Three Men Had Been in Owls Club, and Cosby Had Just Been Suspended for Thirty Days and Ordered Out for Causing a Disturbance There.

Dashing at a reckless rate through the uptown section in a motor car, a police patrol filled with reserves from headquarters charged up to the curbstone at the entrance of the Owls' club at East Mitchell and South Pryor streets last night at 10 o'clock just in time to see three flashes of flame as three bullets hit one of two struggling men in the doorway.

Germany Is Once More Striking Back at Russia

MAP SHOWING HOW GERMANY IS STRIKING BACK AT RUSSIA.

How Germany is once more striking back at Russia is shown in the above map. A wedge has been driven between the northern and southern armies of the czar, and Warsaw once more appears as an objective of the Kaiser's forces. It is again the German strategic railways that are bearing in a rapid movement. Dispatches have indicated that a large portion of the forces that retreated from Warsaw and Ivangorod and other forces that abandoned the East Prussian frontier, were concentrated on the Posen front-

750 NEW MEMBERS JOIN THE Y. M. C. A.

Committees Are Entering Enthusiastically Into the Work and Are Confident of Success of the Canvass.

A total of 750 new members for the Young Men's Christian association have been secured as a result of the two days' campaign waged to date. This is more than half the number aimed at, which is 1,200. There have been secured 115 business memberships and 635 general memberships against the minimum figures set of 400 business memberships and 800 general memberships.

The canvassing committees are entering enthusiastically into the work and splendid reports were made at Thursday's noon luncheon. Following are the reports of the different committee captains on business memberships:

Reports of Committees. J. R. Bachman, 4; Frank M. Inman, 10; W. W. Orr, 12; H. M. Willet, 3; Alfred C. Newell, 9; Sam N. Evans, 4; R. C. Aiston, 10; Marion M. Jackson, 12; E. R. Black, 6. Total for the day, 75.

With the seventy business membership reports on Wednesday, this makes a total of 143 in this class. General Manager J. K. Orr, who presided at the luncheon, spoke briefly to the committeemen, and a more thorough and vigorous canvass was urged for Thursday afternoon and Friday morning.

She is a Grandmother at Age of Thirty-One

Athens, Ga., November 19.—(Special.) Mrs. R. S. Nash, of Rocky Creek district, in the adjacent county of Gwinnett, is a grandmother at the age of 31. It is claimed that she is the youngest woman in the state who had a grandchild. Her daughter married at 15 years; Mrs. Nash was about 15 when she married; the tiny granddaughter is a few days old only. Mrs. Nash was born and reared in the district of the county where she now resides.

Two Women Play Heroines As Fire Burns Down Home

Mrs. Jernigan Saves Life of Old Man, and Miss Sarah McGlinn Calms Patients in Threatened Sanitarium.

Two women played dramatic roles in a fire that practically destroyed the home of Mrs. Nellie Jernigan at 57 East Fair street last night shortly after 10 o'clock and, for a while, imperiled Dr. Noble's sanitarium, which adjoined the burning structure.

In the hospital, Miss Sarah McGlinn, head night nurse, awakened by the falling timber, ran from ward to ward, quelling frightened patients, some of whom were trying to stumble from their beds for fear that the crimson glow of the flames meant the burning of their own building.

Snowfall Drives Pedestrians Home

Rain, Snow, Cold and Stiff Gale Make Thursday Night a Most Uncomfortable One.

The first snowfall of the year at midnight Thursday transformed downtown Peachtree into a living replica of magazine frontispieces of Broadway on a moist and windy night. While frosty flakes fell fitfully, only to melt almost as soon as they hit the ground, shivering pedestrians hurried indoors.

Because Thursday had dawned bright and clear and moderately warm in view of the preceding days of cold weather, none of the snow found a resting spot. It melted as fast as it fell. It was preceded by a slight drizzle that dampened the street and made the snow melt all the quicker. A stiff and lasted throughout the night.

Great Battle Being Fought By Germans and Russians Will Greatly Affect War

MARCH OF VILLA ON MEXICO CITY PROVES TRIUMPH

Garrisons All Along the Route Are Incorporating Themselves With Army of the Fighting General. STATEMENT IS MADE BY GENERAL CARRANZA

He Again Announces Conditions on Which He Will Yield—Villa Expected to Take Capital Without Difficulty.

Washington, November 19.—Villa's march on Mexico City continues unobstructed, according to telegrams today from American consular agents accompanying him. Two thousand Carranza troops changed their allegiance on the arrival of the Villa advance at Leon, the dispatch said, and garrisons all along the line are incorporating themselves in the Villa columns.

The American agents predict that Villa will reach Mexico City without difficulty. His army, they say, is well equipped and is moving with scientific precision. From Carranza sources, however, it is declared Villa will clash in a few days with the troops of General Obregon and Gonzalez, south of Irapuato and near Queretaro.

Position of Carranza. Rafael Zubizarain Capmany, Washington representative of Carranza, tonight gave out the following telegram from Carranza, dated yesterday at Cordoba: "That you may be clearly informed as to actual conditions and be in a position to deny all false rumors, I wish to place in your hands all the information regarding the situation here, giving you the conditions on which I was willing to resign as I expressed to the general command of the army. These points were: I will surrender the power in my hands to any person whom the general command of the army should designate. General Carranza shall deliver the actual command of his forces to the administration in the territory controlled by the general command of the army. Myself shall both leave the country and meet in Havana on November 25. Carranza shall have the right to select a president for the entire pre-constitutional period. Carranza shall deliver the command of the troops under them to the newly appointed president. On November 25, Carranza shall resign as chief of the constitutional army."

Acceptance Alleged. "To these propositions General Carranza has agreed and has been accepted in full at Aguas Calientes. In effecting the resignation of Carranza, we were to leave the country, the former to surrender the command of the division of the army to the general command of the constitutional army as well as the executive power of the state. Carranza has not only accepted these propositions, but he has also selected the pre-constitutional president of Mexico.

The main object of my trip to the south of Mexico has been to visit the state of Vera Cruz. I have been able to obtain personally the state of public opinion, which I have found to be favorable to the constitutional army. I have arranged in a dignified manner the American evacuation of Vera Cruz. My duty is to make every possible concession compatible with my duty as a citizen, as representative of the revolution and as first chief in charge of the constitutional army. The majority of the chiefs remained loyal and continued to remain loyal to the constitution. For this reason it is false that they have abandoned their first attitude and now desire that I leave the country.

Evacuation of Vera Cruz. "In regard to the protest the Villalistas have made in regard to the early evacuation of Vera Cruz I am not in a position to know anything about it. Such a protest would only show a lack of honor and patriotism on their part and my feelings lead me to defend the rights of the Mexican citizen would harbor such an intention."

Deserter Shot on American Soil. Naco, Ariz., November 19.—Soldiers of the Carranza garrison at Naco, Sonora, fired five bullets into Luisiana Perez, a deserter, today after he had crossed the American boundary in an effort to escape further service as a soldier. He was seriously wounded, and was treated by American soldiers. Maytorena, four miles from Naco, was seriously wounded today, but seemed to have drawn the greater part of his forces further away from the town. General.

Record Snow For November. Bristol, Va.—Tenn., November 19.—What is said to be a record snow for November 19 in Bristol, and the first of the season, started falling tonight at 9 o'clock and at midnight had fallen to a depth of over 2 inches, with no let-up in sight.

ARTILLERY DUEL RAGING ON THE WESTERN FRONT

Attack by the Germans on Tracy-le-Val, About 80 Miles From Paris, Repulsed With Heavy Loss. Paris Reports Germans Seem to Be Weakening.

London, November 19.—Public interest now is centered in the battle of the Russians and Germans between the Vistula and Warta rivers, in Poland, for it is believed the outcome there will have a marked effect on the operations elsewhere and on the duration of the war.

Both German and Russian headquarters are very sparing with information. All that is definitely known is that the Russian advance guard, consisting largely of cavalry, which advanced right on to the German frontier after the battle at Warsaw, met superior forces and has fallen back more than half the distance covered in the advance.

GERMANS MASS STRONG FORCES. The Germans are sending strong forces into the country between the two rivers where the battle must be fought, hoping that in this confined area the Russians will not be able to deploy their enormous armies to advantage. The Russians, however, now can choose their own ground for the battle, and it is probable they will select it as far as possible from the German lines of communication.

ARTILLERY FIGHT ON WEST FRONT. In Flanders and France, the battle which has been going on for thirty-five days has again developed into an artillery duel. This doubtless is due to inability of the infantry on either side to operate successfully over the muddy ground, and to the extended front between the coast and Dixmude. While they are moving men eastward to oppose the Russians, the Germans are reported to be bringing more troops to the western front.

GRIP OF GERMANS SEEMS TO HOLD. Refugees from Flanders speak of an intense state of despair. Continuous cannonading and endless processions of the wounded. The French and British are reported to have captured a small Belgian town.

