Tennant parliamentary secretary of the war office in the house of commons have increased enthusiasm and confidence of the people of England in the war.Supplementing the chancellor's statement that Great Britain has more than thirty-six divisions of troops—roughly 700,000 men—on the continent, and that the output of munitions has increased enormously Mr. Tennant to-day speaking on behalf of the secretaries of war, Lord Kitchener, declared that certainly had been most satisfied and gratified that the health of our troops was splendid and that the work done in the London hospitals, recent, four hours after the attack taken in France, had been able to impress on the country the necessity of increasing the supplies to our allies in the war against the Central Powers.*BIG-DRIVE*ABOUT TO BEGIN*The frankness of the cabinet ministers in making known the number of men at the front and the reports that reach London from various sources have convinced people that at least the big effort against Germany and Turkey is about to commence. Both in the Aegean and North seas there are signs of increasing activity. From to day all telegrams of communication with Holland are stopped by order of the British Government.*Taken in connection with the news from Berlin that British submarines have sunk 11 ships in the last 12 hours, and with German and American ships this is believed to be so serious an incident in the North sea, while the e-mail is no longer in evidence, to hit the English Angle French force in the Levant is prepared to go as General J. Amiel the French commander has said to my point where he is now.*A German report says that part of this force will be under command of General Sir Ian Hamilton, who has been landed at Ennas, Fuka, a town near the Tigris, Bulgaria, border on the northern side of the Gulf of Suez. At the same time there is news of transports loaded with troops passing the island of Lemnos, not far from the entrance of the Dardanelles, and of others being sent off from the coast of Asia Minor on the coast of Asia Minor.*WHERE WILL BLOW*BE STRUCK?*This makes it uncertain whether the blow is to be struck. There are Anglo-French troops in the Aegean sea, including Generals who were transferred from France and British Tommies from the outskirts of the empire which, with the disappearance of the last German raiders, are considered safe from attack.*Farther east in Mesopotamia the Turkish army is holding the British and Indian forces in a position of stalemate after having suffered 6,000 casualties in full retreat harassed not only by the British but also by Arab tribesmen whom they had enlisted on their side and who now, in the face of the British, have been defeated and have turned against them.*Next home the British are holding tenacious positions in the Dardanelles, which they captured from the Germans Saturday, and which the Germans since have been trying to retake. The French are pressing hard on the two sides of the German triangle in the Dardanelles.*RUSSIANS REPEL
AUSTRIAN ASSAULTS*The Russians according to their counts are repulsing repeated Austrian attacks southeast of Jupokow, pass in the Carpathians and are holding their own. The Austrians are pushing on their flanks near Gorlice in western Galicia and Silesia in the eastern part of the same province. French attacks apparently are being made with the object of holding the Germans where they are while the Germans are preparing to strike at the Dardanelles at some other point possibly from the direction of Crete.*TEMPERATURE IS DUE

Tax Day netted over $4,000 for the maintenance fund of the Sheltering Arms. Considering recent business conditions, the officials of Tax Day consider the amount acquired Thursday to be but only a great tribute to the arms of girls and women who piloted the tag trade but also a sign that better times have arrived.If a crimson heart-shaped tag didn't flutter from some portion of your sanitary array yesterday you must have felt lonely. Everybody wore a tag. Hundreds wore more than one. Some hundreds wore flocks of tags.*Never did public spirited young girls and women set about so energetically to establish a record on the scale of young people who advanced upon downtown Atlanta, bright and early Thursday morning. The bevy of lassies had hardly been upon the street an hour before practically every pedestrian astir at that time had been duly and officially tagged.*The object of 'Tag Day' is to provide funds for the Sheltering Arms, one of Atlanta's most worthy and charitable institutions which cares for the orphans and children of Atlanta people. In 1912 the sum of tax day proceeds in the form of one day's tax proceeds in 1913 the revenue was $5,000 last year however on account of the inclemency of the day only $4,000 was collected.*Under the direction of Mrs. W. H. Parker capable assistants canvassed the off-to buildings, shops, stores, houses and mercantile establishments and held stations upon conspicuous downtown corners tagging every man and woman who had into sight and allowing none to escape.*The siege lasted until nightfall at which time the army blew taps and retired from the most brilliant and remunerative Tax Day of that noble institution's history.*Farther east in Mesopotamia the British army is holding the Dardanelles, and from the north with British and Indian forces in a position of stalemate after having suffered 6,000 casualties in full retreat harassed not only by the British but also by Arab tribesmen whom they had enlisted on their side and who now, in the face of the British, have been defeated and have turned against them.*Next home the British are holding tenacious positions in the Dardanelles, which they captured from the Germans Saturday, and which the Germans since have been trying to retake.*The French are pressing hard on the two sides of the German triangle in the Dardanelles.*RUSSIANS REPEL

Mr. Tamm stepped up on the stand and crossed the width of it in a whispered conversation with both of them seemed to enjoy. The thoughts had to do with the relations between Colonel Roosevelt and Senator Platt in regard to legislative and political affairs before while and after Roosevelt was governor.

