

SUCCEEDS FELDER

WARREN GRICE, New attorney general of Georgia.

GRICE IS APPOINTED ATTORNEY GENERAL TO SUCCEED FELDER

Prominent Hawkinsville Attorney Is Named for the High Office by Governor Slaton.

FELDER'S RESIGNATION TAKES EFFECT APRIL 15

Leaves Office in Order to Enter Upon Active Campaign for United States Senate.

Thomas S. Felder on Monday tendered to Governor John M. Slaton his resignation as attorney general of the state, becoming effective April 15, to enter actively into his campaign for election to the unexpired term of the late United States Senator A. O. Bacon.

Letter of Resignation.

Hon. John M. Slaton, Governor of Georgia.—Dear Sir: I hereby tender to you my resignation as attorney general, to become effective on the 15th day of April, next. I take this opportunity to express my appreciation of the uniform courtesy and consideration shown me by the executive and the other departments of the state.

With best wishes, I am respectfully yours, T. S. FELDER, March 30, 1914.

The news of Attorney General Felder's resignation spread quickly, and in a short while friends of various prominent lawyers about the state had assembled in the governor's waiting room to urge the appointment of this or the other friend.

Gric's Splendid Record. Hawkinsville, Ga., March 30.—(Special.)—Warren Grice, member of the Hawkinsville, Polk county, bar, was today named by Governor Slaton as attorney general to succeed Thomas S. Felder, resignation becoming effective on April 15.

Mr. Grice will "stump" the state thoroughly for his election. He has declared himself to be running entirely without adherence to factional lines. He will pursue a face-to-face-with-the-voters policy in his campaign.

$750,000 Bonds for Greater Hospital Receives Indorsement of City Council; Will Authorize Election on Wednesday

Voters of Atlanta Will Pass on Issue on the Date of the County Election, in Which More Than 14,000 Ballots Are Expected to Be Cast.

HOSPITAL BONDS ONLY ISSUE BEFORE PEOPLE, COMMITTEE'S DECISION

Effort to Tack on Bonds for Other Needed Improvements for Atlanta Defeated—$30,000 of Issue Will Be Offered the People in Small Denominations.

Submission of an issue of $750,000 improvement bonds for Grady hospital will be authorized by Atlanta's general council when it meets again Wednesday afternoon.

Council will direct that the election be held on May 5, and that the hospital bonds be the only municipal issue before the people. The election will be held on the same date of the county election, in which more than 14,000 voters of Atlanta will participate.

The issue will be in serial bonds instead of thirty-year bonds, and will pay 11-2 per cent per annum. Of the issue, $750,000 will be in denominations of $1,000 per bond, and $30,000 in "baby bonds" of $10 each, as suggested by Mayor James G. Woodward.

Through substitution of serial bonds for thirty-year bonds council will save the city approximately $488,000 on the entire issue.

W. G. Humphrey, chairman of council's finance committee, assured council that the $42,000 which must be set aside this year for interest and sinking fund for the issue, if it is authorized by the people and floated before January 1, will be put in the June apportionment sheet. He would not state from what source the money will come, but he satisfied members of council that the money will be in the hands of the city by the end of the month.

After that date, the law requires the city to levy a tax for refunding the debt. The machinery of the tax office will be put to work immediately, and the only burden on the city will be a bit of extra bookkeeping, for the reason that within six months after the money is available for use the city will be deriving an income of $188,500 from the hundred pay wards.

Council's Aid Assured. The campaign started by Grady enthusiasts now has the status of being assured, in so far as Atlanta's general council is concerned. The most strenuous campaigning will be among the voters. The committee will enlist the aid of every man, woman and child in the work of interesting the people in the election.

Wednesday afternoon council will meet again to receive the report of its committee. The report was agreed on after the meeting of the committee, Monday afternoon. Council's work will not end by the adoption of the resolution authorizing the issue, but it will engage in working out the details. These details include the methods of expending every penny of the $750,000 which will be derived from the sale of the bonds. For instance, council must sanction that so much be spent on such a building, and so much on some other building.

Except from a desire on the part of some members of council to be more fully informed as to the plans of the Grady hospital, the meeting of council Monday was absolutely harmonious. Alderman Albert Thomson protested against holding the election on May 5, and he argued strongly in favor of substituting bonds for the Grady hospital proposals for bonds for sewers, cyclorama, plaza and other projects. It was through Alderman Thomson's insistence that council authorized Mayor Woodward to appoint a committee of ten to discuss with the Grady campaigners the advisability of making the hospital bonds an exclusive project.

Committee Is Named. Mayor Woodward appointed Alderman J. R. Seawright chairman of the committee, and as members Messrs. Kelley, McDonald, Thomson, Slaton, Nutting, Colcord, Humphrey, Smith and Ragdale.

The committee met immediately after council adjourned. Various phases of the subject were discussed. Councilman Humphrey and Martin Amoroso, ex-member of council, recommended that the bonds be serial bonds instead of thirty-year bonds. Councilman Smith protested against haste. He also pointed out that there were some features of the proposed plans which were not entirely in accord with the law. The committee worked out the objectionable features, and will be ready to make its report on Wednesday at 2:30 o'clock.

The ordinance authorizing the issue of the bonds was introduced by Alderman James R. Nutting. It was signed by five other members of council. Alderman Nutting made a forceful appeal to council to authorize the bond issue. He pointed out that every member of council possibly would like to have bonds voted for other improvements, but he declared that the request of the Grady committee should be granted on May 5, and that the hospital bonds be the only municipal issue before the people. The election will be held on the same date of the county election, in which more than 14,000 voters of Atlanta will participate.

AIDS ORPHANAGE

MRS. J. HILLMAN, Washington, woman who has given $14,000 to Atlanta Hebrew Orphans' home.

