Many of the Wisest and Best Men in the State, Asserts Frank, Feel That He Was Not Given a Fair and Impartial Trial.

In a stinging card, in which he goes quite fully into his case, Leo M. Frank has replied to the card of ex-Governor Joseph M. Brown which appeared in The Augusta Chronicle of December 27. In his card Mr. Brown took the position that the law should take its course and Frank be executed. Frank, in his reply, comments on the fact that no former governor of Georgia has ever a similar card, and he intimates that the former governor had political ends to serve when he wrote Victor E. Innes and his wife, of Eurene, Ore., recently were acquitted here of charges of murder and conspiracy to murder in connection with he disappearance of the women.

Devine, Texas, is 30 miles from San Antonio, where Victor Innes and his wife were visiting a few days before the Nelms sisters. Victor Innes has a step-daughter, Mrs. Robert Wood, who lives with her husband in Devine. The Inneses spent perhaps a month in Devine visiting Mr. and Mrs. Wood. They also repeatedly visited them from San Antonio during the time they resided at 120 Wilkins avenue, the house of mystery. In which the Nelms girls were believed to have been murdered.

SAINT AND SINNER TO HEAR SERMONS

"Go-to-Church" Services at All of the Churches of Atlanta Today Expected to Draw Large Crowds.

Today is the day that sinner and saint alike—as well as the middleman—go to church. It is destined to be the biggest and most triumphant day for Atlanta's churches since the time, long before the war, when the First Presbyterian set up their modest little offi- worshiping place in the log cabin uses, right where Five Points now is. "Go-to-Church" day is expected to in town. Special programs have been ually helpful, but are beautifully entertaining.

It will be made an annual event.
January 3 is the date for this year.
The first Sunday in January will also likely be the time for next year's observance.

Among the churches that will observe the day with added song and music services will be All Saints' Episcopal church, which will repeat its classic Christmas program. In the aftclassic Christmas program. In the afternoon, an organ prelude will be given to the public. The Second and First Baptist churches and the Presbyterian churches, the Methodist and the Congregational will all render delightful programs. Rev. J. B. Atkinson, dean of St. Philip's cathedral, has prepared two special sermons, and a program of song and music.

Ruroede has been under surveillance for about six weeks. He left his em-ployment with agents for the North German-Lloyd line and established an German-Lioyd line and established an office in the downtown district. The detectives learned, it was said, that he was in communication with German reservists in all parts of the country, while he received many of them every day at his office. Ruroede furnished many with Swiss and Rumanian passports, it is alleged. To obtain American passports it is charged Ruroede employed naturalized Germans to apply for passports. Once certified, the passports were sent to Washington for signature by Secretary Bryan and the seal of the state department and on being returned were given to the reservists.

Had Bryun's Signature.

The passport found on the four Germans each bore the photograph of their bearer stamped with the state department's seal, but were made out respectively, Sasche's to Howard Faul Wright; Muller's to Herbert S. Wilson; Meyer's to Peter Hansen and Wagner's to Stanley F. Martin. It was said there was no doubt as to the authenticity of the seal of the state department on the photographs or as to Mr. Bryan's signature, but how the photographs had been placed on the documents without creating suspicion that they were not likenesses for the persons to whom the passports were issued, was not disclosed. Had Bryun's Signature sons to whom the passports were issued, was not disclosed.

It was further alleged that Ruroede, to complete the deception, furnished reservists with engraved cards bearing names and occupations to correspond with the passports and even with fictitious typewritten correspondence addressed to them in their assumed name

"We realize." he said, "that these four defendants were inspired by the highest patriotic motives. This is the tail end of a conspiracy in which they are, unfortunately for them, involved, and in the interests of justice they must be detained within the jurisdiction of the court." District Attorney Marshall said tonight that he wished to emphasize that the state department had recently established new and stringent regulations in the issuance of passports, which, it is believed, cannot be evaded.

making out these certificates is legitimate.

"Some of these certificates are long questionaires, including a list of fifty or sixty questions, which it takes time and investigation to answer properly, and the value of a policy made out here is sometimes as high as $5.000 and $6,000. For that reason we have fixed $2.50 as being a fair fee for this work. But because of the evident poor financial status of a man who cannot carry a policy for more than $200, we have seen fit to recognize this condition and have fixed a scale of rates above which an interne may not charge for a small, policy.

an interne may not charge for a small, policy.

"Physicians in general practice do not often make a charge for making out such certificates, for he knows that the insurance money will in all probability help pay the hill which he will present for having waited upon the insured. An interne at Grady hospital can present no such bill for his services, and, therefore, has no earthly interest in the insurance transaction. There are fourteen internes in Grady hospital and the city pays them $100 per month to be divided between these, which is a matter of some $7 per month per man. Yet it often happens when an interne finds a distressing case he will make no charge at all for making out an insurance certificate."

Georgia's Response Disappointing.

The responses to the appeal for the Belgian relief fund, although in a number of individual cases, very gratifying, has fallen fair short in Georgia of the mark set by other states.

"We realize that the situation in the south is not such that any great contributions may be expected," declared Dr. May, Thursday, "however, we do ask that everyone who feels able to contribute, even to a lesser extent, than they would have, had conditions been propitious, we would like to make it plain that every contribution, no matter how small, will be genuinely appreciated, and that it will do a great deal of real good.

"A donation of 25 cents might perhaps save the life of some little Belgian child, and in any case will be a great deal of help.

"Whatever one's sympathies may be as respects the virtue of the names of the other nations at war, there is no one, I believe, who falls to sympathize with the Belgians in their calamity."

Arrangements are being perfected for the relief day committee in Atlanta, who will take charge of the sale of the flags.

No event scheduled for the future is of more general interest to all elements of society than the coming of Mary Antin, that most unique of feminine figures in the group of women scholars of world note, and students of social problems.

She will lecture here under the auspices of the Council of Jewish Women, and all the women's organizations of the city will lend their interest and support to the occasion. Mary Antin is the wife of one of the faculty of Columbia university.

She wrote and published two years ago the book entitled "The Promised" at tacted attention to Mary Antin, the story of the two countries as ago the book entitled "The Promised" writer.

People who are forced to stand on their feet all day know what sore, tender, sweaty, burning feet mean. They use "PIZ," and "TIZ" cures their feet right up. It keeps feet in perfect condition, "TIZ" is the only of feet replant of the world that draws out all the poisonous exudations which puff to start, and carries with it a dramatic life story, setting forth the standards and traditions, political and otherwise, of Russia and the United States. In view of present conditions the world that draws out all the poisonous exudations which puff to story of the two countries as seen by the native of one and the resident now of the other, is significantly interesting.

to succeed Wharton O. Wilson, who has headed the Civic Forum since it was organized.

All four of the officers chosen by the Civic Forum for the ensuing term are Atlanta lawyers: Leonard J. Grossman was elected vice president; George Northen, secretary, and Catchings Thereil, treasurer.

Following the election of officers an indictment against Mr. Wilson, the retiring president, charging him with unusual efficiency, among other things, was read by Mr. Stevens, the retiring secretary. The president appointed an investigating committee consisting of Walter LeCraw, Leonard J. Grossman and Catchings Thereil to pass upon the charges. Mr. Wilson was found guilty, not only of the charges specified, but also of arson, having wilfully kindled a flame of admiration in the hearts of all the members of the Civic Forum.

In announcing this verdict Mr. Lecraw delivered a stirring address on heart of the Civic Forum, presenting Mr. Wilson with a handsome set of heavy jeweled cuff buttons and scarf pin, in appreciation of his services as president.

TEACHERS OF ENGLISH

A movement is now on foot to organize in Atlanta an association of teachers of English, which will affiliate with the National Council of Teachers of English. Among those interested in this movement in Atlanta is Mrs. Lelia Jones Leitner. Such an organization, it is believed, would be of material benefit to the teachers of English is an organization having a membership covering every state in the union and several foreign countries. It serves as a clearing house for over forty state and city associations with a combined membership of over 10,000.

An extremely interesting annual session of the national council was held in Chicago last November, and a special meeting with the department of superintendence will be held in Cincinnati in February, when English as an administrative problem will be discussed.

FRANK SENTENCE STILL IN EFFECT?

Lawyers Disagree as to Who Should Annul Order of Execution - Sheriff Is "Hands Off."

Who will supersede the execution sentence of Leo M. Frank, sentenced to hang on the 22d of this month? Sheriff C. Wheeler Mangum has an order from Judge Ben Hill, of superior court, to hang the condemned man on the last Friday of January, 1915. Up to date this order has not been annulled. Neither has there been a suspension of it. Officials of superior court say that the case passed out of the jurisdiction of Judge Hill when it went into the federal channels.

Judge Hill now has nothing to do with the case. It has passed out of his hands. He can neither revoke nor suspend the order of execution. Yet it remains a command from the superior

THOMAS CO. NEGROES HAVE LARGE PARADE

Thomasville, Ga., January 2.—(Special.)—From all parts of Thomas county the members of the colored race gathered in Thomasville yesterday to see the grand industrial parade in celebration of Emancipation day and attend the colored fair, which had been held here for two days. The fair was a most creditable one in every respect, and the displays along all lines were very good. The promoters of it were actuated principally by the desire to encourage the negro farmers of the county and induce them to devote more of their time and attention to agricultural matters, but prizes were also given for the best exhibits along all industrial lines. The negroes entered into it with much zest and it will no doubt be an established custom each year.