Paris reports that the hopes of the allies are again rising; that they believe the Germans are fast weakening, but there was no tangible evidence to indicate that the grip of the Germans

Belgian army and France was being shaken loose. The allied warships are still off the coast, hurling shells inland when opportunity offers. The Belgian army remains in the region where the floods have been the worst, and some dispatches say that in certain places they have been fighting from small boats.

LONG-RANGE DUEL IN BLACK SEA.

Russian and Turkish squadrons have met in a long distance duel off Goeben and both claim victory. The Russian report says the Turkish cruiser Goeben was damaged, while the Turks claim a Russian battleship suffered serious damage and that the other Russian warships fled.

FRENCH WIN AT TRACY-LE-VAL.

Paris, November 19.—The official communication issued by the French war office at 11 o'clock tonight says: "The day has been particularly calm. There is nothing to report."

GERMANS CHARGE TO POOL RUSSIANS.

Petrograd Says Advance of Kaiser's Forces in West Poland Is Move to Draw Russians From Cracow.

Petrograd, November 19.—(Via London.)—The German advance in considerable force against the Russian army on the west bank of the River Vistula, is regarded by Russian military observers as a feint at the city of Warsaw, the intention of which is to draw Russian troops from the advancing front.

HOW RUSSIANS PLAN ADVANCE IN BERLIN.

The Hague, November 19.—(Via London.)—A Russian staff officer, passing through here, has this to say as to the cause of the present German success in Poland.

KAISER STAKES ALL ON BATTLE IN POLAND.

London, November 19.—The Post's Petrograd correspondent says: "The Kaiser has staked his all on the great battle in Poland. He has brought his finest troops from France, borrowed from the United States the Hunnische Horse, depleted his garrisons by moving his guns wherever possible and now strikes for victory."

JAPANESE HOLDINGS OF CALIFORNIA LAND
 Sacramento, Cal., November 12.—Japanese holdings in California land, a year and a half after the passage of the state's alien land law which excited diplomats of two nations, are set forth in a report made today by the statistician of the state board of agriculture. The Japanese own 231 farms in the state, comprising 12,725 acres and valued at $600,000. Leases, which are permitted under the law, amount to 17,000 acres.

The Japanese also own 218 town lots valued at $235,675; they have 2,548 places of business, with over $4,000,000 of capital invested in them, and on this capital do business amounting to $16,000,000 yearly. They pay nearly $1,000,000 a year rent for business places. Japanese renters on share basis are not tabulated in the report.

WOODWARD WINS FIGHT ON TURNER
 Increase in Salary and Ordinance Creating Office of Consulting Engineer Turned Down by Aldermen.

Supporters of Mayor James G. Woodward, after meeting severe reverses at the hands of the general council Monday afternoon, mustered surprising strength in the aldermanic board Thursday and regained lost ground by defeating several anti-Woodward measures.

Among the measures defeated by the mayor's friends was the resolution proposing a salary increase of from $1,800 to $2,400 for City Electrician R. C. Turner.

Another measure defeated was the ordinance creating the office of consulting engineer at a salary of $2,400 per annum. This law was framed to retain Captain R. M. Clayton, city engineer, in office after the expiration of his term.

Alderman Nutting Consents.
 Alderman Nutting, author of the ordinance and one of the most active workers in behalf of Captain Clayton, consented to the aldermanic board reversing council's favorable action. Alderman Nutting will offer a new ordinance at the next meeting of the general council. The ordinance will be introduced with a view of getting the mayor's consent for its adoption.

After the board adopted the resolution authorizing Mayor Woodward, the chairman of the finance committee (Councilman Humphrey) and Comptroller Goldsmith to administer the finances of the city for the balance of the year, Alderman Thomson gave notice of his intention to move for a reconsideration of the action of the board at the next meeting.

Alderman Thomson's action will have the effect of delaying the resolution for two weeks, at least.

Alderman John S. Candler, who took the floor on Monday to advocate the salary increase of the city electrician, again made a plea Thursday for the adoption of the salary committee's resolution which provided for the raise. Alderman Candler was fortified in his argument with a copy of the salary report of 1913, which provided a raise for the city electrician. He told the aldermanic board that he did not oppose the increase last year, as was charged by Mayor Woodward, and offered the report, under his signature, in refutation of the statements made by the mayor.

Vote on Measure.
 The board voted 5 against 4 concurring in council's action. Council voted almost unanimously against the mayor and approved the proposed increase.

The votes recorded against the mayor were Alderman Candler, Owens, Thomson and Nutting. The votes in favor of sustaining the mayor were Aldermen Armistead, Kelley, McDonald, Seawright and Ragsdale.

Alderman Maddox was absent. Aldermen Candler and Nutting joined the forces of Mayor Woodward in support of the resolution taking the finances of the city out of the hands of the general council for the remainder of the year. The only three votes recorded against the measure were the votes of Aldermen Thomson, Owens and Ragsdale.

The purpose of the resolution is to provide a system by which it will be possible to arrange funds so that the construction gangs of the city can be kept at work. The assistant construction chief recently informed the mayor and the street committee that an additional $9,000 would be needed for street work to keep the gangs of laborers, teams and stockade prisoners at work. Mayor Woodward and the finance committee decided on the resolution placing the finances of the city in the hands of the finance committee, comptroller and executive department as the remedy.

Thomson Opposes Measure.
 Council approved the resolution, but it was tabled at the last meeting of the aldermanic board because of the opposition of Alderman Thomson. He took the position that council should retain control of the finances until after the first meeting in December, at which time it is customary to turn over authority to the mayor and the finance committee.

The city gangs are still at work with the teams and the stockade prisoners, but only through the aid of certain citizens who have agreed to advance their pro rata of street improvements just as soon as the gangs are put on their particular thoroughfares.

The resolution appropriating $75 to defray the expenses of City Health Officer Dr. J. P. Kennedy to Jacksonville, to attend a meeting of the medical association, was adopted. Aldermen Candler and Ragsdale opposed the measure. The board voted to pay Philip Welter $100 for services rendered the industrial commission in gathering statistics upon which a report was based. The statistics covered the number of persons at work in Atlanta and a survey of conditions brought about by the so-called depression in business.

Remains of Great British Field Marshal Interred in St. Paul's—Thousands in Rain to Pay Last Honors.

London, November 12.—The body of Field Marshal Lord Roberts, borne on a gun carriage, moved slowly through the streets of London today to its last resting place in St. Paul's cathedral. The streets were lined with troops, while hundreds of thousands of civilians stood with bared heads in a cold rain as the funeral cortege went by.

The cortege reached St. Paul's at noon where funeral services were held before a reverent throng, including King George. The body will be interred alongside the remains of Wellington, Nelson, Wolsley and other famous Britons.

Lord Roberts died from natural causes last week at the headquarters of the British army in France. He was 82 years of age. The body was returned to England yesterday and last night it lay in his residence at Ascot, where brief services, attended by Lady Roberts and her daughters, were held. This morning the coffin was brought to London for public funeral.

It is recalled today that just twenty-six years ago the body of the Duke of Wellington was interred in St. Paul's cathedral.

Lord Kitchener, secretary of war; Admiral Lord Charles Beresford, Lord Grenfell, Admiral Sir E. H. Seymour, Sir Evelyn Wood and other prominent British and army officers followed the casket through the streets of the city.

King George was not in the procession. He drove from Buckingham palace direct to the cathedral, which he reached shortly before the flag-draped coffin was lowered into the earth.

India Troops in Place of Honor.

Proceeding the caisson was a battery of Indian artillery, given this place of honor because of Lord Roberts' lifelong devotion to the king's Indian troops. His final visit to France was for the purpose of welcoming the Indian contingents and looking after their needs. Tall sikhs, their turbans wound with khaki and with the regulation khaki greatcoats over their picturesque costumes, led the white mules of their battery burdened with unlimbered guns, and Indian officers, wrapped in their khaki capes, paid silent tribute to their departed friend.

King George met at the cathedral and eight other officers rode beside the caisson carrying the insignia of the field marshal. While a group walked behind leading the former chieftain's horse.

It required more than an hour for the military escort to pass. The three bridges over the Thames commanding the route of march along the Victoria embankment were massed with crowds, but it was with great difficulty that they could see the procession in the avenue below because of the rain and heavy fog. The silent soldiery passed by enveloped in a mist which seemed to intensify the solemnity of their mission.

The pipers of the London Scottish, followed by a battalion of that organization, led the procession in which the guards and battalions of royal regiments preceded the Indian battery. After the caisson came the carriages of the mourners and the caisson, then a battery of the Royal Horse artillery, while three battalions of cavalry, all in field

TURKEY EXPECTED TO MAKE APOLOGY
 For Shots Fired at Tennessee's Launch—Officials at Washington Believe Shots Were Friendly Warning.

Washington, November 12.—President Wilson tonight summoned Secretary of the Navy Daniels and Acting Secretary of State Lansing to learn if there had been any word from Turkey shedding any light on the firing by Turkish land forces on the American cruiser Tennessee's launch at Smyrna, Asia Minor. He was told neither cables nor wireless had yielded information.

