his decision was reached after Max Woodward had informed the board that the intent of the finance commitee and the general council in failing $3,853 to operate the was to abolish the institution and after he had warned the board no to include the salaries of the threachers in the general payroll.

According to Major R, J. Guinn, president of the board, the adjustment of the situation which involved the school. is due to the patriotism and loyalty Miss Postell. After paying the highest sort of tribute to Miss Postell, President Guinn informed the board while it was in the midst of a discussion of the action of the finance committee of council in failing to provide for the school, that Miss Postell called on him early during the day Thursday and assured him that regardless of whether her salary or the salaries of the other members of the faculty were included in the payroll, the school would continue to operate during the

"Miss Postell told me that her hear and soul was in the work," said Ma-"and she assured me that she would continue her work with the chool on the salary she received as principal of the grammar school." The announcement was applauded by members of the board and the teachers were praised for their loyalty and fidelto the school.

The school will have something like

$1,800 to operate on during the remainmonths of the year. Alderman Armistead, chairman of the school committee who led a vigorous fight against abolishment of the school, and afterwards to prevent cutting the salaries of the teachers, told the board that he felt certain that there would be a surplus of about $3,700 at the end of the year in the teachers' payroll acand suggested that some part of this amount could be used for the benefit of the school. entered into a

Mayor Woodward entered into a lengthy discussion of the finance sheet as passed up by the general council. He told the board that it had no right to continue to operate the school with funds appropriated for other purposes He urged that the board adopt a policy of economy, suggesting that the sal-aries of all teachers be graded downward. The mayor's discussion took a wide range of subjects following his explanation of his attitude towards the normal school and his refusal to approve the salary roll in the event it carried the normal teachers salarles. He touched on the burden of the high schools on the city, and urged the board to adopt the Columbus, Ga., plan of distributing school books.

No Comment by Mayor.

The mayor left the meeting of the hoard before any action was taken regarding his refusal to approve the payrolls. When informed after the meeting had adjourned of the action of the hoard he explained that he had no com ment to make.

"I will wait to see in what shape the matter is finally put up to the comp-troller," said the mayor. The board commended the plan of

Dr. Couch to establish a free dental cli-nic for school children with the understanding that no child treated will be charged for work, nor be forced be charged for work, nor be forced to purchase dental supplies. It is the understanding of the board that the only requisite is that the child applying for treatment must have a certificate from the medical examiner.

Mrs. Samuel Lumpkin and members of the chamber of commerce "Safety First" committee, appeared before the board with a request that "Safety First don'ts" be hung up in the schools, and Sensational Developments Follow Episcopal Minister's Defense of Mayor and Criticism of Men and Religion Forward Movement Methods.

Two challenges, one religious and the other political, were issued last night following Dean John R. Atkinson's startling attack upon the Men the Chapman-Alexander revival, made during course of an address Thursday before the luncheon of the Atlanta Ac Men in the Hotel Ansley.

Challenge No. 1 (Political). Mayor James G. Woodward was de fied by Marion M. Jackson, membe of the Men and Religion executive committee, and author of its famou bulletins, to carry out his threat to publish a personal letter to Mr. Jack son written recently in reply to the sensational Men and Religion bulle-"An Open Letter to the Mayor." Challenge No. 2 (Religious).

Dean Atkinson, as a result of bis attack on the two religious enter prises, was challenged by Dr. J. Wilbur Chapman to appear in the Tabernacle pulpit tonight—or any other night during the revival—and deliver a sermon showing Dr. Chapman and the control of the property of t his workers any new methods of bringing more converts to Christ. ATKINSON'S

PROPOSE DIVISION OF ATHLETIC CLUB

Membership Will Consider Report of Ways and Means Committee at Meeting to Be Held This Evening.

Plans for dividing the membership f the Atlanta Athletic club so as to form two clubs—a country club and a town club-will be considered tonight at a meeting of the membership, when the report of the ways and means committee will be read. Action will not be taken, however, until a future meet-

The reasons for this move are set forth in a lengthy report that has been mailed to the members, which con-cludes that the division of the club properties is necessary to properly fi-nance the town club house and country club house, to meet the current indebtedness, to liquidate the outstand-ing debts, and to avoid action in the

The report declares that the country club, now in the course of erection by membership appropriations, should be disposed of not later than April 1, 1815. This is the anticipated date of the completion of the country club house.

J. W. Bachman and A. A. Doonan, two of the members of the committee, join in the report with the exception of the conclusions reached as to the necessity of a division of the club properties, or as to the impossibility of financing the club as a whole.

It is proposed to divide the present indebtedness of the club between the two proposed clubs, and allow members to join either or both clubs as they select club, now in the course of erection by

Three of them came forward together, in one of the most imposing scenes that has taken place since the revival series began. As they moved down the sawdust aisle, side by side, during the singing of the invitation hymn, "Come to Jesus," the eyes of thousands were turned upon them, the audience Thursday evening being nearly 5,000 strong. Dr. Chapman's text was: "He shall be holden with the cords of his sink." Proverbe holden with the cords of his sine." Proverbs 5:22. The sermon follows:

'The Bible is a book of striking figures, thrilling stories and authentic history. In no book in the world can we find such descriptive sentences as in the Bible, and if there were no other argument to prove its inspiration I should find myself willing to accept it as the Book of God and not the work of man because of such sentences as form the text above quoted.

'What a striking picture it is. We behold one with just the slightest cord of sin about him from which he can easily break away, but the cords multiply in number and increase in strength until the strongest giant is held a prisoner.

Sin Small at Start.

"Sin is always small in its beginnings. A gentleman stood upon the piazza of his house while a tierce storm was raging. He was looking out on the beautiful lawn which surrounded his property when suddenly a tree which was the pride of his family went down with a crash. He was amazed to see the wreck and ruin.

"When the storm was over he made his way to the tree, and discovered the reason for its tall. It looked weit enough on the outside, but it was decayed at the heart, and then he remembered that when he was a livy passing this tree with an ax in his hand he had struck the tree, and the water falling into the bruised bark had begun to cat its way to the tree's heart. The bark healed over, but the decay went on. This is the cause of many a man's failure, a small beginning, a tragic ending.

Gray how many times we find men who seem to think that they are to be the exception to His rule, that they may break themselves against His law and evade the penalty. But this is not true, and just as can was marked because of his sin, so shall every man be who sins and does not confess and forsake his sin.

Like Judas Iscarlot some men encourage their sin. There is, of course, in all human nature a natural tendency toward evil. There is a constant 'pull down,' and we must this is true, yet there is a disposition to encourage sin in our lives possibly without meaning to 'do so.

Take Judas, for example, note his deception when he said after the ointment had been poured out for the Master, 'Why this waste?' And then see him progress in sin until he sells his Lord for thirty pieces of sliver. Behold him when he rises 'up from the table when our Lord and His disciples were at the Last Supper, and see him as he goes out from the Master's presence.

Over a dozen men with gray hair, among a total of over eighty converts, walked down the aisle Thursday night at the revival tabernacle and gave their hands to Dr. J. Wilbur Chapman with a pledge to lead new and better lives, following a strong sermon by the evangelist on the subject, "What Men Do

Tribute to Intellectuality.

"God bless you, Dr. Chapman," said the soldierly leader of the trio. "Two heard you preach twice here this week, and you've shown me things I would to God I had learned forty years ago." There was not a tremor to his words.
Grasping them warmly by the hands, Dr. Chapman invited them to enter the room behind the choir, and as they passed on together toward the room, the evangelist turned to welcome other converts who were pressing to the front.

Among the eighty-odd who came forward were many young men, also some of them came alone, and others in groups of twos and threes. One, who was a young man of apparently twenty-one years whose face was lined with dissipation, reached out and grasped the evangelist's hand firmly and declared that the sermons he had heard had made a new man of him.

