SOUTHERNS PLAN SUPREME EFFORT TO HELP COTTON

Democratic Senators From South Propose to Add Relief Amendment to the War Revenue Measure.

THREE RELIEF PLANS DISCUSSED BY SENATORS

One Plan Proposes Issue of 5,000,000 Bales of Cotton to Be Held by Government.

Washington, October 12.—Senators and representatives from cotton-growing states determined today to make one more supreme effort to get legislative relief from congress before adjournment for the threatening conditions facing the cotton growers because of the European war.

Democratic senators from southern states blocked an agreement to vote on the war tax bill Thursday when they determined to attempt to add an amendment to the measure calculated to aid the cotton growers. The amendment probably will be submitted tomorrow and will afford an opportunity for a vote on the issue. Southern senators, it was learned tonight, do not propose to filibuster on the revenue bill, but they do want an opportunity to vote on a proposal for relief of their constituents whether it should pass or not.

The Proposals Discussed.

Tonight southern senators met at the home of Senator Hoke Smith, of Georgia. Among proposals discussed were the following:

1.—A bill of appropriations for the coming fiscal year to the amount of $100,000,000 and utilization of this amount to help carry the cotton crop and make advances on cotton loans.

2.—Sale of undisposed Panama canal bonds to be held for the same purpose.

3.—Issue of $225,000,000 of three-year, 4 per cent government bonds in installments of $10 and up for the purchase of 5,000,000 bales of cotton, to be held by the government until January 1, 1916.

4.—The bond issue proposal, it was suggested, should be accompanied by an excise tax on cotton producers of $10 a bale on all cotton produced next year in excess of five tons per grower.

Members Serve Notice.

In the house today Representative Henry, of Texas, served notice that he proposed to try to force a vote tomorrow on the project of southern members for an issue of $250,000,000 in currency to be used for the purchase of warehouse receipts. He introduced a resolution for a drastic rule to give the plan right-of-way and also sent a reply to the letter of Secretary McAdoo to him against the present legislation. Mr. Henry insisted that the secretary had the right to deposit public moneys in southern national banks "in any manner you deem equitable" to the extent of the funds in your hands or that may be supplied by congressional action.

Representative Hardwick, of Georgia, who talked with the president today, introduced a bill proposing the issue and sale of the Panama canal bonds hereafter authorized at 4 per cent, instead of 2 per cent interest, and for the deposit of the proceeds in the national banking associations and state banks in the cotton and tobacco belt.

The Henry Rule.

Mr. Henry's rule, which he wants the speaker to suspend, of which he is chairman, to report favorably, is an omnibus proposal for immediate consideration of the cotton currency bill, the senate bill to place cotton warehouse receipts in general circulation, national banking laws and house bills to amend the federal reserve laws, each bill to have its own hearing, and a thirty minute rule for amendment and then vote.

Mr. Henry's reply to Secretary McAdoo, which he ineffectually sought to have the house print in the Congressional Record, says there is no chance for the government to lose a penny on cotton and tobacco. "You should join us and help to get legislation to sell the government cotton and tobacco at United States notes," he wrote. "Restrict the banks, hold them in leash and prevent the present legislation of the currency which is not reaching the farmers this year."

Outline of Amendment.

At the conference tonight of southern members on the war tax bill, of the amendment to the war tax bill which will be offered in the senate was worked out tomorrow and the amendment probably presented Wednesday. The proposal contemplates an issue of three-year 4 per cent bonds by the government to create a fund for cotton growers. The issue of the security would be held until 1916. A tax of 1 cent a pound will be levied on the 1915 crop and the proceeds of the tax to be used in retiring bonds then outstanding.

PEACE CONGRESS HELD IN MEXICO

Generals Are in Conference at Aguas Calientes Seeking Settlement of Carranza-Villa Differences.

Washington, October 12.—Hopeful reports reached Washington today of the progress of the first day's work of the military convention being held at Aguas Calientes to determine the personnel of the future government of Mexico. Not only are Generals Carranza and Villa represented but General Zapata has sent three delegates whose credentials have been accepted.

The official report of the meeting transmitted to the American government and organized last Saturday, adjourning until today. General Antonio Villalaz, military governor of the state of Nuevo Leon, was chosen permanent chairman, with Generals Robles and Natera, vice chairmen. The minutes of the previous convention at Mexico City were formally approved.

Basic of Representation.

The basis of representation agreed upon was that each delegate must prove that he had command of at least 1,000 men in the army or must have been identified as a general or governor with the constitutional movement before Carranza was captured from the Huerta government. It was this point on which General Villa had been insisting from the beginning.

General Eduardo Hays, one of the men who opposed the acceptance of Carranza's resignation at the Mexico City convention, made an impassioned speech, urging the adoption of a resolution calling on General Carranza to release all political prisoners, as General Villa had done. He was enthusiastically applauded as he suggested that the language of the resolution be changed from a "request" to an "order." He said the acts and resolutions of the convention should be regarded as orders upon all chiefs including Carranza. The convention passed the resolution in that form.

Official reports further state that the spirit of the meeting is one of harmony and a unanimity of feeling exists against further bloodshed.

Form of Government.

Some delegates had not arrived when the convention organized Saturday and today's meeting was expected to develop a discussion of the form of government to be adopted. One of the plans under discussion would provide for a commission form of government composed of representatives of all factions, more satisfactorily to all under that system.

The constitutional agency here reported.

French Howitzer Train to Fight Germans

FRENCH ARTILLERY ON TRAIN. One of the developments of the war is an armored train for the transportation of howitzers and other heavy artillery for use in conducting or breaking a siege. One of the howitzers is shown in the picture. To make the train more mobile it has arms at the sides which can be extended and made rigid by screws pressing against plates resting on the ground. The entire train carries three cars for heavy guns and an ammunition car and a combination ammunition and observation car. The train was made at the Schneider works at Croisot, France.

TWO ARE HURT WHEN CAR HITS CARRIAGE

Luke and John New Were on Way to Circus When Accident Happened.

While Luke and John New, two countrymen driving near Lithonia, were driving up DeKalb avenue of their way to attend the evening performance of the Ringling circus, about 7 p. m. yesterday, their carriage collided with an outgoing Decatur street car, injuring the two men, demolishing the vehicle and causing the horse to run away.

At the point of intersection of DeKalb and Chilton street the car track makes a pronounced bend. Luke New, who was driving, did not see the approaching car until it was close upon him, he said. Although the motorist saw the men first and pulled them from the wreckage, an ambulance carried them to the Grady hospital, where it was found that John New was suffering from internal injuries. Luke New, his brother, is painfully bruised.

SECRETARY OF STATE PUTS BULLET IN HEAD

Cause of the Suicide of Harry Woods, of Illinois, Is Unknown.

Springfield, Ill., October 12.—Secretary of State Harry Woods, one of the democratic senatorial candidates at the September primary and former operator on the Chicago Board of Trade, killed himself early yesterday. His body, with a bullet wound in the forehead and a pistol in the right hand, was discovered early today in a garage at the rear of his residence.

