"BECKER OF SOUTH" LANFORD IS BRANDED BY COL. TOM FELDER

System of Corruption as Poisonous as That of the Mafia Exists in Atlanta, According to Statement Made by Attorney Accused of Trying to Bribe Secretary G. C. Febuary to Steal Affidavit in the Phagan Case—Says Detectives Are Trying to Shield Murderer of Girl.

COLONEL FELDER IS MAKING HIMSELF LAUGHING STOCK, SAYS LANFORD; HINTS AT NEW BRIBERY CHARGES

A. S. Colyar, Leading Figure in Bribe Charges, Is Placed Under Arrest on Warrant From Knoxville, But Is Released on Bond—Connally, Negro Employee of the Nation d Pencil Factory, Tells Officers He Wrote Notes at Dictation of Frank—Police Believe These Were the Ones Found by the Body of Mary Phagan.

Branding Detective Chief Newport Lanford as the "Lieutenant Becker" of the south, and charging that there exists in the Atlanta police department a "system" of corruption that is as polsonous as the deadly society of Mafia, Colonel Thomas B. Felder has issued counter charges to those of attempted bribery made against him Friday afternoon.

He declares that every bit of his sensational accusations can be supported by substantial evidence. He even asserts that the charges against him were made in an effort to shield and protect the murderer of Mary Phagan, whom the detective department are alleged to be assisting by the destruction of damaging evidence and by procuring witnesses.

First, and the most important of Saturday developments, was the indictment by the grand jury of Leo M. Frank, the suspected factory superintendent. The true bill was returned before noon. He now will be tried before Fulton superior court on the direct charge of Mary Phagan's murder.

Second, was the confession of James Connally, a negro sweeper in the pencil factory, who declares that he wrote, at the dictation of Frank, notes which the detectives believe to be the ones found by the body of Mary Phagan. After making complete acknowledgement to Detectives John Black and Harry Scott, he made an affidavit supporting the confession. COLYAR, PLACED UNDER ARREST

ON KNOXVILLE CHARGE, GIVES BOND The arrest of A. S. Colyar, Jr., the adventurer, who is said to have engineered the dictagraph trap, was a third most important development. He was taken into custody early in the afternoon on receipt of a telegram from the Knoxville, Tenn., police, who want him on forgery charges. He was later released on $1,000 bond.

A dictagraph report has been made public of a conversation between Edward O. Miles, Secretary Febuary and Colyar with Mayor James G. Woodward, in which the chief executive is charged with having sought evidence with which he could impeach Chiefs Lanford and Beavers. He makes strong denial of the report, saying he is a victim of conspiracy, and says the report was either faked or "padded." Chief Beavers, in a ringing statement, declared to a reporter for The Chief Beavers, in a ringing statement, declared to a reporter for The Constitution that underhand forces were working secretly to remove him from office, and that a giaut conspiracy was on foot to oust him by crookedness and treachery. He said, further, that he would assist the grand jury in any manner to prosecute those charged with the bribery attempts.

Harry Scott, assistant superintendent of the Atlanta Pinkerton branch, admitted to a Constitution reporter last night that his organization is in the employ of Frank's defense, and that reports of his daily progress are submitted to Luther Z. Rosser, counsel for the suspected superintendent.

Scott Makes Explanation. He said, however, that he was retained for the apprehension of Mary Reproduced with permission of the copyright owner. Further reproduction prohibited without permission.

Phagan's murderer, and that his ef-forts were being directed to obtain evidence supporting the theory that Frank is the slayer. His testimony before the grand jury Saturday morn-ing was said to have been damaging to Frank. He assisted in procuring the confession from the negro, Con-nally.

to Frame the confession from the negro, nally. On the other hand, Chief Beavers and Dectevtive Lanford are equally defiant. They assert that the employment of Mr. Felder in the Phagan case is only a part of a scheme to undermine the present police administration because of its war on vice. In this scheme, De-tective Lanford sold last night there were others involved besides Mr. Felder, and he intimated that bribes had been offered by other prominent men in connection with the investiga-tion of the Phagan case whose names would come out before the fight was over.

tion of the Phagan case whose names would come out before the fight was over. "Felder is making hinself a laugh-ing stock," said Lanford. Political Fight Ceriain. One thing, it was generally agreed, is certain as the outcome of the day's developments. It means war to the finish between the present police ad-ministration and those who are op-posing it. It means in all probability, the beginning of one of the bitterest political fights for supremacy in the control of the etty government that Atlanta has ever known. A singular fact it is that this war of factions should have grown out of the murder of an innocent child and the puzzling solution of the mystery. "I would have the people of this community know," says Colonel Fel-der in his statement, "that from the day and hour of the arrest of Leeo Frank, charged with the murder of hittle Mary Phagan, Newport Lanford mad his conspirators have left no 'stone unturned' in their efforts to shield and protect the suspeet, and I shall demonstrate later on the truth of this statement with so much clear-ness that 'he who runs may read.'" Throughout the entire statement rings a tone of caustic denunciation. Frequently, the detective chief is re-ferred to as "Lieutenant Decker" Lanford. In furthering and effectua-ting the conspiracy he alleges they