The parade, which was very nearly a mile in length, took the principal streets of the city and excited much favorable comment from all spectators.

WAYCROSS COUNCIL TO NAME OFFICIALS

Waycross, Ga., January 2.—(Special.)
That there will be few if any changes in the city officials for 1915 is the general opinion prevailing in Waycross. This is due to the fact that members of council have become satisfied that the city in 1914 secured an unusually efficient set of officers, and except where offices may be consolidated to reduce expenses, no changes for 1915 are anticipated. Nevertheless, the city employees will occupy what is known as the "anxious bench" until after next Tuesday, when the annual election of officials is scheduled to be held.

The offices filled by council are city clerk and tax collector, superintendent of streets, city attorney, health officer, marshal and chief of police, superintendent of waterworks, chief of fire department, street overseer, sanitary inspectors, members of the police department, assistant engineer at the waterworks, plumbing inspector and a few others.

Jakin's Election.

Jakin, Ga., January 2—(Special.)—
The warmest municipal contest in the history of Jakin has just closed, the Law, and Order ticket winning over the open-town crowd nearly four to one, with the following: For mayor, O. H. Mosely; for councilmen, J. P. Donelson, T. F. Minter, J. C. Haynes, P. A. Smith and J. A. Bivins.

Report on Workings of the Municipal Court.

Interesting figures regarding the op-erations of the municipal court of At-lanta are submitted by Chief Judge E. D. Thomas, in his first annual report. Although the year's operations show a financial deficit, the decrease of criminal warrants and petty cases is most appreciable. Where there were from 5,000 to 6,000 warrants filed during the previous year, there are shown only

In order to discourage the collection of petty debts by prosecution, it was necessary to operate the criminal division at the heavy loss of $4,537.72.

The total number of cases filed through December 9, 1914, were 7,831. The number of dispossessory warrants issued were 2,587. The total number of criminal proceedings amounted to 1,357. The number of civil cases filed were 12,105, and the cases appealed to the appellate division were 205. Judge Thomas' Comment.

The remarks of Judge Thomas fol-The remarks of Judge Thomas follow:

"Receipts up to and including December 24, 4914, are $42,221.57. Disbursements up to and including Lecember 2 were $52,515.63, leaving a dencit of $15,-273.76. The dencit snould be credited with solvent costs due, approximately $4,267.73, leaving a deficit of $11,026.63. It should be borne in mind that the county expended to the account of the justice of the peace system of the city, for rents and dockets, approximately $2,000 annually. It should also be borne in mind that of the 7,531 civil cases filed, 1,824 were for sums exceeding $400, which, heretofore, were filed either in the city or superior court.

"It will be borne in mind that, practically, for the first three months, this court was engaged largely in disposing of cases brought over from the justice of the peace courts for which the county received no remuneration.

"It was found necessary to establish a criminal division separate and apart from the civil divisions. This criminal division was operated at a minimum expense of $6.60, while the only mal division was operated at a mini-mum expense of $6,000, while the only costs received were $1,462.28, leaving a costs received were $1,462.28, leaving a deficit of $4,537.72.

"The monthly statement of receipts shows that they have more than doubled since the beginning of the year. The business of the court, even for the past six months, has more than doubled."

With Dublin Churches,

Dublin, Ga., January 2.—(Special.)—Sunday will be a special day in two of the Dublin churches. At the First Methodist church, Sunday morning, 'Go-to-Church day,' will be observed by carrying out a special program appropriate to the occasion, under the direction of Rev. Whitley Langston, pastor. At the First Baptist church, Sunday evening, the Baptist Young Feople's union of the church will have charge of the service and put on a demonstration meeting, carrying out a regular program, and tollowing this with a public installation of new officers for the coming year.

MEAT FOR MARKET

From Tifton to Atlanta. Some Hog-Killings.

Tifton, Ga., January 2.--(Special)-There isn't enough meat raised in this section to feed all of its inhabitants, our farmers who are engaged in th stock-raising industry on a big scale. This was illustrated yesterday when Gibbs Brothers shipped a carload of ive stock to Atlanta. In the car were thirty-four steers and slateen hogs, the hogs weighing a total of 5,000 pounds. Although this is a large shipment for them, the Gibbs Brothers make a specialty of raising and fattening live stock for the market Another instance was the killing of 115 hogs in one day on the farm of Judge J. B. Clements, of Irwin county, has 175 hogs yet to kill, which will make a total of about 40,000 pounds of meat. Hog Killing Time in Sumter. Americus, Ga., January 2.—(Special.) N. A. Ray, 2 miles east of Americus, N. A. Ray, 2 miles east of Americus, last week killed fifty fat porkers, weighing net from 275 to 400 pounds, or an average of probably 325 pounds, the aggregate weight exceeding 16,000 pounds. Mr. Ray has always waged a relentless and persistent "hog-and-hominy" campaign, to which fact, in large measure, is attributed his success as one of Sumter's most substantial and progressive planters. His model farm produces each year all that is needed for sustenance of man and beant, and with his smokehouse and barns well filled with meat and grain he is independent of conditions otherwise prevailing.

'BUILD NOW" MOVE BRINGING RESULTS

Reports of Committees Outline Advantages of Immediate Action by Property Owners.

The "Bulld Now" campaign of the Chamber of Commerce in the interests of both the prospective builder of Atlanta and the army of men now unemployed, has already produced concrete results. It is declared that the business depreasion is showing definite stigns of immediate betterment.

The Chamber of Commerce committee having oharge of the campaign has learned from architects and other expert sources that the prospective builder may now obtain more reasonary in the last already realized a large sum as the immediate betterment.

Another client has given orders to build four houses. The same information has been placed in the hands of the other architects and may be seen at the Chamber of Commerce by anyone who is interested.

Another member of the committee, a prominent real estate man, announced that he is preparing plans for improvement to cost about $35,000.

It is believed that the information secured by the committee in regard to the reduced expense of building, when placed in the hands of troperty owners are advised to the reduced expense of building, when placed in the lands of property owners are advised to the reduced expense of building, when placed in the lands of property owners, will cause many of them to begin work which would otherwise have been delayed for some months.

building or improvement upon any building or improvement upon your property which you may have contemplated for the coming year for the following reasons:

"I. The cost of building is 15 to 20 per cent less than it was a year ago, or is likely to be a little later. This statement is based on the report of a committee of architects and supply men who made a careful investigation of market conditions.

"2. This work, done now, will give much needed employment to labor, thus putting money into circulation, and will, at the same time, stimulate the building supply trade, which is itself an important part of the business community, employing several thousand men.

"3. Building now is upon a conservative basis, and any loan secured for the improvement of property will necessarily be upon a moderate valuation. Therefore, both the cost and the fixed charges of improvements made at this time will be at a minimum, and investments so made will yield a proportionately higher return.

Worst Depression Now Over.

Worst Depression Now Over.

"4. It is the general opinion of business men that the country has passed the worst period of depression. Cotton, the south's great staple, has begun to move with rapidity and the weekly exports exceed those of a year ago. The surplus, which sixty days ago was estimated at five million bales, now seems likely to be reduced very greatly, possibly to half that number, and the market for cotton has been steadily improving for several weeks.

"Almost every day the newspapers carry the news of mills and factories resuming operation, and a continued improvement of business may be expected. With the improvement prices for building material are likely to advance."

pected. With the improvement prices for building material are likely to advance.

"For these reasons those who make, without delay, any contemplated improvements, will do so with great advantage to themselves, as well as to the working classes and to the entire community.

"Our recommendation does not contemplate speculative building. The investment we refer to is that in buildings for business purposes, or dwellings for business purposes, or dwellings to be occupied by home-owners or bona fide tenants.

Cost of Building.

A special committee on cost of building composed of P. Thornton Marye, R. M. Walker, W. B. Willingham, Charles E. Sciple, E. C. Wachendorf, and P. G. Hanahan has compiled data showing the relative cost of building now and one year ago.

This data, including not only a statement on some fifteen or twenty lines of trade, but the original letters from supply men on which the statement is based has been multigraphed and placed in the hands of the architects.

A copy of this data is on file at the chamber of commerce, where any one interested in the subject may see it.

ATHLETIC CLUB DEFEATED BY COLUMBUS

CRACKERS SIGN NEW CATCHERS

Names Are Withheld by Local Headquarters, But It Is Reported They Are Experienced Men.

There is a rumor circulating around baseball headquarters that the Crackers have purchased two new catchers for their 1915 team. The names of these two men are not given out, but it is pretty definitely known that two backstops of good worth have been purchased for the Crackers.

The rumor is entirely probable, inasmuch as the Crackers will have to have two new receivers for their team. Joe Dunn will be a pilot next year, while Jeff Tyree, the other catcher on the 1914 Crackers, has been recalled by the Chicago Cubs and will not be returned this year. So it can be seen returned this year. So it can be seen that the locals will have to have two new men, and the signing of these two is entirely probable. Bill Arrivès This Week.

Bill Arrives This Week.

Manager Bill will arrive in the city the latter part of this week, and will at once start to work to get his prospects in shape, and get his 1915 contracts in shape for mailing.

The locals will need two new catches, a third-sacker, a second-sacker and an outfielder, to say nothing of soveral new hurlers. The locals manager has already signed four new men on his trip, and it is expected that he cill sign several more before returning. An outfielder, two third basemen and a pitcher are the new men he has signed so far. He is at present conducting negotiations with Clark Griffifth, of the Washington Americans, for the use of Wallle Smith, but so har has not reached an agreeable settlement. Several men will also be immed over to him by Branch Rickey, and, it is expected that he will know in the near future just what men the Browns intend to turn back. Edson Hemingway is one that the locals are counting on getting, and it is almost practically assured that they will get him.