The find was made by Mrs. Woods and a neighbor whom she called when she became alarmed at her husband's absence.

No note of explanation was left by Woods and the only clue which would give a possible indication for a cause for the act was a bundle of papers showing extensive dealings with a Chicago brokerage house.

Mrs. Woods could assign no motive for her husband's deed.

John J. Coffey, assistant chief clerk in the auditor's office, was put in charge of the office of the secretary of state.

An examination of the accounts of the office will be started immediately. The last return of fees to the state treasury by Secretary Woods was on June 30, when the total was $370,536 for the quarter. No return had been made for the quarter ending September 30.

Woods' friends attributed his peculiarities to the effects of a blow on the head he received in a political fight in Chicago several years ago in which Representative John McLaughlin was elected to the senate. Woods had frequent clashes with the state civil service commission, and distributing it at the next convention.

Previous to the withdrawal of Dr. Book a spirited discussion of the resolution took place. Rev. R. Lee Bussanap, of Lubec, Maine, and Rev. S. S. Lappin, of Cincinnati, spoke in favor of the resolution. Rev. Graham Frank, secretary of the convention, defended the convention as at present organized.

Dr. White New President.

Dr. W. M. White, of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, was chosen president of the general convention at the Monday morning business session, succeeding Dr. H. M. Bell, of Des Moines, Iowa.

THOROUGH WORK BY GERMAN SPIES

Invaders Posted as to the Wealth of Towns in Belgium and France—Hardihood of the German Spies Remarkable.

Paris, October 12.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—The discrimination with which the Germans distributed war fines and requisitions in the towns they occupied in Belgium and France and the precision with which they chose the most solvent citizens as hostages has been a surprise, but when the details became known the explanation was simple. For instance, the first detachment of Uhlans that entered the city of Lille was welcomed by a man who was assigned as superintendent of an important factory in the city to rejoin his regiment.

At Soissons, when objections were raised to the exacting proportions of the requisitions, the commanding officer called his aide and turned out to be a well-known business man of the town, who, of course, knew its resources thoroughly. "You see," said the officer, pointing to the aide "there's no use resisting, we are posted by some one who knows."

Patience of German Spies.

Similar instances were reported from Belgium showing that the ground had been carefully studied; the ready money in every town estimated; every suitable horse and every ton of hay located, and the plans of every bridge drawn. At the siege of Mauberge have demonstrated how the great German mortars could immediately be put into action on arrival, thanks to macadam foundations prepared months, if not years, in advance, in the yards of a millinery factory. The land on which this factory was built was purchased by the Krupps through a go-between. The sale caused some talk at the time, but the matter was forgotten until the fall of Mauberge recalled the circumstances.

The patience, thoroughness and hardihood with which the German spies have worked are worthy of note. The range of the siege of Mauberge have demonstrated how the great German mortars could immediately be put into action on arrival, thanks to macadam foundations prepared months, if not years, in advance, in the yards of a millinery factory. The land on which this factory was built was purchased by the Krupps through a go-between. The sale caused some talk at the time, but the matter was forgotten until the fall of Mauberge recalled the circumstances.

The range of every fort was carefully taken in advance, and the Germans had, in addition, the benefit of a complete underground telephone system by which spies posted at one end of the line could communicate with the other end of every shot. In connection with the deposits of arms and uniforms in the establishments of German merchants in Antwerp, this confirms how thorough were the preparations.

Topography Studied.

As long ago as the topography of the region in which the battle of the Marne was fought was carefully studied by a company of spies who presented themselves even at the mayor's offices and at the prefectures as engineers studying the ground for new railway lines. They got all the information they wanted. When it was discovered that the projected railway lines were myths it was too late. They employed supposed artists to sketch fortifications and supposed fishermen to take the depths of streams. There probably was a spy in the ranks of the Germans and it is quite possible that there are river ferds indicated on their maps of which the French general staff is ignorant.

It was recently asserted that the German foreign office possessed a complete list of the inhabitants of France whose fortunes made them eligible hostages, as well as a blacklist of all those who had made themselves obnoxious by their avowed hostility to Germany.

Most of the men employed in the German secret service speak good English and frequently pass themselves off as Americans. One day the other day, after having penetrated to the General Manoury's headquarters, but his papers were not satisfactory and he was shot.

France Organized by Germans.

It was only when the general mobilization was ordered that the French began to realize to what extent their country had been organized by the enemy. Then it was remarked that at the end or near the end of many bridges having strategic importance there was a German factory.

Mauberge shows how close they got to the forts, and the Landernau Powder Mills still is a graver example of their audacity. This factory, while furnishing gun cotton to the government, was in the hands of Germans, and it has even been declared that the powder that blew up the battleships Iowa and Liberté was made of defective gun cotton furnished by this mill.

It is known that more than 5,000 German spies were arrested in Belgium, most of whom have been tried by court-martial. How many have been arrested in France no one knows, the government having succeeded in keeping an impervious veil over all these proceedings.

PAUL KRUGER'S NEPHEW ARRESTED BY GERMANS

London, October 12.—The Rev. Epke DeWart, a nephew of Paul Kruger, and at one time secretary of state for Transvaal and a general in the Boer war, arrived in London today after two months' detention in West Phalia.

Mr. DeWart is a resident of the Boer colony at Hohensalze, Tenn., and is an American citizen, but he was held by the Germans as a British subject. He applied to the American embassy in Berlin and was released.

GENT IS OCCUPIED BY GERMAN FORCES

London, October 12.—The Belgian town of Ghent is now occupied by the Germans, according to an Amsterdam dispatch to the Reuters Telegram company. Uhlans have arrived at Seizwaete, a short distance from Ghent, and the commander announced that 5,000 soldiers may be quartered in the village.

Paris, October 12.—The following official statement was given out at 11 o'clock tonight:

"There is nothing in particular to report.

"Violent attacks have occurred along the front. We have gained ground at some points and we have not lost at any place."

Paris, October 12.—The following official communication was given out in Paris this afternoon:

"First—On our left wing the cavalry engagements continue in the region of La Basse, Estaires and Hazebrouck. Between Arras and the Oise the enemy endeavored to deliver several attacks which failed, notably between Lassigny and Roye.

"Second—On the center we have made some progress on the plateau of the right bank of the Aisne, in front of Solsons, and east and southeast of Verdun.

"Third—On our right wing, in the Vosges, the enemy delivered a night attack in the region of Baz De Sapt, to the north of St. Die; they were repulsed.

GERMAN FLAG TAKEN BY FRENCH.

"The flag captured yesterday belongs to the Sixth regiment of active Pomeranian infantry, No. 49, of the Twentieth corps of the Prussian army. The brigade of marine fusiliers was engaged during all the day of October 9, and the night of October 9-10, against German forces and repulsed them, and at the same time inflicted heavy losses amounting to 200 men killed and 50 prisoners. The French losses amounted to nine killed, thirty-nine wounded and one missing.