The European war has virtually paralyzed cable communication to Asia Minor, and such messages as seep through come by round-about routes and about five days late. If there is any delay in news of the incident it is probable the American government will ask the British admiralty for the courtesy of its wireless in the Mediterranean to reach the American ships.

The president and cabinet assume that shots fired at the American launch were a friendly warning, giving customary notice that the port was mined and closed.

Even if the shots were fired with hostile intent, Washington believes, the Ottoman government would render prompt apology for unauthorized acts of subordinate officials. In no quarter here is the incident regarded as serious.

When tonight's conference ended, Secretary Daniels and Mr. Lansing said no further inquiries had been directed to the American cruisers or the American ambassador at Constantinople, the talk being largely a detailed review of previous messages covering the general situation in Turkey and Asia Minor.

MARCH OF VILLA ON MEXICO CITY

Another Mexican was shot last night while on the American side of the border. He was shot by seven persons who were wounded by stray bullets. Nine were American cavalrymen on border duty, two of whom were killed. The other seven were civilians, and the remainder Mexican men and women refugees. One woman died of wounds yesterday.

CATHOLIC PRIESTS REPORTED EXECUTED.
 El Paso, Texas, November 12.—A military bulletin from Guadaluajara received here today said that four Roman Catholic priests had been executed by order of General Joaquin Amara, military governor in the state of Michoacan, land where the army were American civilians, and the remainder Mexican men and women refugees. One woman died of wounds yesterday.

VERA CRUZ PEOPLE SHOW APPREHENSION.
 Vera Cruz, November 12.—Apprehension among the residents of Vera Cruz becomes more marked as the date draws near for the American evacuation of the city. The evacuation by the constitutionalists. Two hundred refugees today telegraphed President Wilson for aid. Some of them would be wealthy. Their vested interests could be realized upon.

The Spanish consul reports that seven textile mills, valued at $5,000,000 pesos, have been looted and burned near Puebla.

ANTI-PROHI REPORT TO MUNICIPAL LEAGUE
 Baltimore, November 12.—At the convention of the National Municipal league today the committee on the liquor problem reported against prohibition.

"In this country," the report said, "there appears to be a recrudescence of prohibition movement. This is not the true solution of the liquor problem and the action, from time to time, of particular states is not likely to leave any permanent impression."

The committee on municipal courts figured largely in the choice of judges by popular vote and recommended appointment by council or by a chief judicial council to be elected in the regular way.

Other reports will be given on the committee reports until after this week.

President-General U. D. C. Honored by Atlanta Women

Mrs. Daisy McLaurin Stevens, of Mississippi, president general of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, was the distinguished guest yesterday of the Atlanta chapter, and her brief visit was the occasion for two beautiful entertainments in her honor.

At noon the officers of the Uncle Remus Memorial association entertained at luncheon at the Sign of the Wren's Nest, and in the afternoon, Atlanta Chapter, U. D. C., gave a large reception at the Capital City club.

The reception given by Atlanta Chapter, U. D. C. for Mrs. Stevens, at the Capital City club, was an elaborate and beautiful occasion.

The company of several hundred included the members of Atlanta Chapter, the regents of the Atlanta Chapter, D. A. R., the president and ex-presidents of the Woman's club, the officers of the City Federation of the state regent, D. A. R., Mrs. E. C. Park, state registrar, Miss Mary Butt Griffith state president, Children of the Confederacy, and in the receiving party besides the acting president, Mrs. T. T. Stevens, and the pages to the president, Mrs. Slaughter Scales and Miss Annie Belle Stubbs, of Mississippi, were the members of the executive board and ex-presidents of the Atlanta chapter.

At the Sign of the Wren's Nest the luncheon party numbered twenty. The hostesses were the officers of the association—Mrs. A. McD. Wilson, Mrs. E. L. Connelly, Mrs. T. T. Stevens, Mrs. J. G. Hastings, Mrs. Fred Stewart, and Mrs. F. P. Helmer, and the guests invited to meet Mrs. Stevens were Mrs. J. G. Hastings, Mrs. Fred Stewart, Mrs. C. Leigh president of the Chicago Chapter, U. D. C., Mrs. T. C. Parker of Macon, regent for Georgia, Mrs. D. A. R. Mrs. Slaughter Scales and Miss Annie Belle Stubbs, of Mississippi, pages to Mrs. Stevens, and other distinguished guests.

The house had artistic decorations in late roses and ferns, and the buffet table was set with pink, white and blue. The hostesses were the officers of the association—Mrs. A. McD. Wilson, Mrs. E. L. Connelly, Mrs. T. T. Stevens, Mrs. J. G. Hastings, Mrs. Fred Stewart, and Mrs. F. P. Helmer, and the guests invited to meet Mrs. Stevens were Mrs. J. G. Hastings, Mrs. Fred Stewart, Mrs. C. Leigh president of the Chicago Chapter, U. D. C., Mrs. T. C. Parker of Macon, regent for Georgia, Mrs. D. A. R. Mrs. Slaughter Scales and Miss Annie Belle Stubbs, of Mississippi, pages to Mrs. Stevens, and other distinguished guests.

The occasion was one of enjoyable informality and while it was a pretty compliment to Mrs. Stevens, it gave her also the opportunity she had longed for to see the home of Uncle Remus, and do honor to his memory.

W. M. SLATON PLEASED WITH WORK OF SCHOOLS

Superintendent William M. Slaton, of the Atlanta public schools, has for the last several days been making a round tour of the schools, and stated Thursday in this connection:

I am very much pleased with the general work of the schools at this time. The teachers are in splendid spirit and the pupils are governed by excellent discipline. Atlanta has good cause to be proud of her schools.

Mr. Slaton said that during the last seven years the number of pupils had increased from 17,938 to 25,000 and that there was an increase in the number of 1,000 pupils. The schools in 1907 also had 325 teachers, while now 600 are required.

Columbia December Records ON SALE TODAY

Our December list of Columbia Double Disc Records is fully up to the high standard of previous months, and follows the established Columbia custom of recording the right things and doing it first:

- Emmy Destinn records a splendid double number from "Der Freischutz"—a striking example of perfected vocal art.
- Mogan Kingston scores again with the ever-green, "Then You'll Remember Me," coupled with Lohengrin's narrative.
- Miles Bracewell in two superb bass solos.
- New Dances—Eight of them, on four double disc records.
- Song Hits for December: "The Land of My Best Girl," "Where the Red, Red Roses Grow," "Along Came Ruth," "You're the Same Old Girl," "After the Roses Have Faded Away," "Come Back to Me," "Along the Youkon Trail," "Let Bygones Be Bygones." Good ones, all, and right up to the minute.
- "The Girl From Utah." Both the vocal and instrumental hits from Broadway's newest and most popular musical comedy.
- "It's a Long, Long Way to Tipperary." Three records of the most popular hit of the decade—vocal, instrumental (one-step), instrumental (march).
- Special Children's Records—Six new Christmas specials, designed especially to amuse the very little folk.

Call today and hear the new records. If you don't get the Columbia supplement you miss the best in music. Mailed each 19th on application. Columbia Records play on any Disc Machine, Columbia or Victor.

100 New Serge Dresses $11.95

In 10 of the Smartest, Most Likable Styles We Have Ever Seen, at . . . . . $11.95

Ordinarily They Would Be $18.50, $20.00 and $25.00

It Makes an Interesting Story the Way This Maker Turned His Serges Into NEW Styles and Sold Them at a Price That Averages Near Half

It is not hard to understand why the maker of these dresses stands among the stalwarts of the business. He is smart. He found himself with a little surplus lot of serges, fine men's wear serge, strong, firm wool. He must dispose of these surplus serges. The ordinary, the usual way, would be to make them into dresses such as he had been selling all season. But this maker was an out-of-the-ordinary man. He turned new models, styles just coming into favor, and then had the hardihood to dispose of them—"at a price."

Here they are, 100 of them, 10 models, new, smart and still at notable savings.

Navy and black men's wear serges—

- Russian Effects
- Plain Flare Skirts
- Choker Collar Effects
- Flare Tunics
- Coat Effects
- Russian Tunics
- Belted Effects.
- Fur Trimmed Skirts

But among the ten styles are a hundred little details that will catch the eyes of women—such as the double flat collars (silk in contrasting colors), the collars that button close around the neck, often showing a fur or metal braid ruff—the rows of horn buttons down fronts, the uses of embroidery, the wide girdles of self-material. Indeed, there are style points that are just now appearing in dresses at two and three times the price of these. Like them? You will, just as we have! And you will see they are just what we say. $18.50, $20.00 and $25.00 dresses.

All sizes from Misses' 14 to Women's 40 bust.

The window display today reflects the surpassing wealth and richness of the stocks of down and wool-filled comforts we have gathered for your selection.

NOMINATIONS CLOSED FOR QUEEN OF BALL

Twelve of Atlanta's Prettiest and Most Popular Young Women Are Entered.

