Typical Hospital Wards in Two Big Cities; Comparison Shows How Atlanta Suffers

Top: A ward in the $1,000,000 hospital in Louisville; bottom, a ward in Grady hospital.

No better illustration of the need for a greater Grady could be found than the comparison of a typical Grady ward with the typical ward of a modern hospital.

Every ward is overcrowded, and extra beds are lined along the sides of the hallways. The typical Grady ward is twenty years out of date.

Atlanta needs wards of similar size and construction. The Grady bond issue provides for the building of them.

GRADY BOND ISSUE LEADERS CONFIDENT OF WINNING BATTLE

Campaign for a Greater Institution Will Come to a Close Today—Polls Will Be Open Tomorrow.

WORKERS SHOW VALUE OF HOSPITAL TO CITY

Rev. Fred A. Line Urged Bonds in Sermon Sunday. Dr. Proctor Asked Negroes to Vote for Issue.

This is the last day of the campaign for a greater Grady hospital. Tuesday, the voters will decide whether Atlanta is to have a modern, adequate city hospital—a hospital which will measure up to the Atlanta standard...

Confidence that the bonds would pass was expressed yesterday, not only by those who have been working for them, but by various persons who have been too absorbed in the county campaign to pay much attention to the Grady issue.

The only fear of the bond-workers now is that some of the greater Grady advocates will fail to vote. If every man in the city were for the new hospital, few defections at the polls would still be sufficient to kill it.

"There has only been one serious opponent of the Grady bonds," said Ivan E. Allen, vice chairman of the general committee, yesterday. "That is an opponent which every public improvement must have—indifference. It's the hardest opponent to overcome, because it is intangible."

"To pass, the Grady bonds must have two-thirds of the entire registered vote. The average election doesn't even bring out two-thirds of the registered vote. Remember, it doesn't mean two-thirds of the vote cast, but two-thirds of the registered vote."

"The bond boxes will be as close to the county boxes as we can get them. The law provides that they must be in a separate room, but that room would be far away. The voter will only have to take a step from the county box. He may be sure that those who are opposed to the bonds will take the step. If those who are in favor of them will take it also, the bonds for a greater Grady hospital will pass."

"My advice," he said, "would be to vote on the bonds first and the county election later. After all, we have a county election every two years, whereas this is only the second time in twenty-three years that the city has been asked to vote bonds for Grady. I don't suppose anyone will take this seriously, but it's a good scheme, anyhow. If everyone made it a point to do it, we wouldn't need to worry any more about the bonds not getting a full vote."

Except for indifference, the bond workers believe there is no serious opposition. There is, of course, the man who is chronically opposed to any kind of civic improvement and who usually reaps more benefit than anyone else from any improvement which is made. This type may be depended upon to vote against the Grady bonds. The bond workers are prepared for that.

DORSEY TO PROBE DEFENSE METHODS

C. W. Burke and Jimmie Wrenn Will Undergo a Severe Grilling by the Solicitor Today.

C. W. Burke and Jimmie Wrenn, the two private detectives attached to the counsel for Leo M. Frank, will appear before Judge Ben Hill this morning at the capitol when the hearing for a retrial will be resumed.

It is reported that the many charges of bribery and crooked operations made recently will be investigated by the grand jury when it goes into its next session, on the request of Solicitor Dorsey.

Dorsey neither denied nor corroborated this report. He refused to discuss it. He would not say, however, that he did not intend pushing such charges before the grand jury. He smiled when approached on the subject, saying:

"I have nothing to say. Please content yourself with awaiting developments."

Detective William J. Burns has left the city for Oklahoma. He stated on his departure, however, that he would return within ten days, or less, and that his investigation would continue during his absence under the supervision of Dan S. Lehon, who has been subpoenaed to appear before Judge Hill this morning.

Another charge of bribery has been made against operatives for the defense. J. S. Duffey, the witness who was put in jail under an attachment issued for Solicitor Dorsey by Judge Hill upon being released, made the affidavit he made for the defense, and declared that the statement he made on the witness stand was the truth. He has stated that he was bribed by investigators for Frank's counsel to tell the story which he told in the defense affidavit, and supplied Solicitor Dorsey with names of the alleged bribers. They will be forced to make explanations today when the hearing is resumed before Judge Hill.

Sensations are expected when Mr. Dorsey again takes up his counter showing against the defense retrial motion. It is stated that he has an amount of additional evidence which is to be submitted this morning, and that much of it is even more sensational than the evidence which has already been produced.

DIAMOND NECKLACE WORTH $2,000 LOST

Mrs. John D. Little Asks Police to Look for Valuable Piece of Jewelry.

Seeing grand opera two Atlanta women dearly. Mrs. John D. Little, of 760 Peachtree street, reported to Assistant Chief of Police Jett last night that on Wednesday night she had lost either at the Auditorium-Armory or on the street on her way to Gilmer street to her machine, or at the Capital City club, her diamond necklace, valued at $2,000.

The diamond, a large stone, was set in platinum and was suspended on a gold necklace. She offers a handsome reward for its recovery.

Mrs. J. L. Eichberg, of 417 Washington street, reported also last night that on Saturday night at the Auditorium she had lost a crown brooch, valued at $1,000. The brooch was set with nine diamonds, nine rubies and nine pearls. She is willing also to give a handsome reward for the recovery of her valuable brooch.

THREE TAX EQUALIZERS IN CHATTOOGA RESIGN

Lyerly, Ga., May 3.—(Special.)—Chattooga county's board of tax equalizers, appointed a few weeks ago in compliance with a new law, handed in their resignations to the county commissioners this week. The men who resigned from the position were J. V. Wheeler, W. G. Watson and C. N. Purley. The board did not appoint another board of equalizers, stating that it would take the matter up with the state tax commissioner and if he says there must be a board of tax equalizers this year, a new board will be appointed.

No reason was given by the board members for their resignations.

WORSHAM ELECTED CONSERVATION HEAD

State Entomologist Highly Honored at Meeting of Executive Committee of Congress Held in Chicago.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the National Conservation congress, held in Chicago, Friday and Saturday, E. Lee Worsham, state entomologist of Georgia, was elected president of the congress to succeed Charles Lathrop Pack, of Cleveland and Lakewood, N. J., a capitalist and scientific forester.

Mr. Pack was re-elected to the presidency of the national congress at its convention at Washington last November, but resigned because of business reasons.

The National Conservation congress, which was organized five years ago in Seattle, is an organization of organizations in all parts of the country, whose object is to promote the conservation of the natural resources, of human life and the promotion of business efficiency. It is one of the most representative bodies of the American people.

SUICIDE EPIDEMIC STRIKES ATLANTA

Twelve Attempts to End Life Made in Gate City by Those Weary of Living in Last Month.

During the last month there have been in the city of Atlanta 12 attempts on the part of men and women to commit suicide. This large number illustrates the truth in the contention of the medical world that suicides follow one another due to psychological causes, that one suicide will usually start a series of suicides.

Four of the attempts to suicide have proven fatal. The others, due to the excellent work of the Grady hospital physicians, and the dispatch with which they handled the cases, have been saved, some by a narrow escape.

A month ago a pretty 18-year-old girl, living on Trinity avenue, was the first to tire of this mortal burden and seek to end her life by poisoning the contents of a bottle of poison. This was her fourth attempt to "shuff off this mortal coil," and she failed for the fourth time, due to the quick action of the Grady physicians.

Dictator Willing to Quit on Condition That He Be Assured Safe Conduct to a Port and Be Placed on Board a Foreign Warship—Carranza Refuses to Agree to Armistice—Proposes to Push Fight on Huerta.

Vera Cruz, May 3.—Persistent reports continue to circulate here that General Huerta intends to retire from the provisional presidency of Mexico on condition that he be assured a safe-conduct to a port and be placed on board a foreign warship.

It is declared in some Mexican circles, in this city, that General Huerta was ready to resign a week ago, but was prevented by internal dissensions in his cabinet.

The resignation of Jose Lopez Portillo y Rojas, the foreign minister, coupled with reports that there is a growing undercurrent of feeling in Mexico City against the Huerta government, is interpreted here as foreshadowing a change in the situation in the federal capital.

MEDIATION PLANS ARE BEING PUSHED BY THREE ENVOYS

United States, Huerta and Carranza Are Expected to Name Delegates Within the Next Day or Two.

ARMISTICE IS REFUSED BY GENERAL CARRANZA

Rebel Chief Announces He Will Continue to Attack Huerta's Forces While the Mediators Work.

Washington, May 3.—The mediation plans of the South American envoys are accredited to the United States, the government does not wish to name a government official to deal with them, but to have an outsider who would deal with them without reference to their official relations to the United States.