$14,000 IS GIVEN TO ORPHANS' HOME

Mrs. Joel Hillman Makes Donation as the Basis for the Silver Jubilee Endowment Fund.

As the result of action on the part of delegates, and particularly Mrs. Joel Hillman, of Washington, D. C., last night, at the celebration of the twenty-fifth anniversary of the founding of the Atlanta Jewish Orphans' asylum, on Washington street, Atlanta will soon become the center of Jewish national orphanage work.

Following the generous donation of Mrs. Hillman, in turning over $14,000 to the home, as the basis for an endowment fund, it is proposed to solicit similar donations from charitable inclined leaders in the Jewish work and to place the local institution on a basis that will insure its steady progress toward its highest ideals—that of a national home for Jewish orphans.

$14,000 for Endowment. Mrs. Hillman, in her address, following the exercises in commemoration of the anniversary of the orphanage last night, presented to the new president of the board of directors, Harold Hirsch, $14,000, to be used as a basis of an endowment fund for the home, the interest of which will, when the sum is finally completed, take care of maintenance and general upkeep of the institution.

The donation of Mrs. Hillman came as a surprise to the majority of the delegates present at the gathering of the B'nai B'rith. These delegates informally pledged themselves to secure additional endowment funds throughout the entire scope of the organization and to report back to the orphanage directors next year.

During Mrs. Hillman's speech she was interrupted for a moment by Simon Wolf, honorary president of the orphanage, who, in a fitting speech, presented her with a silver medal suitably inscribed and which expressed the well wishes of the B'nai B'rith. Mrs. Hillman was visibly affected, but continued with her address.

History of Orphanage. Mrs. Hillman reviewed the life and history of the orphanage, and continued: "I say now with sorrow, that the maintenance of the home has not been always equal to the need. Often and often has the usefulness of the home been curtailed by reason of lack of adequate funds, and often, indeed, has the very subsistence of the home been endangered by lack of funds for its daily actual necessities.

In fact, this very last year there were a deficit of over $5,000, which the income of the home could not provide for, and for the first time in its history the local board of managers was compelled to make an appeal to the general public.

"The home must be placed upon a safe foundation so that the deep stigma of failure on our part shall not be added to the tragedy of death and poverty and helplessness.

"That this Silver Jubilee Endowment fund may be established, and the safety of the home made secure, I have made a feeble attempt at a beginning, and I announce the completion of my task, and, Mr. President, present the Atlanta Orphans' home the sum of $14,000 as the beginning, and it is now in your hands to bring it to a more beautiful and honorable accomplishment.

In concluding her remarks Mrs. Hillman paid a glowing tribute to Simon Wolf, founder and president of the home.

Simon Wolf's Speech. Simon Wolf, founder of the orphanage, and for twenty-five years its president, followed Mrs. Hillman.

Mr. Wolf made a stirring plea for greater effort on the part of such agencies as the B'nai B'rith toward the solution of many of the economic questions presented to the Jews as a race.

TWICE WHIPPED, VILLA HAMMERS WAY TO VICTORY

New York Correspondent Says Rebel Luck Is Overcoming Rebel Reverses in Long Battle at Torreon.

SANITY OVERTAKES HUERTA COMMANDER

Rebel Progress Slow, but Capture of Torreon Is Assured—Bad Powder Responsible for Early Reverses of the Rebels.

El Paso, Texas, March 30.—A tale of rebel reverses and rebel luck was brought here tonight from the front by John Reed, correspondent of The New York World, and Robert Dorman, a photographer. They left the front Saturday morning, at which time they estimated that the rebel loss was 2,000 in killed and wounded.

"We were whipped twice at Gomez Palacio," related Dorman, "but the rebels didn't have the good sense to follow up their advantage. Villa returned to the attack after reorganizing and ultimately captured the city. We were whipped right there, but the federal commander didn't now it. Federal prisoners whom we captured said that Velasco later went insane in the trenches. He is a cripple of previous revolutions, and has a bad arm and a bad leg.

Huerta General Went Insane. The prisoners told us he went mad at Gomez Palacio and went raging up and down the lines cursing and issuing absurd orders. Ultimately his own officers put him under restraint.

"Our attack on Gomez Palacio was centered on the hill known as Cerro de la Piar. It is precipitous, and we made seven assaults before taking it. The result of each six assaults could be discerned after the battle by the rings of dead rebels. Their bodies distinctly marked the line where they were repulsed.

"The home-made shrapnel of the rebels had much to do with the early repulses at Gomez Palacio. Only about one in thirty exploded, but it was everywhere, and its greatest delight was to join the assault on foot and throw hand grenades himself.

"Ultimately he will take Torreon. When we left Saturday morning the fight was in progress. It was slow, stubborn work, as the rebels had to fight from house to house, the enemy retreating from position to position through holes knocked in the mud-brick walls which are built one against another."

Bun Pinned On News. Reed and Dorman, like other correspondents and photographers, were not only forbidden to send out news after the attack on Torreon began, but they themselves were forbidden to leave.

According to Reed, they bribed a section hand to allow them to use a caroling propelled rail vehicle, which carried them to Bermejillo. There they caught a hospital train which carried them to Chihuahua. All along the line they were stopped and questioned, but they still had their safe conduct passes from Villa, and managed to get through as the rebel advance against their departure had not been properly promulgated.

"We slept—actually slept—on the roof of the caboose to Chihuahua," Reed said. "In our waking moments we could hear the moans and cries of the wounded. As the wounded died they were simply shoved out of the cars. We didn't stop to bury them."

Reed and Dorman agreed that the superiority of the federal arms they should have given them permanent victory, but for Velasco's failure to follow up his advantage.