Nominations were closed Thursday for contestants for the honor of being queen of the Hog and Hominy carnival, to be held here December 3, under the auspices of the Atlanta Ad Men's club in conjunction with the Georgia Corn show, fostered by the chamber of commerce. Twelve of the prettiest and most popular girls in Atlanta have been entered in the contest.

The girls from whom the queen will be selected by ballot include the following: Misses Wycliff Wynn, Mary Murphy, Alene Fielder, Adrienne Batey, Mary Rice, Lawson Elton Lewis, Anne Patterson, Mamie Kirkpatrick and Mal Horine. The young woman getting the largest number of votes will be selected queen and the other eleven will act as maids of honor.

The ballot box for the reception of votes has been put in the Corn drug store on Whitehall street. All that is necessary for a person to vote is to purchase an invitation to the evening of December 3. Tickets may be had at Cone's drug store, from any ad man, or from any large retail merchant.

Harry J. New, traveling passenger agent of the Southern railway, is being warmly congratulated by his friends upon his promotion to the district passenger agent of the Crescent route, in Detroit, the Queen and Crescent being an affiliated line of the Southern.

DANCE AND SONGS FEATURE OPENING OF WINTER GARDEN

Atlanta's newest haven of amusement, the Winter Garden of the Atlanta club, will be opened tonight with an elaborate program of entertainment. It has been installed on the top floor of the Forsyth building, the eighth floor of which is occupied by the club quarters, and is fashioned along the same lines of the Follies Bergero roof in New York.

During the summer months the roof has heretofore been covered with a summer garden, but this is the first season it will be in operation during the winter. It will be run daily, with music and dancing from 4 in the afternoon until midnight. The program for tonight includes Edson R. Browne, the local song celebrity, who will sing his own creation, "O'er the Coliseum Picking Days," a song that is soon to be published by a northern music publisher. There will also be a number of vaudeville acts, the club announces.

HOMES ARE PROVIDED FOR CORN CLUB BOYS

The Atlanta Chamber of Commerce is waiving a complete cure of homes for the hundreds of corn club boys who will be here to attend the Georgia Corn show, December 1, 2, 3 and 4. The time is short in which to see to it that the boys are provided with adequate homes, and Walter Cooper, secretary of the chamber, urges the people of the city to respond immediately.

The following homes were provided during Thursday:

- Mr. Tancey, 112 Piedmont avenue, 2;
- Mrs. John H. Walls, 78 East North avenue, 2;
- Mrs. H. M. Stanley, 23 College avenue, 2;
- Mr. W. M. Scott, 312 West Peachtree street, 4;
- Mr. W. A. Rauschenberg, 83 McLendon street, Inman Park, 2;

NEXT SUNDAY DECLARED TUBERCULOSIS DAY

Governor John M. Slaton, who is now in New York city, authorized by wire the following proclamation on Thursday, setting aside Sunday, November 29, as Tuberculosis Day in Georgia, the same to be observed in such manner as will best forward the movement against the disease:

Whereas, the greater plague with which the human race is afflicted, the one most widespread and deadly, is the disease known as tuberculosis; and

Whereas, a large percentage of the deaths in Georgia last year (6,310 according to returns) were caused from this disease; and

Whereas, the control and eradication of which can be accomplished only by the united efforts of all the people of the commonwealth in the spreading of information regarding its nature; and

Whereas, Sunday, November 29, 1914, has been named as Tuberculosis day by the National Association for the Study and Prevention of Tuberculosis, and I have been requested to issue a proclamation so designating the day;

Therefore, I, John M. Slaton, governor of Georgia, do hereby proclaim the day following Sunday, November 29, as Tuberculosis Day in Georgia, and I call on all the people of this state to observe it in such manner as in their judgment will further and advance the movement against the spread and looking to the final eradication of this disease and thereby redound to the highest good of humanity.

In witness whereof, I have set my hand and caused to be attested by the executive department at the capitol in Atlanta this 17th day of November, in the year of our Lord and of our independent and fourteen.

JOHN M. SLATON, Governor.

By the Governor: A. H. ULLM, Secretary Executive Department.

CITY WILL BE PROTECTED FROM DISEASED CATTLE

A relentless campaign against dealers in infected cattle was begun by state veterinary officers yesterday when W. L. Strickland, a Deatur street merchant, was fined $75 for selling tubercular cattle.

He was tried by Judge Andy Calhoun in the city criminal court, and was fined $75 for selling tubercular cattle. The Georgia State Veterinary association. It was shown by evidence that several head of infected cattle were sold by Strickland to a man at $15 a head under the representation that they were sound and healthy.

"An investigation was conducted among the cattle dealers," said Dr. Carnes yesterday, "and wherever we found that infected animals were being dealt, they will be arranged before the courts. Too much depends upon the health of the animal to permit such a thing to exist, and one of the quickest ways of stamping out the plague is to get rid of all such animals."

LETTON'S RIB BROKEN, BUT DIDN'T KNOW IT

The fact that he had a broken rib and didn't know it was the ground on which John Letton, a member of the Wineoff and newly-elected police commissioner, brought about cancellation of his bond for return to the city against him for assault and battery upon his deposed house detective, Harry S. ...

BAHNSEN TAKES STEPS FOR CATTLE PROTECTION

Dr. W. H. Burkland, one of the south Georgia cattle inspectors from the state veterinarian's office, has been stationed at the stockyards in Atlanta, which is one of the big cattle distributing centers of the south, to keep a vigilant watch against the appearance of the cattle foot and mouth disease, which has wrought such devastation among the cattle in Chicago.

LYONS SLANDER CASE SET FOR NOVEMBER 25

The trial of J. Bernard Lyons, editor and general manager of The Atlanta Daily News, charged with libel by William F. Parkhurst, a former official in the publication, was set Thursday for November 25. Lyons will be represented by Jerome Simmons and the defense by Owens Johnson. The case grew out of the recent issue of a card about Mr. Parkhurst, and entitled "The Venturesome Mr. Parkhurst."

INVESTIGATE ORIGIN OF BLAZE AT SCHOOL

Howell Station Children Are Now Being Taught in Inadequate Quarters.

Whether or not the Howell Station school, which burned down Wednesday night about 7 o'clock from mysterious causes, was intentionally set afire by someone in that neighborhood, is today a matter of serious concern to the school authorities. The school, which was built in 1908, has been unable to arrive at any clues.

Miss Grace Freeman, principal of the school, declares that when she left the building Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock the fire in the stove was about out, whereas all day the stove was hot and the flue had not set fire to the building, and that it is practically impossible for the fire to have been started from the stove or flue.

COTTON MEN OPTIMISTIC.

Local Trading in Fleecy Staple Takes on New Life.

Optimistic expressions were given out by the local cotton dealers Thursday, when trading in the fleecy staple took on new life.

The slight decrease in the price of cotton since Monday, when the cotton exchange reopened in New York city, has been regarded as a favorable sign, and has created a more active market. Unsettled conditions necessarily brought about in the market.

GRAND JURY IS PROBING BOND FRAUD CASES

A batch of mysterious "John Doe" subpoenas sent out by deputies from the office of Solicitor General Dorsey to the grand jury investigation at 10 o'clock, at which it is predicted there will be new sensations in the bond scandal.

The names of a number of lawyers and law firms, which are prominent around police headquarters and the courthouses have been whispered in connection with the case. Although several indictments have already been returned in the bond cases, court house officials are not tracing out the "men higher up" is yet to come.

W. H. LEAHY RETURNS TO RAILROAD WORK

W. H. Leahy, one of the veteran railroad men of Atlanta, who has for the last year or more been connected with the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, in tracing out the history of the industrial and statistical bureau, is once more back in harness in the railroad business, having been appointed to the newly-created office of traveling passenger agent of the Western and Atlantic railway, with headquarters in Atlanta.

TWO INJURED WHEN AUTO TURNS TURTLE

When their automobile, in which they were on their way to lunch, turned over Tuesday afternoon, overturned at Fair Oaks, two miles this side of Marietta, W. F. Patterson of Atlanta, Bill ... and Miss Pearl Parker, of Jasper, were severely injured and Ben Hardin had a narrow escape.

CAPTAIN BRUMBY BURIED IN GEORGIA PINE COFFIN

Athens, Ga., November 19.—(Special.) Pursuant to his repeated requests, Captain John Wallis Brumby was this afternoon buried in Oceanic cemetery in a coffin made since the death of the captain of selected Georgia pine. The casket, made of materials raised in his own state, was draped with the colors of the state. The funeral was at the home and attended by several hundred.

Boy Held on Murder Charge

Reorder Johnson Thursday morning accused the 19-year-old boy, 19 years old, on the charge of the murder of Roy Turner, a companion of the boy, who occurred between the two, October 27. Turner's spinal cord was said to have been severed by a knife thrust from Fraser. Turner died the following day.

REORGANIZE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

Mrs. Peel and Mrs. Lumpkin Thanked for Undertaking Georgia Dinner.

The house of representatives, composed of committees, ex-presidents, officers and directors of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, was reorganized Thursday, with a luncheon at the commerce cafe, attended by many of the prominent citizens of the city.