Britain Has Much to Gain,

From the points of view of the Wishington government, Great Britain would have much to gain from an acceptance of the American proposals. The abolition of the war zones around Great Britain and Ireland and the removal of mines, it is argued would render the commerce of the allies safe. Originally when mines were laid in the North sea Germany and Great Britain accused each other of being the aggressor in this respect. BRITISH PUBLIC

AGAINST PROPOSAL.

London, February 25—The American note, the contents of which remain secret, but which in general seeks to bring about an understanding regarding the war zone prescribed by Germany and the shipment of foodstuffs to the civilian population of belligerent countries, was considered at a moeting of the cabinet today. No intimation as to the official attitude towards it has been obtained.

Press and public, however, on the supposition that President Wilson has suggested that Great Britain should not carry out her threat to place an embargo on footstuffs for Germany, and that, in return Germany should not enforce her submarine blockade against the British Isles already have expressed their disapproval of acceptance of such a proposition.

While eight British ships have been destroyed in the week that the blockade has been in force, it is pointed out that they are for the most part small vessels and that most of them, instead of having food for this countries all the should be freight for neutral countries. It is believed here also that the destruction of neutral ships and cargoes will embroil Germany with neutral countries, and that in the long run the losses the albes suffer will be riore than offset by the anger aroused on the part of the neutrals and the possibite refusal of countries such as Norway, to allow goods to be shipped from their ports to Germany. No indication as to the attitude of the government was disclosed to the public. It is expected, however, that the British reply to the American note will be ready within a day or two. It is understood the draft of the note to neutral states advising them of the nature of reprisals to be adopted in reply to the German submarine blockade, already has been drawn up but the arrival of the new American note will embrace a temporary suspension of this matter.

President Bowden gave notice that he would resign as head of the club and suggested that when the members next assembled they be prepared to elect another president.

He declared afterwards, however, after the affair had been smoothed out, that he would probably reconsider the notice and remain.

At a previous meeting of the organization Alderman Maddox was severely censored for leaving the finance committee and voting for the caucus amendments. He told the club that he supported the amendment because it carried $5 000 for a schoolhouse in Howell station. He told the club that he was fearful when Councilman Johnson agreed to vote to sustain the major's veto of the sheet that the appropriation made by the finance committee would be lost. Councilman Johnson also explained his position in support of the mayor's veto. He said that he had every reason to believe that both appropriations would be lost to the ward in the event he did not support the mayor.

After the club voted its confidence in Alderman Maddox members heard from J. Oscar Mills, John D. Sisson and J. O. Cochian, mahager of the parkdepartment. Commissioner Mills declared that, Alderman Maddox was one of the most loyal members of the fifth ward. and Nicaraguan Treaties Confirmed.

Washington, February 25.—Whether a special session of the senate shall be called by President Wilson after March 4 to consider the Colombian and Nicaraguan treaties probably will be decided by the president at tomorrow's cabinet meeting. Many of the president advisers are opposed to the special session, but the administration is very anxious to have the treaties ratified and it was considered probable to-night that a senate session would be called for March 5. Members of the senate foreign relations committee were given to understand at its last meeting that Colombia was becoming very much aroused over the delay in the ratification of the treaty and was considering pro-testing to the powers unless some ac-tion was taken. The treaty, which expresses regret that anything should have happened to mar the friendly rehave happened to mar the friendly relations between the two countries and providing for the payment by the United States of $25,000,000 for Colombia's loss resulting from the taking of the Panama canal zone, was ratified by the Colombian senate many months in the treaty for the Nicaraguan canal route.

It was understood the president hopes to have both of these ratified before the formal opening of the Panama canal in July so that at that time entire friendship may exist between all the nations in America.

Although administration leaders believe the federal trade commission nominations can be confirmed before March 4, there is certain to be a fight on several of them. No special session of the senate would be called to consider these nominations alone, however, since the president has been informed by his legal advisers that he has the authority to make recess appointments in case the nominations fall at this session.

Alabama "Dry" Leader Holds Conference Here With Dr. Eichelberger

Samuel D. Weakley, ex-supreme court justice of Alabama, was in At-lanta Thursday in conference with the legal department of the Southern Ex-press company and D. Eichelberger, superintendent of the Anti-Salcon superintendent of the Anti-Saloon league, concerning the interstate shipment of liquor into states where its sale is prohibited. No definite conclusions were reached, as there are no legal proceedings pending against the express company at this time.

Judge Weakley is just returning from Washington, where he was sent by the Alabama legislature as a member of a committee of five to have a bill introduced in congress prohibiting the United States mail from carrying liquor advertisements, solicitations by letter, circular or otherwise, into any dry, state where prohibition laws have been enacted.

DARSEY GETS 2 YEARS; CASE AGAIN APPEALED

Dublin, Ga., February 25.—Joe Darsey, who killed his friend, Watson, more than four years ago, was sentenced to two years for involuntary manslaughter, the case having gone all the way to the United States supreme court on a technicality. The court had refused to accept the verdict at the January term, and a jury was unable to agree on any other verdict, but when the plea of former jeopardy was filed today sentence was passed according to the first verdict.

Darsey's lawyers have appealed the case on the contention that sentence under the verdict has been delayed so long that the verdict has elost its power and it is not just now to the defendant to require him to be punished under it.

The directors of the Atlanta Chamber afternoon approved the report of the committee on public safety, of which Ben Lee Crew is chairman, in starting tee to every commercial and trade body in the state and also to every daily newspaper, the idea being to start a campaign of education which will lead to some legislation on this subject. In the letter it is stated:

will lead to some legislation on this subject. In the letter it is stated:

"After considering replies so far received, it would seem that the main thing to accomplish is to arouse the public conscience on the subject, because the public must understand the danger before it would be practicable to enforce any laws on the subject.

"However, it is believed that one very good way to attract public attention to the matter is to propose and advocate laws, making it a misdemeanor to walk upon or along the tracks or right-of-way of any railroad company, also to hold or swing to any locomotive, engine, or freight or passenger car. It is hardly probable that the legislation of 1915 will pass such laws, but it brought before them each session and the Woman's club, etc., will lend it their support, the time will eventually come when public opinion will demand some such legislation, just as is the case abroad, where the governments won't permit citizens to jeopardize themselves by walking on tracks.

"It would doubtless help if the co-operation of manufacturers is solicited in the manner suggested and if the proposed laws can be put on the statute books, it will lend point to the manufacturers' appeal to their employees.

"Furthor suggestions are solicited and advice as to any steps taken would be appreclated."

OLD BREAD PRICES WILL BE RESTORED

New York, February 25.—The wholesale price of bread, which was recently raised to 5 cents a loaf, is to be vestored to 4 cents, according to reports published today. The fact that there was much agitation when the cost of bread was raised, followed by investigations into the bread industry, is one reason given in the report for the plan to restore the old prices. Another reason is that most of the smaller baking companies, instead of following the lead of the big concerns, continued to sell bread at 5 cents to their retail trade.

The attorney general's inquiry into the increased cost of wheat and bread will be resumed tomorrow.

This action was made known in a letter to Mrs. Henry Wade Rogers, treasurer of the National American Woman Suffrage association, by Mrs. Eunice D. Brannon, treasurer of the Woman's Political union.

According to Mrs. Brannon the executive board of the Woman's Political union decided February 19 that the union should withdraw from its membership with the national association. Mrs. Brannon is quoted in the letter as saying the reasons that led to, the decision were the need of all the union's funds for campaign work in New York the fact that it did not agree with the national association in its support of the Shafroth-Palmer amendment on the woman's suffrage proposition in to the same end in a wider field, and what amount of money the Louisville and Nashville and related roads have contributed in blocking the entrance of competing roads, through political agents or through public sentiment favorable to their cause.

Wilfully Restrained Competition. To all these questions the commission gives an affirmative answer. It qualifies its declaration that the Louisville and Nashville wilfully restrained competition by pointing out that in competition by pointing out that in some instances it was trying to meet the competition of other large systems.