"In the Belgian field: According to the latest information received here concerning the situation at Antwerp, the Germans occupy up to the present time only the suburbs of this city. The twenty-four forts on the two banks of the river Escout are resisting with energy.

"In Russia the fighting still continues with fierceness on the frontier of East Prussia. To the northwest of Lyck the Germans are retreating, destroying bridges.

"In southern Poland, between Ivangorod and Sandomir, there has been artillery fighting with columns of the

GERMAN SEA "RAT" SENDS TO BOTTOM RUSSIAN CRUISER

The Armored Cruiser Pallada Torpedoed and Sunk in the Baltic by German Submarine.

Petrograd, October 12.—An official communication, issued today, announces that on October 11 the Russian armored cruiser Pallada was torpedoed in the Baltic sea by a German submarine and sank with all her crew.

The text of the communication, which was made public by the marine department, follows:

"October 10—German submarines were sighted in the Baltic sea. The same day, early in the morning, the submarines attacked the cruiser Admiral Makarov, which had stopped to search a suspected bark flying the commercial flag of the Netherlands.

"A submarine of the enemy launched several torpedoes, which, luckily, missed the mark and caused no damage whatsoever to the cruiser.

"On October 11, at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, the submarines of the enemy again attacked our cruisers, Bayan and Pallada, which were patrolling the Baltic.

"Although the cruisers opened in time a very strong fire, one of the submarines succeeded in launching torpedoes against the Pallada, whereupon an explosion resulted and the cruiser sank with all her crew."

The armored cruiser Pallada carried a complement of 553 men. She measured 443 feet and had a displacement of 7,715 tons. Her speed was 27 knots. With the Admiral Marukov and the Bayan she constituted a group of cruisers known as the "Bayan class."

The Pallada carried two 8-inch guns, eight 8-inch guns, twenty-two 12-pounders and four 3-pounders, in addition to torpedo tubes. She was laid down in 1905.

UNITED STATES TROOPS TO LEAVE COLORADO

Wichita, Kan., October 12.—"I expect the federal troops will leave Colorado by the middle of November and if the strike is not settled by that time the state will be prepared to take charge of the situation."

"The militia probably will not be increased above its normal numbers."

Governor Ammons, of Colorado, who is here attending the International Dry Farming congress, thus summarized the mine strike situation in his state tonight.

That the lockout virtually will be settled by the time the federal troops leave is the opinion of the governor, who said he has assured the president that the state is amply able to maintain order.

enemy who have reached the Vistula. MORE BOMBS DROPPED ON PARIS. Paris, October 12.—A German aeroplane at 10:15 this morning dropped bombs between two railroad trains pulling out of the Northern railroad station. The missiles did not explode and were found in a trench 2 feet in the earth. The trains were crowded with passengers. It was officially announced that a Taube aeroplane had flown over Paris this morning and thrown down six bombs. Five French aviators went up to pursue the German airman. A new squadron of air craft has been formed to deal with German aviators.

Tobacco Habit Easily Conquered

A well-known New Yorker of wide experience has written a book telling how the tobacco or snuff habit may be easily and permanently broken in three days with delightful benefit. The health improves wonderfully after the nicotine is out of the system. Calmness, tranquil sleep, clear eyes, normal appetite, good digestion, and a strong memory and a general gain in efficiency are among the many benefits reported. No more of that nervous feeling, no more need of pipe, cigar, cigarette or chewing tobacco to give the morbid desire. The author, Edward W. Wood, 153-A Station E, New York City, will send his book free of application to anyone who writes to him.

been formed to deal with German aviators. Another German bomb was dropped today in a suburb of Paris, but did not explode. This missile fell within a short distance of a gasolin tank with a capacity of 30,000 gallons.

The campaign in northern France and the fall of Antwerp were forgotten for a time today by the news of the capture of the throwing of bombs on the capital from German aeroplanes, as a result of which three persons were killed yesterday and fourteen wounded. At the same time officials adopted measures looking to the prevention of similar acts in the future.

DEADLY WORK DONE BY BOMBS

London, October 12.—Telegraphing from Paris Sunday The Daily Chronicle's correspondent says eight bombs from German aeroplanes fell in Paris during the night of the 11th and 12th.

"As far as I can discover," the correspondent says, "one fell in the square before the Hotel de Ville, one in the Rue de la Republique, one in the Rue du Rocher near the railroad station, one struck a coal depot near the Northern railroad station, one fell near the Boulevard Bonnes Nouvelles, one in the Rue Bourdaloue near the church of St. Louis, one in the Rue de la Chapelle, and one in the Rue Lafayette.

GREAT SUCCESS FOR THE FRENCH

London, October 12.—One of the correspondents in France, The Daily Mail, in a message dated Saturday, says:

"A desperate battle was fought yesterday in the district to the north of Arras. It ended in a brilliant success for the French arms, the German forces being driven back 10 to 15 miles. This was the decisive conflict in the Arras district, which the tide of battle has ebbed to and fro for days. The German losses yesterday are said to have been approximately 10,000 killed and wounded.

Great Battle Will Be Fought To Keep Germans From Ostend

London, October 12.—The news of German movements between Antwerp and Ostend up to the present is so fragmentary and contradictory as to be almost worthless.

The Germans are maintaining their customary secrecy and reports coming from Belgium and Dutch sources of heavy repulses to the Germans with losses suspiciously large are looked at askance nowadays. The capture of Ostend, of course, would be worth the possession of many Antwerps to the German plans, so it may not enter the popular seaside resort without fighting for every foot of the way.

Antwerp Defenders Were Routed, According to the German Report

THE EARL SAYS GERMANY INTENDS TO HOLD ANTWERP AND DOMINATE HOLLAND.

London, October 12.—Earl Curzon, of Kedleston, formerly viceroy of India, in a speech at a war meeting at Harrow school tonight, said:

"Germany has taken a sweeping to forcing the port of it, to use it as a great jumping-off place for her future attacks upon the continent, and to make it a permanent occupation unless we make it see."

The speaker added that by fortifying Antwerp, Germany would secure a grip on the whole of Belgium, make Holland a mere appendage, and settle down to her main object—the destruction of this country.

In his opinion more than one Christmas would roll by before the ending of the German domination. He advised his hearers not to begin to divide up the German empire "before you have got hold of it."

Censor Has Twisted Tourniquet on News From the Battlefields

Important Fighting in Progress in Belgium, but British War Office Gives No Hint of the Outcome—French War Office Reports Little Change in the Situation—Reports Indicate That Russians Have Been Forced to Abandon Investment of the Fortress of Przemysl.

London, October 12.—The finger of the censor having twisted the tourniquet on all sources of news from Belgium, just now perhaps the most potentially important scene of the fighting, the British people were forced to content themselves today with the official communication from Paris, and even a close analysis of this showed no marked change in the situation favoring either side.

From the east came tidings of a decided reversal in form, the dispatches both from Vienna and Petrograd indicating that the Austrian army at Przemysl, so often reported surrendered, hopelessly outclassed and on the verge of surrender, had turned on the Russians with the aid of reinforcements and forced them to retreat.