Rapid-Fire Guns Deadly. The rapid-fire guns, accurately trained on obstacles put in the way of the rebel advance, did the most damage, they said. The rebels simply fell in wild rows before the barbed wire entanglements. Each time, however, Villa was able to retreat without pursuit, and reform his men. Their valor was unaffected by their repulse, or by thirst and hunger.

All of the correspondents were made sick by drinking contaminated water from the irrigation ditches, and John W. Roberts, correspondent of The El Paso Morning Times, was confined to the hospital at the time Reed and Dorman departed. Dorman brought back a letter from General Villa to the son of President Huerta, was among the federal dead.

He said, also, that British Vice Consul Cummings, of Gomez Palacio, was sent to Torreon by General Villa to suggest to General Velasco that he surrender.

THE MEDIEVAL CODE.

The Associated Press reports from Baltimore the success of an operation, performed a week ago, whereby the sight of a child will be restored by transplanting to its eyeball the cornea of a pig. The day after the operation was performed The Constitution carried an Associated Press report of it. The following day we received, and printed, a card from an eminent Atlanta specialist who declared the reported operation "impossible" and who scarified the breach of "medical ethics" that advertised a "fiasco" to the nation only to kindle hope in the hearts of the credulous. An Associated Press dispatch, published in a later Constitution, confirms the success of the operation. The child begins to see.

Incidentally, the episode corroborates The Constitution's contention, reiterated several times recently, that in justice to itself and humanity the medical profession should forswear the "ethics" of the middle centuries as they threw a veil of mystery around the practice of medicine. Honest and judicious publicity helps the honest physician and the public; a conspiracy of silence damages the honest physician and the public and plays direct into the hands of the charlatan and the quack.

We have cited the attempt to discipline Dr. John A. Wyeth, one of the leading physicians of America, because of a well-edited venture into the fields of publicity. An operation that may revolutionize the oculist's field has been proved feasible and the tidings have been spread the world over. Had medieval ethics prevailed what would have happened? The news would first have gone to the medical journals, read only by a limited percentage of physicians. It would then have traveled the world-old route of word-of-mouth, gradually penetrating the ranks of the profession and after then sifting down to the laity. In a decade, perhaps, the world would have known the import of this operation.

Of what is that a justification? Of the witchcraft doctor's code of medical ethics, which sought to conceal all—or of the modern conception of careful and intelligent publicity?

The lawyer, the statesman, the business man, the college president, the preacher, the inventor—each one of the elements that go to make up our wonderful civilization, recognize and profit by that tremendous machine for disseminating knowledge, the press. One profession only—the supremely important profession whose mission it is to save life—stands pat on secrecy, and the tortuous, ineffectual methods of the middle centuries. We do not believe the average physician clings to this view. Those who do are simply worshippers of tradition.

The reputable press may be depended upon to co-operate with the reputable physician in the suppressing of the charlatan and the faker. No better assurance of this can be furnished than in the case of Friedman, the tuberculosis quack. Had it not been for the press and for its emphatic exposures Friedman and his associates would have been at this very time capitalizing human suffering in every state in the union. The press, however, in co-operation with the medical profession, put an end to his raid upon public credulity.

There is no more reason why reputable practitioners should hesitate to use the newspapers to spread the constantly developing virtues of the science of medicine than that they should seek the aid of the press in exposing the wiles of the medical faker.

On this point the medical profession itself is awakening. Right here in Atlanta The Constitution has received the assurances of reputable physicians that its crusade for the overthrow of medical medievalism is supported. It is too much to expect that the profession will as yet come out into the open and fight for progress and liberalism along the line of the intelligent use of publicity in the medical profession. But after a while the profession generally will come to the position of Dr. John A. Wyeth, of New York, who, in answering his critics on the absurd charge of having violated one of the far-fetched niceties of the code of medieval ethics, simply quoted Galileo—"The world moves all the same."

COUNCIL ACTS ON GRADY.

City council yesterday afternoon took the first definite step toward greater Grady hospital by referring the proposal for a $750,000 bond issue to a special committee of ten, with instructions to report a detailed program at a special session of council to be held Wednesday. The action thus taken is equivalent to the indorsement of the proposal looking toward a bond issue for greater Grady.

Sentiment in council favored concentrating public sentiment on one subject at a time, the Grady hospital taking precedence now, the plaza enterprise to be considered later. The Constitution would have been glad had the plaza and the hospital projects been submitted to the people in the same election. Both are virtually self-sustaining, and both, the health element being conceded as primary, are of great importance.

Council in its wisdom has seen fit to separate the two and give the hospital movement right of way. That much is at least accomplished and it is to be hoped that once the new and greater Grady is assured council will lose no time in submitting the proposal for the plaza bonds.

The verdict of council will be the signal for starting a whirlwind campaign for the $750,000 bond issue for greater Grady.

The fact that every element in Atlanta is represented in the demand for enlargement of the institution warrants the success of the movement if it is undertaken in an organized way.

But organization is essential to success!

THE B'NAI B'RITH.

Distinguished and representative Jewish leaders of thought and action from the southern states are the guests of Atlanta in attendance at the fortieth convention of district grand lodge No. 5, Independent Order of B'nai B'rith.

The dominant note in the aims and practices of B'nai B'rith, as emphasized by many speakers at the various sessions, is the welding of altruistic ideals to practical work of uplift and benevolence. A concrete illustration of the organization's creed is found in the Hebrew Orphans' home in Atlanta, established under the auspices of B'nai B'rith, and now celebrating its quarter centenary. At the orphans' home, as in every other field of activity the association enters, idealism is the arch of the structure; but it is an idealism with trowel and mortar board in hand, addressing itself to actual achievement and not to empty preachment.

If one were asked for a judicial estimate of the spirit of Hebrew citizenship in Atlanta, as it long has expressed itself, the just answer would be that it comprises accurately the genius that is behind B'nai B'rith—idealism, lofty in conception, but tangible, workaday and fearless in practice.