In the recital of political activities of the roads, the commission announces its inability to set forth all the money these carriers have expended in political and publicity work, but the items which its investigators discovered and which it has placed in the report under the head of political contributions run into the millions. In connection with the Tennessee Rail-road association, formed by carriers in 1884 to combat adverse legislation in Tennessee, the report is specific in its allegations.

"The report says that on December 31, 1912, the Louisville and Nashville owned about 72 per cent of the capital stock of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railway and that a traffic agreement providing for a division of territory between these two rail-roads was made in April, 1906, and apparently still is in effect. For creating public sentiment in favor of the plans of the Louisville and Nashville in the same period, the commission reports that the railroad expended $59,322.48, of which $53,000 was used in a publicity campaign in Alabama to mould public opinion through the press. Part of the rest was contributed to finance a campaign in Louisiana to prevent the change of tax laws. The report says that from 1884 to 1907 carriers expended about $560,000 in connection with the Tennessee Railroad association, of which the net contribution of the Nashville. Chattanooga and St. Louis appears to have been about $367,000.

Was opened by transferring $40,300 70 from this carriers' account with the Tennessee Railroad association. The report names an item of $24,750 for the purchase of bonds of the American Publishing company, Which, the report says, appears to have owned a newspaper known as The American and published in Nashville. During the years "1894, 1895 and 1896," the report says, "it appears to have been the official organ of the railroads operating in Tennessee."

"Accounts opened in 1904," the report says, "show that the carriers expended large sums in an attempt to prevent the city of Nashville from aiding in the construction of the Nashville and Clarksville railroad, now the Tennessee Central."

The Louisville and Nashville, chiefly since 1880, has acquired controlling interest in more than 100 railroad properties, one of the obvious purposes of which, the commission, says, has been to restrain competition in the territory which it serves. "One thing is perfectly clear," says the report, "and that is that, if has been the constitent

The report says that terminal arrangements at Nashville, Knoxville and other points in Louisville and Nashville territory are such that shippers lack henefits which they might expect if there were greater competition. It says that the Louisville and Nashville, while serving the ports of New Orleans, Mobile and Pensacola, seems primarily interested in the development of Pensacola and attempts to prevent traffic movement through the other two ports. This practice, the report alleges, results in direct restraint of competition not only between rail carriers to these ports, but also between water carriers from them.

The Coast Line and L. & N.

The commission points out that although the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad company has taken steps to loose its control of the Louisville and Nashville since the present investigation began, such control for all practical purposes still exists. Three men, Henry Walters, Michael Jenkins and Waldo Newcomer, on September 25, 1914, it says, held or controlled more than 115,000 shares of the capital stock of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad company approximating 17 per cent of that outstanding and controlled also about 27 per cent through the Atlantic Coast Line company, a holding corporation. Examination of proxies given Henry Walters since 1909, the report says, shows that he has been able to control from 21 to 32 per cent of the outstanding capital stock of the Coast Line railroad in this way. These facts, the commission says, show that Messrs. Walters, Jenkins and Newcomer still virtually control the Atlantic Coast Line and its subsidiaries, including the Louisville and Nashville. Examination of such records as the commission was allowed to see did not disclose any arrangement between the Louisville and Nashville and the Coast Line for the purpose of controlling traffic.

"There is no doubt," the report says, "that as to cortoin traffic. The Coast Line and L. & N.

"There is no doubt," the report says,
"that as to certain traffic the Louisville and Nashville and the Atlantic not be charged as a part of the rosts of this carrier's road. Of the $16,000,000 mentioned, the report says, $6,300,000 was to provide a surplus that a stock dividend of 100 per cent might be paid, that $2,640,000 was credited to the same account "for reasons not stated" and that $1,422,784 was to raise the book value of stock above the actual cost of acquirement. The 100 per cent dividend was provided for, the report says, by raising the book value of certain assets.

The report comments:

"As the commission, in its annual reports has previously pointed out, only by the fullest publicity and public supervision of stock and bond issues may such increase of the capital accounts of carriers at the expense of the public be prevented."

The report says that the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis apparently has improperly charged to its property investment account an amount aggregating $4,300,000 for stock and cash dividends and discounts on purchased stocks and bonds.

School in Flames Panic Is Averted By Brave Teacher

Miss Anna Campbell, Principal of Lakewood Heights School, Is Congratulated by Superintendent Merry.

While 450 pupils of the Lakewood Heights school, on Sawtell avenue, just outside the city limits, were humming their A B C's or studiously engaged at other tasks, Monday morning fire broke out in the roof and was burning fiercely when a frantic woman living in the neighborhood rushed in and cried fire! Miss Anna Campbell, principal of the school, happened to be nearest the school bell when the excited person entered. Miss Campbell did not go into hysterics. Instead, she warned her own class to keep quiet, and then reaching for the school gong she gave the signal for a fire drill.

Instantly, the 450 children dropped their slates and books, and formed into line in their classrooms. At another signal they marched out of the burning building and onto the lawn. There they realized that the fire signal had been given for a sure enough fire, and when their excitement died down they were allowed to seek spots in the neighborhood where they could view the spectacle of the burning roof.

The janltor and a number of the oldest boys of the school climbed to the roof and put the flames out with water and a fire extinguisher.

The building suffered only through the damage of the roof.
County, Superintendent E. C. Merry was immediately notified of the fire

WOODWARD LAUDED BY DEAN ATKINSON

"The Men and Religion are not content with vilifying the mayor for alleged acts committed by him and his administration, but they overstep the boundaries of reason by accusing him of things 'he is going to do,' " said Dr. Atkinson in his address before the Ad Men. "It is up to the Ad Men of Atlanta to urge upon the clergy of the city and all manful workers to directed to Mr. Jackson in answer to the "Open Letter" bulletin.

"I am surprised that Dr. Atkinson mental to the community."

Pays Tribute to Mayor.

Dr. Atkinson began his attack boon the Men and Religion tactics by firsts paying a bright tribute to Mayor Woodward and his administration. He declared the mayor, perhaps, the best one time, make printed denial that he fitted man for the office in the city. I had a fight on Beavers.

"In this regard, I most earnestly wish the mayor would publish the letter to me, in which he declared that needed to play anything short of hypogeneous the medical transfer of the city. most preachers, given the reins of a sonal morals or habits," he said in this regard. "I have never looked into them. I wouldn't care for anyone to exploit mine. As an executive, I have found Mayor Woodward doing a clean, sound, progressive work for the city of Atlanta. He is a capable man, manly and courageous, and he is an invaluable asset to a municipality like ours.

"This is a model city—it is the most model I have ever seen. I have had occasion, time after time, to observe its night life. I have seen only one drunken man, a negro, who was holding an argument with a policeman. did not know the policeman. It might have been the chief, for all I know.

"Morally, Atlanta is the most orderly city of my knowledge. I really can't see what more these men want (meaning the Men and Religion). I think the mayor has given the city an upright, beneficial administration. If J were in his place. I would swear out a writ for criminal libel against the per-petrators of these serial advertise-munity. Should Encourage Mayor.

"The mayor, instead of being slandered by 'good' men, should be encouraged by sound, manly and robust workers for the welfare of the municipality. You should discourage this pality. You should discourage this sort of wrong advertising. It is unfair, to say the least. Instead of seeking to dismantle, as they certainly are doing by these tactics, they should work in harmony, co-operate, encour-age. The mayor impresses me as the sort of man who would work in utter accord with any movement contain-ing the spirit of municipal betterment. "Don't think I am knocking these good men. I am merely knocking their unwise tactics. I want to show them where they have planned and acted unwisely. They should be more manly with their efforts; more con-

Dr. Atkinson's fling at the Chapman Alexander revival was more or less in the nature of an attack upon exaggeraled methods of evangelism. He de-plored the adornment of the hig bill-boards in front of the Chapman tabernacle with "Get Right With God" and other such phrases. He denounced them as slangy and entirely out of keeping with the spirit of true religion.