Mell R. Wilkinson, president of the chamber, president, and Colonel Robert J. Lowry of the Navy National bank, introduced resolutions, which were unanimously approved, thanking the City Federation of Women's clubs, under the leadership of Mrs. Samuel Lumpkin, and the Habersham chapter of the D. A. R., led by Mrs. William Lawson Peel, for their work in undertaking the Georgia Products day dinner and in preparing and serving it at the Auditorium Wednesday.

St. Elmo Massengale, president of the Ad Men's club, told the diners about the work being done by the Ad Men's club in preparation for the Georgia Corn show, the exhibit of which is to be held Thursday, December 3 and 4, in conjunction with the Georgia Corn show.

OLD FLIM-FLAM GAME WINS OPERATOR $10

By sending in a telephone order for $10 worth of groceries to be sent to the residence of C. F. Hedgfield, 98 Jackson street, and requesting that the delivery boy bring the change for a $20 bill, an unknown white man successfully worked an old flim-flam game on Ware & Rogers, grocers, Wednesday afternoon.

THE CONSTITUTION is on sale in New York city at 2 p. m. the day after issue. It can be had: Holliday's Newsstands, Broadway and Forty-second street (Times building corner); thirty-eight street and Broadway and Twenty-ninth street and Broadway.

The Constitution is not responsible for advance payments to out-of-town local carriers, dealers or agents.

JUST SELF-PRESERVATION.

The federal reserve board has issued a statement to the effect that the reduction of cotton and the diversification of crops is imperative to reaping the full advantage of the $135,000,000 cotton loan fund, now available.

Certainly! That is precisely the doctrine The Constitution has been sounding, beginning with the outbreak of war in Europe and stretching to this very good day.

Not only are the beneficiaries of the loan fund interested in the reduction of cotton and the diversification of crops, but—

Every man who sells his cotton outright, every man, woman and child in this section has a pocketbook interest in the reduction and diversification propaganda.

There is nothing new or complicated about the matter.

It is simple self-preservation, on the economic and industrial sides, that the south, while dealing this year with an unprecedented situation, should forestall its repetition next year by cutting cotton to the bone and raising food crops at home.

The Constitution has faith that already what may be termed an automatic moratorium against too much cotton and too little food has been declared and will be enforced.

A symptom is the agreement reached between the Farmers' union and the Bankers' Association of Texas to reduce cotton.

A stronger symptom is that the self-interest, the self-preservation of the man with land to farm out cries against too much cotton, demands bumper crops of food!

The southern people have enough sense to grasp a fundamental proposition.

The proposition with which they now are faced is that if they raise a normal crop of cotton next year, the bottom will in all probability drop out of the cotton market; if they raise a bumper crop of food they can sell the surplus for so much gold in Europe.

On the one hand is probable adversity; on the other assured prosperity.

In the face of such an ultimatum the landlord who insists on the old-time quota of cotton and the banker or merchant who encourages it, will be qualifying for inquiries in lanacy.

That is why The Constitution sees the slogan:
Reduce and diversify—
It is in the air throughout the south; blazoned across the sky; staring at bankers from their ledgers and landlords from their credit books.

ITS TERRITORY WIDENS.

One of the most remarkable stories that have come as a by-product of the European war is the detraction of alcohol in all Russia. A recent Associated Press dispatch, summarizing the results after several weeks of national prohibition, pictures an empire of sobriety, a population of 150,000,000 people occupying one-sixth of the habitable globe redeemed wholly, at least for the time, from the corroding influence of intoxicants. Complete credit is given to the persistent and patient agitation of Michael D. Tchelisheff, a peasant millionaire.

At the last analysis, it was the economic motive that conquered in Russia, as The Constitution has insisted it has always been dominant in the successful progress of temperance everywhere. The authorities found that insobriety interfered with prompt mobilization and efficiency in the soldier and the new recruit. That made them receptive to the preachings of Tchelisheff. With the elimination of inebriety it was found the nation increased immeasurably in earning capacity and prosperity, despite the bite of war. The demonstration of efficiency decided the day against King John Barbeycorn, as it does wherever he comes in conflict with humanity.

A noteworthy feature of the present war, or rather the situation produced by the war, is that two factors seem marching side by side: The instinct for political democracy, and a democracy of effort, an allied band, against alcohol.

France has banned absinthe and alcoholics, for the term of the war; England has made more strict the regulations of her public houses, and in Germany, where the lesser evil of beer-drinking prevails, there is a growing sentiment against the cup that cheers.

Truly, the territory of temperance is widening to worldwide proportions.

COTTON OILS THE WHEELS.

The gathering momentum of the cotton movement in Georgia and other interior points is reflected in increased activity at the ports, where preparations are making to export the long-tied-up crop under conditions agreed upon by this and European countries.

The main significance for Atlanta and Georgia is that the ice has been broken. The rafts of commerce and the currents of trade, dammed by the temporary sluggishness of cotton, are beginning to thaw out.

Liquidation of debts in Georgia is becoming a fact, and not a theory.

These are the best auguries since the outbreak of the war.

They mean that henceforth the activities of the farmer will not be hemmed in behind a fortress of cotton; that he will not be "cotton poor;" that the merchant and the banker will not be compelled to twiddle their thumbs while cotton is idle.

They mean, too, activities on part of the mills, which will now come into the market, able to buy cotton since it no longer is hoarded and confident that they will be placed at no disadvantage by the development of a later lower level.

There is a story current in the cotton trade that for several weeks mills in Georgia and South Carolina were compelled to buy in Texas, for the simple reason that the farmers in Georgia had been organized into a rigid holding movement while no such development had occurred in Texas.

If that story is accurate it means that much money has been lost to Georgia farmers, and wages lost to waiting mill operatives.

However, all that is receding. Farmers are seeing that their own self-interest lies in selling cotton and paying debts. Cotton is oiling all the wheels. Whatever mistakes that were made will soon be obliterated.

THE NEW CURRENCY SYSTEM.

President Wilson is not overstating the case when he hails the country's newly-installed currency system as "releasing the nation's credit" and opening "a future clear and bright with promise."

In Atlanta we got a personal touch of the new system, with the opening here of the regional reserve bank under the direction of Governor Joseph A. McCord, long identified with the banking interests of the city.

Any man who thinks that Uncle Sam's new method of handling his medium of exchange is going to work a miracle in business or in individual prosperity overnight, is due another guess. What the system will do, in fact already has done, is to substitute a fluid, flexible and responsive medium for an inflexible and dangerously unresponsive medium.

Heretofore, the currency system of the United States has been unlike that of any other of the first-class powers, in that it has suffered from financial hardening of the arteries. If a sudden or unexpected strain were placed on the financial stream at some one point, there was no guarantee that a break would not be sustained. We had a fair weather currency system, built on the assumption that business would always be prosperous.

The result of this archaic system has been periodic panics, expensive, retarding to business and reflecting deepest discredit on the fiscal reputation of the United States. We were handicapped, too, in dealing with foreign nations.

All that is now in the past. We are provided with a method of circulating medium that expands as business expands, and contracts as business, or demand, contracts. And it is a system as near panic and fool-proof as the mind of man can devise.

Of course, the present system is not perfect. Its imperfections will be displayed, as time advances. But we have made a tremendous start toward redeeming the errors of half a century.

UNCLE JULES SAYS

It isn't the country that's wrong. Here is a war on the country from the Bentztown Bard, and it has the right ring:

"It isn't the country that's going wrong, It isn't the country that's skipping along To doom and destruction, it's you, it's you— The country's all right if you have the right view.

If you help it and boost it and make it a place Of glory and triumph and action and grace; And it will go downward alone when you go.

It isn't the country that's wrong, you know."

The Holland Letter

In this city, no more than four or five remain of all of those who took part in the establishment of the national banking system ten years ago, and who were active in civil war days. Some of the survivors speak with reminiscent interest of the manner in which the national banking system which passed out of existence on Monday of this week was established.

The growth of slow, the growth of the national banks of New York were not persuaded to abandon their state charters and reorganize under federal charters until some months had passed and congress had passed special legislation which was requisite.

These were the first of the national institutions. The changes were slow all over the country. The first institution in this city to take out a federal charter was organized especially for that purpose. And this was one of the first to apply for membership in the first class condition system. Slowly, one after another, national banks were established, and not until congress placed a prohibitive tax of 10 percent upon state bank-note circulation did the majority of institutions reorganize under the federal law.

On Monday of this week, the new national banking system was in operation. It was instantaneous, covering the entire country. For months bankers had been preparing their state charters for the new system. While they were in the midst of preparations of this kind, the European war began; and there were many who feared that one of its effects would be an inevitable delay in the organization of the new system.

There are several features associated with the beginning of the operation of this new system which are spoken of with something like enthusiasm by those who are competent to speak on the subject of the kind of commonly made in the financial district is that the opening of the doors of the regional banks is contemporaneous with a change of sentiment of a feeling of despondency and doubt to one of encouragement and hope.