The colonel remarked during the day he had never written a written letter on various subjects while he was governor and president.

This was only the first day of Colonel Roosevelt's examination when he became governor and president.

Mr. Tamm asked Colonel Roosevelt about his early life.

"Did you ever study the constitution?"

"I did while I was studying law in Columbia university."

"What district were you elected to the legislature from?"

"My Uncle Tom was the leader of us."

"Mr. Wm. B. Bowers."

"Colonel Roosevelt said that since 1897 he had not lived in New York and that he was then a resident of Washington."

"What committees were you on in the assembly?"

"I was on a committee which in 1894 investigated certain offices in New York."

"Do you know it has been the custom of legislative committees to conduct ex parte investigations?"

"Some have done so. My committees some times tried to do justice to both sides."

"Did you follow the rules of law during your investigation?"

"Yes. I followed the rules of law during my investigation."

"Then the advice of counsel Mr. Tamm knew that substantial justice was done."

SCHOOL REFORMS IN ATLANTA URGED

After Hearing Ringing Address by Mrs. R. M. Walker, Ad Men Pledge Their Aid to Movement.

Mrs R M Walker president of the Atlanta School Improvement Association delivered a ringing indictment of school conditions in Atlanta in an address delivered before the Ad Men's luncheon at the Hotel Ansley Thursday afternoon.

"Shall we sit idly by and see other smaller and less worthy communities forge ahead while we tarry behind?" was one of the questions she proposed.

Another was:

"Will you men assume the mantle of battle? It is up to you. The women have done their duty. They have gone forth and investigated conditions unspuriously. They have shown you the horrors of school inadequacy is existing in Atlanta. They have presented you with the facts. Now will you do your share?"

Mrs Walker has made a thorough study of school conditions in Atlanta and addressed the first appeal of women at an Ad Men's luncheon. The wives of Ad Men and other ladies interested in school welfare, outnumbered the men present.

Ad Men Pledge Support.

At the close of her speech the Ad Men unanimously endorsed her attitude and pledged their support of the movement to improve the school reform movement being promoted by the Improvement club represented by Mrs Walker.

Mrs Walker was preceded by Nellie Letters black who delivered a short address urging the diners to work for the betterment of the city.

The Atlanta School Improvement Association, declared Mrs Walker, was organized by women—mothers—whose sense of justice was and still is outraged by the unfair treatment our children have received.

which for seven years has been about 400 white children who are supposed to have seats in the public schools of this city less than four hours a day in school while 10,000 other children are given what they are entitled to, five and a half hours a day.

More than 100 are deprived of their right to go to school because they are deprived of music lessons, drawing, painting, and physical training because there is no time to give them lessons. More than 50 children are at school from 8 a.m. until 1 p.m.—then 200 other children, your child and mine, go into unventilated rooms and use the desks left a few minutes ago by the preceding pupils.

Remember too that these children are not given all the time for playing, their natural desire for play which begins in the morning must remain. All its books and belongings so that the succeeding child may not be disturbed.

At 4 o'clock in the afternoon the children must empty the desks to be ready for those who come in the morning.

It is known by parents in Atlanta how tired these children are and how spiritless it makes their studies effort.

Have Appended for Remedy.

We have asked the Board of Education to remedy but to no avail as they could not afford to do so. The Finance Committee and Council but they said that the Board of Education has things in its hand. The board said "We have no money."

They are about to be tossed back and told to take tennis ball some of the city fathers tell us to me in their investigation of school conditions that the Board of Education said it was to be let in June. The members of our organization worked hard and reported off future schools.

They were found to be in repair.

Twenty-five are unsatisfactory and eleven are disgraceful to the system and should be abandoned. Nine have suffered loss of money body of report nine more are inadequate.

Birmingham last year spent $19 per pupil while Atlanta spent $12 per pupil.

We found that no new schools will be built in the next three years.

On June 1st the school will be closed.