For any minister to probe into your private affairs; to denounce your locker private affairs; to denounce, your locker club; to judge your personal connect tions, is utterly beyond his province. I say this same thing of ministers collectively. I do it with a feeling of reaction; I realize I will have to fight. Not that I am the only man in Atlanta with nerve to break the ice; to take the initiative. It is time it is being done. The weifare of our civic progress demands it.

"I don't mean to disparage the efforts of these good men conducting the revival meetings here, but I do not advocate their taking advantage of the mechanics of emotion, and of employing some methods I have noted in their campaign, I would urge that they stand up manfully for God and God's work, and do the thing that is strong and not distasteful—then they will not have to lead a lot of weak and snivelling men to hit the 'sawdust trail' in a mood of laysteria.

"Gore God the best you have. That is hysteria.
"Give God the best you have. That is all He can ask."

Favors Public Dance Hall.

The minister's advocacy of a public dance hall was obviously received with commendation, as he had barely launched upon the subject before a wave of ovation spread through the guests.

"I refer the dance hall idea to you, Mr. Mayor," he said, turning to Mayor. Woodward, who was present, "as one of the best prospective assets the city can have for the safety of our morals and the morals of our young ones. It would keep the young men and women off the streets, out of temptation. It would give them something pleasant to occupy their time. It would do much to transform their habits. It would be conqueive to play, the one great sustaining element in all human lives.

"Keep them from hell instead of letting them go and them try to bring them back. We need a municipal playhouse with a continuous performance; we need a dramatic institution where our young people can learn to play instends of having to content the aselves with watching others act. We need amusement. Atlanta has 250 churches. There are too many. We are emerging from the antiquated religion that forbid pleasure and amusement. If we are to have, a sustaining religion, we must allow amusement and pleasure."

Talks of Ad Men.

Prefacing his address, Dr. Atkinson declared that he had come before the Ad Men as a brother ad man, not simply as a parson, but as "a man among you who is as interested in the welfare of Atlanta as any other public-spirited individual." His theme was "Ad Men, Great and Small."

He pronounced the Jews as the greatest ad-men of Christianity, and proclaimed his belief that this race had invented the art. He recalled Theodore Roosevelt as one of the nation's greatest advertisers; william Jennings Bryan, President Wilson and Billy Sunday as other renowned advertisers.

His references were replete with hu church; Dr. John E. White; paster of mor. He accused Bryan of remoulding the Second Baptist; John J. Eagan, the old motto: "Wine is a mocker," by capitalist, and Mr. Jackson.

The bulletin must be passed upon the faction of all nutions." He deplored the faction of Billy Sunday, however, the committee has a construction of the faction in a great many respects, but pronounced him one of the most wonderful men of modern times.

I ou know what Cottolene is made of

There is no secret about Cottolone.

The world has known Cottolene for over twenty-five years. It was in the van of the great movement for the improvement of food products.

It is an exact combination of pure, ultra-refined cottonseed oil (a grade so high it is not listed in the market) with beef-stearine from clean, fresh, leaf beef suet.

That is what produces the splendid qualities for shortening, frying and cake-making in

Cottolene

There is an appetizing appeal in the thought that your foods are cooked with Cottolene - made of an oil that is far superior to most salad oils and as fine as the best, combined with the choicest part of rich, leaf beef suet.

Nothing has ever been found to equal this combination. For more than a quarter of a century Cottolene has been alone-and has held an unchallenged leadership.

Order a pail of Cottolene from your grocer today and use it in shortening, frying, or cake-making. Added to its splendid results is its economy-you use one-third less than of any ordinary cooking fat. Arrange with your grocer for a regular supply.

This company's profits are concerned with the proposed inauguration here of "jitney" buses. We state that frankly.

But set it aside. \(\lambda_{\text{.}}\)

How are YOU concerned? That's the question,

If you live in Atlanta or its suburbs, you are concerned very much-be you man, woman or child.

We want to impress that on you and then invite you to join us in a very respectful and open suggestion to the authorities that they prescribe now, in advance, regulations to control the innovation.

First, you are interested in the matter of pavements. Our own cars run on rails and wear out no pavement; yet we pay a generous proportion of all paving costs on streets where our tracks are laid. Automobile buses will impose very heavy wear on pavements. Those pavements are yours. You pay a share of their cost. You renew them. Shall the "jitney" bus contribute nothing for their maintenance?

Second, you are interested in the matter of street traffic. Eight buses of ordinary size would be required to carry as many passengers as one street car accommodates. Multiply the automobiles downtown; pour 'em into the main thoroughfares that already are overcrowded; dump 'em in on the rush-hour throngs; then you have the possible new conditions. Should that congestion be regulated in advance?

Third, you are interested in public safety. Street car motormen and conductors are trained carefully before they're allowed to run cars. Accidents have increased everywhere the "jitney" bus idea has been spread. They increased 60 per cent in Los Angeles. It has been necessary to enforce safety measures in all cities. Should not you also have protection against careless chauffeurs?

Fourth, you are interested in responsibility for damages. If we're sued and the jury blames us, we can meet the verdict, for the nature of our business requires heavy investment in property. Is one automobile in more or less good repair sufficient to answer for the results of a "jitney" bus accident?

Fifth, you're interested in a potential menace to morality. Inevitable consequences have aroused mothers' associations, women's clubs, to urgent demands for protection of women and children. Newspapers have told of these things—of insult and mistreatment incited by the intimacy and informality of the "jitney" bus ride, and the irresponsibility of the "jitney" bus driver.

Sixth, you're interested in actual money losses to the public revenue. For instance, the city gets a part of every nickel we collect—a tax on gross revenue, additional to other taxes. If the nickels are paid to someone else who gives no share to the city, the public treasury loses. Shall the principle of taxation be applied impartially?

Seventh, you're concerned with the possible impairment of our existing street car service. If we lose money, naturally we can't afford to make extensions. They've been stopped altogether in several cities. If still we lose, it's logical that we must curtail expenses elsewhere, perhaps by abandoning unprofitable lines-and that means the "long-haul" lines into outlying sections. If revenue still doesn't pay expenses, extraordinary measures are necessary, such as higher fares to outlying sections. The deficit on "long-haul" lines is paid now (and only partially paid, in some instances) by the profit of the "short-haul" lines. That profit is the cream of the street transportation business. And without it there couldn't be any skimmed milk. Shall that cream be taken away and its benefits denied you?

There you have seven sensible reasons why Atlanta should proceed in this matter with full thought of future consequences. The community should look, first.

"Jitney" buses were novelties. Now the novelty is wearing off. Regulations to control the buses are being shaped in many cities—but with more difficulty than if those regulations had been prepared in advance.

Shall Atlanta look before she leaps?

WOMEN AND THE SCHOOLS.

Developments of yesterday placed the power of 8,000 organized women back of the solution of the desperate educational problems of Atlanta.

That is the substance of the story told in our local columns of the action of the executive board of the City Federation of Women's Clubs in not only indorsing the program and resolutions of the School Improvement association, but in inviting the members of that association to affiliate as active members with the federation.

There is not a note of politics, meddling or interference in the movement now launched. It is simply the thrusting of 8,000 woman-power to the task of insuring a square deal for the children of Atlanta. There will ensue a campaign of education and the rest will be up to council, the board of education and the women of Atlanta cooperating to bring the facts before the city

A meeting of the mothers and patrons generally of the schools of Atlanta was called a few weeks ago at Carnegie library to discuss the impasse toward which the schools were drifting. So overwhelming was the response to the call that the meeting had to be transferred to the auditorium of the Congregational church. At that meeting the School Improvement association was formed. Resolutions were adopted reciting the deplorably crowded conditions m the public schools, emphasizing the congestion that already threatened the efficiency of the high schools, and that forced discrimination in hours of instruction in the grammar schools in the form of double sessions. The resolutions call for a standard teaching day. As it is now, there are many grades in the white schools alone whose scholars receive only four hours of instruction as against the standard five and onehalf hours prevailing in the other grades.