This feeling is characteristic of general business, but it has been particularly noticeable in the financial district. It is probably due in part to the belief that the time is not distant when the securities market can be safely opened. But it is also due in part to the increase in our trade with national trade and to great improvement in the London market situation. It is reflected in a statement made on the eve of the opening of the regional bank by the president of the Investment Bankers' Association of America. This statement was last week holding its annual convention at Philadelphia, and its president, George E. Caldwell, is quoted here as having said that we are now at the beginning of an era which will be characterized by prosperity of the kind the country has never known. Conditions are getting better, Mr. Caldwell said, every day.

Return of Confidence.
The new federal reserve system begins operation at a moment when the return of confidence is manifesting itself, and that is a fact which is necessary if we are to gain the prosperity which many of the leading minds now predict. This confidence will early be reflected in the experiences of the regional banks. It will justify them in such service as will stimulate industry of all kinds.

Another feature which is to be associated with the beginning of the new federal reserve system is the indication that the regional bank which is now established in New York city will almost automatically, certainly inevitably, that under any reasonable banking system New York city is and must be, if the entire country is to be well served, the financial heart of the nation. The regional bank in this city, under the administration of Benjamin Strong, Jr., and Pierre Jay, subject as it is to the authority of the federal reserve board at Washington, is expected to be occupied with heavy rediscounts of commercial paper offered to it by regional banks in other parts of the country. The regional bank in this city is the largest and the source of any of the regional banks, and is, moreover, likely to be in position easily to meet the request of regional banks of other parts of the country for rediscounts, because the New York city banks, on the one hand, are likely to ask for rediscounts, since by reason of the reduction of the amount necessary to hold as legal reserve they will be in possession of abundant resources.

A few days before the new reserve system went into operation, intimations came to the financial center that several of the southern regional banks will seek rediscounts of the reserve bank of this city as soon as possible after it is open for business.

Another feature associated in point of time with the opening of the reserve bank of this city is the demonstration that has been made of the strength of New York city banks. At the very moment when the final details necessary for the smooth working of the regional bank organization of New York were being perfected, the New York syndicate, made up of all the banks of the city, with two exceptions, deposited $15,000,000 in gold with the managers of the syndicate, which immediately sent it to Ottawa, Canada. This amount made the total of gold exports to Canada $54,000,000 and there will be needed only about $6,000,000 more in order to provide the sum needed to liquidate New York city's current obligations in London.

The moral effect created by the apparent ease with which the banks of New York city have furnished nearly $75,000,000 in gold within a few months for the purpose of meeting New York city's obligations, has been so great as partly to explain the beginning of renewed confidence in international financial circles. Moreover, the banks of New York city have subscribed to a considerable part of the gold fund of $100,000,000 in which all the national banks in the United States participated. Yet these heavy obligations seem not to have impaired, but in fact have strengthened, the banking situation in this city.

New York stands ready to contribute $50,000,000 to the contemplated cotton pool of $125,000,000, provided other parts of the country furnish the $75,000,000 needed to complete the pool. A condition of that kind attaches to the promise of President Taft, of the Shawnee Hotel, to contribute to Mr. Gaston's proposition that his bank will contribute its proportionate part in case banks in other parts of the country do likewise. But just as the regional banks begin business there come intimations that possibly this proposition will not be needed.

The address delivered a few days ago by United States Senator Weeks, of Massachusetts, to a company of influential men of Boston, has been a subject of frequent comment in this city. The special thought in the address which has chiefly occasioned this comment was the intimation that he is strongly of the opinion that after reasonable experience with the operation of regional banks congress may find it expedient to reduce the number, and ultimately to establish a central or unified bank. In view of the fact that Senator Weeks gave his cordial support to the main features of the new law, it will be found expedient, if not vital, to the success of the system, that a central bank be established is regarded here as of all the more importance.

HOLLAND.

Germany's Provision Supply.
(London dispatch to The New York Post.)
There is doubtless enough wheat and rye in Germany to supply the whole population with bread for many months to come, and the fact that the German government has fixed the prices of the shops, can fix the prices of this first necessity of life. Germany will also be able to exchange its large surpluses of dyes, drugs and chemicals, potash, coal, etc., for other things which it will most need, with Denmark, Scandinavia, Holland and Switzerland.

With the Exchanges

BACK TO THE LAND.
(From The Bridgeport Standard.)
A machinist in a railroad shop, who was discharged after he had worked for a hundred dollars and with it bought five acres of land on the edge of the city. Later he built a cottage on the land and moved his family there. Paying off the mortgage upon his own home in the suburbs was not a heavier burden than the monthly rent of a city flat, and it brought him a better return.

This man did not know anything about farming, but he made it his business to learn, and he never made the same mistake twice. He stocked his five acres for growing cherries, apples, grapes, currants, gooseberries and black and red raspberries. He kept the soil rich and had late crops as well as early ones. The commission merchants that handled his fruit said it always brought top prices, being of the best and arriving always in first class condition.

Every summer, $1,500 worth of fruit is marketed from those five acres and the owner says that when he finally leaves the shop and can give his full attention to his land he can easily sell $2,500 worth. He says that this $1,500 a year has dispelled the bugbear of fear that haunted the man when he could see no future after his weekly pay envelope should be stopped.

REPARTAIS.

(From Harper's Weekly.)
Recent we have been confessing to a liking for special repartees. Here are a few more that meet our personal notion of that kind of wit:

When Sydney Smith was advised to have his portrait painted by Landseer, he asked his servant a dog that he should do this thing?

"The same Sunday, Smith, who, as you will remember, was a clergyman, was in an argument. His opponent, provoked, cried out: "If I had a son who was an idiot, I would make him a parson." "Was of a different opinion."

A story is told of Henry Clay that is also applied in earlier history to a member of parliament. A long-winded member of congress, named "Yan, six speak for the present generation, but speak for posterity." "It seems," replied Clay, "you are resolved to speak until your audience arrives."

Also, in this connection, the following comes to mind: The Duchess of Gordon—Have you been talking as much nonsense as usual, Mr. Pitt? "I am not sure, but I think that since I saw your grace I have not heard so much."

FOOTBALL ON THE BATTLEFIELD.

(Alfred Stead, in The New York Independent.)
When Tommy Atkins is able to leave the trenches he indulges in football. He is not the only one. The amusing report of a German air scout that there was great confusion in the British army, men running about in all directions, evidently a panic. Every opportunity is seized for football, and a ball is one of the most treasured possessions of the front-line soldier. Matches are got up, and before the war is over we shall probably have an army challenge being competed for on the field of battle.

The difficulty is, however, as one football devotee explains, the army never counts on getting your team together. Only the other day I was talking to four of our best men when bang came a big shell, and when I picked myself up I couldn't see a trace of them—blown to atoms like that. It is not the spirit which makes such football possible!

WORKMAN BUILT HIS OWN HOUSE.

(From The Philadelphia Public Ledger.)
A $20,000 house, with seventeen rooms and all the conveniences and comforts to which the age demands, is nearing completion in a pleasant spot on the Lancaster pike, at Daylesford, one of the outlying communities on the main line of the Pennsylvania railroad.

For nine years the house has been rising, stone by stone, bit by bit, and "every tap of work" on it has been done by its owner, Edmund E. Hatton, a railroad brakeman, who has supported himself, his wife and nine children while he worked by day on the house and by night on the road.

Hatton still owns $2,600 on his home. When he has that paid off, he says, he will be a thoroughly happy man, and will feel every bit repaid for his sacrifices and struggles.

Besides being a jack-of-all-trades, this brakeman, on a small salary, has been something of a financier, for he started, in the very first place, by borrowing money with which to purchase his land.

WIN ORCHARD MARATHON.

(Silver Lake (Ore.) Dispatch to The New York World.)
Twelve crops without a failure in the marathon record of five apple trees on the ranch of Felix Duncan on the west bank of Silver Lake. Mr. Duncan is harvesting a big crop from the trees that he planted in 1902.

These trees, says Mr. Duncan, never have been pruned nor cultivated. They had a precarious existence in the four years following their planting, as they were in the center of a pasture, which was protected from stock. When they bloomed the first year Mr. Duncan built a fence about the small orchard and since has harvested a big crop each year. Mr. Duncan does not know what kind of apples he is growing, but says he has never seen picked a wormy or faulty apple from any of the trees.

A LESSON FROM THE ANT.

(From The Union Progress.)
Solomon was right when long years ago he directed attention to the ant and suggested that its ways were worth considering.

The truth of this advice came to us in rather a striking way within the past few days.

Just outside of our office door one day as we were coming in we noticed a tiny quantity of sand. A few days later we saw that it was the sand of the ant, and on looking closer found that it was there as result of the efforts of an ant.

At the point where the sand was there was concrete to a depth of 6 inches with a top dressing of solid cement of one or more inches. Through all this sand mass the little ants, had worked, struggling hourly in their efforts to bore through the concrete and get a way by which they could come up into the sunlight.

TIMES HAVE CHANGED.