The United States, the Huerta government and General Carranza are expected to name their delegates, as requested by the mediators last night, within the next day or two. The delegate for the United States has not yet been selected, but it became known today that it would not be one of the officials closely identified with the government.

As the three South American envoys are accredited to the United States, the government does not wish to name a government official to deal with them, but to have an outsider who would deal with them without reference to their official relations to the United States.

Robert L. Lansing, counselor of the state department, and in general all other government officials.

To the names of John Bassett Moore, John Lind and Henry White, already mentioned, are now added those of Richard Olney, former secretary of state; Dr. David Jayne Hill, former ambassador to Germany, and Hannu Taylor, former minister to Spain.

Francisco De La Barra, now Mexican minister at Paris, but nothing definite has been heard from Mexico City. Rafael Zubaran, personal representative of General Carranza, arrived here yesterday, and is available as the Mexican delegate, although his particular mission in coming from Carranza is still to be announced, and it is not yet definite that Carranza will go to the extent of naming a delegate to deal with the mediators.

To Take Up Crucial Issue. When the delegates of the three parties arrive, it is expected the mediators will be ready to take up the crucial issues between the United States and Carranza, at least, and, if possible, between Huerta and Carranza. Whether a plan of adjustment can be worked out is still an open question, even among the minds of the mediators. They expect the delegates from the three parties to assist them to get together on some middle ground.

It has been suggested that Carranza formulate a plan of settlement, as the delegates from the three parties will have no plenipotentiary powers apparent for several days that Carranza intended to push his army southward, but it was not until the last twenty-four hours that this was commuted to a truce. It is said that Carranza will have no effect on checking the general plans of mediation, which will go steadily forward.

Close associates of Carranza who have now arrived here say that no mediation between them and Huerta is possible and that any move on the part of Carranza to mediate to include in their progress a scheme for

WHO WILL SUCCEED THE DICTATOR?

Close observers here of the government's situation believe Senor Portillo's resignation may clear the way eventually for the appointment of a foreign minister, who, under the Mexican constitution, could succeed General Huerta as president. In these circles it is pointed out that while Venustiano Carranza declined to treat with General Huerta, he might consent to enter into negotiations with his successor and thus facilitate mediation.

Continued rebel successes in the north, and attacks on Tampico, may, in some opinions, bring about a change of policy.

The interior was reported quiet today. People arriving here from the capital said the populace was beginning to learn that General Huerta was deceiving them all the time by issuing false reports of federal successes over constitutionalists.

PREFER AMERICANS TO VILLA

News of the peaceful way in which Americans are occupying Vera Cruz, it is said, has spread to the capital, and has convinced the people there that the American invasion of the port is not for conquest or aggression. The capital's inhabitants fear the coming there of Francisco Villa more than that of the American troops, it is said.

Elements in Mexico City, which cling to the memory of the late President Francisco I. Madero, are reported to have been incensed by the arrest of deputies, who were cast into jail on the charges of conspiracy.

AMERICANS WARNED TO LEAVE CAPITAL

Mexico City, May 3.—Another warning was received today by the Brazilian minister from Consul William W. Canada, at Vera Cruz, who advised the remaining Americans in the federal capital to leave without delay in referring to this, the Brazilian minister said to the Associated Press.

"I met General Huerta casually this morning, and received from him repeated assurances that both he personally and his ministers would do everything possible to secure the safety and complete protection and comfort of the Americans remaining in this country."

"When I referred to the request I had made this morning to the department of foreign relations for a special train for Americans desiring to leave the federal capital, General Huerta immediately gave orders for the necessary arrangements to be made, and the train will leave the city for Coahuila at 6 o'clock tomorrow morning."

General Huerta informed me that the train would carry the requisite number of sleeping cars for the women and children of the party, and would run under the protection of the Brazilian flag, and in an adequate military escort to guard passengers.

"The Brazilian consul and vice consul will accompany the train on behalf of the Brazilian legation."

Rumors as to the ill-health of Provisional President Huerta apparently are unfounded as he took his usual walk in the Chapultepec park today, and later appeared in a prominent restaurant. He was cheered by the people on the streets.

Business interests are suffering from lack of mail facilities, and the British and Brazilian ministers have arranged with the war department for an emergency department.

It is said two or three Mexican delegates will be appointed to represent the Mexican government at the conference, and that their names will be announced shortly. The general feeling here in regard to the conference is pessimistic.

CASSASUS ORDERED TO WASHINGTON.
Mexico City, May 3.—Joquin D Cassasus former Mexican ambassador to the United States, was hurriedly ordered today to proceed to Washington from Carlsbad, where he has been taking the cure. The nature of his mission was not made public.

HATING AMERICANS BISHOP DROPS DEAD
Mexico City, May 3.—The Right Rev Manuel Rivera Roman Catholic bishop of Queretaro died suddenly today while driving in an auto American parade.

PRAYERS FOR PEACE URGED BY CARDINAL
Baltimore, May 3.—Cardinal Gibbons who yesterday telegraphed Archbishop Mora y del Rio of Mexico suggesting that the people under their charge be urged to pray for a peaceful outcome of the Mexican crisis today received the following reply:

"Thanks for the message of sympathy. Prayers are offered constantly to our Blessed Lord and barefoot pilgrimages are made to the Shrine of Guadalupe."

Cardinal Gibbons said in his telegram: "Your nation and mine ardently de-sure to avert the calamity of war and to preserve the relations of friendship and mutual respect which have hitherto united us.

ROME EDITOR LAUDS POLICY OF WILSON
Rome, May 3.—The Giornale D'Italia publishes a long editorial today couched in terms favorable to the course of the United States in Mexican situation. They may overthrow the statue of George Washington from its pedestal in Mexico, the paper says, but with out Washington there possibly would be no constitutional government in the world today and certainly none in Mexico. America stood for equal representation of the Latin republics at The Hague and she invited Mexico to the third peace conference there. No two men living have rendered greater personal service toward peace than President Wilson and Secretary Bryan."

MEXICANS LAY MINES IN INLET TO TAMPICO
Washington, May 3.—Reports to the navy department from Rear Admiral Mayo indicate that Mexican federals have mined the Panuco river, the inlet to the city of Tampico from the Gulf of Mexico.

The river is navigable to Tampico for only comparatively light draft vessels. Two weeks ago the scout cruiser Chester the gunboat Dolphin and one or two other American vessels were lying in front of Tampico in the river. The mines were ordered from the harbor to the gulf. This scarcely had been accomplished it is said before the Mexicans mined the river.

TRUCE IS REFUSED BY GEN. CARRANZA

Rebel Chief Notifies Mediators He Won't Agree to Armistice—Fight Against Huerta to Be Pushed.

El Paso Texas, May 3.—General Venustiano Carranza has formally declined the suggestion of the South American mediators that he cease hostilities against Huerta pending the outcome of the plan of mediation. His note sent to Washington yesterday was made public here today.

No importance is attached here to the report that the rebels and federals at Tampico are arranging a truce. It is assumed that if true the cessation of hostilities is for the purpose of burying the dead or removing the wounded.

Carranza's Telegram.
The text of General Carranza's telegram declining the armistice follows: "I have the honor to acknowledge the purpose of answering your respectful message regarding the armistice calling your attention to the fact that the international conflict with the United States was intentionally provoked by Huerta, and for the solution of this I hurriedly accepted, in principle only the good offices of Brazil, Argentina and Chile, which act independent of our internal strife for liberty and law, and I consider it inconvenient for the rebel cause that I represent to suspend the hostilities and military movements because said suspension would only accrue to the benefit of Huerta in the civil war now going on in Mexico between the American minister and the constitutional army under my command. The sovereign citizenship is in arms with all activity to re-establish as soon as possible the constitutional order which will produce peace.

By the virtue of the above I state to you I state that I cannot agree to the armistice which you propose. Carranza declared his action as one who has been acting with the determination of doing only what he considers best for the interests of his native country.

Arrieta Brothers Make Trouble.
General Carranza shortly after his arrival at Torreon next week expects to visit the city of Durango in the state of that name to establish a civil government. The Arrieta brothers, he said, has caused him much anxiety because of the dominance of the Arrieta brothers in Durango. Carranza said these men having recruited three or four thousand men announced their allegiance to Carranza and he said they have merely used the rebel banner as a cloak for looting and outrage.

At the battle of Aguascalientes General Villa assigned the brothers to a position forming a link to his lines around the city. The Arrieta brothers consented to their looting in Durango and declared they would fight only in that state. By their action Carranza said the Federal General Velasco had no difficulty in escaping when he evacuated the city.

For their disobedience General Villa ordered the brothers under arrest but the executive order was not carried out. Carranza said the brothers have required an army order it was not made effective. The Arrietas how ever, Carranza said, are now serving their services to Huerta but expect a change of heart before the war was ended.