The action of the federation's executive board now places the power of the City Federation, of Women's Clubs, 8,000 strong in membership, back of an indorsement of the resolutions passed by several hundred women at the first meeting of the School Improvement association, and in making been upon a sound commercial basis. that body a part of the federated organizations these 8,000 organized women pledge their influence to secure an end of the conditions that menace the efficiency of the schools today, and that even more definitely menaces their future.

These more than 8,000 Atlanta women are asking nothing unreasonable. They are asking simply that the school system be placed upon a basis of uniformity. That there shall be a seat for every child that has the right to apply. That there shall be a square deal for every child, which is impossible while hundreds of them are receiving only four hours of instruction against the standard five and one-half hours, and even then that four hours or part of it given in the afternoon when the child is fagged and

The organized women of Atlanta have never yet failed to attain any important end they sought. Their participation in the campaign that led to the success of the $3,000,000 bond issues, and innumerable other civic and public movements, is historic.

And they are not going to fall where uniformity in the public school system, the efficiency of the school system itself, the | "Choose your parents carefully."

sacredness of the democratic principle of equality of opportunity in the school system are involved.

WORSE THAN REPUDIATION.

With the partisan politics and the chronic municipal parsimony and short-sightedness which now aim at the abolition of the city's normal training school for teachers, The Constitution does not undertake to deal.

But there are two bedrock principles involved in the issue that should and do interest every citizen of Atlanta.

is the city going to hold itself up to the derision of the country by breaking its moral obligation with the teachers it employed at the school for the full term of ten

And are the people of Atlanta willing that a plant for the production of suitable teachers for the Atlantans of tomorrow shall be 'dismantled for lack of a pitiful little $4.500?

Those are the only two factors that really count. As against them technicalities and petty personal politics are dwarfed.

If the employer in private life hired a man to work for him in September on through into June and then, in February, blithely discharged that employee, the act would be outright breach of contract.

That is the position Atlanta is about to issume toward the teachers in the city normal, who went to work in September with the understanding that their employment continued through the school year.

It is all the worse, in that the contract is not a written but a moral one.

We have had many kinds of publicity that were good for this city. But the kind that advertises it as breaking faith with its employees is hardly to be desired.

That is only one side of the proposition. The abolition of the normal school would be a crime against the Atlantan of tomorrow. Teachers require training, as well as lawyers, doctors and members of other professions. To turn loose upon the children of the city young teachers rawly recruited from the high school is to deny the child a square deal and the teacher a square deal. Instead of abolishing or crippling the normal, its work should be gradually extended to bring under its beneficent influence every teacher in the city.

For the lack, or alleged lack, of $4,500 is rich Atlanta going to practice repudiation of the stinglest sort and place its children at a disadvantage with the children of other cities?

FOR GEORGIA PRODUCTS.

In arranging a plan whereby it will undertake to market the apples, cantaloupes, melons and other fruits and vegetables of Georgia, in addition to peaches, the Georgia Fruit Exchange has made a substantial contribution toward the solution of the state's agricultural problem this year. Already work is on foot to perfect selling contracts for these products at the 180 cities in which the exchange last year marketed peaches. If it encounters the same success in marketing Georgia's surplus of other produce, as ated, it will add materially to nues of the farmers of the state. In co-operation with the Georgia Chamber of Commerce, the exchange will do its utmost throughout Georgia to encourage the production of such crops as it can handle; to form suitable territory and instruct the farmers of that territory how to properly grade, pack and assemble such products in carload lots.

It is essential with vegetables, cantaloupes, and products other than peaches. that they be assembled in carload lots and suitably graded, as peaches now are under the plan of the exchange. Where assembling centers are lacking, it is urged that growers form co-operative agencies and get in touch either with the Chamber of Commerce or the Fruit Exchange.

It is estimated that every year hundreds of thousands of dollars' worth of perishable products go to waste on Georgia farms simply for lack of machinery to market them. The same condition, or one parallel, existed some years ago with reference to peaches in Georgia. At the end of a bumper year with 'small returns or actual losses, many growers were so discouraged as to contemplate going out of business. It was then upon the initiative of The Constitution that the Georgia Fruit Exchange was formed, and since then the peach industry in Georgia has

There is no reason why the exchange cannot do for the other perishable products of the state what it has done for peaches. It must be emphasized, however, that in order to obtain the best results there must be free co-operation between the farmer, the exchange and the State Chamber of Com-

TWO VIEWS.

It rained all day, and Sarah Jane surveyed the dismal scene; her face against the window pane, she gazed, and cried, "How mean! Here I'm condemned to stay inside, and more and break my heart, when I would like to take a ride in Willie's chugchug cart! Oh, rain, you spoil this life of mine, you make me wail and sob! The sun should have to pay a fine for loading on its job!" Said Gladys Mac Rebecca, "Hoots! This weather can't be beat! It's just the stuff for men and brutes, and also for the wheat. What more could anyone desire than such a day as this, when one can sit before the fire, and read, in perfect bliss? The music of the blessed rain, as on the roof it falls, should soothe away our every pain, and heal our harness galls. I like the sunshine when it gleams on hill and bosky dell, but when the rain gets wet and streams, I like that just as well." Then Gladys Mac Rebecca took the Uplift Magazoon, and in the cosy ingleneok enjoyed the afternoon while Sarah Jane, with gloomy mind, looked forth at gusty showers, and, in a manner most refined, she cussed the dragging hours.

Barbed wire was invented in Illinois many years ago, by a man whose descendants now belong to the first families, and can buy new automobiles whenever they feel

It takes a humble little thing to alter geography and society, and turn govern-ments over and over. Mosquito netting dug the Panama canal; the cotton gin made clothing cheap and plentiful for the whole world, and the barbed wire fence turned the embarrassingly great west into a feed lot for the cattle of America.

When the white man had cleared the Indians and buffalo off the prairies, and had run a railroad across them, he scratched hi head in perplexity. They were too big to be "Caused him to back off in great agitation useful. It would have taken all the carpenters in America to fence them in. For many years cattle men operated ranches as large as Belgium or thereabouts, with shotguns for boundaries, but the method was wasteful. It reduced the already scanty population, and it didn't keep the cattle from straying into other ranches, and producing complications which were usually settled by the coroner Then Colonel Elwood came forward with his barbed wire fence, a neat and unostentatious contrivance, which, when rubbed against by a restless steer, ran a wire spine into hi hide, and caused him to back off in great agitation.

After the barbed wire fence came, the rest was easy. Several million miles of fence went up over the prairies, and the corn raiser began to go west, where he could raise four times as much corn per drop of perspiration, and at the same time could keep it out of his neighbor's cattle. Nebraska and Kansas became corn and wheat field: and the United States grew greater with much enthusiasm.

Barbed wire is now passing gradually out of use on the farm, because it is regarded as too cruel. Nothing disarranges a fine milch cow so distressingly as a reckless scrap with a barbed wire fence. However this does not in the least disqualify it for military purposes, and shiploads of barbed wire are going to Europe every week, to be used in making the lot of the common soldier more undesirable. After a fair haired, pink-cheeked boy has fought and crawled through half a mile of barbed wire entanglements with machine guns in front of him, disgrace in the rear, and sharp steel stickers all over him, he is fikely to think hardly of Providence, because it did not make him a kind-faced muley cow, belind a weven wire fence, far from war's harms,

The Holland Letter

Frank A. Vanderlip compacted into a few words information which had come to him while sojourning upon the Pacific coast and returning thence to this city by saying that he was persuaded that the people do not now maintain the same attitude toward business which they did hold for several years, and that what they now look for is not new legislation, but the repeal of some of the laws which have in recent years been enacted. The same, though, is contained in a few remarks made by Judge E. H. Gary, who ventured to say that what is now desirable is the repeal of certain legislation which has been found detrimental to business.