(From The Cincinnati Enquirer.)
The old-fashioned woman who used to pour cream off the top of the milk and save it for the baby now has a daughter who orders a whole bottle of cream to pour over Pido's dog biscuit.

THE OLD STORY.

(From The Philadelphia Press.)
If the Krupps are going to make guns that will shoot 24 miles, of course we shall have to make some that will carry at least 25 miles, or own up that we are not prepared for war.

THE ENGLISH CHANNEL.

BY GEORGE FITCH.
Author of "At Good Old Slivak."

The English channel is an arm of the sea which has acted as a peacemaker between England and her neighbors for almost a century and which, at this most dangerous moment, is doing more effective work against the Germans than all of the English army.

The channel is 23 miles wide at its narrowest part, and it is also very wet. It is impossible for the ordinary soldier, weighted down as he is by ammunition and heavy boots, to swim across it. It is equally impossible to carry a soldier across in a boat without the consent of England. For centuries English cruisers and fighting ships have roamed up and down the channel, and the hostile armies who attempted to land on English shores and shoot holes in Westminster Abbey have been soaked in salt water until they were entirely valueless for military purposes.

The Spanish were the last to make a real attempt to invade England. They sent a great fleet up the channel 350 years ago and its obsequies were very largely attended.

The English channel is the most profitable institution in Great Britain. It saves the country hundreds of millions yearly. At the beginning of the present war Great Britain only had enough troops to furnish a light lunch for the German army. But they had the channel in their favor. In consequence, while France has been getting soaked in the cathedrals and other vital parts of England has had to move out entirely. England is safe and comparatively happy.

If any army should remove the channel from Great Britain, that country would become as unsteady as a man who has just gotten in front of a tiger's cage in time to see the bars taken off.

The channel also serves other useful purposes. It keeps French vaudeville minstrelsy and noblemen out of England to a large extent and keeps English stout, English cricket and English clothes out of France. While the channel is very narrow and can be crossed in an hour, it is very unpopuliar with the traveler. This is because of its curiosity. It is the most curious body of water on the world. It is never satisfied until it has turned the pilgrim and stranger inside out and has seen what he has eaten for lunch.

White France has been getting soaked in the cathedrals and Belgium has had to move out entirely. England is safe and comparatively happy.

THE WOMAN WHO "SAVES" HER CLOTHES.

Who doesn't know her—the woman whose closet is stocked with up-to-date clothes, and yet who wears her last year's suit "to save the others"? But why did you get the other old friends to support her? To which she blandly replies: "But one has to have clothes!" Yes, she has clothes. She's obeyed that dictum of convention—to a letter. But wearing them—that's another matter. And a matter which she should consider a very serious one. Does she wish to win for herself the opinion that "She's not used to clothes"? For the world is quick to take one's own valuation; if we consider ourselves worthy of the best in life, others will consider us so. There are kings, and there are paupers, and the difference is not in the respect of his subjects if he wears a coat about looking like a tramp. Let the woman who wears her old, worn clothes, to "save" her good clothes, ask herself if her self-respect is of the kind order or of the tramp order.

She's shuffling along.

Wants Unpledged Legislators.

Editor Constitution: The campaign of the regular medical organizations of Illinois to secure anti-election pledges from candidates for office is arousing strong opposition from numbers of citizens who, though probably not themselves interested in the rival theories of cure, are deeply concerned in preserving their freedom and the integrity of their legislative representatives.

Few things are more subversive of free government than the presence in legislative bodies of lawmakers who are pledged beforehand to a certain course of action. This attempt of the organized physicians to afford an impressive illustration. Here is a special class seeking legislation which would greatly increase the financial revenues of its members, while taking from many thousands of citizens the legal right to employ the practitioners of their choice. In every legislative district there are, no doubt, many citizens who believe that they owe their health and lives to some one of the various new systems of cure that the entrenched medical profession might select; yet this is precisely what the political doctors are striving to prevent by pre-election pledges which would practically make the legislator the doctor's man and establish a most dangerous and subversive precedent.

It makes no difference that the medical interests claim the legislation desired is for the public good. Special privilege always, in seeking legislation favorable to itself, makes its plea on the ground of "the general good." But in the present instance the fact that there are now in the country hundreds of thousands of intelligent citizens who put their trust in the schools and systems of cure which the proposed legislation would prohibit makes it especially incumbent upon legislators to resist any attempt to place them in a position where they could not consider the issue on its merits after hearing both sides. Respectfully,

MRS. M. L. CUSHMAN.

W. J. CAMPBELL
COMMITTS SUICIDE

Dependent Over Nervous Condition, and Suffering From Insomnia, Former City Clerk Ends His Life.

William J. Campbell, former city clerk of Atlanta and prominent business man, committed suicide Thursday morning at 4:45 o'clock in the back yard of his home, 28 Oakdale road. The cause for his action is attributed to his nervous condition, which had worried him for years.

The body was found at 6 o'clock by Tom Williams, a negro laborer, about twenty yards in the rear of the Campbell home. It was lying face up in a pile of leaves, with the top of his head blown off. A shotgun was lying across his chest with the right barrel discharged.

In his pocket was a crumpled blue envelope, which was written: "Notify H. M. Patterson, T. G. Erwin or J. H. Ewing. Don't take my body home to kill my family. Better to let it all then to keep on going this way."

Gradually Grew Worse. The physicians stated that he had been suffering from a nervousness for years, which had gradually gotten worse. He was also harassed by insomnia, and he awoke Thursday morning at 4 o'clock, telling his wife that he was unable to sleep. He went downstairs and fired the furnace, then securing his shotgun, killed himself.

Mr. Campbell was 57 years old, and had lived in Atlanta most of his life. He graduated from Emory college, Oxford, Ga., and taught school in South Georgia for a number of years. He served as a bookkeeper on The Constitution and later as printer of the Constitution job printing plant. He was prominent in politics, having held the office of state printer for several years.

He was elected councilman and later alderman from the Fourth ward, and served as city clerk from 1901 to 1910, resigning on account of ill health. He was a steward in Grace Methodist church.

Mr. Campbell went to Florida twice for his health, and had considered entering a sanitarium in the near future. He had just finished building a magnificent white mansion on Oakdale road, near Ponce de Leon avenue, and with his wife and daughter, and in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Hushon, had resided there for the last three weeks.

Downing Hears Shot. When he arose early Thursday, he dressed himself in an old pair of trousers and a blue jersey and went down to fire the furnace instead of waiting for the negro, Tom, who generally did this service. The shot was not heard by anyone in the house, but water in the street, heard it and, happening to look at his watch, observed that it was 4:45 o'clock. Mr. Downing noticed nothing of the sound, however, at that time.

When Williams, the negro, notified the family of his discovery, Mrs. Campbell was the first to come out of the house. When she saw the body she ran back into the house screaming and with her hands up, and when Mr. Campbell's left hand, and it was evident that he had placed the muzzle in his mouth when he pulled the trigger.

An inquest was held by Coroner Thompson, of DeKalb county, the jury returning a suicide verdict. The body was taken to the funeral parlors of H. M. Patterson & Son, pending funeral arrangements. He is survived by his wife and daughter, Mrs. Hushon.

SEATTLE IS CHOSEN BY TEMPERANCE WORKERS

The host of white ribbon followers have departed. The booming of oratorical artillery from the ranks of the Hon. Jim is receding with the retreat of the white-clad forces. Next year the fortresses of Seattle will be invaded, for was decided in executive council in the Ansel hotel yesterday morning that the convention of 1915 would go to the Pacific coast.

The convention closed Wednesday night with "recognition services." All officials of the organization pronounced the Atlanta meet the biggest and most successful in its history, and heartily invited Atlanta to let it again within the next three years.

SCHLESINGER TO HELP
FOR THANKSGIVING

Harry F. Schlesinger has volunteered to help the Thanksgiving committee of the Young Woman's Christian association by offering to give a "Thanksgiving Society" to each of the inmates of every charitable institution in the city, regardless of creed or color.

The following instructions are imperative, however, according to the Y. W. C. A. committee's announcement: "Charitable organizations must notify Mr. Schlesinger by letter, enclosing a list of inmates in such institutions, and on Thursday before Thanksgiving send a duly authorized person to the office of Mr. Schlesinger, 70 Madison avenue, to receive the bounty."

COUNTING MILLIONS
KEEPS BANKERS BUSY

Federal Institution Will Have $4,600,000 of Reserves in Vaults by Nightfall.

By nightfall the 318 member banks of the Federal Reserve bank, of Atlanta, will have paid into the Atlanta bank the first installment toward the reserves, amounting to $4,600,000. This money has been coming in every day since the bank opened last Monday. All must be in by tonight according to the ruling sent out from Washington by Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo.

Governor Joseph A. McCord, Federal Reserve Agent M. E. Wellborn, an auditor, and a dozen bank clerks and sub-officials are daily kept busy counting this large sum of money. The reserve bank has not yet performed any of its functions as prescribed by the federal reserve act. Mr. McCord stated Thursday that so busy would the bank's force be during the next sixty days straightening matters out that hardly any of the regular business of the bank would be transacted before the expiration of that time.