They reopened negotiations with Carranza it is said agreeing to join in the general government in return to protect any civil government Carranza might install in the state. It is under the terms of this agreement that Carranza will make his trip.

PROTECTION SOUGHT BY THE OIL COMPANIES
Houston, Texas, May 3.—Oil companies operating in the Tampico, Mexico, field are particularly disturbed at a meeting for May 7 in New York to discuss steps to obtain protection for their holdings which have been threatened with destruction by war between the Mexican factions. Representatives of the oil companies are expected to be present at the meeting which will be international in character, according to Clark J. Clark, president of a New York firm dealing in oil well supplies in Mexico. Clark has been today in New York from Tampico to New York, he said the companies owned by Mexican capital would also be represented.

General information received in regard to the proposed meeting, said Mr. Clark, is that the oil companies appear to be taking such action as may be considered necessary to bring the situation before the United States government in its highest possible and as quickly as possible and ask for immediate protection by the government. Foreign companies in the Tampico field will take such steps as they deem best to induce the government to bring pressure to bear upon this country to insure immediate action upon the part of the United States. Should the United States refuse to act, then American companies will likely take the same steps to induce the United States to protect American interests in Mexico.

HUERTA GUARANTEES SAFETY TO DR. RYAN
Mexico City, May 3.—Dr. Edward Ryan, the American minister, has been elected to vacate a few days ago was to have arrived here yesterday, but until this country has not received the capital. The war department does not give any reason for the delay, but it is believed Dr. Ryan under a strong escort

Give "Snipers" "Ley Fuego" For Shooting Down a Girl On Streets of Vera Cruz

How American bluejackets gave a squad of Mexican snipers in Vera Cruz the "Ley Fuego" for shooting an American girl is graphically told by George Cason a Hartwell College of the New Hampshire and who was one of the gallant lads who wrote history with Rear Admiral Fletcher at the taking of Vera Cruz.

Ley Fuego is the Mexican fugitive law it permits the killing of fleeing prisoners.

According to Cason who was in the thick of all the fighting around and in Vera Cruz and who was one of the first to land while Old Glory was being strung to the breeches of the Mexican gulf over the customs house the American girl was being escorted to the dock when Mexican snipers fortified in houses along the route shot her down.

Snipers Made Prisoners.
Marines who were patrolling the streets dashed into the house from which the shot was fired. Cason writes that the snipers were boys and five or six were made prisoners.

Then the marines turned them loose and they started to run. When the Mexicans dashed off down the streets the marines opened fire and each one of the snipers fell.

Cason who got a first view of the landing of the American marines and who was in the thick of the fighting on the streets says bullets flew thick and fast.

While the street warfare in Vera Cruz was hottest the steamer City of Mexico was tied up at the wharf and her decks were crowded with American German and British refugees. Every now and then the snipers from the buildings would pour lead into the helpless passengers.

According to Cason one incident which will be long remembered by American and British bluejackets occurred while the Americans were landing reinforcements. A Mexican sailor was being taken ashore also a British sailor on His Majesty's ship Essex. One of the British marines was slightly wounded before a ship in one of the American lines covered the location of the hidden marksmen. As the boat neared the shore the American jacket cranked his rifle and the Mexican sailor was killed and the British sailor was his place of vantage. When the whale boat passed alongside the Britisher the tars cheered the jackets.

Fired on All Ships.
Young Cason relates a number of incidents in which Americans and foreigners fell victims of the Mexican snipers. He says that the Mexicans fired on all ships regardless of nationality and that it was only poor marksmanship that saved non combatant crews. Cason says that prior to the landing of the American forces Vera Cruz was in a state of chaos. He says that gambling houses flourished and that liquor flowed freely. He states that refugees in Vera Cruz left existing stores of flight from Mexico City to Vera Cruz.

At all stations they were threatened and insulted, he says, by mobs of enraged Mexicans and at one station they were taken out of trains but released by a federal officer. At some places along the line the tracks were torn up and they were forced to walk. At each of these places they were fired upon by Mexicans concealed along the road but few were hit. Most all the refugees leaving Mexican cities are leaving great fortunes behind them.

Young Cason writes further that the powerful searchlights on the battle front in the city were dimly lit and bullets flew in the darkest hours of the night had the effect of instilling fear in the souls of Mexican sharpshooters of life.

No place was safe for them. When ever the lights were focused on a squad and the signal was given to bomb the Prairie almost destroyed the lighting system of the city and we were forced to rely on the ship searchlights.

Heaviest Life Loss.
The heaviest loss of life occurred around the naval academy which was vigorously shelled by the Arkansas. Reports say that more than 200 Mexicans fell in the academy.

According to young Cason all American refugees have been taken care of and assisted by the American city.

Young Cason has been in the navy two years. He is 23 years old. He graduated in Georgia. He has seen service in the navy and has also acquired considerable experience as a gunner. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Cason of Hartwell, Ga. and a brother to Miss A. Cason of Atlanta who is connected with the Southern railway and who was also in the navy four years with Rear Admiral Evans. He was in Mexico about two years when the fleet was at target practice

UNITED STATES FLAGS TRAMPLED AND BURNED
Americans at Manzanillo Subjected to Many Insults by the Mexicans.

Washington, May 3.—American Consul Stadden of Manzanillo who arrived at San Diego Cal Friday aboard the German steamer Marie with 29 left today that Mexicans on the day of his departure had taken American flags from the consulate trampled and burned them. He and his fellow Americans had been given for eight hours today to collect their belongings from noon April 29. Adolf Steff, Norwegian consul at Manzanillo was forced to flee for his life and boarded the Marie as a refugee. The consul said he had not been for the good offices of the British and German consuls many Americans in the Colima district would have been slaughtered. Some Americans arrived at Manzanillo from the interior were forced to pay 1000 pesos each to the military authorities.

There are in the Guadalajara district 1500 Americans who are not able to get out and who surely will be mobbed the moment an American war vessel enters Manzanillo harbor which has been mined.

The federalists are prepared to abandon the town and blow up the Armaria bridge.

The proclamation forcing Americans out reads as follows:

The chief of a ms of the state of Colima orders that I communicate to you that there is ordered forty-eight hours from 12 o'clock today April 29 for all Americans to leave this district otherwise they become naturalized Mexicans.

REFUGEES CLAMOR FOR WAR
New Orleans, May 4.—The Ward line's Mexican with 4-12 refugees aboard reached portland tonight. Upon learning that war had not been declared with Mexico the refugees called a meeting for midnight at which resolutions criticising the present policy of the United States with regard to the Huerta regime will be presented. Among the refugees were many Cuban and persons men women and children.

NO PERIL TO AMERICANS IN THE MEXICAN CAPITAL
Washington, May 3.—The Brazilian minister at Mexico City representing the interests of the United States notified the state department today that 160 Americans have reached the Mexican capital from the city of Portorico. They express grateful thanks for the kind treatment and protection afforded them by General Obregon.

The minister reported that the Mexican government had promised as many as 200000 pesos to refugees who returned to America in Mexico City and that a number of them had already left.

Consul General (United) at Vera Cruz reported that eight refugees arrived from Mexico City. One of them was Howard Jones of Atlanta Ga. Consul General reported from Laredo that he has located the body of Porfirio Lavel and had permission from the federal authorities to take the body to Laredo to bring it to Texas for burial.

children who had been locked in Mexican prisons following the first attack by the Atlantic fleet on Vera Cruz.

Among the refugees was Dr. J. A. B. Hurd proprietor of a hotel at about near Mexico City. Dr. Hurd told of a narrow escape from arrest by Huerta soldiers of being hidden in the Dutch embassy at Mexico City and of finally being spirited aboard a refugee steamer at Vera Cruz where he arrived safely.

According to Dr. Hurd after the fighting at Vera Cruz a detachment of federal Mexican infantry was sent to seize his plant which was wanted for the manufacture of smokeless powder by the Huerta government while another detachment was sent to take him prisoner as the federal had no one available who understood the process of smokeless powder manufacture.

Dr. Hurd said his wife a Mexican woman of distinguished family and at the door of his home and detained by the federal while he escaped first to rear and that the later escaped and found him not however until the soldiers had threatened to assault his home. Mexican women who were killed by the soldiers who were on the ground at their failure to take the chemist.

W. F. WESLEY Makes His Last Appeal to the Voters of Fulton County

MY FELLOW CITIZENS AND VOTERS:
In making this, my last appeal to you for your vote on Tuesday, next, for Tax Receiver of Fulton County, I do so with a deep sense of what it means in asking you to honor me with your vote.

But I believe that the twenty-eight years of my life that has been spent in Fulton County, in honorable and upright living, entitles me to ask you to thus honor me. And more especially when I tell you that I have never held or asked for an office, either elective or appointive, before.