Increase of $85,557,517 In Georgia's Tax Values Shown in Hart's Report

Judge John C. Hart, state tax commissioner, on Thursday submitted to Comptroller General William A. Wright his first annual report, which states that "the total value of property for ad valorem taxation in 1913 was $887,537, which was increased largely under the operation of the equalization tax act in 1914, to $953,531,245 or a net total gain of $85,557,517."

The report sets forth in detail tabular form the various items bringing about this gain, the salient features of which are set forth in the following summary paragraphs:

"The largest increase in any particular item of property is that of Improved Land, to wit: $4,284,822. This is not due to the fact that there has been an actual increase in the value of land per acre, but to the fact that the increased acreage of improved land amounts to 735.01 acres. This is land two-thirds of which was never before put on the digest."

Buck Land Is Found.

"There are several counties in Georgia which discovered as many as 50,000 acres not heretofore on the digest, and upon which no taxes were paid. The hitherto value of land per acre for taxation in these counties was actually lowered in consequence of the discovery of this unvalued land. Oil and gas production shows an increase of $22,788,423. Shares in banks and savings show an increase of $2,440,148. Money and solvent debts show an increase of $6,300,000."

"The item opposite 'Stocks' and 'Bonds' showing decrease is misleading, and explained by the fact that these securities were included in the debts, had included in previous years bank stock. These shares, inadvertently in the previous years appearing in that column, have been placed this year in the column where the property belongs to wit: Shares in cotton, corn, and other farm products, item $2,440,148. The decrease of $7,608, under the head of 'Cotton, Corn and Other Farm Products,' is because of the new legislation of the session exempting such products from taxation."

Fulton county's increase shows a net gain of $1,000,000 while property of 1913, $18,885, in 1914, over the year of 1913.

TAX RATE REDUCED.

Judge Hart states in his report that the tax rate has been reduced 5 to 4½ mills, largely through the operation of the equalization tax law, and that the enforcement of this law will result in further reducing the tax burden.

Judge Hart states in the report that the tax rate will be what the rate of the present situation, the conditions upon tax returns for the year 1915, but urges local tax assessors to make "no reduction in the valuation of property except of this mere temporary depression."

"It is not claimed," concluded Judge Hart, "that Georgia has perfected her tax system, but Georgia has made a big stride toward doing so."

Marshal, at Recorder Johnson's court, that officers beat and cursed him in taking him to jail. He was arrested by Sheriff Johnson, who was drunk and disorderly, and the officer say that they had considerable trouble with him in the wagon. Young also said that he was struck in the back and thrust into the wagon, and that Officer Braselton sat on him and beat him.

Policeman Blahon, who drove the wagon, said as he was coming around to the back door of the wagon he saw Young. Young denied this and also that Bishop could not see them in the wagon, as it was the regular closed "Black Maria." Young was fined $10.

Meets at Albany and Valdosta Indorse Routes for Highway

Central Route Indorsed for Delegates Vote for Highway Through Americus, Albany, Thomasville, Tallahassee.

Valdosta, Ga., April 22.—(Special)—The Good Roads Convention in this city today, consisting of 400 delegates from every county on the central route, except two, and was the most numerously attended by far. It was the most numerous meeting ever held in the state.

A permanent association to be known as the "National Dixie Highway Association" with headquarters at Atlanta, Ga., was organized at the convention.

John E. Herring, of Tifton, was elected president of the association; J. M. Anthony, of Valdosta, secretary; W. H. Dorris, of Cordele, and C. C. Rawls, of Lake City, vice presidents.

John M. Tamm, of Tifton, Georgia, treasurer. The executive committee, composed of the above officers, will present the claims and advantages of the proposed highway to the commissioners today, and go to the commissioners of the Dixie highway.

At the meeting here, pledges were received from the governors of every county, city and town on the proposed route, binding them to build and maintain a good road to the Miami River, connecting them with the Atlantic coast.

"Resolved, that the commissioners be certified to by the seals of the senate and house and furnished same to the Tallahassee commissioners before the opening of the session, to be used by the commissioners of the Dixie highway of Georgia and Florida."

The key-note of the meeting here to-day was the determination to tie the capitals of Georgia and Florida together.

Colonel F. C. Byrd, of Valdosta, chairman of the Lowndes county board of commissioners, was acting chairman and called the meeting to order at 10 o'clock. Col. Byrd was elected permanent chairman and J. M. Anthony secretary.

The route is laid along the water-shed through south Georgia and north Florida, and traverses the most populous and most important cities in the state, called primarily to secure the selection of the central route for the Dixie highway.