Something of this kind was undoubtedly in Fresident Wilson's mind when he spoke to the convention of the chamber of com-merce of the United States at its recent meeting in Washington. No part of his address has been so earnestly discussed as that portion in which he intimated that if he can be shown that combinations perfected solely for the purpose of maintain-ing and increasing our foreign trade are not in violation of the Sherman anti-trust law then he would be glad to take such action as seemed to him appropriate. At first the impression prevailed with some of the members at the convention that the presi-dent meant that when the supreme court passes upon this issue he will have received the information that he is anxious to get But, as the president's utterance was more carefully considered and discussed, it became at last the prevailing opinion that his mean ing was as follows: The business men of the United States are of the opinion that The business men of combinations are essential if we are to maintain and increase our foreign trade. There is, however, a difference of opinion respect ing the relation of the Sherman anti-trust law to combinations of that kind. Some are persuaded that the Sherman law does not prohibit such combinations. Able lawyers confess that they are unable to give any opinion respecting the attitude of the su-preme court when this issue is brought to the attention of the court, if it ever is. any event, not less than two years probably must pass between the beginning of pro-ceedings in the supreme court to determine question and the delivering of the court's opinion

What President Wilson is now believed to have had in mind is that he would gladiy hear expositions from responsible business men of the United States of the reasons why they are persuaded that combinations forme solely for the purpose of maintaining and increasing foreign trade are expedient and He will listen patiently to what beneficial. ever reliable business men may have to say upon this point. A Having in that way be come informed and having added to the in-formation in such other ways as seem to him opportune, the president will be able to make up his mind. If he finds that the business lew of such combinations is of merit he may be persuaded to recommend to congress that there be such amendment of the man law as will permit these combination to be made. In that way the issue would no longer exist if congress approved the recommendation so that there would need to be no appeal to the supreme court.

President and His Listeners.

Some of those who took part in the meeting at Washington of the United States Chamber of Commerce are speaking now of the general impression made upon the memof the organization by the president's ess. It seemed to many of them that address. the president is gradually abandoning the political transcendentalism which was so conspicuous a mental condition of his in the first year of his presidency. So, also, it is said that if President Wilson is able to bring his ideas which are a form of transcendentalism into full sympathy with facts, accurate knowledge, profound understanding of the principles and methods which hav of the principles an include the so far as that has been influential in bringing prosperity to the United States, then he wil be revealed as one of the master minds of public life in the United States. One comment made by a lawyer of ability was this "If President Wilson can now bridge the chasm between idealism and practical, thorough as well as profound information, he will make for himself enduring fame and gain for the people great successes."

This is an impression which some of those, and possibly all, who heard his ad-dress received not only from his spoken words, but from a certain mystic attitude for which there is no language which serves more greatly to persuade than does unan swerable argument.

Real Congestion Now Prevails. Not only in the movement of wheat from the harvest fields to the markets and from the export cities is there now real congestion, but that condition is characteristic many of the American manufactories which have received large orders from the belligerent and neutral nations. It is commonly said in the financial district that the corporation of which Charles M. Schwab is president would now be congested by reason of the overflowing business it has taken if it had not limited its acceptance of orders to the capacity of its plants. There were in several of the offices of the large corporations in this city now actively occu pled with filling foreign orders strong evi dence of the danger of congestion. For instance, one of the large industries received by cable a proposition for commodities with the proviso that they were to be delivered at a certain fixed time. Had the order been taken, the plants of this comwould have been congested. On the following day a similar order came from cross the sea and it was also necessary to decline it. The aggregate of these two or-ders represented $150,000 and payment for the commodities would have been made on the date of the delivery of them to the steamship. But this industry is now operating to the capacity of its plants, and if this cawere doubled, the plants would not he too large. From various places in New England come reports that the manufacturing plants are now being operated to their full capacity and there is no lack of employment in these towns for any who are competent to work in the plants. If orders recently offered had been accepted, then some of the plants would have broken down by reason of congestion or else it would have been necessary to cancel contracts. this second week of February there are evidences that great as are the demands which have been made upon the United States for food, fiber and manufactured commodities, these are to be increased, the presumption being that the increase will continue for the rest of this calendar year at We may be compelled to hold up a halting hand, saying to would be customers in foreign nations, "We have reached our capacity for production and unless you are willing to wait until orders can conveniently be filled, you will be compelled to look elsewhere for the commodities which you HOLLAND.

long interval. Fifty years ago diphtheria broke out in a family which previously owned the property and had caused several deaths. Shortly before the present outbreak Miller decided to have the walls of the house papered, and a heavy coating of whitewash away and this refuse thrown into a heap outside. Program of Meeting.

Dr. Bricker, of the Christian church, opened the meeting with prayer, and the president announced as the introductory feature a memorial tribute to the late Mrs. Sallie Chase Pattillo, founder of the City Federation. | This consisted of loving resolutions written by Mrs. Hamilton Douglas, and passed by the body, and a letter containing beautiful tribute to Mrs. Pattillo from Mrs. Frances Fort Brown; first president of the City Federation, and the neighbor and friend of Mrs. Patillo,

Mrs. Lumpkin then briefly reviewed the eneral work of the City Federation, stress. ng the fact that the federation is a clear ing house for the eighty-odd organizations pelonging to it, and that the success of the City Federation depends upon the activity of the individual clubs comprising the fed erated body.

She mentioned as one of the general works of the federation that which had been done during the winter in the interest the playgrounds for Atlanta children, white and colored, and urged all organizations work for eighteen playgrounds for white children and five for the negroes She mentioned the necessity for the further work of the women for the patronage of home products, indorsing the movement of the national women's organization looki to patronage of home-made wares and prod-ucts. She commended the activity of the Atlanta Woman's club, and asked Mrs. A. P. Coles to explain briefly the work of the industrial committee of the club, of which Mrs. Frank Neely is chairman. Ars. Neely is also chairman of the federation industrial committee. Mrs. Coles explained that among the practical things accomplished committee was the publication of a cir-cular or bulletin, which was to be distributed among the women of industrial centers in the city, telling them where to of industrial go for information and assistance along many lines, especially that pertaining to health. With the clinics there are in Atlanta there is no reason why any dependent person who is ill should go unaided, explains the committee from the Atlanta Woman's club looking to the help of unemployed women, the federation subsequently passing a set of resolutions sent by the Atlanta Woman's club committee, putting itself on record as working for the establishment of a municipal employment bureau for Atlanta, these resolutions signed by Mrs. William Percy chairman.

Another movement heartily indorsed was expressed in resolutions commending the educational committee of the Atlanta Woman's club. Mrs. Spencer Atkinson, chairman, urging upon the board of education to incorporate in the curriculum of the grammar schools domestic science for girls, and man-ual training for boys, Mrs. Atkinson, speaking to the resolution, described the appointment of the club committee by Mrs. McGov ern, the visit of the committee to the board of education and council, and their continued efforts in that direction. She explained the plea of the committee, which was that the branches of training asked for were directly in line with the girls' and boys' equipment for life.

Following the business meeting of the organization an address of stirring interest on the subject of the "Women in the War Zone" was delivered by Mrs. Ralph C. Nor-

On the platform with Mrs. Lumpkin at the meeting were the officers of the federation, including Mrs. Oscar Parmales and Mrs. W. B. Price-Smith; also Mrs. E. L. Connally and Mrs. Woods White, former presidents; Miss Rosa Woodberry, representing the State Federation, and Mrs. William Lawson Peel, an honor guest.

Welcomed as the "baby organization" of the City Federation was the Atlanta School improvement association, of which Mrs. R. Walker is acting president. citic purpose of the organization is the welfare of the public school system of Atlanta, and its principle is co-operative. At represents the parent and home interest in the school system.