The Jews of Atlanta do not condone their philanthropic energies to institutions within their own creed. They are liberal, even lavish, supporters of every deserving and constructive charity, under whatever emblem it makes an appeal. Since the era of reconstruction, which ushered in what might be termed the second and larger growth of the city, the Jew has been a conspicuous and an invaluable element in the work of development. He has been keen upon his private business, but no less keen upon the public welfare. He has entered unstintedly into every movement making for the general good. Campaigns of a civic nature show the names of Jews high on the roll of subscribers. Crusades for better government have enjoyed the benefit of counsel from Jewish leaders, and votes and influence from the rank and file. No single element has entered more spontaneously or unselfishly into the higher life of the community than has the Jew. He has identified himself with the expansion of the city and with the habits of enthusiasm and team work that have carried Atlanta's name to the four quarters of the country.

The men now here in the interests of B'nai B'rith symbolize the finest strain in this people of historic accomplishment and uniform good citizenship. In behalf of Atlanta The Constitution extends to them hearty greetings.

The best futures to buy are Atlanta futures.

Lack of Markets Keeps Farmers From Raising More Food Stuffs, Declares Demonstration Agent

R. L. Ballard, farm demonstration agent for Turner county, was a visitor Monday at the offices of the Georgia Chamber of Commerce in the Hurt building, coming to Atlanta to see President Haden, of the state chamber, with reference to the feasibility of establishing some kind of an organization to assist the farmers of Turner county in the marketing of their produce and the buying of their supplies.

According to Mr. Ballard, he is experiencing the greatest difficulty in persuading the farmers of Turner county to raise food products from the fact that even if they did increase their output of staples, lack of marketing facilities would make it practically impossible for them to dispose of the results of their labors at a profitable price.

"I have found it absolutely impossible," declared Mr. Ballard, "to convince the farmers of my county of the advantage of raising more food stuffs, pigs, chickens and eggs, when they cannot find a cash market even for what they raise now. All a Turner county farmer can get for eggs now is around 14 or 15 cents a dozen—and that in trade, not cash. The same is true in regard to corn and other food crops."

"One thing I am going to try to find out while I am in Atlanta is why it is that this city refuses to allow dressed hogs to be shipped here. Pigs for Atlanta must come in alive. So again when I approach the farmers of Turner about raising more hogs, I am met with the fact that if they did so they would have no market for them after they were killed and dressed than ready for shipping."

"I will be in Atlanta for two days longer and am going to try to formulate some plan of a co-operative organization for the farmers of my county whereby they can get decent prices for their products in cash and not in credit—and can also secure their supplies at reduced prices. There is certainly some plan by which this can be accomplished and I am going to keep at it until I work it out, or until I am convinced that it is impracticable. And the latter I do not believe, for what the farmers of Holland and other European countries have been able to do, I know the farmers of south Georgia—the garden spot of the world—can accomplish."

Don't Kill Mad Dog Suspect, Advises City Bacteriologist

Almost as soon as summer's hot breath rouseth Jack Frost from the earth, "mad dog" is the exclamation that rises above the din of traffic on the crowded city pavements and drowns out the cooling of birds in country lanes.

About this time of the year Flido, Trisix and old dog Tray are in peril. If they escape the policeman's Colt the prospects are they will journey to the happy bone hunting grounds via the poisoned sausage flung over the back fence.

Yes, these are the days they call "dog days." At almost any time of the day you can see the excited crowds gathered on street corners, the copper with mering pistol and the covering canine in the corner being made the target of a very bad example of marksmanship.

Dr. Claude Smith, city bacteriologist, in his laboratory up on the top floor of the city hall, here is making some arrangements to make in regard to the methods that should be followed after a person has been bitten by a dog supposed to be suffering from rabies.

Dr. Smith says there are three things which are prevalent in the popular opinion in regard to mad dogs.

The first is that dogs go mad only during the hottest months of the year—dog days. "Much has been done to set the public right on this point and many are informed on this phase of the matter," Dr. Smith says, "but some still persist in hanging to the idea."

"As a matter of fact, dogs go mad all during the year. Hot weather only has the effect of developing any malign bacteria that may be latent in the systems of animals."

"Another popular misconception is that the mad dog must always rave and foam at the mouth. Until he does, most people will refuse to believe that he is mad. In this they are wrong."

"More Affectionate. Many dogs in the first stages of hydrophobia are more affectionate than ordinarily. Instead of tearing around the house, sniffing at everything in sight and foaming at the mouth, they insist on being near some person."

"The most erroneous conclusion of all is that the dog must be killed at once as soon as it is thought that he is mad. If mad after biting a person, should always be locked up and kept for a few days. This will give the disease, if there is any, time to develop. Search for the disease is usually made in the brain of the animal, and it must be given time to make its traces here before any definite decision can be reached in the matter. If this is done, it will take only a few days to find out whether the dog has had the rabies, and if it had, plenty of time is left for the treatment of the patient."

"In order that the public may understand fully the precautions necessary, the city and state health boards and the Grady hospital have arranged to stand ready to assist. Hundreds of cases are treated annually at the Pasteur Institute, and all that is asked is that the patients take the precautions which every physician will agree is necessary."

WHY WE PLEDGED EQUAL CANAL TOLLS TO ALL THE NATIONS

(The following correspondence to The Constitution from George J. Rawlins and the answer from Congressman W. C. Adamson, chairman of the committee on interstate and foreign commerce of the house, explains why we have never been able to secure accord all nations equal treatment in the matter of Panama canal tolls.)

A Question. Editor Constitution: Although agreeing fully with you and the administration on the Panama tolls question, allow me to ask a question.

Why did the Hay-Pauncefote treaty promise England equal tolls? It is a concession on our part. What did England concede in return?