And while I am free to admit that it was a selfish motive that first prompted me to make an effort to secure the office of Tax Receiver, that I might better the conditions of myself and family, I have made the fight on the Salary System issue; and in event I should be elected, the people will receive a far greater benefit from my success than I will.

For it will mean a victory for the people for Lower Taxation in Fulton County.

And it will be a rebuke to T. M. Armistead, who is asking you to re-elect him as Tax Receiver, that he cannot defy and defeat the will of 85 per cent of the voters; and, in doing so, aid in burdening you with the highest taxation that has ever been in Fulton County.

You will also have an opportunity next Tuesday to teach another candidate a valuable lesson—W. H. Abbott, the Dodger candidate, who is running hand in hand with T. M. Armistead & Co. (only more deceptive); he is opposed to the Salary System, and is willing that you be burdened with high taxation that he may enjoy the Fifteen Thousand Dollars, through the Fee System, for serving you three months as Tax Receiver.

Mr. Taxpayer, there is but one question for you to decide before casting your ballot on Tuesday for Tax Receiver: Are you willing to be taxed to pay T. M. Armistead or W. H. Abbott Fifteen Thousand Dollars for serving you three months as Tax Receiver?

If not, cast your ballot for W. F. Wesley, who voted for the Salary System, and is willing to serve at the Four Thousand Dollars—the price fixed by the people.

And remember, in defeating Mr. Armistead you have retired him to a fortune that you have given him through many years in office.

And in defeating W. H. Abbott you have returned him to a splendid position that he has held for many, many years, at a handsome salary, with the Hon. Arnold Broyles.

And in electing me you will have done one a favor not so fortunate as either of them.

Thanks for your vote.

Respectfully,
W. F. WESLEY.

"ATLANTA SPIRIT" ON TRIAL
Tomorrow's election on the bond issue for Greater Grady hospital is a vital test of the Atlanta spirit.

The materialization of Greater Grady is a life and death matter to this community. Upon it hinges safeguarding the lives and conserving the efficiency of every man, woman and child of both races and of all stages in life.

Grady is our one municipal hospital. It should afford accommodations of the highest grade to every man woman and child with the right to demand service from a municipal hospital.

Atlanta has radically outgrown the institution in its every department. There is not bed room or other facilities for the citizens with a right to ask them.

This means that our fortress against disease and death breaks down at one of its most vital points. The doctors of Atlanta see this and have indorsed Greater Grady.

Business men property-owners real estate men see it and have indorsed Greater Grady. Club women.

Organized labor. Ministers of all denominations. All civic and philanthropic associations. Representative negro leaders.

Every element that makes conspicuously for progress and health in Atlanta are behind the movement for Greater Grady.

The principal and interest on the bonds for Grady will be more than cared for by the income from the pavements of the enlarged institution. In the end the taxpayers will be put to no expense. The proceeds of the issue will be supervised by a commission of representative citizens.

Under these conditions no citizen of Atlanta can afford, by apathy or opposition, to align himself with the forces of disease in Atlanta.

The Atlanta spirit expects every Atlantian to do his duty tomorrow.

THE WORLD FIGHTS DISEASE. Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo, whose department has jurisdiction over health matters as they touch other nations and our own nation asks congress for $100,000 to fight disease epidemics in Mexico.

Typus fever typhoid fever malaria and tropical diseases generally are epidemic in Mexico. It has been said on good authority that if it is necessary for the Americans to remain in Mexico for a considerable period, they will suffer heavy losses from communicable diseases.

Secretary McAdoo evidently is determined to do his share to avert any such catastrophe. Health is not a matter of local concern. No nation can sit to one side and plume itself on its low death rate with disregard for other nations. No nation can violate all the health rules and expect to maintain unbroken its commercial relations with the other nations.

The demand is first that each nation keep its own health house in order. The demand is next that each nation insist that its neighbor observe also the fundamental laws of sanitation and hygiene.

In other words the twentieth century gospel of hygiene is that each nation must contribute its share to the maintenance of the world's health, that no nation, whether wealthy or impoverished has the right to jeopardize the health of another nation that the prerequisite to doing business with the big council of nations is the observance of ordinary rules for the cure and prevention of disease and conditions that lead to disease.

The foregoing was illustrated when the various big trading nations notified the port of Guayaquil, in Ecuador, South America, a few months ago, that it must clean up or get out of the international circuit of trade.

Up to that time Guayaquil had been a notorious breeder and spreader of diseases reckless alike of its own health and the health of the nations represented by the many ships that came into its port. Now Guayaquil has hired a sanitary engineer of international reputation to come in and fit it for dealings with decent nations.

THEY TALK "ATLANTA." One of the notable assets of grand opera week to Atlanta is that annually it sends through the south a caravan of representative southerners who proclaim the advantages of this city. The mouth-to-mouth publicity that accrues to Atlanta from the thousands of representative men and women from every southern state is of immense advantage to the city.

More effective than printed publicity is the sort contained in impressions noted by the observant individual and carried on to others by personal touch stretching over months and years. Each year now for five years Atlanta has enjoyed this brand of publicity from the most representative people in the southern states.

Incidentally more publicity and publicity on a broader scale will come to Atlanta through the meeting of the Shriners due now in a few days. From this point of view alone whatever energies Atlanta puts forth are more than rewarded.

JUST FROM GEORGIA
Home From the Opry.
The opry folk have gone away—they've read the music riddle. An we are home ards bound today—back to the old time fiddle. An voices with no style at all old fashioned they are seemin. This gittin down to earth ag in s like wakin up from dreamin'.

WE think ag in the old home-latch—somehow with backward glance. An sang the old home songs once more an dance the old home dancin. But echoes of them opry songs around our pathway dancin. Seems like our souls are lost away—in higher regions flyin'.

Well play us now the old tunes that cheer the home folk still—The ones with power to lift us to Hallelujah Hill. Good mornin to the roses—vines to the home porch chugin—We rickel that all o' life a n't high class opry singin'.

Nuggets by the Wayside
The right sort o' chap wants neither Time nor Tide to wait for him. He keeps just a little ahead of both.

Funny that folks who worry about the sun's light dyin out keep umbrellas over their heads when it's shining its level best. If you climb high they'll say you're tryin to get out of the sun stay in the valley they'll remark that you havn't enough energy to flip a flapjack in a red hot fryingpan.

Folks see Good Times in their imagination. That's half the battle. The other half is in hitting hard licks to make their dreams come true.

NO EXCUSE FOR MALARIA. Sir William Wilcocks the English engineer who built the Assouan dam on the Nile river in Egypt told the National Drainage congress in Savannah and medical bodies elsewhere that there is no excuse for the malarial mosquito.

Sir William is right. The malarial mosquito can thrive only where drainage is imperfect. Along the Nile the mosquito that carries the infection the anopheles variety, was abundant. With the building of the Assouan dam the swamps were cleared and the mosquitoes disappeared, and with them the malaria.

What Wilcocks did in Egypt Gorgas did in Havana for the yellow fever mosquito and in Panama also. The malarial mosquito was likewise present in these regions and the army engineer put it to rout along with its brother the Stegomyia fasciata.

There is no district on earth plagued with malaria whether Georgia or Texas or Virginia that cannot be cleansed by the simple process of drainage. It may be urged that the expense atatched to such a process is prohibitive and that it is cheaper to leave these vast tracts of land uninhabited.

The argument is fallacious. Vast sections of land in every part of the world are useless because of malaria. Daily civilization is becoming more over crowded the demand for space and for land subject to ownership more acute.

To say that we will leave malaria ridden land idle because of the expense of fitting it for occupancy is to say that we are willing to abandon a gold mine because there is some cost attached to fitting it for the necessary machinery.

Human courage and human initiative are not yet willing to make these concessions. The malarial portions of the earth will be purged and brought under subjection and the job will be done within comparatively a short time.

A NEW "T. B." TREATMENT. Cables from Paris report that Henry Spahlinger a young Swiss biologist has discovered a new serum treatment for tuberculosis that many experts believe to be the most effective purely medical agent yet discovered. The details of the remedy were described to the Paris Academy of Medicine.

The dispatches are too meager to permit as yet of a competent opinion of the preparation. It is to be hoped the announcement from France is not the precursor to another Friedmann fiasco. The United States Europe for that matter has not yet recovered from the revision of feeling over the manner in which disease poverty and suffering were exploited by the young German charlatan. It is a safe assumption that while public and medical opinion will hold an open mind regarding the Spahlinger treatment it will require stern proof of efficacy before displaying any more credulity.