Colonel F. C. Byrd, chairman of the Lowndes county board of commissioners, was acting chairman and called the meeting to order at 10 o'clock. Col. Byrd was elected permanent chairman and J. M. Anthony secretary.

SCHOOLS TO CLOSE EARLIER TWO DAYS FOR GRAND OPERAS

On two days next week the city public schools will be dismissed an hour earlier so the children and teachers can attend the grand opera.

This action was taken by the board of education Thursday afternoon.

The two days on which this will be done are Tuesday and Thursday, those being the days on which there will be grand openings of the schools.

The majority of the members of the board recognized, they stated, that good music was a part of a child's education, and they believed that to give two hours from the studies and to go to grand opera would be beneficial.

Colonel W. L. Few appeared before the board and told them that the grand opera had done for Atlanta how patriotic citizens had taken a great financial risk, in order to do something that would redound to the credit of the city and the state, and that it was time the Atlanta Opera Company should be given a chance to show the Atlanta Opera Company in the enterprise. He thought the public schools should fall into line.

The teachers and everything can attend the opera on either Tuesday or Thursday.

board, and the teachers and parents

COUNTY ASSESSORS MEET

Georgia's county tax assessors or perhaps more properly boards of equalizers are in Atlanta today in first annual convention

in response to the call of State Tax Commissioner John C. Hart. The spirit of enthusiasm manifested and the splendid attendance promised is indicative of a co-operative effort that must redound to the welfare of the individual citizen and property owner

Georgia's tax equalizers are meeting at a time that could not have been more opportune selected for their first conference—just as the supreme court of the state has declared of unquestioned validity and constitutionality the law under which they are operating. This decision will give them assurance for their work and enable them to organize with confidence that through cooperation they will be the better qualified to administer the duties which the law imposes on them.

The members of today's convention will come together with the consciousness of having performed a good year's work. The first year's operation of the new tax equalization law added more than $80,000,000 to Georgia's tax returns without unjustly increasing any individual burden and brought about reduction in the state tax rate which will be welcome to every property owner.

While careful and alert state officials are on guard it is undeniable that the count-

boards were a very large measure responsible for a splendid success of the law in fact without their co-operative effort the law would speedily prove a nullity.

There is a great work yet to be done as a matter of fact it might be said that the surface of tax equalization in Georgia has barely been scratched. It has made a good beginning but there is still a long road ahead. Commissioner Hart has indicated

thus in his statement that there is enough property in Georgia today unreturned and inadequately returned which if fairly returned and equalized would justify the authorities leaving the tax for the support of government to cut the rate to a figure which would scarcely be appreciable as a burden.

It can readily be judged from this how important a work the county equalizers have before them.

It is well for the state and for its property owning citizens that the tax equalizers

have come together for conference and cooperation. It will conduce to a clearer and better understanding of their duties and enable them in their investigations and rulings to apply the spirit as well as the letter of the equalization law. Atlanta welcomes them and wishes them a successful and profitable meeting.

WHERE PROTECTION IS NEEDED

It is true as reported to the police commission in connection with the investigation of the Atlanta police department now on trial on alleged charge of inefficiency

that the vacant houses and stores of Atlanta have been robbed of plumbing and other fixtures, to the extent of $60,000. It can scarcely be denied that Atlanta property owners have the right to receive that protection

which they are clearly entitled to.

At least two months ago leading real estate men of Atlanta called public attention to the fact that vacant houses were being made to yield a harvest for thieves who apparently knew how to detach plumbing

and other fixtures and who moreover evidently had learned where to market them.

It was believed that the public notice given of the matter at that time as well as the reports of robberies of this sort made direct to the police department would result in a diminution of this class of thefts

from vacant houses, but if these robberies

have gone on to anything like the extent indicated in the statements made in connection with the police investigation there is no question that property owners have a well-grounded right to complain.

The owner of vacant property is equally entitled with the citizen in his home, to protection against the vandal and the ma-

ruder, and it would seem not unreasonable to suggest that some system might be devised by which this protection could be afforded.

It is difficult to believe that in a city like

Atlanta thickly populated as it is robberies of vacant houses, to the extent reported to the commission could be possible. It may be that there has been some mistake in the estimate. This would mean the robbery of each of 1,200 houses of $50 worth of plumb-ing fixtures. It is almost impossible to conceive that this sort of depredation could have gone on to the wholesale extent charged.

It would certainly be preferable to believe that the extent of the mischief has been overstated.