A report will be sent Secretary McAdoo tonight of the funds on deposit in the reserve bank here. The officials will give out no statement of the deposits beforehand.

MENU OF FIELD PEAS
AT DAN HUGHES' DINNER

Dan G. Hughes, assistant commissioner of agriculture, who is one of the staunchest supporters of the humble Georgia field pea, on Wednesday evening at the Winecroft entertained a number of friends at a dinner, the menu of which consisted entirely of field peas cooked into various dainty dishes. The menu was as follows: Pure of Georgia field peas, a la bleu point; cream of Georgia field peas soup; north Georgia trout stuffed with field peas; potatoes Hollandaise, trimmed with peas; barbecued pig with peas; candied peas baked with peas; Georgia field pea salad; jellyed field peas with whipped cream.

Among the guests were Commissioner of Agriculture J. D. Price, State Veterinarian Dr. Peter F. Robinson, Assistant State Entomologist W. W. Chase and Dr. R. E. Stallings, state chemist.

DAN LEHON LOSES FIGHT.
Detective, Tedder and Thurman Must Stand Trial.

Dan S. Lehon, manager of the southern division of the William J. Burns forces, yesterday morning lost his move to avoid trial on the charge of subornation of perjury in the C. B. Ragdale false affidavit that was made in the Frank case.

The demurrers filed by Carlton C. Tedder and Arthur Thurman were likewise overruled by Judge Ben Hill. The three men will be put on trial on the first Monday in December this year.

Lehon, Tedder and Thurman were accused by Rev. C. E. Ragdale of influencing him to make a false affidavit that he had overheard Jim Conley confess to the murder of Mary Phagan. He made an affidavit to this effect, later repudiating it.

MEMORIAL SERVICE
FOR DR. LOVEJOY

Conference Pays Tribute to Deceased Presiding Elder. Much Speculation as to His Probable Successor.

Marietta, Ga., November 19.—(Special.)—Features of today's proceedings in the North Georgia conference, now in session here, were addressed by Bishop A. W. Wilson, of Baltimore, and Bishop Warren A. Candler, of Atlanta. Bishop Wilson is the oldest member of the college of bishops, and is regarded as one of the strongest men of any denomination in America. He is always a welcome visitor at the North Georgia conference. He addressed the conference on the work of church extension.

Bishop Candler, appointed by the general conference to raise funds for the building of a representative church at Washington city, spoke to the conference regarding this matter. The Methodist church of north Georgia will pay $6,000 for that purpose, a good part of which has already been subscribed or paid.

Bishops Wilson and Candler were also associated with Bishop Denny in conducting the funeral of Dr. W. P. Lovejoy, former presiding elder of the Atlanta district, whose death occurred Wednesday night.

Conference adjourned at noon to meet at 4 o'clock in a memorial session in honor of Dr. Lovejoy. Pailhears for the occasion were Rev. Luke G. Johnson, Rev. W. E. Foote, Rev. Frank Quillian, Rev. W. R. Martin, Rev. Frank S. Hudson and Rev. Henry B. Mays.

TRIBUTE TO DR. LOVEJOY
At 4 o'clock the conference assembled to pay tribute of love and esteem to Dr. Lovejoy.

Dr. Lovejoy's services were made by Bishops Candler and Collin Denny, and tributes of respect were paid by several other members of the conference who had been associated with Dr. Lovejoy for long years.

Hon. John J. Eagan, accompanied by a body of twenty-five members of the Men and Religion Forward Movement, of Atlanta, was present and participated in the memorial service.

At 5:30 this afternoon the remains were carried to Cartersville, where the funeral service will be conducted from the Sam Jones Memorial church. The interment will be made at the Cartersville cemetery, and the remains will rest beside Mrs. Lovejoy's remains.

May Be Fraternities. In the meeting of the board of education his afternoon the question of secret orders in Methodist colleges and schools in Georgia was brought up for consideration. A spirited debate took place and it was very evident that sentiment was not unimpaired in the matter.

During the recent months Wesleyan college has abolished sororities. The move was introduced in the board of trustees' recommendation that all such societies be abolished in other Methodist schools.

After an hour of debate the resolution was adopted by a good majority and will be submitted to the conference body for indorsement. It is expected that the conference will approve it.

In opening the conference session for today, Bishop Denny continued his review of the four chapters of the First Epistle of John. He gave emphasis to the trial of spirits, and indicated just how men might know the spirits of the times.

"The spirit is that one which recognizes Jesus Christ in the flesh," said Bishop Denny, "and any other spirit is anti-Christ."

Continuing his remarks, Bishop Denny said: "Only those who have confessed that Jesus Christ is the son of God have survived the lapses of time. Where are those whose position regarding the incarnation of Christ has been indifferent or theoretical? They are ground fine as powder and crushed out of existence, and not so much as a trace of them can be found today. As for me, I shall stand or fall with Jesus Christ, and I do not believe in a fall. None who have stood with Him in the past have ever fallen, and only those who have stood with Him have endured the test of the years."

Bishop Denny alluded to the merit of the incarnation of Christ as never more than when he said that the success in evangelistic work depended on their loyalty to Him.

A committee on evangelism was immediately appointed after the address of the Bishop. Rev. G. M. Baker, Dr. J. H. Quinn, Rev. H. V. Jones, and Rev. John S. Jenkins are members of that committee, and will soon launch an evangelistic movement in the state.

Dr. J. H. Quinn, of Hammond, was most earnestly listened to as he appealed for support of the work among negroes and colored people. Mrs. Hammond urged upon the conference the needs of the school, showing how the school should be maintained in carrying on a work that is considered an ideal demonstration of the workings of the present limited spiritual power of the churches is due to the fact that Christians of today are not heart and mind to the special negro race is making to them.

In response to Mrs. Hammond's address, the conference meeting, she contributed a fund of several hundred dollars for the institute.

Dr. Lovejoy's Successor. Since the death of Dr. W. P. Lovejoy, the presiding elder of the Atlanta district, a great deal of speculation has been indulged in by the press as to what man will probably be appointed to be presiding elder over that district. Some think Dr. H. M. DuBoise will receive the appointment. The name of Rev. W. R. Hendrix is also mentioned. Dr. A. M. Hugglett and the Rev. W. S. Williams are also mentioned in that connection. Dr. Hugglett is just completing his fourth year at St. Mark's church, Atlanta, and is expected to move. Mr. Williams is located at Jackson, and is considered a strong man in the conference and a suitable man for the place.

The announcement of the new presiding elder will not be made until next Monday.

The following young men have just completed the work of the class of the first year, and were given the following orders: John Wesley Brinsfield, Jacob Glenn Davis, Lewis Boyd Linn, John Foster Marjorie, Edward J. Robert Peter Tatum, William Merrivether Barnett, John Leonard Franklin, James Thornton Pendley, Lewis Laffey Boyd, M. D. Dobbin Cunningham, William R. England, Benjamin Franklin Aize, John Andrews Farridge, John Bruce Green, Owen Hines, Charles Eren, Zebulon Vance Hawkes, Gibson Talley Sorrells, William Delaney Landrum, and Frederick Fleg Johnston.

The following class of seven young men were advanced to the class of the third year and elected the following: William Greenway, Adolphus P. Watkins, William Edgar Furell, Clarence Anderson, George Patterson, George H. Levin Middlebrooks, William Jefferson Calpepper, Winifred Talmadge Gantt, Tommie Patterson, George H. Chamber and Harry Lindsey Hendrick.

The following class of young men have been employed for the conference for one year on trial have been advanced to the class of the second year, and will be given the appointment for another year on trial: M. A. Franklin, L. W. Nell, H. O. Greene, H. B. Thomas, S. D. Crumley, Cook, Claude Hendrick, V. A. Roark, J. H. Barton, J. W. Vesich, H. L. Byrd, Dillard G. Spearman, G. C. Knowles and C. G. White.

INNES' EXTRADITION
DELAYED BY APPEAL
TO THE U. S. COURTS

A telegram last night to The Constitution from Marshall Nelms in San Antonio stated that it would be a matter of several weeks before Victor Innes and his wife could be extradited from Texas to Atlanta for trial in connection with the Nelms disappearance mystery.

This delay is caused by the appeal that has been made by Innes to the United States supreme court to avoid extradition. It will require at least four or five weeks for the supreme court to decide upon it. Consequently, Detective John Starnes, of police headquarters, who was detailed to San Antonio to assist in the capture of Innes, is on his return trip to Atlanta.

Innes and his wife, however, remain in custody.

The following is the Nelms message: "When Innes announced that he had secured 4400 in cash to be used in the States supreme court on the ground that extradition would be unconstitutional to Innes for trial in connection with the Nelms disappearance mystery. No bond allowed. The proceedings will consume at least four or five weeks. Such action is meant only to kill time, as the ultimate outcome will mean extradition to Georgia." (Signed) "MARSHALL NELMS."