RUSSIAN REVERSES ARE CLAIMED.

The first news of this claim emanated during the morning from the Austrian capital. It was followed later in the day by what purports to be a Petrograd admission that the Russians had abandoned the siege of Przemysl for strategic reasons, with the object of drawing up a new line against the Austro-German army in other points in Galicia.

WOMEN VOLUNTEERS

In stress and trouble the women of a nation are always to be counted upon. In Serbia the women went to the front with muskets in their hands; they were as strong and brave as the men on the firing line. In this country few of our women escape the weakening troubles peculiar to their sex.

For every disease or ailment of a womanly character, no matter how recent or how long standing, the one sure, reliable remedy of proved merit is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is prepared from nature's roots and herbs and does not contain a particle of alcohol or any narcotic. It's not a secret prescription, for its ingredients are printed on the wrapper.

Women are earnestly advised to take it for irregular or painful periods, backache, headache, displacement, catarrhal condition, hot flashes, sallow complexion and nervousness.

For girls about to enter womanhood, women about to become mothers and for the changing days of middle age Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription should always be on hand.

Write Dr. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for free 126-page book on women's diseases. Every woman should have one.

ANTWERP STRUCK BY MANY SHELLS

Estimated That Germans Threw 4,000 Missiles Into the Belgian City—People Thrown Into a Panic.

London, October 12.—Describing the massive fires in Antwerp during the bombardment The Daily Mail's Bogou-Zoon, Holland, correspondent, in a dispatch dated Sunday, says firemen tried to extinguish the flames, but thirty shells or shrapnel fell among them, killing several and wounding two, discouraging them from further attempts.

"The Antwerp aldermen and some of the city notables gathered every day in the cellars of the town hall with a view to the neutral countries," continues the message. "The municipal employees working in the offices in a neighboring street threatened to leave. They sent a deputation to the aldermen, who allowed them to go with their families to a last mass in the cathedral Thursday at 10 o'clock. The church then was closed. Monsignor Cleynhous Doyen, of the cathedral, passed the following night in the cellars of the Anna Eyn school, with a view to the neutral countries," said Zoon and gave holy communion and later having consulted with Cardinal Mercier, he left town. He could hire no vehicle and was obliged to buy a carriage and horse for $120 (400) on Wednesday morning.

LONDON PREPARES FOR ZEPPELINS.

Probably stirred by the bomb-throwing exploits of German aircraft over the coast, London is preparing for such visitors and has ordered that a search be made for persons living near the coast who are likely to be the first sound of firing, as there will be no time to spread the news in any manner.

Recruiting through Great Britain, particularly in London, has been booming, since the fall of Antwerp, and the Germans are being brought from there to Ostend having seemingly brought the war close home in the Netherlands.

DEMOCRATS WHO FIGHT NOMINEES ARE SCORED

Judge E. J. Reagan Issues Card Urging a Big Vote on November 3.

Judge E. J. Reagan, chairman of the state democratic committee, has issued a letter to the democrats of Georgia, scoring men who were candidates for office in the democratic primary and who are now running on the progressive or "bull moose" ticket against the democratic candidates.

"The democrats of Georgia," he writes, "I desire to call your attention to the fact that some of the democratic nominees are to have their names on the November election. Several persons calling themselves progressive or 'bull moose' are now opposing the democratic nominees. While there may be no real danger in this movement, it will be well for every member of the democratic party to turn out and vote on the third day of November."

"Most, if not all, of these men who are now fighting the nominees voted in the August primary, and some of them were candidates in that primary, running as democrats. How can any man vote in a primary and then vote against the nominees in that primary is hard to understand, but every democrat in the state the importance of voting in the November election. # DEALERS IN GRAIN WILL BUY COTTON

President of Association Declares Southern Farmers Best Domestic Customers and Deserve Assistance.

An Associated Press dispatch from Kansas City tells of a movement set on foot yesterday in that city urging the grain dealers to buy cotton.

In helping the cotton farmer you are helping yourselves, for you are putting your best customer on his feet."

The cotton buying movement was materially boosted along yesterday by the following purchases:

Today Brings a New and Fine Exposition of Fall Suits

When the suit question is absorbing the thought of so many women, we would impress this fact as forcibly as we can—

The display of Suits we shall make today represents our most successful efforts of the season.

Yesterday's express brought literally hundreds of suits, and every one is a selected model.

Never believing in bulk buying in order to have an impressive quantity of suits, our buyer went into New York on his second trip this season to take full advantage of every late style development, to select such suits that we could announce as the authentic and authoritative styles of the moment.

The latest shipment is arriving at this writing. It is so fine, made up of so many and such smart, novel styles that we know today's display means genuine pleasure to every woman searching for a suit.

What are they? See!

The elements of their charms, as we would write them, would read as those of hundreds and hundreds of suits that were anything but distinctive—broadcloths, serges, chevots, gabardines, braid and fur trimmings—but the way these elements are used!

Prices start at $19.75 and go very gradually up to $97.50. But worthy of particular note are these from $25.00 to $55.00.

HELPING OURSELVES.

There is something definite and substantial in the plan of the bankers to provide a cotton loan fund of $150,000,000, and there is ground for gratifying hope in the fact that the bankers outside the cotton growing states propose to subscribe two thirds of this fund, that the bankers of outside states are ready to lend a helping hand where congressmen are not.

Representatives of Georgia banks and Georgia clearing house associations have been called to meet here tomorrow to consider this plan and to arrange for a subscription of $10,000,000 to the fund from this state. Only a few days ago the Atlanta banks alone came promptly forward with their subscription of $500,000 for the $100,000,000 fund raised to protect the credit of the United States abroad.

In the cotton crisis we have an emergency that strikes us closer home, one, too, which is of equal national importance. Since it has been demonstrated that there is no hope in Washington, it has come to be a case of helping ourselves, and Georgia will, in this emergency, measure fully up to expectations.

This cotton loan fund of $150,000,000 will, under the plan proposed, take care of something like 3,000,000 bales, or one-third of the 1914 crop. It will bring $30,000,000 to Georgia to finance something like a million bales. It will remove practically all the distressed cotton from the market, or leave so little of it that the remainder can easily be cared for through local agencies. It will enable the planter to meet his most pressing obligations, it will give him opportunity to renew his supplies and put him in position to get about his next season's work.

It will do more than this. Along with material it will bring mental relief. It will not only tide him over the present crisis, but leave to him the knowledge that he was not forced to sacrifice his crop, but will have something more coming to him when the demand that is bound to come reaches out for the product with the cash to pay the price.

There can be no better insurance against overproduction in 1915 than withholding from the market this 5,000,000 bales of distressed cotton. Each owner of a bale will feel that he has something more coming to him, possibly as much more as he has received in the shape of an advanced loan, that will be wholly dependent upon 1915 production, and that the amount he will really get will depend largely, if not almost altogether, upon what is produced next season.