Nevertheless even with possible error in estimate it cannot be doubted that Atlanta has experienced too much of this class of vandalism. Where do the plumbing thieves market their product? This discovered it should be comparatively easy to put an end to their operations.

SOUNDING A JURY

As disclosed in the case of Barnes v.

Roosevelt damages for libel on trial at Syracuse, N. Y., they have unique ways of soundings juries up in the grand old Empire

State and finding out to some extent in advance perhaps just how they feel about the situation. Of course there are the usual questions as prescribed by law for determining the impartiality of the jurors as between the parties to the litigation, but it seems that both sides wanted to know more than this. Hence a series of unusual questions was proposed and where satisfactory answer was not given the juror in question was asked to step aside.

Here are some of the interesting questions put to the jury in the Barnes-Roosevelt case.

Do you believe that a man in poll

should be tried the same as an other citizen?

Would the fact that the man had occupied a place of prominence influence your decision?

Has the state of Georgia ever been in a position to be held responsible for the acts of its president?

Do you realize that a man's good name can be

FRANK MAKES PLEA FOR COMMUTATION

Condemned Man Reiterates Innocence and Says 'He Was Convicted on Questionable Evidence.'

Attorneys for Leo Frank have filed with Captain H. L. Lanier, secretary of the state prison commission, his petition for executive clemency in a last effort to spare his life.

He asks commutation to life imprisonment. The petition was signed by Frank and filed at the capitol early Thursday afternoon at least two days earlier than was expected. Frank's chief contention is that he is absolutely innocent of the crime for which he stands convicted and that the evidence on which he was tried was not substantial but was questionable and unreliable.

To Await Notification

No hearing will be given the petition until after the mandate from the United States supreme court is forwarded to the superior court of Georgia and after Frank has been sentenced to the scaffold. The Washington court's mandate is official notification of its verdict on habeas corpus appeal. It will not be dispatched to the superior court until the end of the present supreme court term next June.

The Frank petition follows:

To the Honorable President and to the Governor of the State of Georgia:

The application of Leo Frank for executive clemency respectfully bows. On August 2, 1913, I was convicted in the superior court of Fulton county of having committed an offense of which I am now under a ten-year sentence of imprisonment. It will not be dispatched to the superior court until the end of the present supreme court term next June.

I am also innocent of the crime of which I was convicted. I death now, neither except it nor punish the rest of my life. I am innocent of the crime which has been related to me in the statement made in the court room and he is innocent of the same.

Sure Evidence Was Inconclusive

The name of Leo Frank is listed as a questionable and unreliable character. He is regarded as having been established by reasonable doubt, but the contrary is satisfied of his innocence in the course of his trial. Beyond these facts, known no more than an other person who was present in the court room and he is innocent of the same.

He is innocent of the same.

Emory Juniors Win.

Emory College, Oxford, Ga., April 22.—The tenth game of the Emory College inter class baseball season was played Wednesday afternoon, resulting in complete walkovers for the Juniors. The score was Juniors 11—Sophomores 0. The heaviest hitting of the game was Rumble's two home runs and Williams' three bunts. Mr. Carroll, manager of the Indian baseball team desires a game with any good team next Saturday and will oblige. Any manager interested should call Main 4377.

TESTIMONY AT PROBE WILL BE VOLUNTARY

TWO COMMISSIONERS DENY THAT SUBPOENAS WILL BE ISSUED FOR POLICE CRITICS.

Citizens will not be forced by subpoenas to appear before the special probe committee of the police board, but any statements they may make will be voluntary, according to Commissioner Bob Clarke, a member of the probe committee, and Commissioner Andy King, a member of the board but not of the committee.

Branding is untrue a report published Thursday afternoon to the effect that citizens who had criticized the police department as being inefficient could be subpoenaed before the probe committee. Commissioner Clarke said:

"We have no right to subpoena citizens and the right is in the courts. It is not our intention to put the burden of proof on them. If the committee wants to do that we expect to find it out ourselves."

The Constitution's story in Thursday's paper carried the direct intimation that the probe committee, both open and executive in executive session, would discuss the advisability of having Chief City Commissioner King, a member of the probe committee, to the city hall, and that the chief has called him to do so.

Commissioner King, hostler at the Hotel of the Golden Calf, told the Constitution he did not wish to appear voluntarily before the committee should take no steps to force him.

"I am not a member of the probe committee and, of course, do not desire to interfere with that, but I am sure they have no right to follow that procedure. I want to say that the probe committee is not the executive session from which 'newspaper reporters are excluded.' The public has a right to know what the commissioners are doing."