Evans is a former western amateur and open champion and finished within one stroke of Walter Hagen, who won the open championship last fall. Ho is the former French amateur champion and has been a bational semi-finalist four times. Fownes is a formar national champion and last year was the gold medalist in the mational tournament. Kirby is the New Jersey champion and former (metropolitan title holder. Evans and Fownes will be paired against Travers and Kirby in an eighteen-hole match.

Former President William H. Taft and other distinguished men are expected to be among the givests of the club on the opening day.

The tournament proper will begin on Monday, January II, with a qualification round of eighteen holes and four sixteens will qualify, and the match play-rounds will be played on the three following days. The Seawiew trophy will be presented to the winners and runners-up of the other sixteens, and other trophles will be presented to the winners and runners-up of the other sixteens, and in addition the winners of the defeated eights will receive prizes. Charche H. Goist, the president of the club, has financed the proposition. The course is located two miles north of Absecon, and within a short distance of Atlantic City. It is laid out over a large tract of 280 acres, and is 6,100 yards played from short tees and 6,400 yards from back tees. The tees are arranged to sult the varying weather conditions.

The course itself is constructed on a sandy loam soil and the drainage is such that neither snow nor water will like on the course for more than a very short period.

It is in every sense of the word an all-round-the-year constructed in the east where it is possible to play golf overy month in the year. The club will have a membership of 1,200. Connie Mack's Great Team Establishes Unique Record; No Player Ejected in 1914 kicked themselves out of a pennant.

Umpires are human, hence not infallible. The wise umpire listens to a proper protest. The foolish umpire insists he is always right.

When a substitute takes the piace of a star in some big production on the stage the public always has the right to demand its money back at the box office. Some day such conditions will prevail in baseball, when some star, whom a majority of the crowd wants to see play, is ejected from the game for some reason or other.

By BILLY EVANS. (American League Umpire.)

Does it pay to have your players constantly disputing with the umpire? Some managers are of the opinion that it does. Connie Mack, one of the greatest as well as most successful leaders the game has ever produced, regards it as a waste of time and effort. If you would take his team as an example, it would seem that it is wise to play ball and let the umpire do the umpiring.

The Philadelphia team of the American League established a record in 1914 that I feel sure is without a parallel in baseball. Not a single regular player was ejected from a ball game during the entire season. I could go even further and say that not even a coacher was ordered to the bench for conduct that failed to meet with the approval of the umpire. Just think of it, the team that won the pennant in the American League, the team that was in the heat of a mistakes at the expense of the official.

Umpires, as a rule, like peace, and few, if any, go out on the field with a chip on their shoulder. The umpire who does is a very foolish fellow, for there are enough things happening on the ball field without trying to create additional events. It is a good betthat the umpire had just cause for election when he puts a player out of the game nowadays. The average umpire overlooks a lot of things that happen in the heat of battle, simply for the sake of peace. Every now and then situations arise that he must take in hand, and nine times out of ten the players suffer as a result.

As for Eggers, he and his work are weil and favorably known in Atlanta. He has boxed Kid Young, Sherman and Jimmy Grant here, and always has made a great and aggressive showing. He is a hard, punishing boxer, with a long string of "K. Eggers holds a decision over Johnny Dundee. He has another over Herman himself, and a draw with Frankie Turns. With Herman, Eggers ought to put up one of the best bouts ever seen in the south.

Negroes Better Than Whites.

While such men as McVey, Langford, Jeanuette and Willis, to say nothing of Jack Johnson, remain in the game, the business of "white hoping" will hardly thrive to any great extent. Unless some youngster of unusual promise flashes on the horizon there is little prospect of a change in the complexion of the reigning race in heavyweight pugilism in the near future.

BASEBALL PEACE

Federals and Oranized Ball Will Continue to War on Other, Declares Ward, of Brooklyn Feds.

New York, January 2.—Robert B. Ward, president of the Brooklyn Federals, and vice president of the Federal league, in a statement tonight made public détails of fruitless peace negotiations with organized baseball early in the winter. First peace overtures, he said, came from "Mike" Cantillon, owner of the Minneapolis American association club, whose plan was for Federal teams in the west to enter the American association, and those in the east to merge with the International league.

in the east to merge with the international league.

The Federals turned this suggestion down, Ward said, and Cantillon then brought into conferences Charles Weeghman, of the Chicago Federals, and Augustus Herrmann, chalrman of the National commission.

Ward said three distinct propositions were made to him to buy the New York Americans at the same time that Weeghman was given an option to buy the Chicago Nationals. Ward said he was willing to purchase the Yankees and Weeghman the Cubs on condition that the Federals be admitted as a material said the same that the Federals be admitted as a material said the same that the Federals be admitted as a material said the said the said the federals be admitted as a material said the said t Federals be admitted as a ma-

"The Federal league is a permanent institution in baseball," said Ward, in conclusion. "We will continue to build on a foundation of straightforward dealing with the public. Some men cannot understand why we can hope to succeed. The public seems eager for the change, if I may judge from the comments in recent weeks."

"We do not believe," he declared, "in one manufacturing standard for touring cars and another for trucks. We test a model two years before we put it on the market, and leave no stone unturned to build into our product the greatest possible value."

Although Mr. Toole stated that the new trucks will probably not be delivered in Atlanta before the first ori fifteenth of March, he has received the especifications and plans for the trucks and is highly pleased with them.

The Locomobile truck models consist of a three-ton truck and a four-ton truck, both equipped with worm drive, and the driver's seat located back of the motor. The five and six-ton sizes are of the heavy duty type, equipped with double side-chain drive and chain cases, and the driver's seat placed over the motor to give a maximum length of loading platform on minimum wheel base.

Washington, have been most persistent.

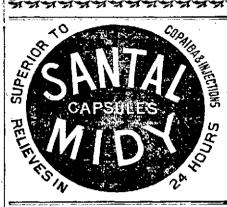

A co-operating committee was formed of the leaders of the trade in London which worked direct with the British government, keeping in constant cable communication with the American committee. The problem appeared simple at first, but was soon found to be very complex. After six weeks of constant efforts, in which the committee has had the best of cooperation from our state department and from Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the British ambassador, the real issues involved in the embargo are clearly defined. The embargo committee, feeling the desirability at this stage of having its arguments and its carefully worked out plans of guaranty presented personally to the head of the British government by a representative American manufacturer, has arranged with Mr. Work to lay its case before the highest authorities in England. It is needless to say that the result of his efforts is of the highest importance to the American industry.

Untermyer Says Honest Speculation Is All Right, But Exchange Must Stop Manipulation From Inside.

New York, January 2 .- (Special.) --Public regulation of the New York stock exchange was only one of the subjects discussed at the American Economic association meeting held this week at Princeton, and for that reason speakers were Prof. Henry C. Emery, Yale; Dr. Royal Meeker, United

He began by deignoramuses throughout the country who could only think of the stock exchange as a gambling den. The exchange as an institution, he said, is a wholesome public necessity, which makes possible great business and financial enterprises. After pointing out how the exchanges in Germany, France, and other countries were regulated by the government, he began as follows with his real subject manipulation:

"I do not propose to discuss here at any length the ethics or merits of specu-lation, except in so far as it is accompanied by manipulation or short selling. broad and active public market in the absence of speculation. The importance of a main artery from the central west into the south has not been overestimated. On the other hand, it has been underestimated. The vistness of its possibilities is presented by a glance at the first attempt of our forefathers to open up the west.

Mrs. R. S. Kennedy, of 312-A Rawson street, was jerked to the ground and robbed of her shopping bag, containing a sum of money, when assailed by a negro thief last night about 8 o'clock. She and her daughter, Mrs. J. R. Brace-well, were returning from a shopping trip up town and were within a short distance of their home when the robbery occurred.

"We were nurrying home, and my daughter, carrying about $25, was a few steps in front of me," said Mrs. Kennedy. "I heard steps in my rear, but did not turn about, for I thought it my son-in-law, J. R. Bracewell, about to overtake us.

The average farmer receives little more money for his year's work than he would be paid if he hired himself out as a farm hand, the investigation shows. It was greatest in North Carolina, where farms supplied $2.3 per cent of the food consumed, while the average in New York was only $50.4.

In view of the present economic crisis in the south this fact is regarded as of particular significence since it demonstrates the extent to which with a proper system of agricultures southern farms can be made self-sustaining, says the department's report. "Concentration upon one cash crop, cotton, has proved disastrous, and agricultural authorities are now trying that the susiness section, for over a month. So today the tourist is doing just what our forefathers did when the government built the road west for them; as it paid an hundred-fold then, so will it do now, and is doing. Henry Flag-ler, as a tourist, came to spend more than $50,000,000 in the south. There are others who need but the opportu-nity, thousands whose wealth is not so great as Flagler's, yet theirs is all now money to the south, and the aggre-

Cities in northern Indiana along its route have kept account, as nearly as possible, of the touring parties passing through. At South Bend, the average during the summer was more than 200 per day. It was impossible to get all of them, but a great majority of these stopped over. The average was four people to the car, meaning very close-to 1,000 neople, all of whom had to be fed and some clothed.

This Great Annual Event Will Start Early Monday Morning Undermuslins---New Goods for the New Sale, This New Year!