It will act as an inducement to diversification more powerful even than legislation, for the motive force will be self interest. The farmer who planted twenty acres this year will more quickly reduce them to ten when he understands it means a difference between 6 and 12 cents a pound for him. The object lesson will strike home, there is no question as to the difference in value between, for example, twelve bales bringing $360 and eight bales bringing $480, with the opportunity given of raising valuable food supplies on acreage formerly devoted to cotton.

Here is a definite and specific plan of action that promises relief. It is the outgrowth of a suggestion coming from President Festus Wade, of the Mercantile Trust Company of St. Louis, it is a plan which, in the execution, with assistance from friendly sources throughout the country, we can make our own.

It is an opportunity rather than a burden to the Georgia bankers, and we do not question they will be found ready and willing to contribute their full share to its success.

ONE STATE CAN DO NOTHING.

Until there is brought forward some specific plan for legislative enactment for the relief of the cotton crisis, upon which every cotton producing state can and will unite, or at least the substantial basis for such a plan, there is nothing worth while that can be accomplished by calling together the legislature of a single state simply for talk and possible action that might find no voice of approval in any other general assembly.

This is what The Constitution has maintained all along. State action, without uniformity, or state action through one legislature and an absence of action in the others can accomplish nothing. One state alone is powerless to afford relief, either to itself or to all the rest.

We have no question that if Governor Slaton could have had any assurance of uniformity of action throughout the cotton states, or if there had been presented a plan for relief which, with reasonable certainty, the other states would have adopted, and which would be legal, he would have called an extraordinary session of the Georgia legislature to take cognizance of it. But with the lights before him, with the doubtful nature of the plans suggested for relief through legislative enactment, from a standpoint of constitutionality, and with the practical certainty, viewed in the light of widely varying opinion, that no two states would adopt the same plan, Governor Slaton could not consistently have taken any other attitude than he did in refusing to convoke the legislature in extraordinary session at this time.

It is possible, of course, that there may be some plan presented upon which all of the states can and will agree, but it has not as yet made its appearance. National action would have solved the problem for all the states in a single measure, which would have been uniform in its application and operative upon all alike, but unfortunately we may no longer hope for assistance from that source from which we had every right to expect it.

We are not unmindful of the fact that each state feels that it has at heart the interests of its producers and its people, but in the absence of any guarantee or assurance of cooperation, what single state can afford to bind itself by iron-clad legal enactment?

ATLANTA'S NEW Y. M. C. A.

Illustrative of Atlanta's splendid progressive spirit is the completion of the new Young Men's Christian Association building on Luckie street that was opened this week to the men and boys of Atlanta.

This well-equipped and magnificent building, the product of the individual investments of Atlanta's citizens, affords an institution unsurpassed for the purpose to which it is devoted by that of any other city in the south. It was Atlanta's duty to build it, her citizens met the obligation and, through their subscriptions, it is now complete and ready for its service in returning dividends far and away ahead of the investment it represents.

Atlanta's new Y. M. C. A. proposes to deal with the boy physical, the boy mental and the boy spiritual, in no sense through force or compulsion, but by the far more powerful and effective methods of example and appeal to his reason and understanding, and by making the surroundings and methods of instruction so attractive and so inviting that they will draw and hold his attention.

It will offer very much the same service to the men of Atlanta who desire to take advantage of it, and there can be no question that the wide range of splendid facilities which it offers for physical exercise, for association, for instruction and for wholesome and restful pleasures, together with its many service facilities, will attract hundreds of Atlanta's men and boys who have long thought of and wished for just such facilities as Atlanta's new Y. M. C. A. now brings them.

Atlanta has given them this building, and it should be the pride of her men and boys to make the greatest possible success of it. They should not only join it, but they should use it in all of its various departments. In the hours when they are free from work, they should make the Y. M. C. A. the busiest and the most popular place in Atlanta.

We believe they will do it, and that its active membership will speedily grow until, in proportion to population, it surpasses anything in the country. Therein will it return to Atlanta splendid dividends upon her investment—dividends in men of strength and vigor, who will not only know how to bear her burdens, but will be able to carry on the magnificent work of progress and rebuilding in which their fathers have set them so fine an example.

IN A NOBLE CAUSE.

One old and steadfast friend, the dog, breaks the proverbial record by having several distinguished days awarded him in Atlanta at the first dog show to be given here under the auspices of the American Kennel Club of New York.

The show, which opened Monday, will continue through Tuesday and Wednesday, and is in all respects a notable one, there being over 400 entries of the aristocracy of the canine kingdom, the larger percentage of which is local.

There is great interest in the show, at which prizes offered, not only by the merchants of Atlanta and others, but by visitors, will be awarded, but the chief interest centers in the fact that the proceeds will be given to the Home for the Incurables.

It is unnecessary to speak of the benefits conferred by this noble charitable institution, which has housed the homeless and afflicted and ministered to their sufferings so many years. The record of its work for humanity is more than local, and has high place on the lists of like institutions throughout the country.

The mere statement that the institution will be financially benefited by the show should greatly increase the attendance.

JUST FROM GEORGIA

October's Gold. You know you've reached the promised land to which you long were bound. For here's October, smiling bright, an' scatterin' gold around.

It's good to glimpse the gleam of it in all the land once more. I don't care if the gold won't pass there—at the grocery store.

'Pears like you're in a country that's been all made over new. The chap that dreamed that he was rich thinks that his dream's come true, He feels like sayin' to himself "The trouble-time is past."

The gold the world's been dreamin' of is rakin' down at last!

Oh, it's great to meet the mornin' in these bright October days. Though the birds have ceased their singin', all life's a song of praise, And I with empty pockets rich treasures behold.

An' 'tis a falltime millionaire, rich with October's gold.

Some people are always talking about rest for the weary; but the trouble is they get weary six days in the week and have to rest up all day Sunday.

"The War Nurse." The work of the "war nurse" recalls Longfellow's famous tribute to her.

"Lo! in that house of misery A lady with a lamp I see, Pans through the glimmering gloom, And flit from room to room.

"And slow, as in a dream of bliss The speechless sufferer turns to kiss Her shadow, as it falls Upon the darkening walls.

"On England's ramparts, through the long Hooter of her speech and song, A light its rays shall cast From the portals of the past.

"A lady with a lamp shall stand In the great history of the land, A noble type of good Heroic womanhood."

Good Intentions Gone Wrong. Uncle Judd Lewis writes that "in the second-hand clothing give generously to the flood sufferers a man six feet tall and three inches wide drew a full-dress suit contributed by a man six feet wide and three feet tall, and when the tall man put it on and approached his wife the tall did not know him and kicked him across two counties and made him sorry that he was born before the flood. Buy good, serviceable garments, made of cotton if you run out of pecans and toys and what to send clothing."

In Life's Happy Land. I think a fiddle's music beats any old brass band. An ever-time I hear it I'm in life's happy land. It's then I leave the valley for a high place on the hill.