The treaty in question supersedes an older treaty dealing with the French canal, but so far as I know, the press has not enlightened us on the conditions of the old treaty.

Kindly give us some information on that point, if possible. GEORGE J. RAWLINS, 205 Peachtree Street, Atlanta, Ga.

The Constitution referred Mr. Rawlins' letter to Chairman W. C. Adamson, of the house interstate and foreign commerce committee, who framed the bill.

Mr. Adamson's reply, which follows, is self-explanatory.

Chairman Adamson's Answer. I have your favor of March 25 with letter from Mr. Rawlins, which I answer with pleasure and return his letter herewith. Mr. Rawlins' trouble is a common one. He says that the Panama canal is an American waterway and that Great Britain is trying to run it. Great Britain does not now, and never did, feel any greater interest in it than any other maritime nation. They have never been by two great international canals built under treaty by foreign capital in countries unable to build them. The United States had no more business in Central America in 1850 than England and the United States are afraid England would have more business there. For twenty-five years the claim started by Henry Clay and John Adams was persisted in by the United States, that any isthmian transit must be neutral in character and free and open in its use to all mankind. The Clayton-Bulwer treaty in 1850 provided that the United States and England, together with such other nations as might enter the compact, would back any private enterprise we wished to construct anywhere on the isthmus, each agreeing not to acquire any influence or interest on the isthmus by reason of the operation of the canal. By section 5 it is agreed that the management of such canal should be shared by the United States and England exactly alike as to charges and conditions, and while it imposes equal charges and conditions on the United States and England, the same should apply to all other nations, their citizens and subjects.

The Suez Canal. It was found difficult to finance the enterprise and capital found a more inviting field in reviving the old Suez canal. The kediwe of Egypt cared nothing about the commercial aspects of the canal. He merely wanted the financial consideration for the concession, and the French company secured the concession from the kediwe of Egypt by making him certain compensation, and making provisions similar to those we have made with the Republic of Panama. The same conditions operated under the Clayton-Bulwer treaty as to universal use and equal treatment were applied to the Suez canal.

At the beginning of this century the United States government determined that it wanted to build a canal and as it didn't own any land on the isthmus and didn't wish to enter upon conquest, and had already built the Panama railroad and operated it fifty years under the Clayton-Bulwer treaty and in strict accordance with it, our government applied to England for a modification of the Clayton-Bulwer treaty, which was granted in the following particulars only:

The New Treaty. It was agreed that the United States should build and manage and operate the canal, have all the right of way, the construction and ownership subject to the stipulations of the treaty affecting its use as to equality and neutrality. The United States relieved the balance of the world of the protection, and the prohibition of fortification was withdrawn. A provision was placed in the treaty that if we afterwards acquired sovereignty it should not change the terms of the treaty as to equality and neutrality.

Fit Your Job.

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS.

A gentleman stepped to a Railway Ticket Office to purchase a ticket. It was for a Limited—the fastest and finest train passing through that station. "At what hour does this train arrive at St. J.?" "I don't know," replied the agent, "but the Information Man, I have too much to do as it is keeping in my head the time at which trains arrive and leave."

That agent is a type of thousands of workers—too small for their jobs.

Compare, please, even the biggest sample of it in it but a speck against the magnitude of the universe. And our little world is pretty small. But no man has even yet exhausted his ability and the world, so far, has been pretty big for the biggest. So, don't be afraid to fit your job—no matter what it is. And when you feel you fit fine—then get a bigger job!

Love and Faith.

Morning.

Awaken, dear! The day is dawning. Awake, dear! The New Year morning to Unrolls and spreads o'er seas and lands. Well journey life to lotter ways: For Love and Faith lock hearts and hands.

Noon.

Rest, dear! The noon-day lingers; Rest, dear! Time's knotted fingers; Have not yet loosed their thought. We've shared our joys, about our fears. We've shared the after-math of years: For Love and Faith teach not the taught.

Night.

Sleep, dear! The day is ending; Sleep, dear! The sunset's blending. In radiant gold, the golden shades; Joy's joyed in the morning light; We rested in the noon-day bright: We'll dream with Love and Faith between. F. L. O.

DAILY GRIST From the STATES POLITICAL GRIND

The retirement of Attorney General Thomas S. Felder to enter actively into his campaign for the Bacon term in the United States senate lent considerable increase to the political temperature of Georgia on Monday.

This action makes Mr. Felder's hat the first actively in the ring for the short-term race.

It throws open now the place of the attorney generalship for all comers. To date Clifford Walker, of Monroe, is the only announced candidate. Whether or not Warren Grice, of Hawkinsville, the appointee, will be a candidate to succeed himself remains to be seen.

Statement From Walker.

Clifford Walker was in the city yesterday and after hearing of the appointment of Mr. Grice, said:

"This by no means alters my plans for succeeding to the regular term as solicitor general. I do not know whether Mr. Grice will be a candidate for the full term or not. I hope he will not be. At any rate, my candidacy has already been pitched on a state-wide basis and my organization is under full headway in every county in the state. I expect to be elected by an overwhelming majority."

The action of Attorney General Felder in resigning confirms a recent emphatic statement of The Macon Evening News, which has especially pushed his candidacy for the senate. The News ridiculed the idea that Mr. Felder would be pushed out of the senatorial race.

The statement has been industriously circulated from Washington through friends of Congressman Hardwick that, at the proper time, Attorney General T. S. Felder would withdraw as a candidate for the unexpired term of the late United States Senator A. O. Bacon.

Advocates of Mr. Hardwick have never seriously credited the report that Mr. Felder would remain in the contest against Mr. Hardwick.

The Macon Evening News, which is leading the fight for Mr. Felder, bitterly resents this report, declaring:

"It's untrue. It's absurd. It's unfair. Mr. Felder has definitely and emphatically announced for the United States senate, and citizens in all sections of the state are enthusiastically responding to his candidacy."