Its organization will begin through the work of a central committee, which Mrs. Walker will appoint, this committee to include membership in the various wards of the city.

It is related in the dispatches that a Frenchman in prison in Germany, learning that his mother was dying, wrote to the emperor begging leave to go to her bedside and pledging his honor that he would return to Germany by the first of March. The kaiser at once gave orders for the release of the prisoner on the terms he poposed. The Brenchman departed and was with his mother when she died, and then he kept faith and went back to his prison. It is pleasant to see that the kaiser in the midst of the vast responsibility and toll with which he is charged takes time and thought for such acts of mercy and human kindness as this. WOODWARD ASSAILED AT CREMATORY HEARING

Mayor's Alleged Connection With Street Car Company Is Investigated.

Mayor James G. Woodward's promise to make things lively at the crematory hearing when he got on the stand, was carried out at the session on Thurs-

When Attorney George Spence, representing the Destructor company, tried to get the mayor to answer questions which appeared to him to be instruc-tions that he was in some way connected with the Georgia Railway and Power company, the "fur began to fly," Mr. Spence began to ask the mayor pany as renting agent and the answer if he was not employed by the company as renting agent and the answer was snapped back.

"No, and neither you nor any one else can make any such insinuations. I brand them as false."

Mr. Spence next asked if he wasn't employed by the A., B. & A. raifroad and wasn't that company under the control of the same men who were at the head of the power company. The reply to this by the mayor was that he head of the power company. The reply to this by the mayor was that he head represented the Atlanta Terminal company for thirteen years.

"How much rent do you collect." asked the lawyer.

"That's none of your business," snapped back the mayor.

All of this evidence was ruled out by Master Frank Callaway.

Mayor Woodward then began to get in some hot shots by stating that when officials of the Destructor company called ex-Alderman James B. Everett out of the council chamber just as a vote on the crematory was about to be taken, a "dirty piece of work was done." He intimated that he could drag in other officials if he wanted to.

The storm seemed to have blown over by the time session adjourned.

JUDGE TELLS WHY HE PLACED A BAN ON BAD LANGUAGE

"That Constitution story about my barring bad language in my court is all right and true," stated Recorder Johnson to a reporter Thursday afternoon. "You see, I want ladies to come down and see how we do business, and how can a lady sit in court and listen to such foul and blasphemous words as some witnesses put in the mouths of defendants. It is really too shocking for a sensitive man. Yes, sir, I have put a ban on it."

Asked why he took such action, the corder replied:
"I have been thinking for some time about cleaning up things a little and a few days ago a lady came down with an escort to see a police matinee and ne of those Darktown negroes began o rattle off a lot of the worst things ever heard. Well, sir, that lady just put her face down in her hands and her fingers in her cars and fan. What else could she do? Keep on telling the good people that they can come and see us without being shocked."

LARGE CROWD HEARS READING BY POWERS

Leland Powers' reading from "David Copperficid" last night at the Auditorium-Armory, was a sympathetic interpretation of the chief characters in a hook that is dear to all lovers of litterature. His recital was not a cold criticism, but a vivid, glowing, humorous picture of figures that have come to be as much a part of human life as though they had breathed and lived. Mr. Powers' reading, which was under the auspices of the Alkahest lyceum course, was preceded with a musical recital by Professor, Hubert Clyde Linscott bartione, of Brenau college, accompanied by Miss Annie Lou Pagett; also, of Brenau.

FRANK CASE OPENS IN SUPREME COURT

Louis Marshall Presents Side of Defense, and the Argument for the State Will Be Made Today.

By John Corrigan, Jr.

Washington, February 25 .- (Special.) Whether Leo M. Frank, the Atlanta factory superintendent, who was con-victed of the murder of Mary Phagan, as denied a fair trial, such as is guaranteed by the federal constitution, was, the question finally presented today in wal argument before the United States ipreme court,

Upon the decision of the court depends the fate of Frank-whether the verefict of the trial court shall stand, or he set aside as illegal in view of the conditions and circumstances surrounding the trial. It was argued that egause of the excitement that prerailed in the streets of Atlanta and in the courtroom, with its psychological effect upon the trial judge and jury, and the absence of Frank and his counsel from the courtroom when the jury returned its verdict invalidated the jury's finding

Will End the Case, immediate question is upon the habeas corpus writ sued out by Frank's counsel to Judge William T. Newman, of the northern district of Georgia. If he court upholds Judge Newman's action, that will end the case and Frank will be resentenced and executed. The supreme court may send back the case with instructions to Judge Newman to hear testimony as to whether Frank was denied his constitutional rights under the fourteenth amend-if Judge Newman finds that he was, a new trial will be ordered. It is expected that the defendant will then plead that he cannot be placed twice in jeopardy for the same offense. Counsel for the state indicates that another indictment charging a capital rrime will then be brought against him. Louis Marshall, of New York, opened the case today with a brilliant argu-ment. He was questioned from time to time by practically every member of the court except Associate Justice La-mar and Associate Justice McReynolds. He will be followed tomorrow by Warren Grice, attorney general of Georgia, next Hugh M. Dorsey, solicitor general of Fulton county, who convicted Frank, will speak, and Henry C Reeples, of counsel for Frank, will con-

Each side will have two and onehalf hours, having been granted an extension of time.

Every available seat in the tiny courtroom where the supreme court! sits was occupied this afternoon during Mr Marsbail's argument. Among the Georgians present were C. Wheeler liam Schley Howard and John W. Bennett, of Waycross.

Discussing the absence of Frank from the (courtroom, because of the apprehension felt by the court that some untoward incident might follow verdict favorable to the prisoner, Mr. farshall said this was decided upon marshan sang this was decided upon after conferences in open court between the trial judge, the chief of police of Atlanta and the colonel of the Fifth regiment of state militia.

"The court was afraid of an outbreak by the mob," he said.

"The right to be present is a consti-tutional right," continued Mr. Marshall "It is part of the right to be heard. It would not have been proper to let Frank flit in and out of the court-

Justice White Questions. .

Chief Justice White asked what passage in the federal donstitution guaranteed that right. "When you say "the right to be heard you take into account both the question and the argument." said Chief Justice White. "What is the right to be heard?" "The question involved here is what is the right to be heard?" "The question involved here is what is the right to be heard?" as applicable to a criminal trial," replied Mr. Marshall. "Unless the right to be present is a part of the right to be heard, the court might at any stage say "I do not want you to be present any further. We can proceed with this trial without you. Certainly a legislature cannot say a trial can go on without the presence of the accused, or that he can be present at some stages and not at other stages."

The chief justice questioned Mr. Marshall as to whether Frank was not in reality heard at length, testified in his own behalf and was present in the courtroom throughout the trial, except when the verdict was rendered. The chiefi justice seemed to take the position that the due process of law guaranteed by the constitution did not involve all the common law practices regarding a trial by jury.

In Louisiana, his native state, he said the Roman civil law prevalls and the common law practice does not and that juries returned majority instead of unanimous verdicts. He asked Mr. Marshall if he thought that practice invalidated all jury verdicts in Louisiana. Mr. Marshall answered that he did not think the common law applied there.

"JITNEY" BUS LINE COMPANY IN CITY

A third "fitney" bus line is in con-templation for Atlanta. A. B. Conklin, former vice president of the Atlanta Telephone company, and O. E. Mac-carthy, president of the Southern Dor-ris company, are seriously consider-ing the establishment of such a cor-poration, which, it is said, will have prominent backing.

"I am seriously considering the proposition," said Mr. Conklin. "Many leading business men have told me that they would enter into such a proiect if I would take the initiative in forming such a corporation. One au tomobile firm of the north has brough forward an excellent offer of supplying cars in exchange for stock. However, we are simply looking over the situation at present and have yet made no plans."