I throw my troubles to the winds, to blow em where they will. It's joy-time, my honey"— That's the very word For a fiddle beats the music Of any singin'-bird.

Now, nigh an' far you hear em an' a thrill o' joy you feel To zit once more a-go'in' in a old Virginny reel. In happy land—I reckon! An' here's one chap today That's ready at a fiddle's call, to dance the world away!

"It's joy-time, my honey!" So take joy by the hand You don't have far to travel To reach life's happy land.

The Joyless Race. He raced for money so hard" says the Old Philosopher "that he forgot all about Love and in the end he had a pyramid of shining dollars with a cold, metallic ring to them but he missed the music of the sweet song that Love was singing and, knocking at Love's door, he was dead."

He Said It. This is the way The Adams Enterprise poot sizes up the situation.

"The world is mighty wild with war— At least at this here writin' No matter what they do or say for Like I—I they are a fightin'!"

Queer Local Items. These odd items from rural exchanges.

"W. S. Maxon received a severe wound on the right foot by a cow stepping and turning around on it."

"When Jesse Martin, of King City found one of his calves chewed up he suspected a dog."

The World-End Prophecy. Philosopher Vance says that all Musket Ridge is agog over the prophecy that the end of time will be in October—of the present year—and he makes this comment.

"Same old prophecy, same old superstition, same old war! I here gone ahead and bought socks and such like for the whole winter through and if the prophet does hit it, I have simply paid out money that was unnecessary, that's all."

Baby Valued at 6 Cents. (From The Detroit Free Press) The life of a child 18 months old was estimated at Detroit by jurist John A. The Holland Letter

On the last day of September, ten millions in gold was exported in fact to Ottawa, Canada, but so far an international financial war, as concerned, failed to London.

For Ottawa has been constituted through one of the banks there an agent or representative of the Bank of England.

In the last week of August, commodities of the money value of twenty millions, round numbers, were exported from the port of New York. What was the money value of exports from other ports of the United States was not known at the time.

The custom house figures for the port of New York were made public as soon as reports were made at the custom house in millions in gold to Ottawa and the export for the last week of September of commodities of the money value of twenty millions was made public, it did not fail to occur to leaders in the financial district that these two exports would in the course of time, and very likely speedily be found to bear important relations such to the other.

American industries have been occasionally in this column of negotiations which were in progress between representatives of other nations than our own, particularly those now engaged in war, and American manufacturers and traders in these negotiations have necessarily been confidential.

A voluntary censorship has been established so as to protect the transactions or keep them from the public eye. That is to say, chiefly in the case of other nations than those interested shall have no immediate knowledge of these transactions.

Of course the normal and healthful competition between American industries also sheltered the transactions to some extent to certain, however that sooner or later there would be disclosure of some of these transactions made by the records published by authorities of the custom house in this city. It was in September and throughout October and all the fall the custom house report showed heavy exports, then it could be confidently assumed that England, France, Italy, Russia and Japan were receiving a vast amount of American goods in August, however no one ventured to predict that it would be possible to report on the first of October that the port of New York would have carried in its shipments from the custom house of twenty millions for, in the first place, twenty millions is of larger money value than that recorded for any export from New York in any preceding last week in September.

In the second place, our exports have been falling off and there have been none as large as this since the latter part of March of this year. Then again, exports were blocked, so to speak, immediately after the war broke out in the middle of August reached an alarmingly low figure.

A Sea Change. Suddenly there comes an swift and great change in our international trade as was ever recorded. In the first half of September there was a loss of four million dollars in the money value of exports as compared with a like period a year ago, whereas in the last two weeks there was a gain in a like period of approximately seven million dollars.

It is not possible to report in detail the various commodities which made up this export whose money value was twenty million dollars, but it is safe to say that there were some military supplies and considerable export of iron and steel products.

The encouraging feature of this report is found in the fairly good symptom it furnishes of continued heavy exports during the rest of the fall.

Meantime imports are not likely to be greatly increased. We shall have little or no imports from Germany, probably none at all from Belgium. Our trade with England will so far as imports are concerned, be considerably curtailed. What the international trade with South America will be some day no one can predict, but the opinion is commonly held here that we shall maintain and increase our large trade with Canada.

There seems to be no doubt that the way will speedily be found by which our cotton trade will be freed from the setback which was occasioned by the war. How great that setback was is shown by the report from Washington which states that in August cotton exports were of the money value of $20,000,000, and in the like period last year the money value of cotton exports was nearly seventeen million dollars.

The Gold Pool and Exports. The ten millions in gold which was shipped from New York to Ottawa on the evening of September 30 furnished a good supply of coin against which foreign exchange can be drawn. The movement itself represents that unparalleled co-operation which has made the success of the National Export Loan subscribers, each according to its own strength, to this gold pool. The banks of New York city in anticipation of the completion of this equipment, advanced the ten millions as they had already sent to Canada their millions as a basis for the payment of existing obligations of New York city.

If by this artificial method which has attained nation to nation it is possible for American merchants and exporters and those who have made finance bills and the city of New York to pay their existing debts there should be speedily a reflex effect on the money value of the exports of American commodities. The money value of the exports from the port of New York for the last week of September was almost exactly twice the money value of the gold which was shipped on the last day of September. In normal times exports of this kind would have indicated the creation of a large credit balance on the other side of the sea or the imports of gold with which to meet a trade deficit. It needs no arguing to show that continued exports of the money value each week of the exports of the last week of September will speedily create conditions on the other side of the sea which will make it needless for us to utilize any more gold. Probably financial conditions across the sea will compel England and probably France so to handle the money market situation that exchange will remain at a time slightly above the gold exporting point. But with heavy exports such as are now clearly indicated, it will be impracticable for any length of time to maintain this high rate of exchange. The reports of considerable limitation in the amount of gold which will have to be taken from the gold pool of one hundred millions in order to protect our international financial relations.

WHIPPING AUSTRIA.

By GEORGE FITZEL, Author of "At Good Old Slawak"

Whipping Austria has been the pastime of European nations for one thousand years. No country staps so low in the international Cannonball league as France, Italy, Sardinia, Prussia, Spain, Turkey and the Netherlands.

Napoleon took great delight in fighting Austria. It rested and refreshed him after his severer battles. He changed the map of Austria so often that the map makers issued extra like yellow journals and he helped himself to 30,000,000 florins and a new ocean at one swoop. France and Sardinia beat it in 1859. Prussia whipped it in a practice war in 1866 before tackling France. France beat the Austrians in the middle of the last century the sound of pain and anger in the European concern meant that someone was taking something away from Austria.

But Austria is larger than ever. This is partly because whenever a slice of territory was carved off by one nation several other jealous nations made it give up another slice in exchange. No nation could afford to let any other nation grab too much. And so Austria throughout history has been a depository for territory which no one else wanted at the time. It has owned Italy, Holland, Alsace, Servia, Bavaria and Switzerland at various times or another—until someone else needed them.