How the women of Atlanta and vicinity will go for these beautiful Undermuslins is easily foretold in their irresistible charm and daintiness as they are spread in snowy array—veritable mountains of pretty laces. sheer embroideries, fluffy fabries and ribbons—they will vanish like snow before the sun.

The sale this year is distinguished by two features which make it different from other January sales:

FIRST: The event is attended by the lowest pricing of any previous sale at this season of the year. In fact, the prices are such as are afforded in our annual June sales.

SECOND: The garments are all new, fresh—the varieties larger, with many new and improved ideas; muslins with new daintiness.

· Every season brings forth marked improvement in merchandise. We aim always at the very best for our customers.

"How can we better serve people?" is the eternal question in this store.

Tomorrow we serve with important and opportune outclearings of these myriads of beautiful and GOOD undergarments offered at prices frankly intended to clear them out.

And may we say that those who come to share a very wonderful event will in no wise be disappointed?

But—Note the prices—They will assume double importance after you have examined the garments.

A BEAUTIFUL VISITOR

In the Social Whirl

By Isma Dooly.

Mrs. Manry Entertains.

Mrs. Jesse M. Manry entertained at a beautifully appointed dinner at her home in West End for her guests, Mrs. Norman C. Booker and Miss R. Pearl Roberts, of Norfolk, Va.. who are spending the holidays in Atlanta.

The house was attractively decorated in holly, mistletoe, bells and poinsettias and with the usual house plants and hanging baskets. The centerplece of the table was a low bowl of red carnations, wreathed in smilax, and the candlesticks, tied with red tulle, held red candles unshaded.

Dainty little place cards of Santa Claus were at each place, and exquisite little red rose baskets, filed with mints, were given as favors.

A delicious course dinner was served with the ice course. Each guest was presented with a miniature candlestick and candle, which was lighted, and the last course was served by candle light.

Mrs. Manry's guests were Mr. and The program at the Piedmont Driving club this week continues the holiday gaiety, and besides the regular tea-dance of Wednesday afternoon and the dinner-dance of Saturday evening, there will be an additional dinner-dance Tuesday evening, and an additional tea-dance Friday afternoon. Dancing Party.

A pretty dancing party of the holiday season was given by Misses Lois and Olive Bryant at their lovely home. Pine Knoll, on the evening of the 28th, to their guests, Misses Gladys and Willene Asbury, of Clarkesville, Ga.

A unique feature of the pretty decorations was the improvised park, with numbers of benches hidden in shadows of pines—the only light being given by a "silvery moon" peeping through the treetops.

Open fires, the perfume of pines and the soft red lights lent an atmosphere of good cheer throughout the house.

I'unch and sandwiches were served during the evening. A stringed orchestra furnished music for the dancing.

The tea-dance at the Driving club Friday afternoon was the largest afternoon entertainment of the season. There were four hundred guests in attendance and an elegant buffet supper was served. The dancing continued until 10 o'clock.

Yesterday afternoon the tea-dance at the Driving Club was a compliment to Mr. "Chick" Evans, the famous golf expert, and many of the guests had enjoyed the beautiful clear air of the golf links before assembling for tea and refreshments in the hospitable club house. There was music and dancing until 7 o'clock. The marriage of Miss Annie Mae Perdue, of Carrollton, Ga., to Mr. Arnold Burton Thompson, of Atlanta, Ga., occurred last Monday evening while attending a house party given by Miss Floy Rawls, of Rome, Ga.

The wedding was quite a surprise to the ones attending the party, as well as the many friends of the bride and groom.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. W. J. Ferdue, of Carrollton, and was very popular among the younger set. The groom is a very prominent young man of Atlanta, Ga.

The bride wore a pretty brown going-nway suit with hat to match, and her bouquet was of lilies of the valley and bride roses.

PARTIES.

Of the many delightful home parties of the week was that at which Mrs. Charles J. Iladen entertained Wednesday afternoon, her guests including the numbers of the history class, Atlanta's oldest study class, and the Nineteenth Century history class. After a program of charming entertainment there were dainty refreshments served, and a Christmas tree, upon which were little gifts accompanied by lines appropriate to each guest.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Alston celebrated their wedding anniversary New Year's day, and were at home informally in their friends calling.

Wonderful Skin and Wrinkle Removers

The method of removing bad complexions by absorption seems to have come into general use in this country. Ordinary mercolized wax, applied nightly like cold mercolized wax, applied mightly like cold cream and erased mornings with warm water, gradually absorbs the coarse, faded or discolored outer film skin in almost invisible particles. Soon there's a brand-new complexion, formed by the younger, healthier under-skin. No cosmetic or artificial treatment can possibly produce a complexion of such radiant, youthful loveliness. Druggists all have mercolized wax; it is seldom that more than one ounce is necessary.

Simms-Turner.

Wide social interest centered in the marriage of Miss Bonner Simms and Mr. Ralph Lesley Turner, which was solemnized at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Sarah Jackson Simms, in Covington, Ga., on Wednesday evening, the occasion being one of the brilliant social events of the year.

The lower floor of the home was elaborately decorated by a lavish use of smilax that extended from the ching to meet the array of stately palms and ferns that banked the altur. Candelabras with their slender tapers illuminated the scene with a soft radiance and lighted up the clusters of Easter lifes that made a beautiful contrast against the tropical mass of foliage.

Baster lilies that made a beautiful contrast against the tropical mass of follage.

Mrs. Irwin Proctor, at the piano, and Miss Proctor, with violin, furnished an appropriate musical program preceding the entrance of the bridal party and during the ceremony.

The officiating minister was Mr. John G. Logan, pastor of the First Methodist church. Mr. M. G. Turner and Mr. Walton Clark acted as ushers.

The color scheme of white und vellow was heautifully carried out in the costumes of the ride's attendants. The first two bridesmaids to enter were Miss Mary Emily Fitts, of Tuscaloosa. Ma., and Miss Frances Neal, of Als-Bonough. They were followed by Miss Johnson. The bridesmaids gowns were of white charmeuse with draperics of yellow chiffon edged with white fur. Mrs. Charles Seymour Thompson, and Mrs. Arthur Benjamin Sirens, of Atlanta, both sisters of the bride, were matrons of honor and entered together. They wore beautiful gowns of yellow with draperies of the same color. Miss Hyda Hoard, the maid of honor, was lovely in white satin and chiffon.

The attendants cach carried an armful of Easter lilies tied with yellow tulle. The little flower girl, Miss Louise Smith, wore a dainty winte lingerie frock and carried a basket filled with roses. Master Jack Craft, the ringsbearer, wore a black velvet suit and carried the ring in a lily.

The bride, of a beautiful brunette type, entered with her brother, Mr. Arthur Benjamin Simms. Sie was gowned in white charmeuse and tulle, with trimmings of dutchess and rose point lace, the graceful tunic bordered Informal Bridge Party.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Deadwyler entertained at an informal bridge party Tuesday evening. The hall, parlor and dining room were artistically decorated with wreaths and lycopodium, quantities of poinsettias, narcissi and palms. The lights had red shades, and from the chandeliers hung large bunches of mistletoe. Top score was won by Miss May Wallace and Mr. Eckford Lumpkin, consolation by Mrs. W. A. Sims and Mr. Fred Schelpert.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. J. Berry, Mr. and Mrs. John Stone, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Sims, Mr. and Mrs. Cromer, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Schelpert, Misses Val and Kathryn Christian, Miss Lucile Daniel, Miss Odell Sims of Winder, Ga., Miss May Wallace, Mrs. G. A. Hightower, Mrs. M. V. New Year's Luncheon.

New Year's Luncheon.

Mrs Frank Burnstead kept open house from 3 until 12 at her home on Euclid avenue for the 1917 club, at which their husbands and sweethearts were honor guests.

The attistic decorations of holly and mistletoe were arranged in effective array, in the large reception hall, living room and dining room.

At 11 o'clock a buffet supper was served in the dining room.

At 11 o'clock a buffet supper was served in the dining room. A big basket of fruit decorated in holls, formed the centerpiece for the beautiful table. All enjoyed the speeches made by some of the members of the club and their guests, commenting on the lovely and congenial manner in which the club had been run during the past year. The president told them of the lovely plans for dear old 1915, and spoke of the many applicants on the waiting list as the club is limited to twenty-five.

After this the husbands and sweetheasts gave a unnumous voti of thanks for the royal treatment shown them by the club, and formed themselves into a club for the purpose of entertaining the 1913 club in some lovely manner, semi-annually.

Eggnog was served during the evening Them a toast to the New Yeark was proposed and all drank the cup of lover and friendship.

Dance at Imperial.

Dance at Imperial.

The weekly notelly dance given at the Imperial hotel New Year's might was a brilliant affair, numbering more than sixty couple. Several dinner parties preceded the dance in the main dining room. Several novelties were introduced among them the Paul Jones, the moonlight hesitation, the song dance and the Newport clock. For the latter dance prizes were awarded.

Mr. Robert J. Emory, of New York, assisted by Miss Mildred Day, gave an exhibition of the Chinese dance Ta Tao.

Don't Merely "Stop" a Cough

Stop the Thing that Causes It and the Cough will Stop Itself

A cough is really one of our best friends. It warms us that there is inflammation or obstruction in a dangerous place. Therefore, when you get a bad cough don't proceed to dose yourself with a lot of drugs that merely "stop" the cough temporarily by deadening the throat nerves. Treat the cause—heal the milamed membranes. Here is a homemade remely that gets right at the cause and will make an obstinate cough vanish more quickly than you ever thought possible.