If Spahlinger or any other man devises anything even remotely approaching a specific for tuberculosis he will be destined to fortune and what is better to one of the highest places in history. Thus far serums vaccines and tuberculins have proved more or less a delusion or at least to be of conjugal value. Scientific opinion of the best order is today extremely dubious regarding the curative or immunizing value of tuberculin while some physicians hold it is positively harmful and a great many others are skeptical regarding the virtues of allied preparations.

The one positive thing medical science does know with regard to the treatment of tuberculosis is that fresh air judicious rest food and a dry atmosphere are the most reliable agents. We know beyond a quibble that these factors have cured and every day are curing tuberculosis. We do not know if other measures are entitled to rank higher than as doubtful adjuncts that some fresh discovery may wholly discredit.

Until science comes bringing final witness to the efficacy of a medical specific persons afflicted and their friends as well as the reputable physician should not be beguiled by florid promises and unsupported assertions.

HOME SWEET HOME
BY GEORGE FITCH
Author of "At Good Old Swank"
There are two kinds of homes in this country. There is the home to which we go every evening to groan over the month's bill, cuss the furnace complain about the toughness of the meat at dinner time and lay plans for escaping to the theater or some other abode of joy. And there is Home Sweet Home.

Most of us love our homes but conceal the fact with Spartan firmness. But we all love our Home Sweet Home. It is the home which we have lost or mislaid and on it we pour out all our sentiment and yearning.

Home Sweet Home is either a thousand miles or twenty years away. It usually isn't much of a home to begin with but after it recedes into the distance its owner begins to make improvements in it. He takes the draughts sphintery floors and lazy heating stovs out of it does away with the leaky roof and the cellar which has ambition to become a mill pond in the spring and dismisses the loose and flappy wall paper from his mind. Then he begins to add wings porticoes boudoirs galleries drawing rooms flying balconies and conservatories. He runs a mental vacuum cleaner through it taking out all the harsh words and quarrels which have stuck around for former times and fills it full of family love happiness hope affection and industry.

When all this is done he plants the garden of Eden around it paints it in luminous colors and then stands off and admires his work. After he has looked at it a while he breaks down and cries because the place in which he is now living has only fourteen rooms and silver plated plumbing.

John Howard Payne owned the first real Home Sweet Home in the city. He was the only man in which he is now living has only fourteen rooms and silver plated plumbing.

He had and he talked about it so much that every one began acquiring them. It is a great pleasure to have a Home Sweet Home. We could only be half as fond of our homes as we are of them later when they become our Home Sweet Homes we would enjoy life more and our families might possibly enjoy us.

Unspecialized Experience
By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS
Experience is the price of Success—to a large degree. So that the Employer asks for and demands workers who are equipped with Experience. But where the experience has so far exceeded the demand as not to serve his purpose the employer cares not for Experience.

Unspecialized Experience is doing more to encourage idleness and idleness than almost all other agents of destruction massed together. For of what value is Experience to you if you can't hit it up and have it drawing something to your credit? Experience you think or make a movement you accumulate experience—but if it isn't to a purpose, it becomes Unspecialized and useless. Therefor orderly thinking—systematically thinking and converting to action and to results the processes of your mind—that is travel toward Success.

Don't take a job merely because it is a job. It is bound to give you Experience but it may be unneeded thereon. Do not expect that may undo the valuable experience you may already have. Specialize your Experience—Make every hour of thinking and action in work to contribute to a large Experience—Experience of Experiences both connected and useful.

"Salute Old Glory."
The Stars and Stripes are passing by Her folds unfurl against the sky and grand. There is no flag can wave so high—salute Old Glory.

Stand with your cap within your hand. There is no flag can wave so high—salute Old Glory.

Our fathers led that it might wave. The blood we shed they freely gave. Earth never found a flag more brave—salute Old Glory.

Let men proclaim her might today. Our banner is the world today. Give all her Stars the Right of Way—salute Old Glory.

Let those who love in bars of white Its nest of blue its stars of night. Its red whose blood embodies might—salute Old Glory.

Salute The friendship's countessign. Strike colors here at freedom's shrine—salute Old Glory.

The Stars and Stripes a e passing by Salute her now or answer why. The Eagle screams from out the sky—salute Old Glory.

Let those refuse who dare to pay. The price that takes their peace away. Our call is that you must obey—salute Old Glory.

The Romyan Lass.
Then pour the red wine and fill up your glass. Well drink to the health of the Romyan Lass. There she goes dancing bare feet a glance. Little brown feet on the grass.

Quick the lads gather like flies to the honey. Who will deny they've the worth of their money? Golds none too good for the price of her dimes. The sight of her pretty bare feet as she dines.

Now it's you shall cross water. And you shall have luck. You'll win what you're after. If only you've a plank. You're in the ship for a Troublesome plank. The lads is false sir. You'd better take me."

Up fly the windows good dames lean to scold her. Little she heeds only chaffing the holder. Little she cares for the hearts she has broken. Smiles us for sale at the price of a token—So she goes dancing. But feet a glancing. Little brown feet on the grass.

Only a rhaps—The rhaps boards despise her. Toss her a coin when there's no one there. Only a rhaps—yet fill up your glass. Well drink to the health of the Romyan Lass. There she goes dancing bare feet a glance. Little brown feet on the grass.—Gertrude Knevels in The New York Sun.

The Robin.
When first the willow catkins show. And water elms put on a veil. Of golden glory and the flow. Of maple sap in trough or pail. We hear the robin's chirp and tinkle makes. The pulses leap the fancies throng. Then robin comes at dawn and wakes. And gladdens all the world with song. High on the cherry tree he tuns. Or in the long, sweet afternoons. Till sunset sings his soul away. Best bird and wise no idle praise. For long ago against his rest. Content he weaves diverse lays. Or toils at humble looms a behest. We crown him laureate of our woods. We welcome his returning wings. And dress to many a winsome lass. Where'er the vernal robin sings.—Benjamin S. Parker.

WHERE'S THE MANAGER? I'LL REPORT THIS BUM SERVICE TO HIM!

Lost in the Ozarks
The Market Ridge Philosopher writes of being lost in the Ozark mountains. He says: "In the Dalton Citizen. The rest of my days I hope to spend away out where everything is so nicely quiet and where the natives don't give a darn which way the wind blows—away back where the complexion are tanned like leather where they have stomachs that will digest chains where grammars are the only moving picture in the land where the cattle graze lazily on the grassy knobs where the hens cackle loudest where the ham gravy is reddest where the hon dog barks loudest and the squirrel goes so seriously through the bushes—where there where they call cart ridges kattidges and where they guarantee you a good quiet time."

When You Get Away Off
I
When you get away off From the city a wife Then you feel like saying This is the life. II Sweetest music I'm hearing. Cross the city a wife. Hear the rivers singing. Pead the valley's dreams.

Being a Boy Novadale
In an article on poor boys novadale The Kansas City Star quotes Mrs Tom Thompson as follows: They find that they were born neither in a log cabin nor a sod house but too often indeed under the glare of an electric light. They were omitted to wash their neck and ears brush their teeth shine their shoes from the earliest times of their recollection. They got no education by the light of a pine knot. They never had to cut their own bread and butter. They never had to wash their own clothes. They never got to spit any ralls nor trap any cones. Shucks! Everything that any good happens a long time ago. Let's go and get up a home talent show. Come on.

The Battle-Bird
When you hear the eagle's cry. It isn't because he's hit. He hears the war drums beat. An he wants to fight a bit. It's feathers shine along the line. When the storm's voice is heard. In stormy skies his feath' fine—The eagle battle bird.

The Billville Baner
Some of these fine days were going to get that Metropolitan Opera company to come to Billville if it's only for a fish frolic. There's no fear that they will put the meek ingbirds out of business for there are thousands of em singin in the blossoms and making day a night a thrilling dream of music. But we want a day with the singers who send your soul to wander before its time. Then bring it back to earth to wonder if the stars can match their music.

The High Hopper
Hi, Water Hoppergrass. De jumpin race you'll win. Brer Mockinbird want brakfast. An he sho will twitch you in. You better stop an study. Befo de time gone by. Jus a lot that's in trouble. Bekaze dey hop too high.

When first the willow catkins show. And water elms put on a veil. Of golden glory and the flow. Of maple sap in trough or pail. We hear the robin's chirp and tinkle makes. The pulses leap the fancies throng. Then robin comes at dawn and wakes. And gladdens all the world with song. High on the cherry tree he tuns. Or in the long, sweet afternoons. Till sunset sings his soul away. Best bird and wise no idle praise. For long ago against his rest. Content he weaves diverse lays. Or toils at humble looms a behest. We crown him laureate of our woods. We welcome his returning wings. And dress to many a winsome lass. Where'er the vernal robin sings.—Benjamin S. Parker.