"Tom Felder is Georgia's next junior senator."

This seems to put at rest the report that Mr. Felder can be pulled out of the race at any time that may satisfy the convenience of Mr. Hardwick and indications now point to the fact that he is in the contest to stay.

One of State's Ablest Attorneys.

Mr. Grice is one of the ablest attorneys in the state. He is popular and well known throughout the state. He is now in the prime of life, being 38 years old, and is regarded as one of the ablest attorneys in the state.

Mr. Grice won his political spurs in the general assembly of 1900-01, when he was representative in the house from Pulaski county, and served on some of the most important committees of the assembly. He also represented Pulaski in the session of 1902-03.

Director of the Census William J. Harris, who is also chairman of the state democratic executive committee, arrived in Atlanta Monday, and will remain in Georgia until after the meeting of the executive committee of the state on April 4.

Director Harris is of the opinion that the administration will win out in the canal tolls fight.

POLITICAL SITUATION GROWING TENSE IN NORTHEAST GEORGIA

Toccoa, Ga., March 30.—(Special.)—In the northeastern part of the state interest in politics is growing intense. The voters are apparently as much or more interested in the possible results of the election than in the race to be filled for United States senator in local, circuit or congressional races.

Second to that is interest in the race for congress in the ninth district. Hon. John N. Holder, Hon. Thomas M. Bell and Dr. J. B. Jones are the candidates in the race, and the friends of Dr. J. B. Jones say he will enter the race. Hon. W. A. Charters is also being urged to enter the contest again. Whether two, three, four or five of these gentlemen offer for office, lively politics will be the result, and the fight will be a warm one.

In the primary of 1912 Mr. Bell received about 10,000 votes, Mr. Holder about 8,000, and Mr. Charters between 5,000 and 6,000. The friends of these gentlemen say that the vote of 1912 is no indication as to what will happen in 1914. In the last primary Mr. Bell got twenty-two of the forty county unit votes.

On account of the claim of each of the candidates and possible candidates, of the claims of the state, and the uncertainty will adopt the county unit plan, the plurality plan or the majority plan, much interest is felt just at present. It is believed that almost immediately after the state committee meets on April 4 the race will settle down to a lively fight.

Hon. J. B. Jones, judge of the superior court for the northeastern circuit, it appears, will have no opposition. Hon. Robert McMillan, solicitor general, will be opposed by W. M. Jones, a prominent lawyer of Gainesville, who is already making a vigorous campaign.

SPECIAL ELECTION IN TURNER

Ashtburn, Ga., March 30.—(Special.)—R. L. Bell, chairman of the board of commissioners of roads and revenues of Turner county, has tendered his resignation as a member of that board, to take effect immediately. The reason assigned by Mr. Bell for resigning is because his interests in the lumber business in Florida will demand that he spend most of his time at Greenville, Fla.

Ordinary one Mac Hancock has fixed April 27 as the date on which a special election will be held to fill the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Mr. Betts, and already several names have been mentioned as possible candidates for the place. The friends of Hon. W. A. Greer, Turner's first choice, are urging him to make the race. If he makes the race, it is probable that he will be chosen without opposition.

SENATOR WEST TELLS HIS HOME PEOPLE THAT IT IS UP TO THEM

Valdosta, Ga., March 30.—(Special.)—United States Senator W. S. West is spending a few days at his home here. When asked as to his recommendation for postmaster at Valdosta, which it is understood both Senator West and Congressman Walker have found it rather difficult to make, he said that so far as he knew now, the postmaster-ship in Valdosta would remain as it is. This is taken to mean that Senator West will not recommend the appointment of Major J. O. Varnedoe, at least for the present, and that the latter will hold over after his term expires in May. It is understood that Colonel West, before his appointment as senator, was among those who recommended Major Varnedoe for reappointment.

The enforcement of the age limit of 70 years has been used against Major J. O. Varnedoe, the incumbent. J. F. Stapler and J. P. Coffee are the most active candidates. Relative to his political intentions, Senator West stated that his candidacy for the term of Senator Bacon would depend on the sentiment and expressions from south Georgia. If it is made manifest that he can solidify south Georgia by running, he will do so, otherwise he will not.

Some of the best political friends that he would make definite announcement of his intention before returning to Washington the latter part of next week.

SHERIFF'S RACE IN THOMAS COUNTY

Stedley Growing More Heated. Thomasville, Ga., March 30.—(Special.)—The withdrawal from the race for sheriff of Ben Nazworth, of this city, leaves only three in the running. These are Chief of Police A. B. Milton and W. A. Etheberg, of this city, and T. J. Hight, of Kothorn. All three of these have made their formal announcements as candidates and are hard at work.

As to which will win out is problematical, as all three have strong followings and nobody professes to be able to predict the outcome.

HOTTEST RACES IN THE HISTORY OF BULLOCH COUNTY NOW BEING RUN

Stableboro, Ga., March 30.—(Special.)—With the Bulloch county primary a little over five weeks off Bulloch county's political interest centers in the race for sheriff and solicitor of the state of Georgia. For sheriff there are three candidates—John G. Jones, B. T. Maffard and W. H. DeLoach. For solicitor there are four candidates—J. E. Anderson, Homer C. Parker, Francis B. Hunter and H. M. Jones.

Some of the best political politicians in Bulloch county, the candidates spend very little time in Stableboro. They are out in the "sticks," seeing the voters. It is evident that they intend keeping up the fight until May 7, when the votes are cast.

FRIENDS OF JUDGE QUINCY CONFERRING WITH EDMONDSON

Quitman, Ga., March 30.—(Special.)—The Brooks county primary will be held April 23. With the single exception of the sheriff's office there will be no opposing candidates. The present sheriff, J. W. Wade, stands for re-election and is opposed by A. J. Conroy, who for many years served as sheriff of the county.