Put 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth) in a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. This gives you a full pint of the most pleasant and effective cough remedy you ever used, at a cost of only 54 cents. No bother to prepare. Full directions with Pinex.

It heals the inflamed membranes so gently and promptly that you wonder how it does it. Also loosens a dry, hourse or tight cough and stops the formation of phlegm in the throat and bronchial tubes, thus ending the persistent loose cough.

Pinex is a highly concentrated com-pound of Norway pine extract, rich in gualacol, and is famous the world over for its healing effect on the membranes.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Edwards and Master Sidney Edwards, returned to their home in Philadelphia yesterday after spending the holidays with Mrs E. E. Caldwell, Mrs. Stewart McGinty and two children accompanied them home for a visit.

Mr. Fairfax Harrison Predicts Prosperity!

WASHINGTON, Jan. 1.—Fairfax Harrison, president of the Southern railroad, declared today that the war's effect on business conditions in the south was proving only temporary. He said the demand for cotton was growing, and predicted a general revival of business.

"The world must have cotton," he said. "The demand, both for export and for American mills, is increasing, and there has been a substantial advance in prices since the low point when the depression was at its worst. With a larger movement of cotton there will come an increased demand for merchandise of all kinds in the South, and a general revival of busi-

The aforesaid is part of the Associated News dispatch which appeared in The Atlanta Journal of January 1st.

Now Read About Our January Sale of Dresses, Suits, Coats, Skirts and Muslin Underwear!

In the FROHSIN advertisement which appeared in this newspaper last Sunday, December 27th, we said practically the same as Mr. Harrison is quoted above. We said, in part, as follows:

"There's a silver lining behind every cloud---Japan, Germany, England and other countries of the world have started to cry for the South's cotton, and this indicates PROS-PERITY for the New Year for Atlanta---for the South.

Times are greatly psychological—THINK prosperity— LOOK prosperous and you are then on the road to PROS-

For Women Who Sew: Pictorial Review Patterns for February Have Come.

Full Speed Ahead For 1915 Means Such High-Powered Merchandising as these Sales With Other Strong Sales to Come

Rich's is not a store of dreamers nor drones it is a store of doers.

—After taking stock Friday—and putting last year's business behind us—we started in to make 1915 a busy, booming year.

-Loads of new goods fresh from the warehouses have been opened—most of them have been specially bought and are underpriced.

This page tells only in part of the 1915 stocks on sale—it says nothing of the 1914 stocks to be sacrificed at January Clearance prices; it says next to nothing of the 17th Annual Linen Sale that starts Tuesday.

—Then, there are more stocks to tell of—look each day on the back page of The Constitution for news that will tickle your purse. But first read this splendid page of Economy news before you—not only read, but act—Monday.

A First Showing of Spring Styles For Southland Wear

Charming Prophecies of the Spring Modes. Hats for Florida, California or at Home.

THE hats fairly sing S-P-R-I-N-G. One feels the note of harmony in outline; one feels it in the rich color combinations.

-Though we illustrate some or the styles, we can't begin to picture their piquant beauty.

-There are straws for the palm-shaded walks of Florida There are silks and satins for immediate wear at home.

-There are delightful combinations of straw and silk for

- Even though this is a first showing, there is no lack of styles, Here are the new draped veils, as shown, chic military motifs, large hats simply trimmed. Tiny little hats with bobtail streamers are dainty and becoming. But, after all, the hats must be seen. May we have the pleasure of showing them to you-Monday?

The address of the Washington Bureau is No. 1727 S Street, N. W., Mr. John Corrigan, Jr., staff correspondent, in charge. THE CONSTITUTION is on sale in New York city by 2 p. m. the day after issue. It can be had: Hotaling's Newsstands, Broadway and Forty-second street (Times building corner), Thirty-eighth street and Broadway and Twenty-ninth street and Broadway.

The Constitution is not responsible for advance payments to out-of-town local carriers, dealers or agents.

BUILD NOW!

The Atlantan who spends money on old or new property now not only saves about 20 per cent in cost of construction, but gives employment when it is needed and helps set money in swift circulation to his own benefit.

That is the argument of the chamber of commerce in its "build now" campaign.

Experts have decided, after investigation, that in all probability construction will never again be as cheap by 20 per cent as it is at present. Materials are reasonable in price, and conditions are such that orders can be filled promptly.

There is an abundant supply of skilled labor on hand that needs employment. Every man given a job, from day laborer to brick mason, becomes a producer who sends money through every channel of trade.

The Atlantan, therefore, who builds or improves now, not only saves money, but by helping himself helps others.

The Constitution urges that all who have contemplated building study the facts and figures set forth, with proof, by the chamber of commerce.

BUILD NOW!

The arguments that apply to private building enterprises now apply with the same or greater force to public works of construction, of whatever nature, to any enterprise that involves the purchase of material and the employment of labor.

This principle is emphasized in a communication to The Constitution from Samuel Compers, president of the American Federation of Labor, published on this page, in which he says, "This is the time to spendto spend wisely and humanely."

In every American city, notably in Atlanta, there are certain municipal improvements that must be made and the advantage of executing them now at a saving and with a lessening to the problem of unemployment

In Atlanta municipal needs are more imperative than in many cities, because our mistaken policy of building only for a day has piled up arrearages. There is work to be done on streets. New buildings to be constructed. Many other projects which should have been materialized long ago now press for attention, and attention can be given them at a minimum cost.

Other cities, north and south, are pursuing the plan of putting in now the municipal construction that has long been postponed Houston, Texas, practically in the same classification with Atlanta, is spending $3,000,000 in a lump sum in permanent improvements from a bond issue. Macon, Ga., not as large as Atlanta, is preparing to vote on a substantial bond issue for the same purpose. The tendency is widespread and increasing, and there is no time better than the present

The city of Chicago is lessening unemployment and taking advantage of the low price of material by keeping employees on various public works three or four months longer than usual. She is also doing extra park development work, extra street widening and extra school construction. This work was scheduled for next spring, but is being put under way now.

Benefiting themselves doubly, since the money thus turned loose lubricates every channel of business and comes back to help the investor.

The Constitution strongly urges these facts upon every property-owner in Atlanta and upon Atlanta itself.

GO TO CHURCH TODAY.

Appropriately, this, the first Sunday of the New Year, is "Go to Church Sunday" throughout America. The Evangelical Ministers' Association of Atlanta has indorsed the national movement and its members will preach sermons fitting to the occasion.

The invitation goes out to men and women and children of all creeds and denominations and of no creeds and denomina-

The church-goer who is regular will need no urging. The church-goer who is infrequent will find something uniquely appealing in the movement. Those without the church habit at all can profit by allying themselves, if for one day only, with the uplifting and purifying influences that radiate from church

The churches of Atlanta are singularly fortunate in the possession of a brilliant ministry. Wherever you go today you will find a man with a message and it is a message that will be lasting in its beneficial effect even if this one Sunday is your only visit to there are conditions favorable to the produca church for the whole year. MARKETS FOR LABOR.

At the conference for the consideration of unemployment, held in Philadelphia the other day, the suggestion was made that a national employment bureau would go a Unusual conditions of the past few months have caused the average man to forget that even in the most flush of times unemployment is a problem always with us. In some instances, it is due to lack of training: in others to lack of disposition: in the vast majority of cases to absolute lack of organization of the labor market, considering labor in its broadest sense.

By whatever term we define labor whether or not a commodity, the same general rule applies to it as Adam Smith applied to trade: "The transportation of goods from places where they are plentiful to places where they are scarce." That law, which is axiomatic and immutable, has been consistently violated with regard to labor. because it was nobody's business to see that it was observed.

We have, therefore, had the spectacle of an abundance of labor in one section of the country and a famine of it elsewhere, with no apparent way to remedy the difficulty because of sheer lack of knowledge. We have had, too, individuals and small groups of individuals, tied up helpless and dependent in one community, while in some community a day's ride thence the demand was

A national bureau of information would mitigate this problem. It would weed out must be borne in mind. The English navy unscrupulous private employment agencies and keep exact data on display in different cities accessible both to employer and employee. In that the bureau would check an obvious economic waste and drain, congress might well give it consideration.

STUDENT LOAN FUNDS.

A vista of possibilities in the extension of the principle of self-help to boys anxious for a college education is opened up in a letter, published today, from George M. Scheer. Mr. Scheer describes the manner | bilities, indeed within the probabilities, that in which the modus operandi of the Joseph E. Brown loan fund, in force at the universid, was converted into a students' co-operative loan fund and applied at the First District Agricultural School at Statesboro. The first harvest of the fund was the sending of ground for the belief that the bottom of four boys through the last spring term of the sea is paved with good battleship inthe college. Each student who feels able tentions. contributes a nominal sum. The principal is then, as in the case of the Brown fund, kept intact. The income from the principal, Year in Grouchtown, where the citizens ad-

Let us see how the system has worked with the Brown loan fund at the university.

The fund was established in 1882. It origsuing a like course. Minneapolis is doing | inally was $50,000. Since then it has helped to educate more than 600 young men, many of whom have become prominent in the life of this and other states. The boys thus educated have religiously fulfilled their obligation to the fund, and returned the loan with interest. The result is that today the principal amounts to $160,000. Four boys were enabled to take advantage of the fund in 1882. Today forty-five boys are being helped to an education through its assistance. These phenomenal increases are easily explainable. As the interest on loans is returned to the intact principal, the latter expands. Like a snowball going down hill, the process at first is slow.-- It gathers speed. Finally, the increases become geometrical. In course of time, and not many years at that, the fund will amount to several hundred thousand dollars, and the interest will be expanding all the time.