Lost in the Ozarks
The Market Ridge Philosopher writes of being lost in the Ozark mountains. He says: "In the Dalton Citizen. The rest of my days I hope to spend away out where everything is so nicely quiet and where the natives don't give a darn which way the wind blows—away back where the complexion are tanned like leather where they have stomachs that will digest chains where grammars are the only moving picture in the land where the cattle graze lazily on the grassy knobs where the hens cackle loudest where the ham gravy is reddest where the hon dog barks loudest and the squirrel goes so seriously through the bushes—where there where they call cart ridges kattidges and where they guarantee you a good quiet time."

DAILY GRIST from the STATES POLITICAL GRIND

DIRECT DOUBLE DEALING CHARLIE TO HARDWICK BY AUGUSTA MAN
Augusta Ga May 3 (Special)—The political turmoil in Richmond county right now turns not to county city or state politics but to the United States senatorial race in that B. P. Picher superintendent of the county home who was for seventeen years superintendent of mail in Augusta and was kicked out of the Augusta postoffice by the republicans told today how the postoffice deal was put over by Congie sman Tom Hardwick.

A great many of Mr. Picher's friends—and they though his family connection all over the district are no few—have been expecting this expose for a week. It came today and that there will be an official foregone conclusion. Mr. Picher charged even up to the afternoon of last week that he had not fully made up his mind to whom he would give the Augusta postoffice. He had in his public declaration said that he would give it to Mr. Hardwick but he had not made up his mind and really knew and had a right to say so in so many words he made it so plain in his letter that it could be taken that he is drifting at all of the boxes of that faction of Augusta politics against whom such a relentless and bitter fight has been waged the last few years—the balance of power. But it was by another name. It is known that that faction put Colonel John W. Clark in the sheriff's office and has kept him there the past twelve years but refused to let him have any longer at the postoffice. He called upon to get somebody else a showing and that Colonel Clark has not been so much power among them as somebody has been making it appear in years gone by.

It is known that Colonel John Clark is a pretty close set bonnet. He went for years and that Colonel Clark has been in Washington on the postoffice matter two or three times—once just about ten months ago. There or it is known that Colonel Clark put it he taking his friends as long as three or four weeks ago that he was going to be postmaster and that he was a long months ago proposed the postoffice and new laws ago who would get the postoffice.

WAR SPIRIT TAKES NAP IN CONGRESS

Unless Something Breaks in Mexico, House and Senate Consider Subjects Less Spectacular Than Talk of Invasion.

Washington, May 3.—The war spirit is slumbering in congress and unless there are unexpected developments south of the Rio Grande during the present week both senate and house will turn attention to subjects less spectacular than talk of invasion and predictions of American conquest.

The senate promises to be busy during the week with debate on the bill to repeal the tolls exemption clause of the Panama canal act.

The senate foreign relations committee will take up for consideration Wednesday the convention of the conference of safety for life at sea held recently in London.

While the senate committee is on the convention, the house merchant and marine committee will continue its consideration of the seaman's bill, passed by the senate.

The house interstate commerce committee will take up the railway capitalization control bill, which reports this week the coast guard cutter and lighthouse services.

The rules committee is deferring action on the bill for congressional investigation of the cotton and grain exchanges pending the report of the committee on the Lever bill.

The committee on the water power rights on all navigable streams, which has been published in the house, will be held by the house public lands committee.

Shriners of Memphis Raise Big Fund for Atlanta Trip

O. K. HOUCK

Memphis, Tenn., May 3.—(Special)—O. K. Houck, chief rabbin and official money-getter of Al Chymia Temple, A. A. O. N. M. S. of Memphis, Tenn., has just wound up a brief but brilliant campaign for Al Chymia that will insure an invasion of Atlanta in force next month.

The rabbi, who has done duty at many imperial council meetings, is going to Atlanta with a band of fifty-two pieces in making the rights melodious and the patrol of thirty-two men are almost nightly being put through their paces, and from all appearances Al Chymia live wires will be in plentiful evidence at Atlanta when the clans gather with the help of enthusiastic Shriners.

Rabbi David Marx Preaches To Unitarians of Atlanta

'Holiness Unto the Lord' was the subject of the address of Rabbi David Marx, at the Womens club building Sunday morning, to the Atlanta Unitarians, where he brought out the thought that holiness unto the Lord and love of ones fellowman is the principle of true religion regardless of ones individual sect.

In his opening remarks Rabbi Marx called attention to the words of the prophet Jeremiah to the children of Israel in captivity, advising them that they seek the peace of the city in which they were held captive inasmuch as in the peace of that city their own peace was involved.

He stressed the importance of individual and civic holiness. The spirit of all religion is expressed he said, in these words:

'Be ye holy unto the Lord and love your fellowman' He pointed out that there is a physical holiness like that we attribute to places and certain days. The church is holy because it is used for holy purposes. Sunday is holy because it is set aside to the worship of God.

But more important he said is the spiritual holiness which marks a mans relationship to God. The reward for such reward is declared is neither present nor future reward. Man cannot contemplate with satisfaction the separation hereafter from the many friends with whom he associates here.

This holiness is rather the essential part of every true man, the divine spark within him. What Atlanta needs declared Rabbi Marx, is not only clean streets but civic holiness for men to be willing to work together in accordance with the religious principle of being holy and loving ones fellowman.

Macon, Ga., May 3.—(Special)—Burglars, believed to have been a man and a woman, entered the store of the S. H. For a short time you can still purchase the largest, most useful and most authoritative collection of up-to-date knowledge that has ever been issued in one work, at prices out of all proportion to the intrinsic value of its contents, and far less than you would pay for ordinary books in the book stores. Never before has it been possible to buy such a work for so little money.

It is, in fact, such a fine book that 60,000 people who have bought and paid for it keep telling us that it is a fine book, and all that we have said it was. In many cases they have acknowledged that what they have learned from it was worth more to them than it cost.

Every person of intelligence, any one who is ambitious to get on in the world, every head of a family—all, in fact, who appreciate sound learning and who like to own well printed and handsomely bound books should give heed to this opportunity and investigate it before the present low prices are advanced on May 28th.

The Book That "Corners" All Human Knowledge

The man who owns a set of this wonderful work of all human knowledge—the new Encyclopaedia Britannica—"the world put into a book"—may be said, in a very real sense, to have a "corner" on the knowledge of mankind, for if every other set of this work were destroyed it would be possible for him to reconstruct the human story from its 30,000 pages and 44,000,000 words of text.

Takes Up Very Little Space A Book Built for Service

This great repository of universal information is printed on thin but strong and opaque India paper—and is therefore very compact, so that in spite of the enormous quantity of reading matter the volumes are easy to consult, easy to handle, and very convenient to read merely for the sake of reading.

It Contains Something About Everything

It is not only the largest work of the kind, but it is the only work that deals adequately with the multifarious activities of the modern world. It contains something about absolutely everything—from the most abstruse speculations of philosophy to the manufacture of paper or the causes of the revolution in Mexico.

Supersedes All Other Works

No matter how many or what other books you may have, no matter what or how many other works of reference your library may contain, this work supersedes and displaces them all.

It is greater in authority, greater in comprehensiveness, more thorough in treatment, more convenient in use, more attractive in "get-up" than any other work of the kind. Yet the ease with which it may be paid for has brought it within the reach of the possessor of even the most modest income.

$5.00 Down Brings the Complete Set

You can get the whole set—29 magnificent volumes, with a bookcase—if you order at once, for a first payment of only $5.00, and you can pay the balance in almost any way you wish. We will make arrangements for you to pay up in 12 months or in 8 or in 4 months if you find it inconvenient to pay cash. Or, you may pay as little as $5.00 a month.

$1,500,000 to Edit and Write It Our Stock Will Soon Be Exhausted

More than a million and a half ($1,500,000) was expended merely to edit and write and illustrate and index the new Encyclopaedia Britannica, and make the maps and plates. The whole of its vast contents—41,000 articles, 44,000,000 words of text—was written and put into type, printed and bound and then sent to subscribers as one complete book.

The Reason for the Low Price

Because of this enormous literary expenditure and the much greater amount spent for manufacturing and publishing expenses, the publishers realized that the only way to recover the investment and make any profit was to offer the work at very low prices and on liberal terms, so as to attract a great many buyers quickly.

More than 60,000 sets have now been distributed at the low prices. It is the most successful book of our time, and the most desirable.

GEN. DANIEL E. SICKLES ANSWERS LAST CALL

Last of Gettysburg Commanders—Killed Barton Key for Ruining Mrs. Sickles.

New York, May 3.—General Daniel E. Sickles died at his home shortly after 9 o'clock tonight. His wife was at his bedside at the end.