The next meeting of the probe committee will be held Monday night at 8 o'clock.

GEORGIA BEATEN IN HURLING DUEL

Atlanta, Ga., April 22.—In one of the prettiest games of the season, Virginia defeated Georgia 11-9 yesterday afternoon at the Atlanta Park. The game was the first of the first four games of the Southern football conference in Atlanta. It is the third consecutive victory for the Indians.

Lukesky led off with a single, sacrificed him to second, hit a triple, and a drive brought him in with a single.

Virginia's first hit came after two were down in the eighth inning. Corley led off with a single, and Georgia had an opportunity to score in the third, but Carl's second man up tripped, but Carl's son followed him up, and Georgia's next up fanned.

Both teams gave their best here in support of Harrison for Georgia in the first half, and in the second with a meat pie up in the second half.

Score by innings: R H E

Georgia 0 0 9

Batteries—Corley and Yunnally.

Drummond and Chrman. Umpires—

Watson and Grant. Time 1:40.

Montgomery was a neat 11-6, with a shutout.

Donehoo Threatened By Ring

People Rally to His Support

Paul Donehoo's exposure of the slate-making methods, which seek to control the fat public offices of Fulton county,
has angered and alarmed the ring politicians

A man with courage enough to tell the public the truth and to call attention to the tremendous profits derived from dead men's estates is considered politically too dangerous a man to let live.

So the ring is not only planning to defeat Donehoo as Ordinary at this time, but they have also picked a candidate to run against him as Coroner a year from now

Being unable to control Donehoo, the politicians who are running Mr. Jeffries now openly threaten to destroy Donehoo Donehoo refuses to be either bluffed or scared out of the race for Ordinary, and this latest threat by the ring politicians assures his election on the thirtieth of April

MORTUARY

W. P. Moate, Willacoochee.

Willacoochee, Ga., April 22.—Special Agent W. P. Moate, a prominent citizen of Coffey county, died suddenly of an apoplexy at his home at Leakeator, Ga., on Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock. He was sitting on the porch in a swing and complained to his wife of shortness of breath. She applied some local remedies but he became unconscious and arrived at Dr. J. A. Cushing's office in this place, and had numerous business and social friends who will regret his loss.

Roosevelt and Righteousness.

The letter in the record Sir Evelyn returned to the question of righteousness.

He asked: "Do you remember when Col. Odell was there?"

"Yes, Mr. Root got up the note he presented at the convention regarding your eligibility."

"I sent him my book and letters to look over."

Hooverville Taxes.

Mr. Evans referred to the question of taxes.

After I returned from the Spanish war in 1898 I found that my taxes had not been paid. My uncle James had been dead before he had the opportunity.

When I got back from Cuba the books had been closed so I could not get my tax bill.

Do you remember writing to your cousin John in New York in 1898 asking him whether you had to pay these person's taxes or were you a resident of the country and did not pay?

I do not object to his answering object to his manner."

On that if it is right," replied Mr. Root.

I do not want to be beaten up here right now," Mr. Evans replied and Mr. Roosevelt said:

"I will gesticulate to the jury."

You can say it to the jury without being so emphatic," replied Mr. Evans.

I feel emphatic about it," said Col.

Colonel Roosevelt.

Two of my earliest associates and supporters

when I became president—

I object to it as being responsible," said Mr. Evans.

It is so you will let me answer

about the return of righteousness," replied the witness.

The court interrupted the examination

at that point. Later it continued.

Roosevelt Consulted With Platt.

Now during your entire term of governor you conferred and consulted with Mr. Platt as a leader of your party.

The whole time I conferred and consulted with Mr. Platt with a general purpose to keep the republican party together and maintain its influence within the republican party to prevent it from being absorbed by the democrats.

I consider you upon your side of the question.

After a few more questions Mr. Evans produced a series of letters between

Sen. Platt and Col. Roosevelt.

Platt first wrote to Senator

Col. Roosevelt in error to Mr. Roosevelt.

"A matter of fact you have used phrases built them up to ultimate success which was satisfactory to you but not to me.

Sometimes sometimes I have struck them off by accident.

As a matter of fact you began the formulation of the platform which you intended to make as early as possible.

It was a good many controversies

now as a matter of fact the first difference in respect to political platforms was that Platt was concerned with a franchise tax law which was not needed.

Good Name Controversy.

There was no controversy with

Mr. Platt because of the fact of his organization and his opportunity that radical legislation

of that sort was bound to strike

the element of danger there