> The adaptation of the idea to the students' loan fund is an excellent plan. It is good not only for every branch of the state university, but for every educational institution. It lays a nominal, an almost imperceptible tax upon the contributor. The fund itself increases automatically. In course of years such plans, applied universally, and they should be, could be made the means of equipping for life hundreds of thousands of boys and girls, too, who otherwise would go with educational ambitions unfulfilled.

GEORGIA'S NAME NOT THERE.

The department of agriculture announces that the apple yield of the past year was the largest in the history of this country, estimated at 259,000,000 bushels

The department gives a list of the states that contributed most prominently to this bumper crop, and it includes the southern states of North Carolina, Kentucky and

The name of the state of Georgia in no way figures in the report sent out by the Associated Press, when, so far as natural resources in the southern states go, it should head the list.

> The year just ended brought a record vield of apples in north Georgia as well as in other parts of the country. And development in this direction is just beginning. In a few years the apple industry will be one of the best revenue producers of the state, or we mistake the energy of the leaders of action in north Georgia and the business acumen of the outside investor. .

SO FAR A DRAW.

The beginning of 1915 cannot be said to long way toward solving the difficulties of have produced anything approaching a dethe situation in normal as well as abnormal cisive result in the European war. The contending nations are still in the field, and the final verdict from the court of arms gives yet no indication of its exact nature.

> While in the larger essentials the status may today be defined as a draw, accuracy compels the statement that there are several points distinctly in favor of the allies.

> In the first place, the original German plan of crushing France, then turning on Russia before the latter could mobilize, has been defeated. The delay created by the heroic defense of the Belgians was one factor. The surprisingly quick mobilization of Russia another, and the necessity on part of Germany of diverting troops to protect her eastern frontier against the invading Muscovites a third. The role played by the handful of English in the great drama of checking the Germans and turning them back must not be forgotten. Had Germany not miscalculated, it is not unlikely that the war would even now have been ended, whether for better or worse is another question.

> On sea the honors are about evenly divided, with the odds a shade in favor of Germany. The courage and enterprise of her marauding cruisers, far from their base and terrorizing allied commerce; the descent of the German fleet on the British coast, and the brilliant work of German submarines has thus far lived up to its traditious, but the British admiralty has shown a stiffness in resource and anticipation that is one of the surprises of the war.

> The outcome, and the date at which it may be set, are matters sheerly for conjecture. Unbiased experts believe the allies eventually must win, since theirs is the advantage of weight of numbers and resources. The allies also control the seas, and Germany's claims as to her possession of provisions for a year's campaign are legitimately open to conjecture. It is within the possithe opening year will witness an end to the conflict. Practical as well as humanitarian reasons will strengthen hope to that end.

SO-CALLED FASHIONABLE BOARDING SCHOOLS DISAPPEARING.

By Isma Dooly.

Rather sadly a lady announced to a group f her friends recently that four of the best known boarding schools in Washington city had closed: that another was to close early in January, and that a proportionate number had closed in New York city-all because times were hard and the amount of money required to send a young woman to one of these schools was more than many parents could afford.

Said one woman who heard the news: That is the first good result I have heard of arising from the present wave of hard times traced directly to the war. I consider that many of the so-called boarding schools in the larger cities of the north and east are largely responsible for the laxity of manners which has made many an American girl a target for the severest criticisms. I hope that there will be a sort of educational revival that will bring the American girl back home for the directing during the last years of her school life, and some of the training which a young woman needs not merely to equip her for the drawing room in the narrow sense, but for social life in the broader sense."

No institution of American make has deteriorated than a certain type of the so-called fashionable boarding school for girls which must be distinguished from the many good ones where women have to attain a standard of scholarship in order to remain, and the convents many young women attend during the school term lasting from September until June, cut off from social pastimes, not permitted to visit cabarets, restaurants, or tawdry places of amusement.

The failing boarding school which at one time maintained a standard of dignity and discipline will argue now that to meet the change of the times, curriculum, method and general atmosphere have had to change. That may be true, but it would destroy our faith in education as the carrying force of civilization if the girls' school failed to maintain the brightest standards, in order to meet the demands of the element of people who do not represent the highest ideals.

To the failure of the boarding schools may be traced a great deal of the satire heaped upon American social lite-that satire finding expression in the favorite society drama in England. The theme has too often centered in the young American girl with her bad English, her bad voice and her bad manners.

The scion of the noble British family wishes to marry her, but is humiliated by her had conduct, hesitates about the step he will take, until "pa"—generous "pa," called the "governor"—comes to save the situation and names the amount of the dowery. Things Are Different Now.

These plays were overdrawn, but surely the product of many fashionable American boarding schools have warranted any amount of satire. The old custom of teaching the girls the arts of social life in directing their studies, their reading and their polite conversation, changed to subscriptions in the schools for regular evenings at the theater the matmee and the movies. Every gul had her favorite actor or actress whose auto-graphed pictures adorned her dressing table. She boasted of the methods of decent practised by which she got out from the schools and chaperons, while an important compart ment in many a cantly box was that for sugarettes. The tea dances in New York hotels last year had among their most fash ionably gowned young women attendants, large groups of girls from boarding schools, who knew well the arts of rouging and other tricks of the Ilmelight learned from their

Is it remarkable, with the last three years at such finishing schools, young women have returned to their homes ready for their social introduction, not knowing the meaning of the legitimate drama or the glory of of the legitimate drama or the glory of grand opera, but "crazy about vaudeville" and "rag-time music"? Is it surprising they openly apply rouge sticks to their lips in public, greet their men friends with a Hello, there' and threw their grandmothers into parexysms of sighs with slang of the "sure Mike" type" What were their accomplish-

One of them is the "broad a" misused another is the temerity to wear what they pleased at any time; to wear street gowns to formal functions in the evening; to ig-nore entirely the conventions of seeing or speaking to older people, and to disguise any real training of knowledge they had.

Education and Society. these

In fact, boarding schools, desnite the good colleges and convents and those few boarding schools which did maintain the conventional standards had so far reached young woman's training should be, an American woman was recently quoted in a public print as saying that "education was not necessary in the social career of a voung lady; that she often noticed young women having brilliant social careers were not at all well educated." This mother was measuring social life by the narrow confines of the small town in which she lived, and not by the world and what life may bring young woman who is trained to meet

Though one must feel a sympathy for the promoters of many of these cannot but be the better for many a jouing woman that, instead of going off for her dubing touches this veir, she is to be guided at home a little re and trained by the loving care of a mover and protecting care of a father, and that in the school nearer home.

espite the standa a entertained by the mother who did not think education necessary, that is not the standard yet in the south, call it "old" or "new" as people all it "old" or "new" as people The art of entertaining for which to its essential social leaders—the women of the south. They were and still are—the better element of them—the best educated and most cultured of women, and to them still be entrusted the mother guidance that is necessary for the girl, and there are many school near home where she will not lose by

There need be no tears shed, therefore, by the hard-luck story being told of all the "fashlonable boarding schools" which have had to be closed. It would have been better for many a young American girl if many of them had closed before this period of world complexity.

A Poem With the Socks.

(From The Kansas City Star.) All the women in Scotland are now knit-ting socks for the soldiers at the front. Earth to Her Children

(As the New Year Dawns on the World-War.)

By FRANK L. STANTON.

Y E have darkened the brow of the skies that bend Over you still, to Creation's end; Ye have shattered the temples of Faith; and Doubt Hath driven the sorrowing Angels out; -Doubt that my awful Creator reigns Over my blood-washed battle plains; But though ye make my seas run red.-My bosom a tomb for a world struck dead. Ye are my children, and Love still lives, Or smiles with the dying kiss it gives.

YEA, though my pillars be rocked and riveh
Till their thunder-fall is heard in Heaven. And the blood that flows and the swords that gleam Darken my bright Millennial dream: Still on my sorrow of sea and sod Falleth the light of the Living God. And ye are His children, as ye are mine. And Love on your foreheads hath set the sign That never the shadow of Hate can hide,-Sign of a Cross where a Christ hath died.

PEACE to the anger that rends my breast! Your bleeding swords have need of rest, While Love descends on star-lit wings From the heaven-high throne of the King of Kings. Peace in the New Year light that seems The shadow of an Angel's dreams. Where the brute-wild battle-thunder raves I need my flowers to hide my graves. My famished children cry for bread; My Winds wail anthems o'er my dead. Must I bear to the Judgment this chastening rod And fall in flame at the Feet of God?

Y E are my children, of Love a part:
A weeping mother, with wounded heart, Would lift her children to God's own light, And shrive their souls, and kiss them white. Till from sea beneath and heights above Waves only that banner whose name is Love Where the storms and strifes of the battle cease, With God in the everlasting Peace.

Building Done Now Is Wise Investment, Gompers Tells Country

Editor Constitution: You are right! Now is the time to build!

The currents of influence and the tides of opportunity in present-day business affairs are abnormal. The inexperienced and those who lack confidence become fearful and look about them for a "safe" course. But a "safe" course means contraction, displacement, depression—conditions which result in hard times. Business interests are bound together by delicate, cobweb-like threads of confidence which make of the whole a vigorous, vivifying thing that serves the daily needs of industry and commerce. Stop the movement in a single part and the threads of confidence are sundered-business reaction follows.