Last of Great Commanders. General Daniel Edgar Sickles was the last of the great commanders who fought the battle of Gettysburg. For a decade he was a fighter by profession—all his life he was a fighter by nature.

The gruff old warrior, with one leg shot away in battle, his massive head resembling Bismarck's, was a picturesque figure as he hobbled along on crutches during the last half century of his turbulent life.

His indomitable fighting spirit remained to the last. Born in New York city in 1825, Sickles, at the age of 22, fought the Whigs as a Democrat in the New York legislature. At 28, he displayed his fighting spirit as a corporation attorney of New York. It was he who secured for his city "its great Central park." At this time his military career began as a major of the twelfth regiment, national guard, New York.

Before he was 32 years old, Major Sickles had served as secretary of legation at London under Minister James Buchanan; he had won a state senatorship through a bitter campaign; and he was senior in the thirty-fifth congress at Washington.

It was at this time that an event occurred which became the sensation of the day. Sickles had begun his second term as congressman in 1859 when the national capital was stirred by the news that the young representative from New York had shot and killed Philip Barton Key, the United States district attorney for the District of Columbia. Sickles declared that Key had misled Mrs. Sickles, who was Theresa Bagnoli, daughter of an Italian music teacher. The trial lasted 20 days, ending in the acquittal of Sickles on the ground of "unwritten law." He then took his erring wife back.

"I am not aware of any statute or code of morals," said Sickles to his critics, "which makes it infamous to forgive a woman. I can now see in the most universal dominion with which she is followed to my threshold, the misery and peril from which I have rescued the mother of my daughter. I shall strive to prove to all that an erring wife and mother may be forgiven."

THE DIED OF BROKEN HEART.

Mrs. Sickles died of a broken heart a few years later.

At the outbreak of the civil war, the young fighting politician, then 36 years old, went to Lincoln to offer his services.

"You have been a leader in New York democratic politics," said the president of the war, "and you are that game surely you'll do to take command of men in the field. Raise the regiment and be a brigadier-general in command."

Sickles raised the famous Excelsior brigade in New York, taking command of one of its regiments as colonel. Lincoln kept his word and in 1861 raised the regiment and promoted Sickles to brigadier-general. His fighting spirit early won him his spurs. On the battlefield he distinguished himself as a soldier and leader. At Chancellorsville he led a division. At Gettysburg he led the third corps, lost a leg, and became a national hero. At 47 years of age, he had risen from a colonel to major-general of volunteers.

After the war his fighting spirit led him to the Spanish war, and he became first brigadier and then major-general in the Spanish campaign. In 1898, when he was appointed minister to Spain by President Grant. At the outbreak of Spanish-Spanish war, his personality made him a dominating figure. Four years of brilliant fighting brought him the epithet of "The Yankee King of Spain." Here he contracted his second marriage with the beautiful and aristocratic senora Creagh. This romance was followed by estrangement which was to last more than a quarter century. In addition to this domestic trouble, came his interference in the marriage plans of his daughter to a penniless Spanish nobleman. Father and daughter separated by bitterness, the latter returned to the United States to die without reconciliation.

Returning alone to New York, General Sickles again entered politics. He served as sheriff of New York and at 67 he was re-elected to congress.

General Sickles' life drew to a close with frequent romantic situations. He faced bankruptcy proceeding in his last years, though he had early in life possessed a large share of his father's $3,000,000 estate, but his estranged wife and son came to his aid on several occasions.

His last days were spent at 23 Fifth avenue, New York, surrounded by varied and attended by his faithful negro servant.

EMBARGO ON ARMS IN STRIKE REGION

U. S. Troops to Confiscate All Arms and Ammunition. Major Holbrook Orders All the Saloons Closed.

Trinidad, Colo., May 3.—Major W. A. Holbrook, in command of federal troops in Colorado, today placed an embargo on the importation of arms or ammunition into the state. He announced that any arms shipped in violation of the order would be confiscated. The order applies to any arms and ammunition for the use of any person for any purpose whatever, except for the use of federal troops.

Major Holbrook sent a letter to Mayor W. P. Dunlavy, directing him to keep the Trinidad saloons closed until further orders.

Major Holbrook announced that tomorrow, which is payday for the mining companies and the strikers, he would provide troops as guards, and would not permit either the operators or the union to have armed men on duty when the men are paid off. The soldiers will accompany the paying officers to the several camps.

Coroner E. B. Sipe today received a telegram from John Schwager, Austrian-Hungarian consul in Denver, asking him for a list of all subjects of Austria-Hungary killed in strike battles. The coronary announced that the inquest over the men killed in the Forbes battle would be held early in the week.

Further negotiations regarding the disarmament of strikers tonight were believed to be in abeyance until the arrival of the eleven cavalry, expected early in the week. Several leaders of the United Mine Workers today conferred with Major Holbrook. It was said the order of disarmament had not been discussed.

Union officers today visited the site of the Ludlow tent colony to make plans for rebuilding the camp. The strikers have ordered martial and are ready to begin work as soon as formal permission from the army authorities is obtained.

John R. Lawson left for Indianapolis tonight to attend a meeting of the international executive board of the United Mine Workers of America.

After Rockefeller.

New York, May 3.—Despite the absence of John D. Rockefeller, Jr., at his country home in Pocantico Hills, picketing by the so-called Free Silence league, in protest against what it terms his policy in the Colorado mine strike situation, was continuing today in front of his downtown office and the Calvary Baptist church, which he attends. Red crosses were chalked in front of his home. The walk in front of the church, a Roman cross and a St. Andrew's cross were chalked. Detectives surmised that these were signs for the league's "mourners" to distinguish the buildings.

While the picketing was going on Marie Ganz, the Industrial Workers of the World-orator, who was arrested yesterday for making threats against Mr. Rockefeller, was arraigned in court on a charge of disorderly conduct. She was released on bail for examination tomorrow.

The woman's attorneys said they would insist that Mr. Rockefeller appear in person as a witness against her.

Mr. Rockefeller, 61, at Pocantico Hills, had requested the pastor, Dr. Cornelius Woolfkin, at the Calvary Baptist church, today to take charge of his Sunday school. Several of the "mourners" sat in the back of the church and detectives sat near them. Twenty-five uniformed police were held in the pastor's study.

Armed with a permit from the police commission, the Rev. William Gamble, of the Episcopal Church of Coyleville, N. Y., today stood on the sidewalk across the street from the Standard Oil building the memorial service he

Election Officials Charged With Fraud

New York, May 3.—Four election officials were arrested here today on indictments for alleged frauds in connection with the election of April 7, at which the voters of the state, according to the official canvass, elected Governor E. F. Dwyer.

District Attorney Whitman announced that he would carry his investigation into every district under his jurisdiction. Indications are that he has a conspiracy to stuff the ballot boxes in favor of the constitutional convention proposition. All the men arrested served in the sixth election district of the twelfth assembly district which contains the residence of Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany hall.

The statement given out at the district attorney's office called attention to this fact, but made no accusation against any party organization. Republican political circles, however, it was said the democrats favored the constitutional convention next year because they hoped a division of republican and progressive forces would enable them to control it. If the proposition failed the convention would not have been held.

When charges of fraud were made against today on the ground that the twelfth assembly district gave 2,705 affirmative votes and only 104 negative.

Three of the men under arrest are republicans and one a democrat. They are a Bill D. Berry, George Warden and Joseph Koch, all election inspectors, and Louis Bohl, a poll clerk.

It is said in all probability she will be floated sometime tomorrow.

ADVANCE IS FORBIDDEN TO AMERICAN SOLDIERS

Precautions at Vera Cruz Not to Bring on Battle With Huerta Forces.

Vera Cruz, May 3.—After yesterday's acute alarm all was quiet here today. Strict orders were issued today from headquarters for the American soldiers and marines in Vera Cruz and vicinity to remain in the same positions and not to advance or to bring on an encounter with the Mexican troops.

During the alarm, at the waterworks at El Tejar, detachments of marines and bluejackets were prepared for an immediate landing. Field guns were put into readiness for conveyance ashore, but at the last moment, when headquarters had established the fact that there was no need for assistance from the fleet, all orders were cancelled.

Official reports declare not a shot was fired, but other reports insist that shots were exchanged. The threat to take El Tejar is regarded here as having been made by one of the junior Mexican officers and not by General Gustavo Maas, himself.

Lieutenant William E. Zebic, of the Fourth infantry, with a corporal and some of his men, proceeded to the break in the railroad where it was torn up by the Mexican troops and was astonished to find a squad of Mexican infantry. They were friendly and informed the Americans that a troop train was en route and that the Mexicans it was said that in that direction the battle, if any, must progress. The Americans thanked the squad and returned to El Tejar. An American corporal with the party said he did not know how far back General Maas was now. How strong his forces were, except that there was a party of forty men, a few miles beyond the break in the line. Much smoke was seen from the railroad and it was deduced that the Mexicans were engaged in burning the ties and destroying the line.