Finding No Money in Safe, Burglar Pours Kerosene Into Flour and Sugar

Decatur, Ga.. February 25 .-- (Speeial.)—A burglar with a great big grouch entered the Pickett grocery store on the North Decatur car line in Edgewood last night. It has been the custom of the proprietor of the store to leave the safe unlocked when closing the store each night so that burg-lars would not wreck it, and the fact that last night's burglar found the Georgians present were C. Wheeler Mangum, sheriif of Fulton county; Harry Alexander, Representative William Schley Howard and American Schley Howard and Note of State of the Safe open and empty seemed to inspire him with a desire for revenge and he proceeded to get busy. He filliam Schley Howard and ed a gallon pot with kerosene oil from a tank in the corner of the storeroom and poured its contents into barrels containing sugar and flour and dashed oil over a large number of sacks of flour. He then hammered and damaged the lock of the safe, although the safe door was ajar, finishing by pouring syrup over the safe door. The damage to goods by the oll amounts to about $300. Nothing was missed from the store, the burglar evidently being on the hunt for money only.

NEW TRIAL IS ASKED FOR CHARLES BECKER

New York, February 25.—A motion or a new trial for Charles Becker, Frank flit in and out of the courtroom, make an occasional statement and then return to jail as if he were not a reality but a mere abstraction."

Chief Justice White asked, "Is it your argument that in a jury trial, where the accused is not present, that he has not been heard, and the trial has been illegal and he must go free."

Mr. Marshall replied that the right to be present was not one which the accused could voluntarily or involuntarily walve. "The right to be heard," said Mr. Marshall, "includes the right to be present at the final stages of the trial as well as the earlier stages."

Mr. Justice Pitney reminded Mr.
Marshall that in certain cases jury trial has been waived by state legislation, the asked Mr. Marshall whether the right to be heard was treated in his argument as a state or a federal right, and Mr. Marshall replied that his contention was that the right was a part of the fundamental law constituting due process of law.

FOR "FARM DE GINK"

Washington. February 25.—Jeff Davis, founder of the Hotel de Gink for unemployed in New York, asked President Wilson today to set aside some public hand in Arizona for a "Farm de Gink," for use of the Jobless.

"The unemployed are divided into three classes," Davis told the president, "hoboes, who are willing to work; tramps, who won't work, and bums, who can't work. We are doing our best to care for the hoboes, who are entitled to assistance from the government. Any man is apt to become a hobo some time. Gives relief in thousands upon thousands of cases of lame back, lumbago, sciatica, rheumatism, gall-stones, gravel and all affections of the kidneys, liver, stomach, bladder and allied organs. It acts quickly. It does the work, it cleanses your kidneys, and purifies the blood. It makes a new man, a new woman, of you. It frequently wards off attacks of the dread and fatal diseases of the kidneys. It often completely cures the distressing diseases of the kidneys. 'Fighting Carpenter" Is Victor in Sensational Bout at Bijou-Both Boys Bleeding at Finish.

By Carl Taylor.

Frank Whitney, the "Fighting Carpenter," added another scalp to his belt last night when he defeated Jake Abel, in the most sensational 10-round fight Atlanta fans have been treated to in some time.

Whitney was given the decision by the newspaper men, and he deserved it. Of the ten rounds, five went to Whitney, one to Abel, while the other four were even.

The fight was extremely bloody, both men bleeding profusely at several stages of the game. Abel's left eye was completely closed, his right badly swollen, his mouth cut, and his nose By Carl Taylor.

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Forsyth.)

Four more performances will end the engagements of the spleudid acts that make up the Forsyth program for this week. The Arnaut Brothers, European noveity clowns, present an act that is superior to anything of the sort that has been offered here in vaudeville. Madam Henriette de Serris and her company of professional models appear in life-like reproductions of famous works of art and win the attention of every audience. Bertha Creighton and company in "Our Husband," present one of the best comedy one-acts of the season. The bill for next week will be headed by Harry Cooper, the famous character comedian. Hermine Shone and company, in "The Last of the Quakers," and the Primrose Four, "One Thousand Pounds of Harmony," will be among the other features.

The features which are being offered the Atlanta this week in connection with the performance of "Old Plantation Days" the Baidwin-Melville stock company are we worth while. seemed more confident than in their former meeting and the first two rounds seemed to speciators to be fairly even.

Welsh's fast left jab did excellent execution in the third and fairly smothered the Chicagoan, who fought back wildly. Freddie landed half a dozen punches to Charlie's face without a return. A wild swing of the challenger accidentally landed low, but apparently did no damage to Welsh White's seconds urged him to mix, but his rushes in most cases were avoided or checked by the champion's left jab Freddie danced around the challenger, landing almost at will in the fifth and sixth round. He used a hard right swing to the head and landed it frequently. White dontinually tried to whip in his left, but Welsh was too shifty.

White Becomes Wild.

White sees were puffed and he became so wild in the seventh and eighth that the crowd began to hoot. Welsh timed his blows carefully and drove them in almost without return. White landed a clean hard left to the body in the eighth.

White made a desperate attempt to oven matters in the ninth and came out of his corner with a rush, swingling both hands. He landed several times, but his punches apparently did not slow the champion, although his aggressiveness gave him a shade to better of the session in the opinion of experts. He continued his rushing tactics in the final round and Welsh met him toe to toe. The champion seemed somewhat tired, but his superious punishment. New York, February 25.—After a comparatively slight early decline, cotton rallied and closed steady at a net advance of 4 to 7 points.

Reports that war risk rates had been temporarily suspended, pending the adjustment of a new and higher schedule, seemed to be largely responsible for some scattered selling during the early trading. Liverpool did not fully meet yesterday's advance here and after opening unchanged to 4 points lower, the local market sold about 4 to 5 points under last night's closing figures.

The market closed unsettled, 21-8 to 31-8@31-4 under last night. Other leading staples, too, all finished at a net decline, corn down 17-8@2 to 21-8@21-4, oats 7-8@1 to 1, and provisions 10@121-2 to 55 cents.

Corn took the same path as wheat. Assertions that exporters at Baltimore were reselling corn to the west led to heavy unloading here.

Oats were upheld by notice of European purchasing that was estimated at 1,000,000 bushels. In the end, however, oats gave way in sympathy with corn and wheat.

Weakness of grains appeared to strip the provision market of nearly all support.

More stability was manifested by all the markets for foneign exchange, that situation being assisted by circumstantial rumors that negotiations are almost completed for the placing of additional credits by several of the European governments now making extensive purchases in this country.

Domestic monetary movements show a slight hardening of rates for long-time accommodations, but interior banks continue to lend freely of their superfluous funds. The probable success of the Anaconda Copper note offering, which coincides with an advance in the price of copper metal to 15 cents, was the interesting ffhancial development of the day.

SHOW BIG INCREASE

New York, February 25.—(Special)—The market today indicated by its action that liquidation had finished for the present and that the lower prices were attractive to those contemplating purchases. While the demand became quite insistent at the closing of the market, offerings proved to be much lighter than during the past few days, as a result of which prices improved somewhat. Since nervousness over shipments of cotton abroad caused the soiling movement, any development that will allay this feeling and make it plain that exports will continue as heretofore should bring about a generally better demand.

JAY, BOND & CO.

New York, February 25.—(Special.)—Liv-

New York, February 25.—(Special.)—Liverpool did not fully respond to our improvement yesterday, but had a steadier undertone throughout the day, closing 5 to 6 points higher. The action of the government in practically closing the war insurance bureau on cotton to North see ports was advanced as against the export of cotton. On the other hand, if the foreign governments find the United States will not insure, why they will find some method of means by which the danger may be avoided. In other vords, they may be compelled to take the risks of importing their cotton and foodstuffs, which we refuse to do any longer. The trade does not appear to be so bearish tonight, but they think it quite possible that the fortunes of war may cause another decline at any moment.