In these days of new and untried elements, complicating industrial affairs, labor protests against policies of false economy under consideration by certain municipal authorities and governmental officials; against unwise economy in withholding and postponng public contracts, curtailing plans fo lic works or improvements, or delaying for a future time necessary work that could and should be done now. Every economy of this nature means the breaking of more bounds of confidence, cumulative impetus given to unrest, industrial depression and unemploy-

Now is the time of all times when governmental répresentatives should continue and extend the necessary, beneficial work of the people, that the people themselves and the country may profit thereby. It is false and unwise economy and a lack of states manship to retrench public expenditures and improvements when such a course means suffering, misery, hunger,

Labor does not advocate extravagant, illconsidered use of public moneys, but insists that public funds shall not be hoarded at such a time as this, but spent in accord with good business sense. As President Wilson said in his last message, "It is not expenditure but extravagance we should fear being criticised for."

There is a time to save and a time to spend. This is the time to spend-to spend wisely as well as humanely. From all over this land of ours come reports of need. There are great numbers of unemployed, the unknown men and women in the bread lines of our cities. These people want work; they have hunted desperately for work, but work has been denied them. Through no fault of theirs, shall others be forced to turn. ashamed, beaten, to ask charity? If we value independent citizenship, we as a nation will denounce policies of false public economy in postponing to some future time work necessary to our country's progress, to our commerce and safety, work which can just as advantageously be done now; work which, if postponed, will take from men and women the means of earning a livelihood.

Faise Economy.

It is worse than false economy to waste the manhood and womanhood of our country in order to retrench economically and unwisely in public expenditures for necessary public work. In former days, when financial crises came upon us, employers and captains of industry declared reductions in wages as their first step in economizing and the workers bore the consequent brunt of the hard times made harder. When the workers grew strong enough in economic organization they stood like free men, self-respecting citizens, and said, "We will accept no reductions in wages." And no reductions were made. Thus the workers put an end to one vicious industrial policy which had a cumulative force in bringing about disorganization of industry and consequent lower standards of Hving and of unemployment

In the present stress of industrial affairs that affects the whole world-wide organization of commerce and industry the workers are threatened with stoppage of many industries and public improvements. Against that menace they will again stand in their President American Federation of Labor

How Georgia Boys May Operate Students' Loan Fund

Editor Constitution A students' loan fund, organized at the First District Agricultural School of Statesboro, Ga., becomes unique in view of the fact that it has a scholarship fund evented by the students themselves

The fund was the result of the efforts of three boys of the student body who were alive to the needs of their classmates and knew of worthy young men and women who were hungering for an education, but because of limited mean's could not grasp the opportunities offered by the above school. The plan followed in making up this fund was the voluntary contribution by each studeat of a small stipulated amount, say a dollar. In this way no one person was heavily taxed, yet quite an appreciable sum was collected. All who were directly interested in any way in the organization of these scholarships were ruled incligible as possible recipients of any benefits thereof. When the money was collected, a committee, composed of students and members of ners of these scholarships.

The money was well placed and because of this fund four students were sent through the spring term of school. One boy was taken from the "flatwoods" of Liberty and is now one of the strongest students, morally and mentally, in the school. Because of this help he was able to help himself. A great good and a greater problem would be more nearly solved if this plan were adopted at the University of Georgia. With its student body of nearly 700 men it is easy to see that with an annual contribution of a dollar per man much good may be done. The present loan fund at the university is far too small to meet the demands on it, and its need has never been so great before. Professor Parks, of the university, before whom this plan was laid, suggests that the annual contributions be loaned to worthy students at a low rate of interest for three to five years. When this money is repaid it is to go into a permanent fund, which will then be invested and handled similarly to the Chancellor Barrow, prominent members of the Alumni association and members of the university faculty who have looked into this matter believe the plan a good one and see no reason why such a fund could not be organized at the university and thus solve the problem of many needy students.

Efforts are now being made to effect the adoption of such a plan at "Georgia."

might and say to the representatives who threaten their welfare, "We will hold you responsible for such false economy."

Everywhere excited individuals and cortain interests are demanding millions for defense, millions for the army, millions for the navy. This hysterical flurry must not be allowed to override industrial statesmanship and permanent national welfare. On the other hand, we have municipal committees considering unemployment, civic organizations waiting upon municipal authorities to protest against stoppage of public improvements, the National Rivers and Harbors congress considering plans for improvements that will be of permanent commercial, and necessarily industrial, value to the nation, and yet considering the question of economy at this time.

As between the policy of retrenchment in public improvements and the policy of now spending the people's money for necessary public work, there can be no question but the latter is the wise course. Public works and improvements which can be well undertaken at 'the present time should not be delayed. Such a policy means work for those who are in need and would bring hope to discouraged hearts. Such a policy would infuse a new spirit of confidence into the industrial and financial world, and would do much to solve the serious problem of unemployment. SAMUEL COMPERS.

One of the cleverest bills ever offered Atlanta taudeville patrons will the put on at the Forsith by Manager Hugh Cardoza for the week beginning Monday hight
Among the clever numbers is Harry Jolson, brother of Al Jolson of the Winter Garden in New York, who presents a side-splitting comedy sketch as a black-face comedian. Jolson has had an unusually successful season thus far, and his appearance here is being eagerly awaited. Paul Gordon and Ame Rica combine wonderful wheelmanship with their ability as singers, dancers, conversationalists and comedians. Their versatility has proven one of the hits of the senson in the vaudeville world.

Ethel Kirk and Billy Fogarty will be heard in songs that are not only catchy, but positively new. They set a conversational pace that is hard to equal. A feature of this act is the evquisite costumes of Miss Kirk who was in "The Heart Breakers' before going into vaudeville.

SOME VIVID WAR IMPRESSIONS

Sketches and Story by John T. McCutcheon.

"The whole tragedy of war is a series of spectacles that strike the senses and the emotions in every key -somber, joyous, sad, triumphant, alorious, strident, and even at times humorous. (Copyright: 1914. By John T. McChitcheon.) NE who sees anything of the great armies in times of war will have etched upoh his memory certain vivid pictures or impressions that will remain as long as he lives Upon all sides he sees things which remind him of the paintings of De Neuville and Detaille, and he will wish as carnestly as I did that many of these wonderfully striking pictures will be adequately preserved by men who will do their work as well as the two great French

The whole tragedy of war is a series of spectacles that strike the senses and the emotions in every key-somber, joyous, sad, triumphant, glorious, strident, and even at times humorous. Humor goes hand in hand with pathos and often as the safety valve when the heart is tried to the breaking point, just as tears oftentimes give relief to the intensest sorrow. Soldiers surrounded by suffering and death, nerve racked with the overwhelming tragedy of battle, or shadowed with constant danger, will still find things to laugh at and joke about. Otherwise they would go mad.

Soldlers crouching in the trenches, with bursting shells scattering death about them, will smile grimly as a huge black cloud of smoke suddenly expands above them in an ear splitting crash. "There goes another Jack Johnson," they mutter. or "they're beginning with their coal buckets again."

In a certain battle two of the officers posted their calling cards on some of the shells they shot at the enemy.

On a German motor truck carrying aim back, there was a dummy figure stuffed with straw and wearing a French uniform, sitting jauntily astride the bood of the engine motor.

Men become hardened or accustomed and soon achieve an attitude of mind that is half fatalistic and half indifferent They see so much suffering and so much death that it all is taken as part of the game and quite to be expected. Lives are being snuffed out on every side and if it comes their 'turn all right,

At the station in Maubeuge while the trains of wounded men were coming backthere were soldiers drawing humorous pictures in chalk on the sides of the cars that carried fresh men to the front.

Pertiaps it is the strange numble of experiences, both comic and tragic, that makes soldiers dread the battle when they are in it and sche for it when they are out of it. Each man who goes to war probably knows that it is to be the one great period of his life, the days that he will look back upon most eagerly, and the days about which he will talk when he is an old man with his grandchildren about him. Every day he spends in such stirring times is giving him a choice store of memories upon which he may draw when his life settles down to the even tomor of

One cannot go to war without coming away, if he comes at all, with his memory far richer in impressions and vivid pie-

I don't think I shall ever forget ceria.n pictures that were engraved upon my memory and my emotions while I was with the German army.

I shall never forget the first two German soldiers I saw in Louvain, or the hundreds of thousands who followed them, flowing through the streets of the city until the mind fairly recled under the magnitude of the spectacle. It seemed like something superhuman, something elemental, like the roar and movement of a Niagara. I'm sure I shall never forget the gray desolation of the little Belgian town of Battice, every house shattered and not a human being remaining in the town, or what was the town. I think I then realwar that was a war, and that it was not to be a kid glove affair.

Nations, empires, dynasties, destintes, and continents were hanging upon the issue, and it was to be a desperate, as well as a gigantic struggle. And I shall never forget the ride along the beautiful Meuse, in the late afternoon, when the valley and hills were an ever changing panorama of loveliness that delighted the senses, or the end of the ride as we rolled into the battered streets of. Dinant, where the heavy hand of war had fallen so terribly. The contrast was

Or the silence that hung over the street that fronts the field hospital in Hirson, as, one day, we stood waiting on them to carry out the dead. Across the street was posted a half company of soldiers, standing at rigid attention. A horse and truck stood at the curb, just outside the entrance to the hospital. A little group of soldiers, doctors, and nurses was gathered at the gate leading into the hosphere there was an inexpressible sadness .