Some vessels of the torpedo boat flotilla are leaving for the north and others are expected to follow shortly. Rear Admiral Badger is keeping in close touch with the situation at Tampico and the war was reported quiet there today.

The German liner Epiranga is preparing to sail for New Orleans, but intends to stop at intermediate points along the coast to pick up German refugees. Officially the German consul as the German consulate, disclaim any intention of an attempt to be made to land at Tampico the war refugees upon their arrival here brought about the seizure of the Vera Cruz customs house. Officially the German consul disclaims a lengthy period of inactivity, while awaiting the results of the pending mediation.

WASTE AND INEFFICIENCY vs. MODERN METHODS

COUNTY'S METHOD

The county's excavating is done by convicts with the pick and shovel. It costs the county, by this method, $19.50 per day to keep seven dirt wagons running.

By using steam shovels the county could excavate twice as much dirt for the same cost or less, and could use the convicts exclusively for paving streets and roads and building sewers. Where machinery can be used to better advantage than labor, machinery should be used. This would enable the county to produce the maximum of results with the labor at its command, in those lines of work where machinery cannot be used to advantage.

To the Voters of Fulton County

I am a candidate for County Commissioner.

ECONOMY, EFFICIENCY, HUMANE TREATMENT, MODERN METHODS—

These are the main planks in my platform.

Some of my opponents and their friends have circulated rumors that if elected I will vote for certain men for superintendent of the public works department of the county.

I take this occasion to say I will never vote for Mr. Shelby Smith for this position. With due respect to Mr. Smith, he is not an expert in road building, and I would no more, as a county commissioner, vote for a non-expert man for this position than I would, as an individual, engage a non-expert to give me medical attention.

In fairness to the voters, and with due respect to Captain T. J. Donaldson, I say that I will never vote for him for this position either. My reason is that Captain Donaldson permitted conditions to exist in the convict camps of Fulton county that were very wrong. Further, Captain Donaldson is not abreast of the times in the matter of modern machinery, his attitude being outspoken and well known.

I pledge the people, if I am elected, to turn the light of publicity on county affairs; to stop waste and increase efficiency; and to see that the convicts are treated like human beings.

Respectfully,
J. W. MADDOX

MADDOX'S METHOD

My excavating, as an excavating contractor, is done with a modern steam shovel. It costs me, by this method, $8.00 per day to keep seven dirt wagons running.

If I am elected county commissioner I will revolutionize the county public works department by equipping it with steam shovels and other modern machinery. These things have enabled me to increase the efficiency of my forces as a private contractor. They would do the same for the county, and my first act on the county board will be to propose and insist that the county buy machinery and put it to work. Give me your support, Mr. Taxpayer.

CRACKERS DRIVE MORE FROM MOUND

Crackers Drive More Off Mound; Doscher Steady

Score Four Runs in Opening Round—Renfer Checks Locals—King's Hitting a Feature—Score 4-2.

By Paul W. Treanor. Nashville, Tenn., May 3.—(Special.) Before crowd estimated at 9,000, Billy Smith's champion Crackers took the third game of the series here this afternoon by a score of 4 to 2.

Getting to Forestal for four hits, the Crackers pushed across four tallies, a sufficient number, as later events proved, to drag down the decision.

In the opening round, Renfer pitched with a single through third, and Morley Jennings doubled. After Ethel had grounded out, More to Hemingway, Kingchew hit first in the opening round for a total of four hits, the Crackers pushed across four tallies, a sufficient number, as later events proved, to drag down the decision.

Doscher in Form. Jack Doscher escaped to leave for the Crackers, and the box score indicates he will be performed in the fifth inning.

Jack Doscher escaped to leave for the Crackers, and the box score indicates he will be performed in the fifth inning. Jack loosened up a bit and Lindsay opened up with a double to left field.

Renfer, who pitched in the fourth, pitched a great game, allowing but three scattered hits, Rotten folding, principally by Jennings, who had him in the hole, but he emerged without a Cracker sinking his hooks in the plate.

Billy Smith, the Cracker pilot, was chased from the grounds in the eighth, when he objected to a decision by umpire, who ruled that a high ball which looked foul, which Ethel muffed, but Chestnut allowed him to go on.

Brilliant and sensational fielding by the Crackers featured throughout the game. King was the leading hitter with four hits out of five.

Crackers Home Tuesday, Play Three Home Series; Lookouts Will Be First

By Dick Jemison. Battered and bruised, but still in the ring, the crippled Crackers, champions of the Southern League, will return to their old balltown tomorrow morning to remain until May 17.

They will play eleven games on home soil before leaving their guns at a hostile foe in foreign clime. Reports from the Peachtree Athletic club, where the Crackers' hospital camp is kept, are encouraging and the three crimples installed there are mending rapidly that it is believed that on the teams return they will be able to get back into harness again.

Long Back. Tommy Long hopes that his finger is mending rapidly and that he'll be out there in left field trying it again tomorrow afternoon. Welches is still weak from the fever that he had and it is doubtful if he will be able to get back into the lineup. It will probably be the end of the week before he can return to the Crackers.

Munch, too, will be out several days. Billy planned to catch the youngster during Sunday's game at Milan and a moment later, when Holland singled through third, More was yanked and Munch substituted.

Doscher in Form. Jack Doscher escaped to leave for the Crackers, and the box score indicates he will be performed in the fifth inning. Jack loosened up a bit and Lindsay opened up with a double to left field.

Renfer, who pitched in the fourth, pitched a great game, allowing but three scattered hits, Rotten folding, principally by Jennings, who had him in the hole, but he emerged without a Cracker sinking his hooks in the plate.

TEXAN IS MURDERED BY HUERTA'S SOLDIERS

Laurel's Body Recovered From Grave Near Nuevo Laredo. Federalists Denied Execution.

Laredo, Texas, May 3.—The body of Porfirio Laurel, an American ranchman, who disappeared last November, was recovered today from a grave near Nuevo Laredo, Mexico.

Laurel had been arrested by Mexican federalists who persistently denied reports of his execution, and until the body was exhumed today the mystery of the Texan's absence was unexplained.

Recovery of the ranchman's body was made possible by the situation of Nuevo Laredo by the federalist Rebel officers commanding the constitutionalist forces, who, in order to keep the town, interposed no objection to the investigation of relatives and friends who requested the location of the grave. The body will be brought to the American side tomorrow for burial.

Laurel's son identified his father's body by a spectacle case and scraps of clothing in the grave, and measurements of the body collected with known measurements of the dead man.

Nothing definite was ever known of the whereabouts of Laurel's father by the federalists, unlike the case of Clemente Vergara which was instantly known by the federalists, and that Laurel's body had been found. A coincidence is that Laurel disappeared near the Mexican border, while Vergara was taken to Hidalgo after arrest by the federalists and buried there after being killed.

It was commonly rumored at the time Laurel disappeared that he had been taken to Nuevo Laredo and executed. Vergara's body was recovered secretly from the grave at Hidalgo, international attention and been made the subject of vigorous protests to the Mexican government.

U. S. TROOPS REPLACE GUARDSMEN OF TEXAS

Washington, May 3.—Secretary Garrison tonight ordered five companies of coast artillery to border patrol duty at Brownsville, Texas, to replace Texas militia now on duty there.

Secretary Garrison had suggested to Governor Colquitt, of Texas, that it would be desirable for state and federal troops to operate at the same points. It was understood Governor Colquitt would withdraw the state troops on the arrival of the artillery.

Brownsville, Texas, May 3.—Six hundred United States troops will, tomorrow, replace a regiment of the Texas national guard on patrol duty here, under an agreement between Secretary of War Garrison and Governor O. E. Colquitt.

The secretary thought it impracticable for two forces to operate in the same area. The national guard, however, is expected for the present to retain militia companies at Mercedes, San Benito and other small border points not touched by the federal troops.

Seven companies of coast defense artillery will comprise the new force to guard the Texas border. They include one company from Fort Morgan, Mobile, Ala.; two from New Orleans, La.; one from Fort Baranacas, Pensacola, Fla.; and one from Galveston, Texas. It is understood they will be equipped as infantrymen.

New Orleans, May 3.—Jackson barracks here were today deserted by United States military tenants, who entrained under rush orders from Washington, and started for the Mexican border to relieve state militia. Two companies—Ninetyth and One Hundred and Sixty-fourth coast artillery—in command of Major Samuel Kephart, and will be used as infantry in border duty. The orders to go to the front were received here this morning. Twenty men from Fort Crockett, Texas, will be detailed to man the barracks here.
