucks, we have 75c and 85c towels at 59c. $1 and $1.25 towels at 69c.

On regular stock, however, the savings are less—chiefly 5c to 10c on towels ranging from 25c to 50c. For example

25c towels, 19c 30c towels, 35c 60c towels, 49c

Our unrivaled position in the linen business of Atlanta proves the lowness of our first prices.

Depends on first prices, you know, how really low reduced prices are.

All the towels are the same honest qualities on which we have established the biggest towel business in Georgia. All kinds of towels in the sale—linen, union linen, bath towels, plains and fancy towels.

New $25 to $35 Silk Dresses, at $16.75

WE SOLD more silk dresses yesterday than on any former day for the past three years. Nothing to boast of, however. We just had the dresses that people wanted at a price much lower than they had expected to pay.

As advertised yesterday the dresses include soft chiffon tulle, handsome crepe de chimes, fashionable crepe poplins. All spick, span, new—each embodying the smartest fashion features. Black and leading colors. Sale prices prohibit all exchanges, C O D's or returns

BRYAN ADVISES NOLAN NOT TO GO TO MEXICO

Wires That Body of Son Cannot Be Exhumed Until After Five Years.

Atlanta, Ga. March 24.—(Special.) Dr. J. Q. Nolan of this city, who has asked the state department at Washington to investigate the death of his son, Dr. Frank Nolan, at Tampico, Mexico, and who has considered going to Mexico himself to investigate to-night received a telegram from Secretary Bryan advising against the journey. The message read:

"American consul at Tampico wires that body of son cannot be exhumed until expiration of five years. Advise strongly that you do not go to Mexico."

Meager advice received here are to the effect that Dr. Nolan advise March 24 after a brief illness. The father of the dead man desires a full investigation to determine the cause of his son's death. It also was desired to bring the body back here for burial.

The dead Georgian was a former Atlanta and a graduate of the Southern College of Physicians and Surgeons.

ROAD COMMISSIONERS PLAN ORGANIZATION

Cause of Good Roads Will Be Thoroughly Discussed at Meeting April 15.

The organization of the road commissioners of Georgia will be perfected and important matters pertaining to road building will be discussed at the first annual meeting of the commissioners which will be held at the New Kimball house April 15 and 16.

Mayor James G. Woodward will deliver the address of welcome and respond. Governor John M. Slaton and Joseph Hyde Pratt will also be present. Various entertainments are being arranged including a buffet luncheon at the Kimball house on the last day of the meeting. The details of these arrangements are in the hands of the Atlanta convention bureau.

MORTUARY

Alex K. Wilson, Savannah. Savannah, Ga. March 24.—Alexander Kirkland Wilson, a confederate veteran and one of Savannah's best known citizens died this morning at the age of 73. He was born in 1841 and served gallantly throughout the civil war in the confederate army. He was twice wounded and once captured and later paroled. Mr. Wilson's regiment was with the army of North Carolina and Georgia in the latter part of the war, and he was captured at Appomattox on April 15, 1865.

George O. Hill, Dawson. Dawson, Ga. March 24.—(Special.)—George O. Hill died here last night at the home of his son in law J. D. Bell, after an illness of several weeks resulting from paralysis. He was 67 years old and a resident of Terrell county practically all his life. He was a gallant confederate soldier and served twenty years as a member of the board of county commissioners. He was married seven years ago. Five children survive him: Lucius C. Hill of Atlanta, L. L. Hill and George O. Hill, Jr. of Atlanta, and William and Mrs. J. D. Bell all of Dawson.

Barron Carter, Savannah. Savannah, Ga. March 24.—Barron Carter who organized and was for many years cashier of the Commercial bank died this morning here. UMBERGER IS HELD ON A BIGAMY CHARGE

Savannah, Ga. March 24.—Joseph S. UMBERGER today was sent on to the superior court on a charge of bigamy. Recorder Schwartz noted that the fact that UMBERGER had lived with Mrs. Ethel Leavcraft in Atlanta had children in the city and admitted that UMBERGER's wife constituted a common marriage. The local police were notified of the fact that UMBERGER had been found in the office of the clerk of court here.