Another followed, and still another and another, until there were live laid in an even row upon the truck. to the grim herror of their surroundings. Then came a low command and the balf company of soldlers swung out into the street and formed in columns of fours ahead of the extemporary hearse.

> The procession began to move. Several church functionaries and officers fell in behind the truck, and following them were many nurses in their gray gowns and black headdresses.

The stience was heavy. We all bared our heads as the strange appearing funerat car passed by, and for many minutes after it had slowly rumbled out of sight we were a subdued and soher lot.

It was a picture that I shall always re-

Another vivid impression, one that age pealed more to my pictorial instinct. rather than to my emotions, was the sight of a great cavalry and artiflery column that was being moved by night along a road leading from Reims to the westward In the afternoon we had motored from Laon, in France, across to Reims, 1; was after 1 o'clock when our machine was halted at Brimont, one of the hills outside of Reims. We were told that it would be dangerous to expose ourselves or our car beyond the fringe of trees at the edge of the hill. Upon all sides were evidences of the destruction and deadly lire of the French artiflery. The walls of the fort on the heights of Brimont were battered, the big gate way leading across the most into the fort was damaged by a shell, and at many places all about us were huge gashes made in the earth by exploding

It was evident that the French gunners not only had the exact range, but that the position was one which was exposed at all time to artillery fire.

A young German officer came out of the fort and volunteered to lead us forward a couple of hundred yards to a point from which we could see the gity and the cathedral. The French at this time, the 20th of September, were in possession of the city of Reims, with the Germans occumed to the fullest that this was to be a pying the hills to the northward, northwestward, and northeastward. Some of the forward German trenches were at the edge of the town itself.

a series of heavy earthworks were built, and it was possible to approach these without exposing ourselves to the view of the the time. We walked along a sunken road that flanked the earthworks' until we reached a spot from which the city lay spread, clear and distinct, on the great flat plain bounded by its vineclad hills.

A straight, tree lined road stretched from Brimont to the city and other tree lined roads crisscrossed the plain in other directions. The advanced trenches of the

Those brands had caught in the wooden scaffolding erected for the pur-French gunners. There was no flying at pose of carrying on repairs and had ignited the roof. The houses had caught fire from the exploding shells from German

This is the German version. Whether it is the true version I have no personal means of knowing. I am convinced, however, that if the Germans had meant to destroy the cathedral they could have done a much more thorough and complete

All that one could see as he looked out across the plains of Betheny and the immensa Camp de Châlons, 30,000 acres of level plain, was a beautiful French landscape whose scars were hidden by darkness and distance.

I shall never forget. Another vivid memory, which stands on strongly among those that I have of the eventful eight works with the Ger-

From the earthweaks on Brimont I studied the plant and the city and the cathedral with my glasses. The distance to the cathedral was about five miles, and of course I could not see how seriously the sculptured detail of the building had been injured by the German shell fire. The roof of the nave was gone but the towers and walls of the cathedral had not suffered any change in their structural to m. I thought the top of one of the towers showed signs of damage but it was too far away and too indistinct to be cer-

The Germans with whom I talked about the damage done to this cathedral claim that the French were using the towers for signal and observation purposes. A request was made under a flag of trace that the French cease using the towers. Two German officers sent as parliamenteries were taken prisoners, and as a final warning the Germans ble v down a smoke stack near this cathedral. Then shrapnel was fired against the towers so as to injure them as little as possible but to

The picture of that beautiful plain, with the city of Relnis in the center and with the rim of hills ranged in a wide circle about the edges, is one that I shall never forget. STNOP515-Doors open upon strange things. How many locked doors are there in this world? How many people are there trying to find "The Master Key?" Thomas Gallon found gold. He thought of two things his daughter Ruth, and gold for her. Gallon died because his partner, Wilkerson, whom he thought he had killed in the desert, came back and demanded a share of his find. Wilkerson is seeking gold for the sake of a woman. John Dorr, the mining engineer in whose charge Kuth was left, is also lighting to find the secret which Thomas Gallon apparently took with him to his grade.

When Ruth Gallon did not call upon him and he found himself unable to locate her, Charles Everett was at a loss what to do. He had wired Dorr of his anxiety about her and had received word in reply that the young engineer had received conflicting messages.

Unhappily for the girl, Everett was called out of town. And so when he found himself forced to make a hurried trip to San Francisco, her predicament became the more pronounced.

The false Everett, George Drake, took it upon himself to call at the Ritz for her mail and returning with word that there was none for her, Ruth felt a strange premonition that matters were not progressing as they should.

Mrs. Darnell found her gazing out of the drawing room window, huddled in a pathetic little heap, dejection stamped on features and form.

"Dearle," purred the hostess, "you look as if you had lost your last friend on earth. Do cheer up. What is the trouble?"

Ruth turned her head but remained in the same queer little attitude, replying in a plaintive voice-"I do not understand why Mr. Dorr has not written or wired me. Really, Mrs. Darnell, I am beginning to fear that something has happened to

Mrs. Darnell looked at her searchingly, but recovered quickly under the questioning return gaze "Do not worry, Ruth Everything will come out all right. Supposing we take a drive. The air and sunshine will do you a world of good "

Every minute was one of delight to the unsophisticated girl and each new sight and vista opened a new world to her inexperienced mind After a stop at Grant's tomb they speeded downtown, reaching Columbus circle after a run through Central park. A blowout of one of the tires caused a delay Ruth tired of sitting in the car and jumping out she spied a florist's window. Before Mrs. Darnell could think of the possibility of a miscarriage of her well laid plans, the girl was inside. She purchased violets for both and was on her way out when she saw a telephone. Intuitively, rather than from any other motive, she hastily called up Mr Everett's office. To her amazement she learned that he had gone West.

Her news was even more startling to Mrs. Darnell than it had been to Ruth Quick action was needed, and leaving Ruth in the car with a prevaricated excuse, the older woman was soon phoning to Drake, telling him to go West at once and instructing him to meet them in San Francisco, where he was to pose as Everett and continue carrying out the plot to secure possession of Ruth's mining property

And thus it came about that five days later found them in the metropolis of the Pacific coast, where they were met by Drake, still posing as

The greatest difficulty lay in reconciling Ruth's mind to the mystery of Everett's sudden departure, after she had seen him at Mrs. Darnell's the night before. But the cleverness of the schemer counterbalanced all doubts and the girl was therefore persuaded to hasten to San Francisco to carry out her plans

Accordingly she wired Dorr, but again "the wires crossed," for although he learned that she was going to the western city, he again learned that Everett had failed to connect with her

Ruth had been gone many days when John Dorr received another telegram from Everett that made his heart stop its regular beat. Alone in his cabin he pored over it as if there must be some hidden meaning beneath the words. It was unbelievable After all his pain and his careful forethought for her comfort and salety something had gone wrong Everett was brief

"Bill," he said over the telephone. "This is Dorr I want to get a wire through to San Francisco. "All right, John, what is it""

John thought a moment and then dictated this

In Harry Wilkerson's dark heart there was what he might, in his twisted vocabulary, have termed happiness His plans were working out to perfection. Jean Darnell had wired again that all was well and that she would have news for him in a few days. This meant that she and George Drake had done their part. But he wondered why it was that John Dorr, who must certainly be anxiously awaiting word from Ruth, neither said anything nor displayed a sign of impatience.

It did not escape him that Tom Kane and the young engineer were in consultation several times. What were they planning? He determined to probe boldly. When Dorr came into the office in the afternoon and began to clear up his desk Wilkerson asked quietly, "What's the news from San Fran-Has Ruth wired?"

burst of flame shoot up, a dense swirl of smoke. Then, like the faraway crackling of a fire came the noise of the yielding timbers, followed by a dull boom.

"My God" whispered Wilkerson to himself. "The gasoline tank exploded and the car is on He crouched in the brush, waiting to see whether anyone emerged from the gulch. No one did. The bridge burned flercely. At least no one would ever know the cause of this catastrophe and John Dorr would not go to San Francisco.

Instinct told him to fiee the scene; but a stronger passion overcame him; he must see for himself what had happened He mounted his horse and rode swiftly down the slope.

The truck had turned completely over and lay broken and smoldering across the waterworn bowlders. Wilkerson could not see two forms: all he discerned through the eddying smoke was the body of John Dorr, flung some distance from the truck, his pallid face turned to the blazing sky.

"Dead!" muttered Wilkerson, chilled with the horror of the thing he had done. It bit into his very soul, that scene, until he could not stand it longer and rode furiously away toward the other side of the divide. He must go on his supposed errand about the wood and know nothing of this.

On the crest of the mountain he halted and looked back. Far below him a thin curl of gray smoke marked the site of the murder. Knowing that he was safe, Wilkerson experienced a tremendous reaction.

He raised himself exultantly in his stirrups He was now master of the Master Key mine.

There was that check from the mint—"

"I saw you myself give that check to Wilkerson," said the cook soothingly. "But that doesn't change matters any You've got to get to San Francisco and you're busted" Tom Kane pulled out an old deerskin poke and from it spilled on the table a few hundred dollars.

There is very little to say of the book or the author that has not already been said during the holiday season, for it has been one of the most popular of the season's gifts.

The question has been asked, "Do you know Larry Evans? Have you read his short magazine stories of the hill country that made your heart heat in sympathy?" While the author is only 25 years old, he has been writing many wonderful short stories, stories with an undercurrent that truly appeal to all readers. It has been said that Larry Evans, in "his short life, has suffered more, has learned more and has given more to the world than usually is the lot of any six men."