If Austria loses again it will go on the operating table once more, while Italy, Servia and Russia stand over it and mark out upon the unhappy patient the parts they desire to slice off. If Austria wins, she may get back Servia, Montenegro and Venice. But win or lose, her map will be changed. It always is. An unbroken precedent requires that a treaty of peace in Europe must be accompanied by a revision of Austria to make the balance of power back true.

"If Austria loses again it will go on the operating table once more."

The Hand That Rules the World. They say that man is mighty, he governs land and sea. He wields a mighty sceptre o'er lesser powers that be. By a mightier power and stronger man from his throne is hailed, the title of the world is the hand that rules the world.

Blessings on the hand of woman! Angels guard its strength and grace, In the palace cottage, hovel, oh, no matter where the place! Would that never storms assailed it, rain, drought or gently assailed it, For the hand that rocks the cradle is the hand that rules the world.

Infancy's tender fountain, power may with beauty flow, Mother's first to guide the streamlets, from their souls unsetting grow. Grow on for the good or evil, sunshine strewn or darkness hurled, For the hand that rocks the cradle is the hand that rules the world.

Woman how divine your mission here upon our natal sod! Keep oh keep the young heart open always to the breath of God! All true trophies of the ages are from mother-love impregnated, For the hand that rocks the cradle is the hand that rules the world.

Blessings on the hand of woman! fathers, sons and daughters cry, And the sacred song is mingled with the worship in the sky—Mingles where no tempest darkens, rainbows evermore are curled, For the hand that rocks the cradle is the hand that rules the world.

Peace. (By Ben F. Hill Chipley, Ga.) I would that I could pour the balm of Gilead On the heads of those who seek to draw each other a blood, And thus they drown the warring nations In a cruel, crimson flood.

Would that I could in each heart of hatred, love to fellow men instill, So that they'd heed the words of wisdom spoken by the Master on the sea of Galilee, He who said to all those angry, lashing waters, "Peace be still!"

Would that I could follow in the wake of those who tread the gory paths of blood, Destroying homes, peace, happiness and all of human joy, Would that I could gather up from all its Wanton ruins each dear mother's son, I'd give him back to her who bore him— Ah yes, indeed the gold without alloy, her hope and happiness her loved boy!

Therefore fly quickly, thou dear "Dove of Peace" Though drooped and weary be thy wings, storm beaten by the ocean crest, Haste thee, dear bird, and linger long and near the lands, Where bleeding soldiers find no welcome joys or peaceful rest.

Go spread the wings o'er Verdun, Aisne, Rheims and Louvain, Who from their living sorrows find no succor, Go hover near the dead and dying and over their untimely mounds Drop our green olive leaf of peace!

Mississippi Governor Will Not Ask for Ban On State Cotton Crop

(From The New Orleans Times-Picayune) Jackson, Miss., October 9.—Governor Brewer adheres to his former expressed determination not to call the legislature to enact a law preventing farmers from planting cotton next year. Citizens of Holmes county have stirred up a good deal of enthusiasm in favor of a special session of the legislature, calling members over the telephone to get their ideas on the proposition. The majority of the members of the senate were questioned, and out of thirty who answered twenty-five favored special session, two were opposed and three non-committal. The same parties are now interviewing the members of the lower house. They seem to believe that when the governor finds out the sentiment of the law-makers he will issue a call.

But Governor Brewer stands pat. He states that he has talked to a great many people about this matter and that the great majority of them are opposed. He says further he has talked to a number of the foremost lawyers in the state and feels that it would be contrary to the state and federal constitutions. He takes the position that congress is the only lawmaking body that has the power to prohibit the planting of cotton. The leaders of this movement go to congress with their demands.

The governor states that there are considerable portions of Mississippi in which there are no cotton farms. The prohibition of such a law would try to stop the planting of cotton. If you can grow any other crop, such as corn, wheat, potatoes, or other crops, and it is ridiculous to think that could be done without violating the constitutions of the state and nation.

Governor Brewer is decidedly of the opinion that the farmers must be their own judges in this matter and that they have it in their power to so greatly reduce acreage that it will not affect the supply. With half a crop of cotton and an abundance of food crops and live stock he thinks Mississippi will be able to weather the storm.

THE ILL-TEMPERED MAN. This is the man who has a master. His ill-temper is an admission that there is someone over him or something for often he allows even a trivial duty to lash him. If he were his own master he couldn't possibly be doing a thing he didn't want to do. He who runs things has the unpleasant duties of life as a matter of course he expects to put out a sprat to catch a whale. He doesn't expect life to be all enjoyment, and more than that he expects to get rich on an empty ship. He who is ill-tempered proves that the wearer is not taking life as a serious business. He is cry out for pleasure, he can only cry out for pleasure.

THE RUSSIAN ANTHEM. (From The Indianapolis News) The Russian national hymn, a grandly stirring anthem, heard in the city of All-Terrible. It is of more recent origin than the national hymns of other countries—than Germany with Deutschland, Ueber Alles, England with God Save the King, Austria with Hebraica, Eterna, Hymna, Belgium with the Brabantine, and France with the Marseillaise. The Russian anthem was the work of the Russian composer Liadoff, in response to a request by Emperor Nicholas II. The hymn possessed no national hymn. When the composer announced that the hymn was ready, both words and music the emperor signified a desire to hear it, and on November 25, 1883, the hymn was first performed by the empress and Grand Duke Michael, with the composer and assembled a large choir supported by two orchestras. The sovereign says in his history of the hymn that he ordered the hymn to be played over several times and asked to hear it sung without accompaniment. Then he had it played by each orchestra in turn and finally with an united body of performers. He then said to me in French: "It is really superb" and there and then he commanded Count Benckendorf to inform the minister of war that the hymn was adopted for the army. The hymn was first performed on December 4, 1883. The first public performance took place on December 11 at the Grand theater, Moscow. The emperor was apparently desirous of submitting my work to the approval of the emperor. On December 25 the hymn resounded through the halls of the Winter palace on the occasion of the blessing of the colors."

DOUBT RHEIMS CAN BE RESTORED. (From The New York Tribune.) Gilbert White, the American artist who decorated the McAlpin lobby, and who also has to his credit the decorations of the Kentucky state capitol, as well as numerous other mural decorations in this country, said yesterday to a newspaper man that it would be almost impossible to restore the cathedral which the Germans destroyed at Rheims.

"How can they restore it?" asked Mr. White. "You can't restore a sublime structure like that. Remember, will you, that the cathedrals of the world are the finest architecture expressed the period that it was built when men were putting their souls into the work they built. How can our men of today try as they will, restore it?"

It is just the same with the reproduction of a landscape by one of the two masters whose names have made history. Your copy is good, but there is always an elusive something that is not there, something that even the most uneducated observer can see. Just what is lacking is difficult to describe, but when analyzed it is seen to be the soul of the creator that makes a great painting or a superb piece of architecture worthwhile.