Since the retirement of Hon. Grover C. Edmondson from the congressional race in the eleventh congressional district, it is not definitely known what connection he will have with this year's local politics. Colonel Edmondson is very likely to advocate the candidacy of Judge J. W. Quincy, who will probably oppose Congressman Walker. Friends of the county judge have been here in close consultation with Colonel Edmondson, but no positive statement has been announced.

The contest in Brooks county as regards congressional politics will be between State Senator J. C. Calhoun, of Valdosta, and Judge Quincy, of Douglas, it being conceded that the incumbent cannot arouse much support in his behalf.

DEKALB COMMITTEE MAKES ASSESSMENTS ON CANDIDATES

Decatur, Ga., March 30.—(Special.)—The DeKalb county democratic executive committee met Saturday at Decatur to perfect plans for the coming primary to be held May 13.

The committee decided that no candidate can run unless he qualify for the primary after April 15 at noon.

The following assessments were made for entrants to the following offices: County commissioner, $25; treasurer, $40; tax collector, $20; sheriff, $20; surveyor, $15.

DOUGLAS COUNTY PRIMARY TO TAKE PLACE ON THURSDAY

Douglasville, Ga., March 30.—(Special.)—The white primary for nomination of county officers in Douglas county will be held on Thursday, April 2, at noon.

There are seven candidates for county treasurer, two for sheriff, two for tax collector and seven for county commissioners, with three to be elected. G. S. King, the present tax collector, is the only officer re-nominated, as he has held the office only one term.

The race for superior court judge of this circuit is creating a great deal of interest and, although the race is several months away, the people are discussing this as much as the race for county offices. This fact no one has offered against Solicitor General Hutcherson.

IN SUCH PAIN WOMAN CRIED

Suffered Everything Until Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Florence, So. Dakota.—"I used to be very sick every month with bearing down pains and backache, and had headache a good deal of the time and very little appetite. The pains were so bad that I used to sit right down on the floor and cry, because it hurt me so and I could not do any work at those times. An old woman advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I got a bottle. I felt better the next month so I took three more bottles of it and got well so I could work all the time. I hope every woman who suffers like I did will try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. P. W. LANSING, Route No. 1, Florence, South Dakota.

Why will women continue to suffer day in and day out or drag out a sickly, half-hearted existence, missing three-fourths of the joy of living, when they can find health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?

For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has restored the health of thousands of women who have been troubled with such ailments as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, tumors, irregularities, etc.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Equal Suffrage Party.
The Equal Suffrage Party of Georgia will hold their regular meeting this evening at 8 o'clock in the assembly hall of the Piedmont hotel. Mrs. Jinton Hopkins and Mr. Jerome Jones will be among the speakers. All interested are invited to attend.

Linen Shower.
Today is the last day of the linen shower for St. Joseph's infirmary. Donations will be received throughout the day at the infirmary, 234 Courtland street. Articles such as sheets, pillow cases, dollies, bath and dish towels, tray covers, underwear or any domestic goods, whether bleached or unbleached, or the material for these articles will be thankfully received. Those who have not sent in their donation should send it in today.

Sale of Fancy Articles.
The Business Women's league of the Second Baptist church will have a sale of fancy articles especially suitable for Easter. The sale will be held at the home of Mrs. Jinton Hopkins, 234 Courtland street, on Saturday, April 4, from 10 to 4 o'clock, at 35 Peachtree street. Luncheon will be served from 12 to 2:30 o'clock at 25 cents per lunch. The proceeds of the sale will be devoted to the Georgia Baptist hospital. The co-operation of the ladies of the church and their friends is requested.

LAWSUIT RESULTS WHEN RIVER CHANGES ITS BED

Beunswick, Ga., March 30.—(Special.)—The Georgia supreme court is going to be called upon to decide a novel question which has been before Judge Conyers of the superior court in its various forms. The question is one which, it is believed, has never been up in Georgia and the final decision of the high tribunal will be awaited with interest.

The issue is between Wayne and Tattall county people and is for the possession of 230 acres of land. In 1824 this land was in Wayne county and was granted to people of that county. The Altamaha river is the dividing line between the two counties. In 1824 this river had changed its course, a little slow breaking in and finally becoming the main channel of the river. Then the land in question was in Tattall county and was granted to people in that county under the old Georgia headright law. Recently R. E. Warren and J. H. Reddish began cutting hardwood timber on the land and they were restrained by the Sizer Lumber company, of Tattall county, holders of the more recent lease. A temporary restraining order was granted, but when the question came up before Judge Conyers in this city the injunction was dissolved, but the matter was left in status quo when a supercedas was filed, carrying the case to the supreme court.

Miss Rosalie Howell is visiting friends in Augusta.

Miss Bland Tomlinson, of Birmingham, will be with the Misses Mildred and Dorothy Harman over a week.

Receiver Appointed For Power Company In Paulding County

Harold Hirsch and James D. Robinson, receivers for the Guarantee Bank and Trust company, on Monday filed a petition asking for a receiver for the Paulding County Power company, located at Dallas. This company was one in which the Guarantee Bank and Trust company was heavily interested at the time it failed. The court named Stephen Tighe, of Dallas, as receiver, under a bond of $2,000. The petition seeks the winding up of a receiver the affairs of the power company will be conserved and the directors of the company much benefited.

STREET CAR COMPANY FIGHTS BARKER SUIT

Taking of testimony in the suit of Mrs. Charles D. Barker, suing the Georgia Railway and Power company, in which Mrs. Barker alleges that her husband died from injuries received after being struck by a street car in Whitehall street, started in the city court on Monday. The street car company's attorneys allege that Barker died from natural causes instead of the result of being hit by the street car. Barker was injured in November, 1912, and died in June, 1913.