ATLANTA'S STRIDES FROM DAY TO DAY

After a short tilt with the state in regard to the use of the state property at Peachtree and Cain streets the work of widening Peachtree street is again progressing and being rushed to completion.

About the only result of the controversy was to insure beyond all question the city's future right to the use of the land necessary to the widening of the street and to give the project a little more advertising.

Ivy Street Lease. C. G. Aycock of the Charles P. Glover Realty company has leased for Judge Spear to Henry DeMena Nos. 134-5 Ivy street. The term of the lease is twenty years and the aggregate consideration $27,000. The lessee will conduct a boarding house.

Part of this property was leased a short time back for ten years and this part was subject for the unexpired part of the lease.

Real Estate Sales. E. L. Harting has sold for A. L. Slaton to a customer 1 1/2 acres of land and a bungalow on the Jonesboro road near Lakewood Heights, for $8,000, and for M. G. Couch to G. R. Miller No. 112 Cherokee avenue for $4,000.

W. E. Worley agency sold for Mr. Worley to L. L. Brown No. 127 Atlanta avenue a six-story building for $13,000. Both purchasers will occupy the houses.

JUDGE SPEER'S OFFER REFUSED BY COMMITTEE

Washington, March 24.—Judge Emory Speer's statement that he would not be unwilling to accept retirement if the house judiciary committee withdrew charges against him are to be disregarded by the Webb subcommittee. It was said today in a statement given out in Mason last night.

If the judiciary committee in accordance with their conceptions of duty after considering all matter which has been submitted to it, withdraws the charges against him in a manner as public as they have been made, I will not be unwilling to accept retirement upon the same terms that I might when I reach the age of 70.

The Webb subcommittee's considering the evidence taken in Georgia and soon will be ready to formulate conditions to report to the entire committee for its guidance in reporting recommendations to the house on the proposed impeachment.

Judge Speer denied the suggestion that he retire in any as emanated from him and said he never had contemplated such action as a result of the house committee's investigation. His statement was called forth, he says, by an inquiry from Representative Fincher concerning the retirement reports.

Burke Defeats Crawford.

Pittsburgh, Pa. March 24.—Congressman Charles D. Burke (and associate of the minority republican faction) was nominated for United States senator by the voters of Pennsylvania today in a party action according to incomplete returns from today's state wide primary action.

Fanny Crosby Aged 94.

Bridgeport, Conn. March 24.—Fanny Crosby, the blind writer, today celebrated her ninety-fourth birthday. To visitors she said her health was excellent and she felt as young as when 24.

"Postum for Mine"

Many a man and woman with coffee troubles has found that Postum is a sure and pleasant way back to health

A doctor writes: "I have been using Postum for the last seven or eight years, and think it has had a good deal to do with my looking younger than 55 years of age."

"I recommend it to all my patients, and those who have been using it have only praises for its taste and its good effects on their nervous systems, like me they have given up tea and coffee altogether."

Postum is a pure food-drink made of wheat and a small proportion of molasses—roasted and skillfully blended. It is absolutely free from the coffee drugs, caffeine and tannin—common causes of heart, stomach, liver, kidney and nerve disturbance.

Some people marvel at the benefits from leaving off coffee and using Postum, but there is nothing marvelous about it—only common sense.

Postum now comes in two forms

Regular Postum—must be boiled 15c and 25c pkgs.

Instant Postum—a soluble powder, requires no boiling

A spoonful stirred in a cup of hot water makes a delicious beverage instantly 30c and 50c tins

The cost per cup of both kinds is about the same

"There's a Reason" for POSTUM

—sold by Grocers everywhere.

TARVER DEFEATS SAYE FOR DOUGHERTY SHERIFF

Dejected Man Backed by the "Forward Movement," and Contest Was Hot.

Albany, Ga. March 24.—(Special.)—A heavy vote was cast in today's primary for county officers, and the result will not be known till midnight. There were five candidates for tax collector, two for clerk, two for treasurer, three for tax collector and two for sheriff.