STUDIES ITALY'S THRIFT. Simon W. Strauss, president of the American Society of Thrift Living Methods of Thrift used in Italy. He has been surprised to learn that in the last thirty years savings in Italy have more than quadrupled, having risen from $25,000,000 to $1,000,000,000. The chief means of inducing thrift are the ordinary savings banks which number about 200, with nearly 3,000,000 depositors, whose deposits total $900,000,000 and the postoffice savings banks which have an average of $450,000,000. The remainder of the savings are held by co-operative societies of credit and by the savings departments attached to the state bank and other establishments.

WHEN NAPOLEON DIED. (From "A Diary of Jas. Gallatin in Europe") In St. Denis, a village in France, on July 15, 1821. The news had just arrived of the death of Napoleon. He died on the 5th day of May. I was much astonished at the way the news was received. The hero which the whole French nation had worshiped, when all Europe had trembled before it, might have been an ordinary actor who had died. Really one could feel great disgust. A mighty man, whose name was with 200 his name. The first I heard of it was cried about the streets "La Mort de Napoleon a St. Helena, Deux Sous." Oh, the irony of it!

FEDERAL AID IS THE ONLY REMEDY

Gov. Slaton Points Out the Futility of State Enacting Legislation to Curtail the Cotton Crop of the South.

Governor John M. Slaton has written The Constitution a card commending its editorial of Sunday, under the caption of "The Responsibility Fixed."

Beyond Power of States.

"How unwise for the states to attempt to curtail the cotton crop by giving Congress the excuse that the states have undertaken a work with which it will not interfere."

"Now through a mistaken sense of loyalty to the administration and to certain officials, some of those who clamored most loudly for government action to curtail the cotton crop of the South, are now clamoring for a return to the status quo."

"This is contrary to our form of constitutional government, wherein the legislative, executive and judicial branches are separate."

"The people who do not do so are not free, and under any other interpretation loyalty becomes servility."

OCTOBER SHEET SIGNED BY MAYOR

The Board of Education Will Meet This Afternoon to Name Teachers to End Double Sessions.

Within a few minutes after it had reached him Monday, Mayor James G. Woodward attached his signature to the October apportionment sheet and thereby released $11,515 apportioned for the use of the school board in breaking up the double sessions.

The action of the mayor practically puts an end to the most serious school problem the board of education faced in years—the problem of teaching more children than Atlanta's school-houses can accommodate.

At 2:30 o'clock this afternoon the board will meet and will appoint forty-three additional teachers, and on Wednesday morning the double session menace will be a thing of the past and the school system restored to a more practicable and efficient basis.

Superintendent Slaton stated Monday that just as soon as the school board approves his appointments he will immediately assign the teachers to their classes, and that on Wednesday every class in the city will have an individual instructor, and each class will be composed of not more than forty-five students.

MAY USE SAME BALLOT.
Important Decision Made by Attorney General.

Attorney General Warren Grice has handed down an opinion to the effect that the election to both state and national offices at the same time, in the same polling places and in the same ballot boxes at the coming general election, is legal under the Georgia laws. He states that, if desired, all names may appear on the same ballot.

Raise $1,000 Fund To Buy Text Books For Poor Children

Through the efforts of Major R. J. Gunn and President George M. Hope, of the board of education, a fund of nearly $1,000 has been raised for the purpose of buying school books for poor children, numbering over 400.

This fund assures that no child will be kept out of school because of lack of books.

"400" OF DOGDOM GATHERS FOR SHOW

Blue Ribbon Winners From All Parts of the Country Are Competing for Prizes Today.

More than 350 canine aristocrats are being shown under the auspices of the Atlanta Kennel club today in the show rooms of the Carteret company.

Among those who view Monday day that the exhibition is one of the finest ever brought together in the south. Not only are Atlanta's best dogs being shown, but there are blue ribbon winners here from all over the country. A majority of the dogs are American-bred, but there are quite a few who have been brought over from other countries in the past.

The judging will begin Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock. The judges will be James M. Steffen, of Birmingham, judge of terriers and bull dogs, and Dr. J. B. DeLand, of Brooklyn, judge of all other breeds.

Some Fine Dogs.
Among some of the finest dogs shown is Towser London, Windsor Cunnally's prize English bulldog, the winner of more than fifty ribbons at C. R. Robinson is showing his great giant bloodhound, Robinson's Tony, and Mrs. W. L. Peely's Midget, a tiny toy black and tan, is attracting attention of the visitors.

Among the out-of-town entries are Manchu Prince Ching, a Pekingesee, owned by Mrs. G. L. Hayward, of New York; Crow Hill Specter, an Alreada, owned by Dr. H. M. Schuffert, and Village Flirt, a bull terrier, owned by Mrs. M. E. Smith.

There is a strong brace of newly-imported wire-haired Fox terriers, Leeds Wireless and Leeds Halilina. These dogs are probably the most expensive dogs in the show. They are valued at about $250 apiece.

The Nunnally entries, Toxaway Peggy Dorchester, who won two cups at Birmingham; Ransome, who is being shown for the first time, and Hewlett Reid Orr.

Russian Wolf Hound.
The most picturesque dog of the exhibit is Frank Adair's Russian wolf hound.

Miss Katherine Dickey's toy Boston terrier, Peg of My Heart, is attracting considerable attention.

The following are serving on the bench committee: Meyer Regenstein, chairman; Willard Slaton, R. C. Congdon, Stewart Witham, William Dickey, W. V. Zimmer, L. F. Shelver, Joseph M. Lynch, E. D. Tatum, Martin May, Joe Brown, Connally, J. H. Bogman, M. E. Deane, W. H. Harting, O. Chestnut, William Dobson, J. R. A. Hobson, C. E. Pritchett.

GORDON GRAND JURY OPPOSES A CHARTER FOR L. & N. RAILROAD

Calhoun, Ga., October 12.—(Special.) The grand jury for the adjourned term of Gordon county superior court adjourned here Saturday after returning forty-two indictments. Among the recommendations was the following:

"We respectfully call attention to the efforts now being made by the Georgia and Nashville railroad to secure a charter for a railroad from Cartersville to Atlanta. Such a railroad would parallel the Western and Atlantic railroad and greatly depreciate its value, and therefore we respectfully recommend that steps be taken by proper authorities to prevent the granting of said charter, and if necessary that the grand jury call a special session of the legislature for this purpose.

GOOD INFORMATION TO CARRY AROUND

One Thing Which Does Not Become Burdensome, So One Can Always Carry More.

Did you ever stop to think that the more one knows the more he can learn? Learning only prepares one for more learning. This is always true. It is not necessary to spend years of laborious study to gain the desired learning; in fact, it becomes a pleasure instead of a hard task when one has the habit of consulting these books for information; for one does not need to search through the volumes to find the facts you want without reading pages upon pages of irrelevant matter. This you get when you buy a book that is not carried around with you, for you will not be burdened with meaningless words. Every subject is treated in a simple, matter-of-fact manner that appeals to all.

The big offer will end as soon as the country for Atlanta is exhausted. Present a coupon at The Atlanta Constitution, who are distributing the books, to receive one of these books free of charge. (Adv.)