SECOND INDUSTRIAL TOUR OF ATLANTA IS PLANNED

Plans for the second industrial tour of the city of Atlanta and suburbs will be considered this afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the chamber of commerce at a called meeting of the industrial and statistics bureau advisory committee, of which Wilmer L. Moore, former president of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, is chairman. It is probable that the committee will set an early date.

Clean Up, Then Plant

We have the fullest sympathy with the "cleaning up" idea for the visiting Shriners, that they may take back to their homes the idea of a clean and attractive Atlanta.

While cleaning up, why not break up the soil, plant flowers and grass in the front, and the money-saving vegetable garden in the back?

"An Atlanta Beautiful"

with fine lawns, attractive flower beds and porch boxes full of ferns and decorative plants, will create a favorable impression that nothing else can.

What's better is that it's not only for Shriners' week, but all through the summer and fall it will please and satisfy all.

It Depends On You

An "Atlanta Beautiful" depends on each individual householder doing his or her share. Each one is responsible for their share.

Will you do your share? The right time is now, with this superb growing weather. We have everything you need in seeds, plants, etc.

Come and see us or phone your order in. Phones: Bell Main 3962, Main 2568; Atlanta Phone 2568. Delivery twice daily to all parts of the city of Atlanta.

FOR SPRING CLEANING

Consider the furniture—Simply wiping or washing won't bring back the life and lustre. It needs a can of FIXALL.

The Finish That Lasts

and that's all it needs to make it as new and brilliant and interesting as the day you bought it. Anyone who will follow the directions can apply Fixall.

Fixall is sold in cans holding one-fourth pint to one gallon at 15c to $2.50. There is a right size can for every purpose at your dealer's.

"Little Miss Fixall" prepared a series of transparent illustrations which show just how you can use Fixall in such a way that the furniture is not only cleaned but also protected from the elements. These illustrations are of great service to the housewife who wants the best color effect on floors and wood work, and are very interesting to the "little miss" in your home. Write us for one free.

RAILROAD SCHEDULES

ATLANTA DEFEATED BY BOSTON BRAVES

Two Doubles in the Fourth Inning Gave the Nationals Their Only Run—Billy and Dunn Shoed.

Macon Ga. March 30.—(Special)—A couple of doubles bunched in the fourth inning enabled the Boston Braves to defeat Bill Smith's Crackers this afternoon by the score of 1 to 0 in a game that bristled with excitement with Auggie Moran the umpire holding the center of the stage as usual.

Bill Smith and his followers came to town looking for hate and in the sixth inning they succeeded to take it out on Umpire Moran.

Catcher Dunn complained of the umpire's judgment of balls and strikes and when Larry Gilbert received a free pass to first Dunn said something to Umpire Moran that caused the latter to order him out of the game.

Manager Smith joined in and was promptly told to beat it and hastened to go to Smith threatened to clean up the whole field.

There was no other catcher and the game was a standstill for five minutes. Finally the Boston Braves agreed to let Umpire Moran go back in the game.

Continual jeering followed Moran. The day was very hot and it was probably due to that fact that some heat hit baseball was worked. Boston had to step some to win.

Four hits were made none of them were bunched in one inning. The four hits credited to Atlanta were scattered through as many innings.

Umpire Moran was the only one to start and the little fellow twirled an excellent game in the morning. He worked Bill Ferryman who was the last three innings for the Crackers was also in good form.

These two going good it was to Boston to do some swatting to get over the only tally of the game.

With two down the Boston Braves doubled to left. Hank Gowdy put one in the same place for two bags and one lone run. The Boston Braves was at the game today.

Re-scouting for the Brooklyn team and was looking for both the Boston and Atlanta players.

The Braves and the Crackers will play the second game tomorrow.

Fast Little Bantams Fight At Orpheum Theater Tonight

Tonight's Card Jimmy Grant v Knockout Eggers, 10 rounds Kid York v Battling Kelly, 10 rounds

The best card of boxing bouts that have ever been arranged by an Atlanta promoter is the one tonight. The above card to local fans at the Orpheum Theater.

Three ten round bouts with plenty of speed slugging science ring craft and a good boxing bout will be exhibited throughout the thirty rounds.

It is the impression of many that the key to a going to be hung up by one of the boxers in each of the bouts. No one is willing to take a chance in forecasting which one of the men will stand.

The main bout naturally is the attraction in Knockout Eggers Grant will meet the very best boy that he has ever boxed.

Eggers and Grant are different types. The former is an experienced fighter with a way speed, wonderful boxing ability but only a fair punch.

Grant is not as fast, not as experienced and not as good a boxer but he can hit, and he can hit with either hand.

Promoter Castro has offered an additional inducement to the two boys tonight. He will give the winner a car and the loser a new suit.

The admission fee will be $1 for the balcony and gallery seats $2 for ring side boxes and $3 for the rest of the seats downstairs.

Tickets are on sale at Tumin's the Rex or at the Orpheum.

Do we love our manager? asked Dutch Munch of the gang. Yes we do—because he has the supply of juicy weed that other managers carry around and only one new ball in it.

Weather permitting the teams will try this afternoon at 3 o'clock. Both managers are reticent about their battling orders and batteries.

Pirates and Braves Have Won Most Opening Games

By Ernest J. Lanigan

Baseball dope is a very peculiar thing. Looking over the major league openings for the last ten years one finds that the Pirates who in this time have won only one flag have landed eight of their opening controversies and so have the Pirates generally have finished way down in the rack.

The Naps also non pennant winners have an even split in their opening games. The McGrawites however have been blenked on opening day on four occasions.

Star pitchers do not always fare well when real hostilities commence. Cy Young was the twirler for the Boston Red Sox in four of their openings and he was bracketed only once.