At a separate voting place ballots were cast in a special election for sheriff (short term) to name a successor to the late Sheriff Earle, of Dougherty. It is taken for granted that in the primary vote Tarver's majority will be equally large for the long term.

There is much uncertainty regarding the other offices, though in case Dougherty R. L. Barnes led for tax collector, R. P. Adams for tax collector, R. P. Hall for clerk, and E. W. Hill for treasurer. This cannot be safely regarded as an index to the result, however, as the contest Dougherty vote is light.

A personal encounter late yesterday on the floor of the election between R. H. Ferrell, chairman of the Men and Religion executive committee and Mayor A. J. Fawcett, who is also county treasurer and brother of O. P. Tarver, intensified feelings and caused the best of order prevailed however and the day passed off without incident. Mayor Fawcett resented the comments contained in bulletins published by the Men and Religion committee and he is to the front between him and Ferrell who is a lawyer.

FINCHER NAMED CLERK IN CHEROKEE PRIMARY

Canton, Ga. March 24.—(Special.)—The Cherokee county democratic primary was held here today and resulted in the nomination of Olin Fincher over J. W. Linn for clerk of the superior court by over 600 majority, and J. P. Spauld for sheriff over A. B. Calkins by over 1000 majority.

W. J. Wood was nominated for tax collector, Roscoe Jackson for tax collector, W. J. Higgins for county treasurer, Ben T. Kirby for county surveyor and H. A. Heard for coroner. A large vote was polled and much interest evidenced in the races of the various candidates.

LITTLE CHANGE NOTED IN ADAIR'S CONDITION

The condition of Green B. Adair, a prominent pioneer citizen of Atlanta, who has been critically ill for several days at his home on Highland avenue, showed very little change at an early hour this morning.

Tully Wants a Divorce.

Los Angeles, March 24.—Richard Walton Tully the playwright, instituted suit in the superior court here today for a divorce from Eleanor Gates. Tully the authoress. The charge is desertion.

Fanny Crosby Aged 94.

Decatur's Chiefest Asset

You have heard much of the fact that Decatur is the best equipped town (even including those of twice its population) in the Southeast, when it came to such things as educational facilities; modern sidewalks and streets, up-to-date water and sewerage system, and the gas plant soon to be erected by the Suburban Gas & Light Company.

You have also heard of the growing importance of Decatur as a business center, being, as it is, the county seat of DeKalb, one of the "Big Four" counties of the state, and supplied, as it is, with good stores, well managed banks, and other prosperous business concerns.

But of Decatur's chiefest asset you may not have heard, the unusually progressive spirit of its citizens.

This Decatur spirit finds its highest expression not in cheap boosting or boasting—not in reckless advertising—not merely in effort to bring to our town new people and new enterprises—but rather in a united effort in the part of all our citizens to join with our town and county officials, and our fellow citizens of every part of the county in making Decatur and DeKalb County the very best town and the very best county in Georgia, the very best state of the Union—best for residences and best for Business, Agriculture and Manufacturing.

Catch the Decatur Spirit. Come to see us, or write to us, or phone us. We will be d-e-c-a-l-a-t-e-d to hear from you.

You have also heard of the growing importance of Decatur as a business center, being, as it is, the county seat of DeKalb, one of the "Big Four" counties of the state, and supplied, as it is, with good stores, well managed banks, and other prosperous business concerns.

But of Decatur's chiefest asset you may not have heard, the unusually progressive spirit of its citizens.

This Decatur spirit finds its highest expression not in cheap boosting or boasting—not in reckless advertising—not merely in effort to bring to our town new people and new enterprises—but rather in a united effort in the part of all our citizens to join with our town and county officials, and our fellow citizens of every part of the county in making Decatur and DeKalb County the very best town and the very best county in Georgia, the very best state of the Union—best for residences and best for Business, Agriculture and Manufacturing.

Catch the Decatur Spirit. Come to see us, or write to us, or phone us. We will be d-e-c-a-l-a-t-e-d to hear from you.