Tings a tone of caustic undificially, Frequently, the detective chief is re-ferred to as "Lieutenant liecker" lanford. In furthering and effectua-ting the conspiracy he alleges they have hatched, the attorney avers that the detectives have winked at forger-ies, suborned perjury and employed every base agency their low and grovelling criminal instincts could contrive and conjure. Assorting that Newt Lee, the negro-nightwatchman suspect, will give in-eriminating testimony against Mary Phagan's slayer, Bernard Chappell, the negro's attorney, states that before he will allow his client to be liber-ated from jail, he, himself, will issue a warrant for his arrest and detain-ment, to prevent his being tampered ated from jail, he, hinstelf, will issue a warrant for his arrest and detain-ment, to prevent his being tampered with. The reported testimony to be given by Lee, the lawyer says, has never yet been revealed. Colyur Under Arrest. One of the most startling incidents of such a startling program of de-velopments was the arrest of Colyar, the adventurer and world-wanderer. Ever since the first publication of the sensational turn of affairs in the Pha-gan mystery, he has been one topic of conversation. His career as re-vealed by The Constitution Saturday morning, was sufficient to make him an interesting character. Shortly before 12 o'clock, Chief Beavers received a telegram from the Knoxville police ordering Colyar's ar-rest on charge of a forgery said to have been committed in that city four years ago, when he is charged with fleecing an inmate of the tenderloin of a sum of money. He was found by Detectives Norris and Chewing in the Williams House No. 2. Taking his ar-rest to equations.

Detectives Norris and Charling in the Williams House No. 2. Taking his ar-rest calmity he accompanied the officers to headquarters. When questioned by reporters there, he refused to make a statement. Chief Beavers was dramatic in his denunciation of the forces secretly working to remove him. To a small group of reporters and friends he ofter rose from the desk in his of-fice at headquarters, reaching his full height and angrily smitting the desk with clenched fist. "It is a fight to the finish. The bat-tle is on. I am going to force the vice gangsters' into the open. This is the first gun in an attempt to get me out of office. They cannot do it with the sneaking, tricky methods they are employing. They'll have to battle fairly, squarely and on equal grounds. It Will Be Battle floynd. "I have fired into their hole. My builet hit its mark. The snakes have got to come out. And when they emerge tit's to be a battle royal that will strip some folks of their sheep's clothing and show the lion skin that's underneath. Felder was hit first. It was so warm for the others that they had to show their hand. The issue is now between the decent people of the city and the promoters of vice, who have controlled the city politically for years. years. "The majority of the people of the city are with me. I know it. They are to fight with me to the finish, no matter how bitter it might be. All I want is the good-to-the-core and loyal support of respectability. It'll win, and it won't be long in the win-ning. This situation has outgrown a personal issue or an issue of the Pha-gan case, and has assumed the propor-tions of the hottest fight in the politiyears. no m. I want is loyal support of win, and it won't be is. ning. This situation has out-personal issue or an issue of the ra-gan case, and has assumed the propor-tions of the hottest fight in the politi-cal history of Atlanta." Concluding his flery statement, one of the first of its kind he has made since his election to office, Beavers "ald: "III fight them to a finish, even in my tracks. They are into a corner, and "an cor-quarters and the office of Solicitor General Dorsey at the courthouse. Says Frank Dietated Notes. His tale will likely weave a new aspect to the traggdy's theory. He declares that Frank dictated the notes to him on the afternoon prior to Mary Phagan's death, and that he recognizes the dictation given him by the plant superintendent. His confession came about when he called Detective John Black, of Feadquarters, to his cell early in the morning. "I wants to make a confession," he told the detective, who was assisted by Harry Scott, of the Pinkertons. "I wrote those notes, and I'll swear to it. I'm tired of keeping it secret." Chief Lanford's Statement, made to a reporter for The Constitution Satur-day afternoon, was as flery as the one issued by his superior chief. "Felder is rediculous. We have shown him to be the erook he is. The best thing for him to do is to go some-where and hide himsoif. He is dis-graced, as he should have been long ago," the detective said. "The police and detective depart-ments are going to break up Atlanta's ring of vice promoters. They have heen dominant too long in the city's political situation. It is now time for decent folk to rise and demand the rule. Atlanta is a clean town, mor-ally, and hereafter it will be clean politically—that can be depended upon."

In explaining Colyar's connection with the dictagraph plot, the chief said that Colyar offered to engineer the plan, and that he voluntarily loan-ed his efforts. There is no truth, he said, that the man was being paid a large sum for his work. The city of Atlanta, declared Lanford, had not paid Colyar a cent, and did not intend to. He was drawing money from no source whatever, the detective asserted. "Colyar's interest in the entire case," he said, "has been to obtain material for a story he is writing on the Mary Phagan mystery. That was his motive in engineering the dictagraph scheme. He had no other view in mind. At least, I am aware of no other."

least, I am awaro of no other." Colyar Free on Bond. Colyar was released early last night on cash bond of $1,000. He will re-main in Atlanta until next Thursday, when authorities from Knoxville will come to Atlanta for him. Chief Beavers would not reveal the adventurer's bondsman. He admitted that the bond was cash, and for $1,000, but beyond that would say absolutely nothing. An attempt was made by Headquar-ters Detective John Black and Harry Scott, of the Pinkertons, Saturday to carry the Connally negro to the Tower, where they intended having him recite his confession before the white sus-pect in order to make the tostimony admissable before trial jury. When Scott sent word to Frank's cell that he and Connally desired an interview, the prisoner replied by mes-senger that he would not see the de-tective or anyone else without first consulting counsel or having his attor-

said: "I will fight them to a finish, even though I die in my tracks. They are trying to back me into a corner, and I fight when they try that. Even a rat will turn back and fight when cor-nered. I do not propose to walt until I am forced too far back into the cor-ner before defending myself." Although incessant attempts were made to break down his story, James

Although moessant attempts were made to break down his story, James Connally, the negro sweeper, main-tained it straight through a series of exacting cross-examinations to which to which police he subjected at both he was tective or anyone class without first consulting counsel or having his attor-ney present during the transaction. Scott and Black retired without gain-ing entrance to the prison.